The first practise is this Saturday at two p.m. in Riverside Park, recreation commissioner Alex Sinclair giving permission for the use of the park. It will be an open workout. A manager is to be appointed shortly, and an executive meeting has been listed for early next week to go into further details. Several more players are required to field a strong team when play opens May 24, and this matter, among others, will be discussed next week.

MAX AT HELM — Former mayor Max Swanston Thursday night agreed to take the presidency of the Peterborough Senior Baseball Club at the reorganization meeting in the Y.M.C.A. After starring for years as a catcher and hitter with the older Petes, Max was president of the C.O.B.L. for six years and also had a term on the O.B.A. executive, before giving up sports because of his city council duties.

Boston Red Sox Upstarts Whip Big Yankees 3-2

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Those beautiful Browns are not the only surprising team in the American League. How about those upstart Boston Red Sox? Lou Boudreau's youthful soccers have been knocking the stuffings out of the opposition right from the start, but it has been the tremendous surge of the once-lowly St. Louis Browns that has drawn all the attention. It took a Brownie postponement to cast the spotlight on the comeback of Boston. The Red Sox hurled a "move over" challenge at the Browns Thursday by whipping the world champion New York Yankees 3-2 to sweep their two-game series.

It took the Red Sox 11 innings to do it but in the end they had their third consecutive victory stored away to run their season record to nine triumphs and only two losses. That actually put them a half game in front of the Browns. St. Louis, however, remained in first place percentage-wise. The Browns showed a 7-1 .875 mark to Boston's 9-2 .818.

Trip Giants

In the day's only other activity the Boston Braves overcame a 3-0 deficit with three tallies in the eighth and three more in the 10th to defeat New York Giants 6-3 at the Polo Grounds.

Rain and cold weather cancelled all other games in the major leagues.

It was the Red Sox kiddie corps that paved the way for Boston's victory: Two successive bases on balls by relief pitcher Bob Kuzava provided the winning run but it was a single by freshman Sammy White that set up the tally. The rookie catcher, who had homered for Boston's first run in the fifth, advanced to second on Dom DiMaggio's one-bagger and moved all the way around when Kuzava walked Jimmy Piersall and Billy Goodman.

Rookie pitcher Ivan Delock, who relieved starter Maurice McDermott in the 11th, earned his first major league victory.

A bases loaded double by rookie Ed Mathews in the 10th inning broke up a 3-3 tie and enabled the Braves to snap a three-game losing streak. Lew Burdette, who relieved starter Warren Spahn in the seventh, was credited with his second victory. Dave Koslo was the loser.

Starter Max Lanier of the Giants had a shutout until the eighth when Earl Torgeson homered with two out. A single by Sid Gordon, a walk to Wil Marshall, a wild pitch and Walker Cooper's single tied the score at 3-3 and brought in Koslo.

Royals Edge Syracuse 6-5

By The Associated Press.

The International League, even with the season barely a week old, today was beginning to take on a familiar pattern, Montreal at the top and Ottawa at the bottom.

The favored Royals kept a half game in front of Buffalo by whipping Syracuse Chiefs 6-5 Thursday while the Bisons were edging the winless Ottawa outfit 5-4.

Young Johnny Podres, one of the top prospects in the farm system of Brooklyn Dodgers, went seven innings for the Royals and was credited with his first victory in organized baseball above Class D competition.

Bob Keegan, the Chiefs' starter, was tapped for all 11 Montreal hits and all six of their runs. Bill Houtz relieved him in the seventh.

The Bisons had a tough time keeping the Ottawa record intact. They didn't score the wining run until the eighth inning when they tallied on a walk, a wild pitch and a single.

Paul Foytack went eight innings for the Bisons and got credit for the victory. Jean-Pierre Roy hurled the entire game for Ottawa.

Maglie Says All Dodgers Same To Him

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP). — "I don't care what they do. Let 'em pull the whole team out. Let 'em stand on their heads. They'll still look the same to me—just a bunch of Brooklyns."

It was with this show of confidence that Sal Maglie, New York Giants' swarthy righthander, greeted the news that Brooklyn may pull a revised lineup on him tonight in an effort to break his spell over the Dodgers.

"I think the Dodgers are the toughest club in the league, they have the heaviest hitting lineup," Maglie added, "but I love 'em. I'd rather pitch against 'em than any other club."

Salvatore's affection for his bitterest and most formidable enemy may be explained by his pitching record against the Dodgers—10 victories and three defeats.

He shut out Brooklyn 6-0 on two hits last Sunday, breaking a five-game Dodgers wininng streak and a three-game Giant skein of losers. He tries for No. 11—No. 2 of the season—tonight at the Polo Grounds.

Considering Shift

Brooklyn manager Chuck Dressen announced Thursday he may use George Shuba in place of Carl Furillo and replace Roy Campanella with Al Walker in the game, thus sending two lefthanded hitters against the Giant ace.

"I'll tell you this," Maglie said, "Brooklyn would be making a big mistake if they bench Campenella for any reason. He's the toughest man they've got at the plate, I don't care who's pitching."

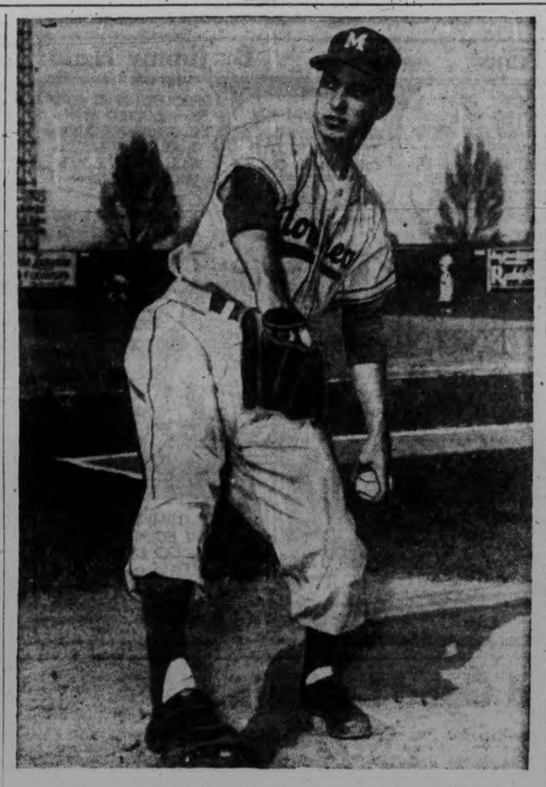
Maglie, the Mexican League fugitive who will be 35 Saturday, had a 23-6 record for the Giants last year and appears headed for another banner season.

The veteran from Niagara Falls, N. Y., who says he's never shaved anybody but himself doesn't know exactly where his nickname, "The Barber," originated.

"I think it started a couple of years ago when I pitched a shutout but left a lot of men on base," he explained. "One of the writers said I was a real barber, shaving 'em so close.

"Then Leo (Durocher, manager of the Giants), started calling me The Barber of Seville because of my Spanish-looking sideburns.

"But I don't care what they call me as long as my pay cheque arrives on time."



JOHNNY PODRES, Montreal Royals' latest pitching 'pheenom' who is expected to win a lot of ball games for Pilot Walter Alston. Podres was quite impressive in spring camp with Dodgers and the experts claim he has everything but experience. He hurled for Valleyfield in 1950 when only 17 years old.

Hotspur Paying Visit To Canada For Exhibitions

LONDON, April 25 (CP)—Led by manager Arthur Rome, Tottenham Hotspur, last year's First Division football champions, invade Canada this summer with 18 of their top-flight players, including nine internationals.

Makeup of the team, which sails May 13 for a month's exhibition tour embracing seven Canadian cities, was announced today. In the party of 22 will also be two of the club's directors, E. D. Hornsby and W. J. Heryet, as well as trainer Cecil Poynton.

The players are: goal, Ted Ditburn; full-backs, Alf Ramsey, Charles Withers, Arthur Willis; half-backs, Bill Nicholson, Harry Clarke, Ron Burgess, Albert Wetton, Eddie Gibbins; forwards, Sonny Walters, Les Bennett, Len DuQuemin, Eddie Baily, Tommy Harmer, Denis Uphill, Sid McClellan, Chris Adams and Leslie Medley.

Earlier, British press reports had hinted that Medley might be omitted. Medley once played with Toronto Greenbacks and married a Hamilton girl. The Evening News said there was a "wildish rumor" the club feared he might want to remain in Canada.

Referring to the forthcoming trip, Rowe said "a great deal of excitement is building up in the camp and we are very much looking forward to the trip."

Newcastle Team Confident Of Retainng English Cup

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25—(CP)—Newcastle United, rated as one of the greatest soccer teams of all time, is within a single game of realizing its greater ambition—victory over London's powerful Arsenal Eleven in the May 3 cup final at Wembley.

A triumph in this classic will give the Tynesiders the prized football association trophy two years running, a record that eluded another Newcastle squad 41 years ago. A rare feat in Britain's rugged professional competition, it hasn't been accomplished since Blackburn Rovers did it in 1891.

The Newcastle Club of 1911, however, almost turned the trick. Defeating Barnsley in the 1910 final, United clashed with Bradford city the following year and after holding the opposition to a scoreless tie in the regulation playoff, lost the torrid replay by a 1-0 count.

Newcastle supporters who cheered their favorites to victory over Blackpool a year ago, are confident they will repeat at Wembley next month. At that the Northerners hold a slight edge in the season's league skirmishes, defeating Arsenal 2-0 in an early season draw and holding the Gunner's to a 1-1 tie at Highbury on April 16.

The only cup final meeting of the two clubs resulted in a 2-1 victory for Newcastle in 1932.

Well-Rested Club

Well up among the first division leaders most of the season, Newcastle long ago abandoned thoughts of a league title to concentrate on the cup. Since knocking out favored Tottenham Hotspur 3-0 in the fourth round, Newcastle has scored only two victories in 11 league fixtures. Their regulars have been given plenty of rest.

Meanwhile, Arsenal has engaged in a losing battle to the wire for the first division title. Manchester United virtually clinched the title this week by moving two points ahead of Arsenal.

Each has a regular fixture to play Saturday. Even if Manchester loses and Arsenal wins, deadlocking the teams on a point basis, Manchester would take it on the better goal average—unless Arsenal breaks out with a rash of goals.

Thus, fresher physically, Newcastle enter their ninth cup final with seven of last season's winning team. They are Joe Harvey, the captain, Bob Cowell, Frank Brennan, Tom Walker, Bob Mitchell, George Robledo and Jackie Milburn, who scored the only two goals in the 1951 final.

Among the newcomers fate was possibly kindest to young Billy Foulkes, starring at inside right. Given a free transfer by Cardiff City at the start of the season, Billy signed up with Chester in the third division. He so impressed the scouts that Newcastle willingly put up a five-figure fee for his services.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Bill Quackenbush, great defenceman of the Detroit Red Wings, was named winner of the Lady Byng Trophy by the National Hockey League three years ago today. Quackenbush played a full 60-game schedule without incurring a single penalty to win the award for the player best combining gentlemanly conduct with a high standard of playing ability. He was the first defenceman to win the trophy since it was inaugurated in 1925.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Sid Smith, Toronto Maple Leafs' left winger, is the 1951-52 winner of the Lady Byng Trophy in the National Hockey League.

The trophy goes to "the player adjudged to have exhibited the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability during the season."

The announcement was made last night from league headquarters in Montreal. The voting was by a panel of 18 sports writers and broadcasters, three from each N.H.L. city, and points were awarded on the basis of five for first choice, three for second and one for third.

Smith had 51 points, including nine first choices, of a possible 90. Second place went to Len Red Kelly, Detroit defenceman, with 27 points. He won the trophy last year.

Bill Mosienko of Chicago Black Hawks and Don Raleigh of New York Rangers tied for third with 23 points each.

In addition to the trophy, Smith gets $1,000 from the league. During the season in which he scored 27 goals and 30 assists, he incurred three minor penalties.

The Amateur Athletic Union of Canada Thursday announced that athletes in the former Maritime branch may participate in national championships and Olympic trials if vouched for by their physical fitness director. Plans are under way for formation of three provincial branches in the Maritimes to replace the defunct branch.

St. Thomas Elgins of the Intercounty Baseball League will have the limit of nine United States imports on their roster this season, officials announced Thursday.

The International Baseball League adopted a 12:50 a.m. curfew for night games, falling in line with the major leagues.

Hugh (Red) Douglas, coach of Sarnia Imperials, speaking to Sarnia Kinsmen, said he was disappointed over the lack of recognition shown by fans and the city after the team won the 1951 Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union title.

Gushing Oil, big Kentucky Derby hope, splashed through the slop, rain and gloom at Keeneland race course at Lexington, Ky., on Thursday to win the $31,150 Blue Grass Stakes in a fast close over Cold Command.

Temple Trustees Stuck With Jigsaw Puzzle Pieces Weigh 300 Lbs., Make Little Progress

PEORIA, Ill., April 25 (AP)—Trustees of the Donmeyer Memorial Temple are stuck with a 25,000-pound jig-saw puzzle. It has 76 pieces—most of them weighing between 300 and 400 pounds each.

Properly assembled, the marble and bronze pieces would make an elaborate statute more than 12 feet high. But the trustees have only a vague idea what it would look like. Both the sculptor and Mrs. Ellen Marion Donmeyer, who ordered it more than 35 years ago, are dead.

Peoria sculptor Frederick E. Triebel made the statue for a $15,000 fee. He later upped his fee $10,000. Mrs. Donmeyer wouldn't pay.

Triebel sued and won. Then he disassembled the statue in 1938 to remove it from his studio and stored it in 22 big cases in a warehouse.

Under terms of Mrs. Donmeyer's will, the statue must be assembled and displayed in the temple.

Feels 50-50 Chance Of Getting Armistice

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP).—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Thursday he still feels there is a 50-50 chance of achieving a satisfactory armistice in Korea. He was replying to Earl Catherwood (P.C.-Haldimand) who asked for comment on a Tokyo report than an early armistice is expected.

Popular Star Dies In London

LONDON, April 25 (Reuters)—"Big Bill" Campbell, 57, one of Britain's most popular stage and radio stars who came from Canada 2' years ago, died here today from a heart ailment.

Campbell made his name with a "wild west" show set in a cowboy's bunkhouse. The show was broadcast for many years. He was also a successful racehorse owner.

His wife, Peggy Bailey, who sang in his "Rocky Mountain Rhythm" show, and his children, live in Dublin, Ireland.

Campbell, whose full name was Clarence Church Campbell, was born in Ottawa and served overseas with the Canadian Army in the First World War.

SCOOTERMOBOAT—A smart motor-scooter owner showed sea-minded folk at the Milan, Italy, Industry Fair that they needn't worry about buying a boat if they own a scooter. He fastened his on a catamaran hull, fixed so that the spinning rear wheel of the scooter moves two wheels (arrow) projecting through the platform. These in turn, move the propeller.

Lester Pearson Says Police Force Nucleus Of Army

OTTAWA, April 25. (CP)—Existence of an extensive armed force in Eastern Germany under Communist control is known to the Western Allies.

External Affairs Minister Pearson Thursday gave this information to a Commons committee, but added that he could not give the size as estimated by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The so-called East German "police" force was really the nucleus of an army which could be quickly built into a powerful force.

Rearming of Western Germany is "one of the most important problems in the world today," said Mr. Pearson. Existence of the skeleton, at least of a strong armed force in the Russian-controlled area, must be considered.

Present plans of the Western European defense organization and NATO proposed the contribution of at least a division of Western German forces to aid in the unified defense of Western Europe. They would not permit a revival of German militarism.

Canada had been kept advised step by step of all decisions reached by the occupying powers in Western Germany and had made representations when such were indicated. Those representations had been well received.

Under questioning by committee members, Mr. Pearson touched on several other aspects of Canada's foreign policy.

Regarding cease-fire talks in Korea, Mr. Pearson said there is no basis for reports in some sections of the U.S. press that Canada is putting pressure on the United States to agree to forced repatriation of prisoners of war.

It would be an "immoral and impossible position" for Canada to take. The reports had been used in Communist propaganda in an effort to prove a split in UN ranks. There was no truth in them.

Movie Column

Pair Not Sorry They Began Shows On TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25—(AP)—The happiest couple in Hollywood today—Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz.

Because they wanted to work together, the redhead and the Latin gave up their movie and band careers to put on their own television show. In five months, their program has risen to the point where it is now No. 1 in the Nielsen ratings which estimate the pair is watched by 30,000,000 people every Monday night.

"People said we were crazy," gloated Arnaz.

"It was supposed to be career suicide," sniffed Lucille.

She considers her shift into TV no sacrifice.

"So what if I burned my bridges behind me?" she asked. "At least I was trying something new. I wasn't content to go on doing the same old thing."

No Regrets

Asked if she didn't regret leaving glamor behind to become a slapstick artist, she said: "I couldn't be happier. That glamor routine was driving me nuts. For 12 years, I was a slave to the makeup department."

Far from ruining her chances in films, Lucille said the TV show has brought her more movie offers than she has ever had before. She may make a movie during her summer layoff from TV, but so far she hasn't found a script she likes.

The "I Love Lucy" show is the pioneer in a method of making TV shows that is winning the approval of many Hollywood stars. The show is filmed by three movie camers before an audience. Thus Lucille and Desi have the advantage of cutting the film and still having the stimulus of an audience reaction.

Such stars as Ginger Rogers, June Allyson, Dick Powell, Burns and Allen, Eve Arden, Rosalind Russell and J. Carroll Naish have visited the show to observe how it's done. Burns and Allen are switching from a live show to the Ball-Arnaz system next season.

"All of the stars are amazed when I tell them how easy it is," Lucille said. "We work an eight-hour day for four days a week. The rest of the time is our own. And we only have to slap on the make-up and fix our hair for three hours a week, instead of 50 hours in the movies."

AMONG THE CANADIAN JESUITS on missionary work in China who have been jailed by the Communists, are two Montrealers, Rev. Fathers Belhumeur and Labranche. Others held prisoners are Msgr. Phillippe Cote of Lawrence, Mass., Bishop of Soochow; Rev. Albert Lauzon, of Alberta; Rev. Auguste Gagnon, Rimouski; Rev. Maurice Garneau, Quebec City; Rev. Marc Hardy, Sorel, and Rev. Edouard Lafleche, Winnipeg, Man.

Great Britain To Start Jet Airliner Passenger Service

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, April 24—(Reuters)—The speed of air travel will be stepped up by hundreds of miles an hour next month when Britain starts the world's first regular passenger service by jet airliner.

Record-breaking Comets of the British Overseas Airways Corporation will begin flights May 2 from Africa, which will cut many hours off the present travel time by conventional aircraft.

The 36-passenger Dehavilland Comets, which cruise at just under 500 miles an hour at a height of between 35,000 and 40,000 feet, will take 23 hours and 40 minutes, including five stops on the way, to do the trip between the two cities, 6,724 miles apart.

This compared with about 32 hours by conventional airliners. Actual flying time of the Comets will be 18 hours, 40 minutes, compared with about 27 hours at present.

The Comet service will operate on the South Africa "Springbok" route—down the east coast of Africa through Khartoum, in the Sudan.

During May there will be one Comet flight a week in each direction. Leaving London on Fridays and Johannesburg Mondays. This will be increased to three a week in June, subject to deliveries of Comets to the airline.

Built by the Dehavilland Aircraft Company, the planes are powered by four "ghost" jet engines similar to those used in many fast fighter aircraft.

The London-South Africa route will be the first leg in a Comet Commonwealth network. It is planned to introduce Comets of the London-Singapore service, via Pakistan and India, later this year.

A more powerfully-engined version fitted with Rolls-Royce Avon jets will subsequently be used to extend the service from London to Australia and New Zealand. The type of Comet should be capable of covering the 11,000 miles between London and Australia in about two days.

Somewhat faster than the ghost-engined version, it can do a non-stop flight of 2,250 miles with full load. In about two year's time, it is likely to be operating on the North Atlantic and other routes.

Although a British airline will be the first in the world to operate a passenger jetliner service, other airways operations throughout the world will soon be using Comets. They include Canadian Pacific Airways, Commonwealth Pacific Airlines, Air France, and Union Maritime de Transport de France.

B.O.A.C. is to have the first 20 Dehavilland Comets, nine powered with "ghosts" and 11 with the Rolls-Royce Avon jets.

Contract Talks In Stalemate

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Contract negotiations between 17 Quebec and Ontario paper mills and union negotiators broke up in a stalemate, union officials said Thursday night.

The meeting, was called to negotiate a contract to replace the present one which expires May 1. The contract covers "fine" paper workers.

No agreement was reached on the demands of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (A.F.L.) for a 40-hour work week without loss of pay.

Company and union officials here said the talks may be reopened within the next few weeks.

Workers in the mills of the E. B. Eddy Company, Garden City Paper Company, Inter-Lake Tissue, Provincial Paper, Canada City Paper, Canadian Vegetable Parchment, Holland Paper, Alliance Paper, Don Valley Paper and Howard Smith Paper Mills are affected.

Canada Would Suffer More Than U.S. In War

HULL, Que., April 25—(CP)—Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, civil defence co-ordinator for Canada, said Thursday Canada would suffer more heavily than the United States in a war involving the North American continent.

He spoke at a civil defence conference where representatives of Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom are mapping a defence plan.

Enemy air attacks would try to put out of action Canada's aircraft, steel and other heavy industry, he said. Bombers prevented by defence measures from penetrating to U.S. targets would unload their bombs on Canadian cities.

Couple Married At Arena Show

TORONTO, April 25 (CP) — Lorette Desormeau and Fred Roden Thursday night were married before a crowd of 2,500 in the intermission of a Grand Ole Opry Show in a local arena.

Mr. Roden explained: "I wanted to be married among friends and among people who like the same things I like." He operates a record store specializing in cowboy music.

The bride wore a white culotte suit embroidered with red porcupine quills, a five-gallon Stetson and cowboy boots. The groom, dressed in a red silk shirt, cowboy pants and boots, was attended by Chief Pale Moon of the Ohsweken Reserve.

The Rev. W. J. Johnston, minister of Eglinton United Church, who performed the ceremony, said: "in performing this marriage in unorthodox surroundings I feel quite justified.

"I feel I am bringing the church into the temple of pleasure a transition I know the church can stand. . . ."

Two Presbyterian ministers disagreed.

The Rev. Donald MacMillan of Olivet Presbyterian Church said: "Not only the ministry but the law should frown on flippant ceremonies, especially charging admission."

The Rev. A. Gordon Macpherson of Riverdale Presbyterian Church: "I am emphatically opposed to anything along that line."

Magistrate Explains Comment On Charge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 25 (CP)—Magistrate Harley Hyatt, who earlier this week convicted Earl Montgomery on a charge of shooting a dog although Montgomery said the charge had been laid in the name of the King rather than the Queen, Thursday explained his stand.

He said he did not say that a Magistrate in Kingston who had taken a different attitude in such a case was in error, but that he was "in disagreement with his opinion."

"In any case it was not necessary for me to decide the validity of the summons because as I pointed out to the accused, he was physically before the court and was obliged to be arraigned on the charge."

Will Refer Dispute To Conciliation Board

CORNWALL, April 25 —(CP)—Union officials, representing workers in the fine paper industry in Ontario and Quebec, said Thursday a dispute between the unions and the industry, will be referred to a Conciliation Board.

A spokesman for the Howard Smith Paper Mills said the unions suggested eight changes in the contract including a reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours without any loss of take-home pay. The companies proposed an extension of the present agreements.

Boo Fruit Growers Off Platform At Meet

GRIMSBY, April 25—(CP)—Striking employees of the Canadian Wood Products basket factory Thursday night booed two fruit growers off the platform at a meeting called to acquaint the public with the union side of a 10-day strike.

The fruit growers, C. M. Bonham and Robert Merrit, were driven off the platform after they warned the union that fruit growers would find some new way of marketing their produce if an increase in wages forced a boost in the price of fruit baskets.

About 130 of the plant's 160 employees went on strike April 15 after both company and union officers had rejected the findings of a conciliation board. No efforts have been made by either side to effect a settlement.

WORST VANCOUVER FIRE—A huge black column of smoke rises from the fire which knifed through industries and installations along Vancouver's waterfront. The blaze, said the worst in the city's history, caused damage estimated between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. A final estimate may not be available for days. The fire flared up in the heart of the grain elevators in the dock area, about a mile east of downtown Vancouver, and took three hours to control.

3 Forest Fires Have Developed

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) — Three new Ontario forest fires developed Thursday. Two were in the Trent district near Minden and one in the Chapleau district.

The Chapleau district fire, caused by railway clearing operations, was reported held at 10 acres.

"It is evident that an extreme forest-fire hazard condition is building up toward the weekend, especially as no rain is forecast before Monday," Lands Minister Scott said. "Much more than ordinary care with fire in any form must be used in all forest and grass land areas throughout the province pending rain. At this time the smallest unguarded spark could easily create a dangerous situation."

Portuguese Colony Remains Safe From Chinese Reds

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MACAO, April 24 — (CP) — A sleepy Sicily washed by the waters of the China Sea—that's Macao.

Politically, its continued existence as a Portuguese Colony on an island five miles off the Chinese Communist mainland combines a languorous impertinence with a haughty disdain.

Neither the 200,000 Macanese nor the rulers of Communist China seem to think it would be worth while to change the situation.

So Macao pursues its placid course, working by night and sleeping by day, a sultry holiday resort for stuffy Hong Kong.

Macao once was supported by its trade with the Chinese interior, especially in opium and gold. Now it lives from around-the-clock gambling, illicit love and an assortment of minor idnustries.

A small factory producing women's shoes is operated by a Canadian, William Joliffe of Toronto, who also has a zinc oxide plant in Hong Kong. Joliffe's shoes sell in Hawaii, Australia, Indo- China and Malaya. His zinc oxide used as a paint base, may be sold only in Hong Kong under terms of the embargo controls which allow him to import zinc from Singapore.

Oldest foreign colony in the Orient, Macao was seized by the Portuguese in 1557. The Japanese did not molest it during the Second World War.

It is a blend of the Mediterranean and the Orient. Its flavor is more Sicilian than Portuguese, with its gingerbread facades, chipped plaster buildings in postel tints, and churches everywhere with bells sounding the hours.

The streets have a forever-siesta atmosphere, quiet and virtually unpeopled by day. The Casinos, drab and taudry by European standards, feature a game resembling roulette but based on dice.

Such as they are, the attractions of Macao draw a thriving living from the pockets of visitors from Hong Kong, some of whom are regular week-end commuters. The 3½-hour trip from Hong Kong by modern ferry costs $5 return, first class with cabin.

Residents say the Chinese Reds would gain nothing by taking the place.

"They've cut down our trade to our food suplies—we get all our food from the island. But quite a lot of gold goes in to the Communists from here. It's illegal, but it goes."

If the Communists were to advance through the simple gate at the boundary on the north edge of town, the fall of Macao would be swift.

Meanwhile the trip from Hong Kong affords one of the more eirie experiences in the Far East—sailing defenceless in the Archipelago of the Pearl river delta, unmolested although almost every island is held by the Reds.

Art of Knot Tying

LAKEFIELD, April 25 (ENS)—Bill Hunter, Clarence Coons, Jr., David Payton and Jim Galvin of the Lakefield Cub Pack were present at this week's meeting of the Brownies, and instructed the girls in the art of knot tying.

"Lend a hand" the Brownie motto was explained by leader Mrs. Reg. Doubt and an observation game was played. Patty Jakins assisted and played for the singing. The meeting closed with prayer.

Get Disappointment

BURBAGE, Shropshire, England, April 25 (Reuters) — For years it was believed that a box of gold was buried in 1887 under an oak tree here. The tree was uprooted Thursday. For nine hours, men dug. Five feet down, they found a box. Opening it, they found a threepenny piece, a penny, a halfpenny and a farthing.

Tom Gard's Note Book

Some months ago I handed out a tip as to how one might antique an old picture frame. This must have aroused considerable interest for the matter has continued to pop up from time to time. It is a pleasure to repeat the formula.

TO ANTIQUE A PICTURE FRAME

Old picture frames, heavily ornamented with deep carvings are ideal for the purpose. In applying the glazing fluid the trick is to brush it on evenly, then wipe off immediately by working from the centre towards the edges, or removing it from the high points of the carvings. A light coat of varnish gives the finishing touch.

BEDROOM SCREEN

We have a new neighbour on our street. He turns out to be quite handy with tools. His first job after moving in was to construct a fine bedroom screen using B.C. Fir Plywood, and when finished he started to construct a second one for his sister, but this time he utilized scrap wood from packing cases. It is a question which is most attractive.

BIRD FEEDING STATION

A naturalist friend has constructed a bird feeding station from an old piano seat, the top being of glass to permit full view of the birds. An old coffee table might serve the same purpose. He endeavoured to impress upon his visitors that the closed end should always face the prevailing wind as this prevented the feed from being blown away.

STRETCHER FOR SOCKS

Necessity is the mother of invention, so my friend George turned a coat-hanger into a stretcher for socks. To make it more attractive he gave it a coat of enamel by simply dipping it in the can and then hanging it up to dry.

AROUND THE HOME

TO ANTIQUE AN OLD PICTURE FRAME

BRUSH ON AN "ANTIQUE GLAZE," COMPLETELY COVERING THE SURFACE - THEN WIPE IT OFF IMMEDIATELY, EXCEPT THE PORTION THAT NATURALLY REMAINS IN DEPRESSIONS.

IF DOING LARGE OBJECT, SUCH AS A TABLE, DO A PORTION AT A TIME, ENDEAVOURING TO SECURE A UNIFORM SPREAD.

RECIPE FOR GLAZE

1 TABLESPOON OF CLEAR VARNISH
3 TABLESPOONS OF PURE TURPENTINE
1½ TEASPOONFULS OIL COLOUR RAW UMBER
ADD MORE OR LESS OIL COLOUR FOR A DEEPER OR LIGHTER ANTIQUE. STIR THOROUGHLY.
IF IN DOUBT CONSULT YOUR LOCAL PAINT MERCHANT.

Seeks New Companion For South Seas Trip

VICTORIA, B. C.— (CP) — Victoria's paradise-seeking Jim Squire plans to sign on a local adventurer for a jaunt to the South Seas on his trim yacht Te Hongi.

The 1950 British Columbia golf champion, who left here recently on the first leg of the southern cruise with Swiss sailor Jacques Markwalder has returned to Victoria to look for a volunteer to share the life he hopes to find in the South Pacific.

Squire says he will be much happier to get a local volunteer for the cruise—he thinks he's found one but will only say the fellow is "about 30, an ex-logger and very much interested in making a trip to the South Seas."

"...And I hope the guy doesn't get seasick...sure, there's glamor in sailing a yacht to the South Seas but when the Pacific starts getting rough a fellow forgets what the word 'glamor' means."

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — The Commons railway committee on Thursday approved a bill to incorporate Boundary Pipeline Corporation of Regina, which wants to build a line to carry gas from Alberta as far east as Winnipeg. CITY HALL LAWN

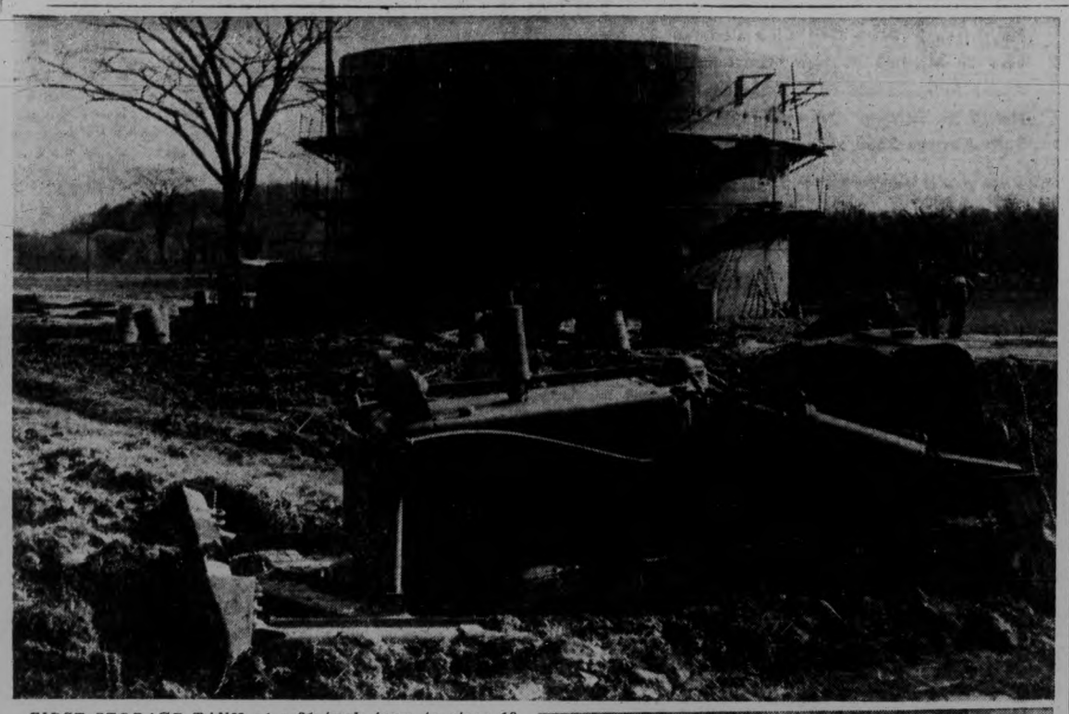
City Hall lawn wintered well and is securely established. It was a sod job that had to be done in a hurry for the official opening last October 26. The grass settled down, made itself at home, and emerged from its snow cover to greet its first spring with refreshing greenness. A few crocuses were probably planted last fall, and have lent their mauves to the verdure. It might be suggested to Armar Butcher that he include a patch or two of blood-root along the south wall. They bloom early, a delicate white, and thrive along the rural roadsides usually about the middle of April.



FIRST STORAGE TANK of a 21-tank farm to store 19 varieties of petroleum products is being erected at Dale, northwest corner of Highways 2 and 28. They will be supplied by a 400-mile pipeline to be installed from Montreal East to Hamilton, to be completed by fall. The 10,000-barrel capacity tank (top photo) will rise to 50 feet above the churned mud that sinks bulldozers (foreground). Dick Fallstrom, veteran welder (lower photo), and other workmen will complete seven tanks by the end of June and move to Edmonton to another job.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Oil Firms To Tap Line At Dale, Will Move Storage Tanks Out Of City

Construction of the Montreal to Hamilton oil pipe line will result in removal of all or part of the facilities that two major oil firms have in Peterborough. The pipeline is owned by Shell, British-American, and McColl-Frontenac, and is operated by a separate company—the Trans-Northern Pipe Line Co., in Toronto.

Storage facilities will be moved to Dale's Corners, on Highway 28 near the cutoff to Highway 2. There, 21 storage tanks — seven for each company—will be built. The first of these is now nearly finished.

Both British-American and McColl-Frontenac have storage tanks in Peterborough. B-A officials here say that most, if not all, their facilities, would be moved. All McColl-Frontenac facilities will be moved.

Until lately, Shell Oil's district office was in Cobourg. Recently it was transferred to Port Hope, and Shell's storage tanks will be at Dale.

Begin Pipe

Laying of pipe will begin next month, as soon as the frost is out of the ground. If steel continues to be available, the line may be finished by October.

Three sections of the pipe line will start about the same time—from Montreal to Morrisburg, from Morrisburg to Belleville, and from Belleville to Hamilton.

The line's initial daily capacity will be 40,000 barrels, to be boosted in time to 60,000 barrels. Nineteen different products will be carried in it: auto and aviation gas, kerosene, light and medium fuel oils, stove oil, diesel oil, mineral spirits, naphthas, rubber solvents, propane, and jet oils.

Each Have Turn

Each of the three firms will have its "day" on the line, when it will draw into its storage tanks products made at its refineries in Montreal East. All three firms have refineries in Montreal.

The pipe line will be 400 miles long and 10 inches in diameter. A six inch line, branching off near Cornwall, will serve the Ottawa district. There will be 10 depots, like the one at Dale, along the 400-mile line.

John R. Marshall, chairman of the Civic Hospital board of governors from 1945 until February of this year, died today in Civic Hospital. He was 76, and had suffered a heart condition for several years. In the 31 years he spent in Peterborough, Mr. Marshall made his mark upon the city. From sales manager of the Canadian Nashua Paper Co., he rose to be general manager and later secretary-treasurer.

Deeply interested in all phases of civic affairs, he at various times headed the city's Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Education, the Public Library Board, the Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, the Board of Managers of the Y.M.C.A., and the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's United Church.

Express Sorrow

Members of the hospital's board of governors expressed their sorrow today in brief comments on Mr. Marshall's work for Civic Hospital.

Said Dr. G. S. Cameron, senior member of the board and a member of the Nicholl's Hospital Trust which the board superseded:

"He brought to the work of organizing the Board of Governors all the experience he had acquired in his industrial life. He did not spare himself, and worked incessantly until his retirement this year.

"John Marshall was an easy man to work with. Although he came to the job with no special knowledge of hospitals and their workings, he made it his business to get to the bottom of the problems encountered in hospital management."

Former Mayor Max J. Swanston who replaced Mr. Marshall as chairman of the hospital board, said: "I don't think people realize the unlimited number of hours Mr. Marshall put in on the building of the hospital and everything connected with it.

"It was an honor to the city and to the people of Peterborough when he reached the position of president of the Ontario Hospital Association.

"He worked hard and he certainly knew his hospital. As chairman of the board, I relied on him a lot for advice. We are going to miss him very much."

Studied Hospitals

John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, said that Mr. Marshall, as a member of the hospital's board of governors, studied hospital operation "and made himself master of the policies governing all phases of not only Peterborough Civic Hospital, but of hospitals in general.

"He was respected for his sound judgment, as was shown by his continued election as chairman of the board from July, 1945, to February, 1952, his election first as chairman of the trustee section of the Ontario Hospital Association, and later as president of the whole association.

"He was fearless in the performance of his duty. He believed in the principles of fairness and made it his guide in all his/deliberations and actions."

George Cheatle, office manager of the Canadian Nashua Paper Co. here, spoke for the firm in the absence of general manager H. M. Niven. He spoke of Mr. Marshall as a "kind, considerate and helpful man. There is no question that he will be missed."

In 1945, John Marshall retired as general manager of the paper company, although he continued to serve as secretary-treasurer. He had joined the firm in 1921 as sales manager, and on the retirement of Robert Brown, was named general manager of the firm.

Warm Again

At noon today the warm spring sun had boosted the official temperature of Peterborough to 62 degrees. That's 15 degrees higher than the daytime high a year ago. By noon, anybody walking around the downtown district in an overcoat was not only uncomfortable but also an oddity. The weatherman says we will have sunny weather for Saturday. And Sunday? Well, that's a bit far in the future now for the cautious weatherman to predict.

Smith Bans Wartime Houses From Township

People who want to place wartime houses on lots will have to find room outside Smith township, councillors of the township decided at a special meeting at the home of township clerk Alex I. Edmison.

It was pointed out the township already has a bylaw similar to North Monaghan's regulating the moving of houses in and into the township.

To make sure, the council instructed building inspector William Telford not to allow any wartime houses into the township.

Ratepayers Object

Mr. Edimson said he and members of the council have received objections to allowing the wartime house in from ratepayers.

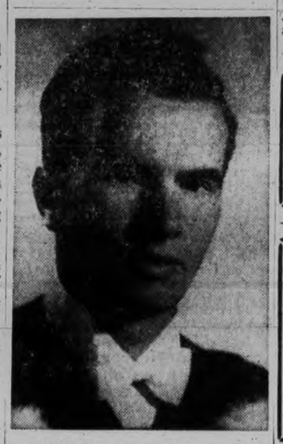
The wartime houses in question are the 25 now situated on the Hatton property at the west end of Charlotte St. Under an agreement between Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which owns the houses and the city council, the land must be cleared by the end of June next year.

The city also prohibited the houses being moved to any lots inside the city limits because they did not come up to building requirements. North Monaghan followed suit.

Smith township has decided to keep them out as well.

"If they're not good enough for the city, they're not good enough for Smith," was the council's feeling.

Several people approached Smith's building inspector about moving the houses in and representatives of Central Mortgage spoke with township clerk Edmison. But the door was shut.



ROBERT E. BELL, assistant agricultural representative in Peterborough county for three years, is being transferred to Oxford county in a corresponding position. He is being succeeded here by Kenneth Best who is coming from Oxford as assistant to Frank C. Patterson.

Two Bush Fires Squelched By Rangers, Volunteers; First Of Year In District

15 Acres Burned Over Near Haliburton Believe Ignited By Cigarette Butt Permits To Start Outside Fires Suspended

Two fires burning in scrub bushland were put out by the combined efforts of fire rangers and volunteers Thursday afternoon. One was in Harburn township, north of Haliburton village, and the other was in northern Harvey township. Altogether the fires—first reported this season in or near Peterborough county—burned nearly 17 acres but did only minor damage. Warm weather has dried out much of the bush and grasslands in Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton counties. Because of the fire hazard summer cottagers and others will not be issued burning permits for outside fires until after this weekend at least, Department of Lands and Forests officials say.

The largest of the year's first two outbreaks was spotted from the Haliburton forest ranger tower at 11:30 a.m. It was on a 15-acre property—a field of scrub bushland—on Lot 6, Con. 2, Harburn township, seven miles northeast of Haliburton village, owned by Joe Seedz.

Blame Cigarette

A cigarette butt, not properly stamped out, is believed to have started it.

Sixteen volunteers under the direction of Bill Sarginson, deputy chief ranger of Haliburton, worked several hours with spades and other hand tools to put out the blaze. Most of the property damage was in destroyed rail fences.

Three men patrolled the area until night to make sure no lurking spark set off another fire.

Ranger Russell More of Katchacoma found the other fire while patrolling in the Mississauga Lake district in northern Harvey township.

The cause of this blaze is still being investigated by forest rangers. It broke out on a piece of Crown land and burned more than an acre and a half of grass and leaves before Ranger More and a couple of volunteers squelched the flames.

No Permits

Don Fawcett, forest protection supervisor of the Department of Lands and Forests, told The Examiner today that because of the fire hazard nobody this weekend will be issued with permits to burn outside fires.

A word of advice then to summer cottagers: if you want to clean up the leaves and rubbish outside your cottage, do so; but don't put a match to them.

McGill Honors Fred G. Mann

F. G. Mann, 199 London St., learned today he is one of two Canadians to be honored by McGill University with an honorary fellowship from the university's Conservatorium of Music.

In a letter received today from T. H. Mathews, secretary of the McGill Senate, Mr. Mann was informed that he can use the title of Honorary Fellow of McGill Conservatorium of Music.

Long And Devoted Service

The newly created fellowship was established on the recommendation of Professor Douglas Clarke, Dean of the McGill Faculty of Music, to honor McGill regional representatives and secretaries "for the long and devoted service" they have given McGill and musical education.

Mr. Mann has served as local secretary for McGill since coming to Peterborough 29 years ago, when he took over the duties of choirmaster and organist of St. John's Anglican Church.

His duties include making arrangements for examinations in music in connection with McGill and he is proud of the fact that a number of his pupils are McGill graduates in organ, piano, vocal and the theory of music.

In addition to his duties as organist and choirmaster at St. John's, Mr. Mann has taught music since coming to Peterborough and still has found time to compose several liturgical compositions.

By coincidence, he received word today that his latest work, Office of Holy Communion in "F" for choir and organ has just been released by music publisher Gordon V. Thompson in Toronto.

In all, Mr. Mann has taught music for more than 40 years but he is not certain just how many pupils he has instructed in organ, piano and singing. Up until 1937 when he stopped keeping records, more than 500 of his pupils had successfully passed examinations in the musical subjects they were studying.

EXTRA BOARDERS—Two little pigs almost crowd out the calf at meal-time on a farm near Stratford. One of the litter of nine, prowling about the farm made the discovery about the milk situation and passed the word along. The owner of the Durham cow, with the extra boarders, said the next time he brought in the calf to be fed, a number of pigs were on hand. They crowded around the faucets like members of the family and knew just what to do.

4-H Clubs Appoint Officers This Week . . . East Peterborough Dairy Calf Club Counted 37 Members at Meeting . . . New Grass Raises Concern About Milk Outlets as the Season Advances . . . Hon. J. G. Gardiner at Tweed May 5 . . . Shorthorn Bulls Average $350 at Simcoe Sale.

Boys and girls of Peterborough's rural district crowded the office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture Tuesday and Wednesday nights for the organization of four 4-H Clubs.

The big attendance reflected increasing interest of the young folks in dairy and beef calf clubs and in the swine club. Some of their parents came along with them and were cordially welcomed by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, and Robert E. Bell his assistant.

Special credit goes to the beef and swine club juniors. Rain did not keep them at home.

The boys and girls are setting out on their season projects that continue through five months to Achievement Day at the end of September. Their leaders emphasized the importance of early decision to maintain the programs they are undertaking, and get full advantage of the 4-H Club work. The youngsters elected their own officers.

Officers Elected

George Shoniker of Norwood is leader of the swine club, and its officers are: President, Alan Storey of Omemee; vice-president Albert Walsh, Asphodel, Hastings, RR 3; and secretary-treasurer Eddie Heffernan of Norwood.

Leader of the beef calf club is Lorne Pimmett of Indian River. Francis Walsh of Otonabee was appointed assistant leader.

The officers are: President, Murray Pimmett, Indian River; vice-president Gary Stewart, Otonabee; and secretary-treasurer Miss Gay Hancock of Smith.

"We appreciate the fact that some of you have come quite a distance to attend this meeting," Mr. Paterson said. "We would like you to understand that your clubs are sponsored by our Peterborough Junior Farmers. It is not so long ago that they were boys and girls of your age. There are others interested in you. The Ontario Department of Agriculture, your County Council, and the Federation of Agriculture want to see you succeed in your projects. So you have some important people behind you. They feel sure that you are going to become better farmers and better citizens by joining your 4-H Clubs. But, remember this, the most important people in this work are yourselves. It is you who will make these clubs in 1952, and it is up to you to do your part.

We ask you to co-operate with your club leaders. Don't miss any of the meetings, if it is at all possible to be present. Carry out the part of the programs that is expected of you."

Mr. Bell, Lorne Pimmett and George Shoniker also spoke to the clubs, outlining the work that was being planned.

Must Be Decisive

Francis Walsh, who was also asked to address the two groups, provided in a neat little talk an illustration of what 4-H Club experience can do in personal development.

He recalled that he was a member of the beef calf club four years.

"I got a lot of good out of my experience," he said. "Maybe I could have done better. The first thing is to realize the value there is in club work for each of you. Decide that you are going to get as much out of it as you can. That means you have to put a lot of effort into it. Start this year to do your best. Don't say to yourself that there is also next year ahead of you. Make each year count. I have enjoyed my experience, and I am sure you will. And remember, to instruct ourselves is to enrich our lives."

Lorne Pimmett told his club that there would again be a place for steers, and indicated the possibility of accomplishment by mentioning that Francis Walsh's steer placed third at the Royal Winter Show last November.

DAIRY CALF CLUBS

Atendance Wednesday night for the organization of two dairy calf clubs was a heartening response from the young people who are taking up this project. Many of them were girls. There was also a representation of parents.

The East Peterborough Club (the river is the designating boundary) has already 37 applications. Keith McIntyre is continuing as leader.

The members elected their officers as follows: President, Mary Wood; vice-president, Norma McConkey; and secretary-treasurer, Jim Doris of Otonabee.

Officers of the West Peterborough Dairy Calf Club, of which John Edmison is leader, are: President, Barbara Mann of Smith; vice-president, Don Sargent of Cavan; and secretary-treasurer, Barbara Bulmer of Smith.

The West 4-H group expects at least another six members. Closing day for registering applications is May 1.

The other club memberships are: Swine 14, beef cattle 24, with other mentioned as coming in.

Then there is Irvine McIntosh's tractor maintenance club with 22 members, the Lakehurst Forestry Club 14, Grain Club in its second year, nine boys, and a Forage Club with nine, and several others expected. This group is an extra, and is for the older boys.

TO DISTRIBUTE TREES

John Bell, district forester, has an engagement for next Thursday at Lakehurst after school. He will have some 4,000 to 5,000 trees for the Forestry Club members. They are asked to meet at the Lakehurst Community Hall, and be prepared to receive the seedlings.

Altogether, the Peterborough 4-H Clubs, under their new name, are taking a first sturdy step in their projects year.

The list of members will be published later when the final applications are in. When it is remembered that calf club minimum is 10 members, the initial response and spirit of the clubs can be better appreciated.

SOME CATTLE ON GRASS

Silos are just about empty on several farms visited this week, and most of the hay that was stored in the broad spaces of barns has served its purpose of winter fodder.

Several herds of beef cattle were noticed grazing on the short grass that has sprouted during the past week on farms in southwest Smith, and across the Emily boundary.

Dairy herds are still getting their rations in their stalls, but it should not be long, if this weather continues, until they are turned out to pasture again.

As the season turns into May, farmers are becoming concerned about the marketing of surplus milk. The Ontario cheese industry is hoping for some satisfactory solution of their problem, aggravated by the loss of the British export market. Butter was reported down five cents a pound this week, a recession that deepens the uneasiness of dairy farmers as they approach the new season of increasing volume of milk.

Those who have maintained their quotas continuously are finding themselves in a preferred position in the whole milk industry. Peterborough producers are meeting Friday night. Mr. V. S. Milburn of Toronto, secretary, will be present, and should have whatever information is available as to the prospects of dairy farmers and marketing agreements.

It is expected that some announcement may be forthcoming from the Milk Control Board one of these days that should have some effect in this district.

INSIDE JOB

An anonymous hen apparently tried to accomplish two days' work in one when she laid an egg within an egg recently. As she cracked an egg Tuesday morning, Mrs. A. E. Barrie, 635 Water St., was surprised to find a miniature egg inside. The egg which was purchased in a downtown store appeared normal from the outside, in size and appearance but contained another perfect egg, about the size a pullet lays when it first starts producing eggs.

Beef Bulls Average $714 Big Calgary Sale

Calgary's spring bull sale disposed of 856 Shorthorns, Herefords and Aberdeen Angus for a total of $611,720, and an overall average of $714.63.

Last year, 729 bulls brought a total of $816,375 for an average of $1,119.86, the greatest in the 51 year history of the Calgary sale.

During the first three days, 589 Herefords sold for a total of $453,565, for an average of $770.06. Thursday morning 175 Shorthorns grossed $93,870 for an average of $536.40.

The consignment of 92 Aberdeen Angus accounted for $64,285, or an average of $698.75.

Sale "Satisfactory"

Officials said: "Considering the fact that we were operating in a restricted market, and with the loss of the United States buyers, the general results were satisfactory. If conditions could have been different, it would have been a whopper of a sale.

Highest price of the blacks was $2,300 for the grand champion, Aberdeen Angus bull, Jester Compress 112D, consigned by the Old Heritage Farms of Edmonton. The buyer was W.L. McGillivray of Coaldale. The reserve champion from the same herd brought $1,375.

It was a bargain week for buyers of Shorthorns but a poor one for the breeders when 175 Shorthorns sold for a total of $93,870, or an average of $536.40.

Press news from Calgary said it was one of the finest displays of Shorthorn bulls ever seen at the show and sale. Breeders deseved a better fate. Only the tops sold for respectable prices Many other sold as low as $260 and $300.

While individual breeders were bitterly disappointed at the prices paid for the majority of the animals, officials of the provincial association were unable to account for the relatively poor prices for good quality individuals.

Tops among the Shorthorn breeders had no cause for complaint. T. E. Hamilton of Innifail who won three championships received $3,300 for Rannoch Fortune the grand and senior champion.

In the Hereford division on the opening Monday the best price was $5,300 which R. W. Wright & Sons of Irricana paid for Royal Domino 60th, consigned by J. M. Campbell & Sons of Stavely. Campbell averaged $3,100 for four bulls.

Prices below the tops were just about stockyard levels. "They didn't deserve it," one commentator said. "There were many good quality bulls in the lot.

The trend of the sale would indicate that breeders of purebred herds are interested in the get of imported bulls, and are willing to pay the price if the quality and blood lines are there."

Robert E. Bell Being Transferred To Oxford County

Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative in Peterborough county since June 1, 1949, is being transferred to Woodstock as assistant in Oxford county to Mr. George Bell. It is expected that he will leave Peterborough during the coming week.

The announcement was received yesterday from the office of Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, confirming reports which had been extending in circulation recently.

Mr. Bell will be succeeded here by Kenneth E. Best who is assistant agricultural representative in Oxford. Actually they are exchanging places in the extension service of the Department.

"We are all very sorry that Mr. Bell is leaving us," Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative said today. "He came to us directly after his graduation from the Ontario Agricultural College, and he has made many friends throughout the county and the city of Peterborough. He has done a fine job here, not only among adult farmers and with various associations, but particularly among our Junior Farmers and the members of our 4-H Clubs.

The large attendance this week at the organization of four of the Clubs was splendid evidence of the success of Mr. Bell in that branch of our work.

Broadens Experience

While, we regret that he is going from us, we have to realize that it is in his advantage to expand his experience in the rural communities of Ontario. He has been here three years, except one month, in this eastern section of the province, and now is going to one of the good counties of western Ontario. No one appreciates more than I do, the grand job he has done in our Club work. All his friends who know his industry and sincerity and fine personality feel confident for his future. Bob takes with him our very best wishes."

Mr. Paterson said Mr. Bell has contributed a lot of work in the success of the Central Ontario Spring Show during the last week of March.

"He was always interested in our general program of soil use and improvement, farm planning, grassland farming, and in the welfare of our farmers and their lands and herds."

"Mr. Bell assumed most of the details of our visual aid work, showing in the city and in the county many of the new films that are now available," said Mr. Paterson. "They are included in many programs today for the objective messages they bring us in promoting good agriculaural practice."

From Simcoe Farm

Mr. Bell was born at Gilford in South Simcoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bell. He attended high school at Bradford, took the field husbandry option at O.A.C., and was graduated in 1949. Coming to Peterborough, he began his extension service in an eventful month. It included a conference, the Junior Farmers' bus trip into New York State, and the first Grassland Day in this district on the fourth line of Smith.

Incidentally, Mr. Bell, with a directing responsibility on that trip, was introduced to Miss Mayme Cathcart, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cathcart of Springville, and a member of the Junior Farmers' Club. Their acquaintance developed into a friendship which culminated in their marriage last July. So, Robert Bell will always have a fond remembrance of Peterborough county and its neighboring Cavan township.

To the Examiner today, he said: "These three years have been exceedingly pleasant. I came to a kindly, co-operative community and I wish to thank everybody with whom I have been associated for their help. I am deeply grateful to Mr. Paterson for his interest and guidance, for the opportunities he put in my way, and for his support and patience. Also to Miss Evelyn Scott of our office who has been a big help to me in so many ways. I am indebted to them far more than I can say.

To Peterborough Junior Farmers I also owe a great deal for their co-operation, the sponsorship and leadership they have given and for their friendship."

Mr. Bell said he would like to mention various commodity groups, Farm Forums and other associations for the experience they had afforded him.

"And a special word to the members of our project clubs of these three years and their parents whose interest was so stimulating. I hope the boys and girls will grow up to be good farmers and with that they will be good citizens. I wish to thank Mr. John Bell, district forester, for his efforts with our forestry clubs, to Mr. George Roper for the hospitality I received at the Y.M.C.A. when I came here. There are so many I would like to mention."

36 Cent Floor For Cheese Urged At Belleville To Save Dairy Industry

Hastings county cheese producers asked for a floor of 36 cents f.o.b. factory at their meeting in Belleville last Saturday night. Opinion of the 100 farmers was that a suggested minimum of 28 or 30 cents "would be useless when the cost of production was 35 cents or more."

Through no fault of its own, said Charles N. Heath, Secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association, the industry had fallen on serious days. And when one branch of the dairy industry suffered a reverse, the whole structure was affected.

Unless a floor price for cheese was established, Mr. Heath said, the bottom would fall out of the cheese market.

He told the farmers the marketing board had done everything possible to secure a market for surplus cheese at a fair price, but efforts to secure a contract with Britain had so far failed.

Billions For Defense

Canada was spending several billion dollars in defense preparation. If the equivalent of the cost of a few bombers were invested in 25 million pounds of cheese, it would help maintain the price, would give greatly needed support to the dairy industry, and would retain the goodwill of agriculture.

The meeting brought out a diversity of opinions. One farmer suggested that the marketing board's fee of three cents a pound was "a little steep". To that, Mr. Heath commented that after last year's operations, the board still retained $178,000 which was now being used in an effort to hold the market until the end of the dairy year.

Without that reserve, Mr. Heath said, the price would have broken before the end of last year.

Pooling of milk was another suggestion, based partly on the discrepancy in the prices of milk as it reached consumers through various channels such as cheese, concentrated, and whole milk.

Frank Folwell, M.P., South Hastings, expressed the opinion that the government would set a floor price and treat the present plight of the cheese industry as an emergency.

Effect Of Wars

On that point of emergency, George Elliott of Norwood, a former director of the Ontario Cheese Producers, remarked to the Examiner recently that it was largely a repercussion from the financial straits of Great Britain.

The Motherland as an old customer of the Canadian agricultural producer had expended her resources in two wars to safeguard freedom.

"Even if we gave them 25,000,000 pounds of cheese," Mr. Elliott said, "we would be helping them and also our basic industry. All the financial reports indicate that Canada had a year of great prosperity in 1951. We created a lot of new wealth in the west and in the east, and I feel confident we can afford such a gift.

To lose the United States beef market as a result of the foot and mouth disease, which is another calamity to farmers, and then lose the British cheese market just as our producer association was gaining a good financial position, are severe blows.

"I don't think farmers should have to bear the whole brunt of those setbacks when everybody is saying that we are all in the same boat as a people. If that is the case, and it should be, then this is a time for action that will help to balance our agricultural industry with that of the rest of the country."

SELLS MOST OF HIS GRAIN

Robert Armstrong of Cavan has sold most of his seed grain, particularly Beaver oats and Galore barley. He said he was somewhat uneasy up to the last two weeks about disposing of his good stock, but last minute buying took the most of it off his hands. Some of the final sales were of oats eligible as registered seed, but the bulk was commercial.

SURVEY OF THE PROVINCE

Bulls averaged $350 at the Simcoe county Shorthorn breeders' sale last week. The best price was $500, as reported in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Grey county Yorkshire breeders sold 20 pigs at auction for $1,329.50. The highest priced sow brought $123. Some farmers in Hastings county are investing in good foundation dairy cows at present prices.

Fall wheat and meadows generally throughout the province have wintered well. Perth county comment is: "Wheat and young clovers have come through the winter with very little loss. Hog deliveries continue heavy. Cold storage space for pork is becoming a problem."

Huron: "Excellent spring weather for the last week has helped to dry the land so that some seedings of grains has already been done on the higher sections of land." That was the report up to the beginning of this week."

Most of the townships in Ontario County have completed spraying for warble flies. Roughage feeds are still in good supply on most farms. Fall wheat and meadows have come through the winter in fine condition.

Renfrew mentions heavy shipments of seed grain, especially oats, to Quebec and the Maritime provinces, but prices were just fair.

Hay is plentiful around St. Catharines at $15 a ton. Norfolk reports: "rye, wheat and meadows are looking good with as much as five inches of growth in good fields."

Dairy cattle in Wentworth are in good condition "due to the ample crop of silage and hay."

As reported by the county agricultural representatives, Ontario farmers have swung into action with the coming of favorable weather. The season is fairly early. Distractions of dislocated markets and unsettled prices have not interfered with readiness in a broad program of production. Several counties mention the scarcity of satisfactory farm help, and a resulting policy of confining effort to home resources.

Safety Shoes Suggested In Factories

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

This writer has a pair of shoe trees, one of which was the outlines of a knot about where the little toe should be.

I always shudder when I look at that knot, because it reminds me of a very painful corn. Not that I'll admit I've ever had a corn—but I've heard people talk about them in such vivid terms that I cringe when I see anything that reminds me of one.

All of which leads up to a release from the Shoe Information Bureau of Canada, and the recent conference in Toronto of the Industrial Accidents Prevention Associations at which the Bureau exhibited safety shoes.

And what is a safety shoe? It is a shoe with a steel toe, so that it doesn't much matter what drops on it.

Now, if you work with your feet tucked under a desk, probably you don't think about things dropping on your toes. But if you work in a factory, anything from a monkey wrench to a steel rail may fall on them.

Foot Accidents

The shoe information people must be folks who have never heard of a corn, for they say things in such a coldly analytical way. Such as:

"Safety statistics in Canadian plants show that approximately eight per cent of industrial accidents involve the feet or toes." They go on:

"Safety men point out that while there is no infallible method of eliminating accidents which may result in injury to other parts of the body, injuries to the toes and feet may be almost eliminated if workers wear safety shoes."

Apparently, over the years, people have been too snooty to wear such shoes—they'd rather have their toes crushed. But now:

"Shoe designers have developed safety footwear which is well-styled and well-made, and worker resistance has almost completely disappeared." In fact:

"Failure to wear safety shoes is usually a result of carelessness or laziness, rather than antagonism."

Stand Good Deal

And then the bureau gives instances which bring agony to anyone who has ever heard of a corn. It says:

"A loaded elevator weighing six tons jammed on a man's foot. The leather was ripped off the cap of the safety shoes, but the toes were not injured."

Birds And Bees Now Outdated By Shotgun Tree Fertilization

PENTICTON, B.C., April 25—(CP)—As far as fruit farmers are concerned, the birds and bees are obsolete.

Farmers in British Columbia's Okanagan Valley now fertilize their trees by shotgun.

It's not as silly as it sounds.

From about 10 feet, the marksman fires a shell containing one-fiftieth of an ounce of pollen from a standard 12-gauge shotgun. The pollen then settles on the blossoms and fertilizes them.

Lawrence Bartlett, distributor for the pollen in B.C. said about five times as much pollen is being used this year as last. It follows relaxation of regulations which formerly made it difficult to get pollen because of the disease hazard. The pollen is gathered mostly in California and Oregon.

Other methods of artificial pollination, such as use of a brush, blower applicator and a little stick with a gauze bag are much slower.

Besides the gain in efficiency and speed with the shotgun method, many orchardists say they will have their "hunter's eye" when the hunting season rolls around.

Cut Off All Free Liquor On TCA Planes May 1

OTTAWA, April 25. (CP) — There will be no more free liquor or meals aboard Trans-Canada Air Lines planes after May 1, Trade Minister Howe Thursday told the Commons.

The minister, who reports to parliament for TCA, was replying to questions by Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre), a Unitarian minister, who wanted to know who authorized drinks and who paid for them.

Mr. Knowles said the United Church Observer in an editorial had stated free liquor was being served on TCA's Trinidad run.

Mr. Howe said that, as far as he knows, every plane and every ship outside territorial waters serves liquor. TCA was in the same position as the others.

It served one cocktail with each meal. The cocktails and meals were paid for in the passenger's fare.

But after May 1, he said, passengers must buy both their drinks and meals separate from the fare.

The ranking peer of Scotland, whose grandfather was governor-genral of Canada when Elgin County was formed in 1852, has been invited to be a guest of the city and county during centennial celebrations.

"Marksman" a Century Sire With 100 Tested Daughters

When Montvic Rag Apple Marksman (known simply as Marksman to thousands of Canadian dairymen) was consigned to the National Holstein sale in 1940 by Mount Victoria Farms, Hudson Heights, Que., he made news by bringing the top price of $1,325, at that time a startling figure. He was bought by J. J. E. McCague of Alliston and C. J. Cerswell of Beeton, Ont., who are still his joint owners.

Two years late, in June, 1942, the herd developed by J. B. Macaulay was dispersed. Top price was $6,500, and the total for 68 head was $130,950.

Marksman's dam, Montvic Rag Apple Colantha Abbekerk, completed a world record for yearly production on three times a day milking of 1,263 lbs. fat from 29,208 lbs. milk.

Then he was named All-Canadian three year old in 1943, and went on to win the All-Canadian aged bull award six times, the last time in 1950. He was not shown in 1949. Now he has become a Century Sire, that is the bulls with 100 or more daughters that have completed R.O.P. production tests.

In the history of the breed in Canada, only eight bulls have become Century Sires. Of them, only Marksman and Montvic Monogram have also been classified "XXX", the highest rating for conformation, and have also been named "Extra", indicating outstanding ability as a sire of high producing daughters of excellent type.

"Marksman" now has 101 daughters who have completed 217 R.O.P. records that average 17,020 lbs. milk containing 660 lbs. fat, average test 3.88 per cent butterfat. These records were made at an average age of 3 years 227 days. No other Canadian bull with more than 35 tested daughter has as high a total fat average as the daughters of "Marksman" and only one bull (Sir Romeo Mildred Colantha 6th) has daughters that average higher for milk production. Three "Marksman" daughters have produced over 1,000 lbs. butterfat, six range from 900 to 1,000 lbs. and a total of 23 have at least 800 lbs. fat.

Living proof that a bull can sire both top production and outstanding type is the official classification score in Selective Registration of "Marksman's" daughters. Four have been classified "Excellent", the highest attainable rating, 29 are "Very Good", the second highest rating and 69 are "Good Plus". His get has five times been named All Canadian and once Reserve and his progeny have also accounted for eight individual All-Canadian and seven Reserve All-Canadian awards. He has eight "XXX" sons.

"Marksman" sons have headed herds throughout the length and breadth of Canada and have been exported to twelve different countries, these including Great Britain, Colombia, Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, Venezuela, Chile, Ecuador, Peru, Bahamas and Italy. No less than 78 have been sold to breeders in the U.S.A. Altogether 113 have been exported.

"Marksman" sired both the highest priced bull and the highest priced female ever to go through a Canadian auction sale. These were Glenafton Rag Apple Kilarny at $40,000 and Glenafton Laurel Brownie at $17,600.

Now past twelve years old, "Marksman" belies his age by his youthful appearance and is in active service in the Glenafton and Bond Haven herds of his joint owners, J. J. E. McCague and C. J. Cerswell.

District Kinsmen Hold Annual Interclub Meeting

Getting a slight jump on the opening of the racing season, Peterborough Kinsmen staged the first running of the Kin's Plate at their annual interclub night held at the Empress Hotel Thursday night.

Clubs from Ajax, Bowmanville, Bobcaygeon, Cobourg, Lindsay and Oshawa were well represented at the dinner followed by the tournament of champions, in which Bobcaygeon carried off the honors and the Kin's Plate, an engraved silver plate, donated by the Peterborough Club.

Each club supplied to players each of the games of euchre, bridge, poker, cribbage, darts and mechanical hockey and bowling games.

As each club chalked up a win at the various games, its "horse" advanced on the blackboard at the front of the Kawartha Room. The odds were posted as the race progressed, and betting was lively at the win place and show tickets of the different clubs.

The novel entertainment idea which enables a maximum number of people in the gathering to take part, was directed by chairman A. Dolph Lemers who conceived the idea and Harley Weir.

Entertainment

Another feature of the evening was the entertainment provided by each of the visiting clubs. Each club provided an act on the program and was also given three minutes to plug the advantages of its home town.

The visitors from the motor city proved to be the best local boosters and Oshawa was awarded the Kin Cup, for providing the best entertainment of the evening.

One hundred and forty Kinsmen sat down to dinner and participated in the evening of entertainment which followed. Norman Whitney, of Toronto, district deputy governor was in attendance, representing the Kinsmen's district executive. The idea behind the inter club get-together was to promote good will among the different Kinsmen Clubs in the district.

Expect Showdown In Mask Squabble

COBOURG, April 25—(ENS)—A showdown is rapidly shaping up in connection with the dispute over whether the respirators of the fire department can be used.

The fire department and the fire, water and light committee chairman say that the respirators will not do their job. Mayor Jack Burnet is of the opinion that there is nothing wrong with the respirators. All that the firemen have to do is use the masks, says the mayor.

A growing number of citizens are suggesting that the respirators be given a test and also that someone outside the town be contacted for an expert opinion on the present respirators owned by the fire department. It is considered likely that a test will be made soon to settle the question.

Police Shoot 23 Cattle In New Outbreak

REGINA, April 25 (CP) — R.C.M.P. rifles have cut down 23 more animals in the federal-directed program to rid Southern Saskatchewan of foot-and-mouth disease.

The animals, 12 cattle and a hog from an infected premises and 10 cattle from a neighboring farm, were shot late Thursday. Then they were buried deep under layers of soil in a pit on the infected farm.

Confirmation was announced Tuesday that foot-and-mouth disease had been found on the farm, five miles south of Ormiston. Ormiston is 100 miles southwest of Regina by road and outside the original foot-and-mouth quarantine area but inside an additional buffer zone.

The outbreak was discovered Friday, then kept under observation and quarantine until the announcement.

Officials Move Fast

Officials moved fast. Digging equipment for the grave, one of eight dug since the announcement Feb. 25 that foot-and-mouth disease had broken out, was rushed from Regina. But the slaughter was held up when the equipment bogged down on muddy roads.

The outbreak is the first in the Regina area since March 8.

Since the original outbreak, nearly 1,300 animals have been destroyed. They have come from 25 infected premises and eight contact premises.

Federal officials believe the latest infection came to the farm through a quarter of beef from a premise infected in the original outbreak.

Lawyer Objects To Evidence, Trial Adjourned

Progresss of a bootlegging trial was slowed to a snail's pace Thursday by the repeated objections of defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, who questioned the methods of Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw in obtaining evidence from crown witnesses.

The charge of keeping liquor for sale against Ted Rosebush of Chandos township was finally adjourned until April 29, at Mr. Bradshaw's request, before the crown's case was completed.

Mr. Fair's objections centred on the same point of law on which he has based an appeal against a decision of Magistrate W. R. Philp, who found Norman Manley guilty of bootlegging in January.

Throughout the Manley trial, Mr. Fair insisted that Mr. Bradshaw's method of producing statements to crown witnesses which the witnesses had allegedly made to police, and then asking the witnesses if the signatures on the documents were theirs and if the information contained in the documents was true or false, was contrary to the rules of evidence and should not be permitted.

At the Rosebush trial, Mr. Fair took the same position and after Magistrate W. R. Philp ruled that Mr. Bradshaw was in order in proceeding by this method, Mr. Fair asked that his objections be noted on the court record.

Hostile Witness

The upshot of the legal arguments in regard to the statements was that one witness, Harry Rowe of Apsley was declared "hostile" by Magistrate W. R. Philp.

"Please don't hedge," the Magistrate told Rowe, after he had carefully sidestepped each of Mr. Bradshaw's questions regarding a statement he had made to OPP Constables Aimey Gaudry and Bert Howden. After he had been declared "hostile," Mr. Bradshaw carefully cross-examined Rowe who admitted it was his signature on the paper but claimed he had made the statement under threat of losing his job with the Ontario Department of Highways.

Two other witnesses, James McAdams and Earl Lane were called and both admitted the signatures shown to them were theirs. McAdams said the information contained in it was "false," while Lane said he "was under force" when he made it.

Beer Produced

A quantity of liquor and wine and several cases of beer were produced in court and Constable Aimey Gaudry said the beer and liquor was seized at Rosebush's home in Chandos township on March 26.

Following the adjournment of the bootlegging charge against Rosebush, evidence on a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence was heard and Magistrate Philp dismissed the charge.

Rosebush established that two 12-ounce bottles of liquer found in his car when he was arrested by OPP Constable John Cawood and OPP Corporal Joseph Hansen were purchased on his own permit and he merely intended taking the bottles home after he finished work.

Rosebush's wife Grace pleaded not guilty to a charge of keeping liquor for sale illegally and the charge against Mrs. Rosebush was also adjourned until April 29.

Prejudice Against Women Charged To Dorothy Dix By An Examiner Reader

The healer of broken homes and hearts, the doctor of domestic troubles and newspaperdom's most famous expert in human relations, Dorothy Dix, has been challenged by a Peterborough woman.

Prejudice, is the charge placed against Dorothy Dix and her successor who has written the syndicated advice to the lovelorn column since Miss Dix's death last year. The housewife claims that the column sides too often with men in its answer to letters telling of domestic troubles. But here is what she writes in a letter to the editor of the Examiner—

"So often in your column you speak of the neurotic women and in many cases blame the woman for the flare up and troubles that arise in the home.

"Now, in my opinion you are hardly being fair in your decision. A woman gives her all to the man she believes in and what happens once he gets her? He soon starts to lay down the law—in a tactful manner—so he thinks.

"You say when the breadwinner comes home, she (the wife) must be cheerful and smiling. Yes, in most cases I will agree, but what of the women who are doing their share in holding down a job to bring home the bacon with only at some time or other to hear some cutting remark—your money is your own to do what you like with, while I (the big I) pay all the expenses. No credit goes to the little woman who has helped, perhaps buy a home or enable him to have a car."

Money For Clothes?

"How often does she hear about the money spent on clothes? Idiot, that he is, she usually if working, pays for her own and in some cases his too. But sit back and watch the cocky smile on his face when some of his friends mention how nice the wife dresses.

"My friend, look at the stay-at-home-women, depending on their husband's and see how many changes of dress they have or how much money they have in their purses.

"There's never a pay day for them and the little they do receive they must be able to give an account for. Yet who works harder or puts in longer hours than the so-called head of the house, the bread-winner you speak of?

"I agree, none of us are perfect and we are often tempted to open our big mouths and say the wrong thing, and afterwards wish we hadn't. A man comes home tired, sure. He has tried so hard al day wearing himself out by joking and smiling to other people to give a good impression that he is wonderful person with a good sense of humor. But to his wife, nothing less than a fault-finder. Never a word of praise to her—wants his paper and to relax and expects her to fall all over him. And if she doesn't, he never hesitates to tell her how nice Miss or Mrs. so-and-so is.

"Women are too often taken for granted. At the office or factory, we are more likely to be on guard, but once they cross the threshold of home what a let-down!

Courtesy Denied

"The courtesy he automatically shows a common stranger is often thoughtlessly denied those he lives with and should love most.

"A man is clumsy with his words and actions toward his wife. Man, such a wonderful being! Why do we women make such fools of them?

"I am convinced if the average man would show his true character before marriage, wonder how many women would want him for better or for worse. How easy for the other woman (who only sees him at his best) to say what a witty and charming man and how lucky you are to be married to him.

"What a laugh! How little the other woman knows him. Anyone can put on an act to please someone he likes.

"A woman daren't speak her own mind or he makes the remark that she is moody or neurotic. Only he is allowed to go off the deep end and blow his top, when and where he feels like it. While the wife only smiles and says, dear John, he isn't quite himself today.

"If only a man would abandon his search for the perfect and right woman, one who understands him, and turn his attention rather toward building in himself, 'the right attitude.' He doesn't have to have a college education, or a super brain, but a little sprinkling of horse sense.

"Some men never become adults, regardless of how long they live. In case some one doesn't know what I mean, to be an adult, it is that one must establish a control over his emotions instead of letting them control him."

Man No Exception

"There are traits or habits in most people which will no doubt in time irritate even a saint and man is no exception. There are times when he takes a delight in hurting feelings or to start some silly argument without any good reason. Does he, as a rule, try to see her point of view once in a while. After all, women do have brains and some of our most successful men have had a woman behind them — helping them up the ladder of success.

"Women, let me tell you get tired too and need love and undrstanding.

"Let your mind travel back a few years to the day when you courted her. She was everything you wanted in a wife, smiling, cheerful, lovable, and full of fun. But through the years, what happened? She loses her nice disposition and doesn't smile much any more.

"Men, smarten up and try using a few kindly words now and then, because it will work wonders. Remember, she left a home where she had love, kindness and affection to go with you and what have you done to the little woman whom you promised to love, honor and obey?

"Women, after all, are human beings, and their feelings can be hurt as easily, so just give a little more affection and let them know you care.

"Arguments can start so easily. Remember it's never the big things, but the little ones that creep in from day to day.

"And I can assure you some homes are more like battlefields than a home. So, why not have a friendly husband-to-wife talk and draw up an agreement stating that any criticism will be tactfully and unresentfully made for the sole purpose of helping each to overcome the shortcomings or faults of the other.

"Just be more tolerant of each other's point of view. I will say give a woman the right man who has a happy outlook on life and home could be a paradise.

"A word to the wise is sufficient."

What's Right?

You have a wedding anniversary coming along and you suspect that it has slipped your husband's mind.

WRONG: Make no mention of the fact that it is near. Wait until the day and if he forgets let him see how hurt you are.

RIGHT: Save him from the possibility of forgetting by casually mentioning that your anniversary is just a few days off.

Dual Wardrobe Has Solved Problem For Teen-Agers

THE TEEN-AGER who's invited out to see a movie by the boy she's like most to date has a fashion problem. Few teen-agers can afford to spend a great deal for a date dress. And, in all probability, any dress a teen-ager does buy for date wear will have to double for school as well. This means that it can't be elaborate or fussy.

In shopping for this important dress, she should look for good design rather than fancy trim, a color that will dovetail with the things already in her wardrobe and a fabric that will take readily to soap and water. She should also look for a price tag that tells her she's getting good, sound value for her money rather than a so-called "bargain".

Fortunately for her, she'll find fashions that no other country in the world could begin to offer her. If she shops wisely and well, she'll get full value for her cash.

The teen-ager (above) who's movie-bound chose a budget-priced embossed cotton by Kate Greenaway. This is in aqua, has a full skirt, cap sleeves and a three-tiered yoke that's buttoned with tiny glittering rhinestones. There's a self-belt.

Women's Group Questions Alderman Miller

The Civic Affairs Study Group meeting on Thursday evening took the form of an informal quiz program, covering questions of interest concerning the municipal budget and taxation in general.

With Alderman D. Miller present to explain his Peterborough budget for 1952, members of the group took keen delight in discussing the various points with him in detail. Interesting, too, were the glimpses into the future plans for the city, and an insight into how the problems which continually arise are studied and kept under control.

The speaker was thanked by Miss M. MacIntosh.

Mrs. M. C. Metheral and Miss C. McCarthy gave reports on the Council meetings for April, while Miss M. Lees read the report of the Board of Education meeting for Mrs. R. B. McWilliams.

A lecture, presented to the Jaycees on "Interrelationship Between the Federal, Provincial and Municipal Governments," was covered by Miss H. Gerrard.

Representatives of the Women Electors' Association of Toronto are to be guests of the Study Group at the May meeting.

Canadian Actress Pictured In Beautiful Women Book

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25 — (CP) — There's a book coming out soon called "Beautiful Women of Our Time" and of the 48 portrayed one is a Canadian.

She's Olga Landiak, a 26-year-old actress who used to be a farm girl near Fort William, Ont.

Artist Nicholas Egon, noted for his head-and-shoulders portrait drawings, was commissioned 18 months ago to seek the world's most beautiful women and put them on paper. He interviewed 1,000, drew about 100 and then chose 48 for his book.

The girls are not necessarily conventional beauties and few are well known. Among them are Sharmini Chelvah of Ceylon, chosen for a "heart-shaped face of unusual lines," and journalist Rosemary Howe of London, picked for her "natural and unaffected charm."

Miss Landiak met artist Egon socially. One look at her strong, intense features and he decided to put her in the book, published by Putnams, which goes to press next month.

Brown-haired Olga, with surprisingly light blue eyes and easy carriage, came to Britain in 1948 on the first scholarship granted by the London, Ont., Little Theatre Group. As a member of the group she won the Nella Jeffries Trophy for the best actress of the 1948 Dominion Drama Festival at Ottawa, playing the title role in George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan."

Tough Going

Miss Landiak came to Lodon for two years of study at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, nursing dreams of future top billing. But she found her five-foot-eight height and extremely deep voice made the going difficult.

After eight months with a touring company in 1950 playing in Jean-Paul Sartre's "Men Without Shadows," and a small part in the film "The Secret People," Miss Landiak wore her shoes out visiting producers "for auditions that never came to anything and going the rounds of the agents."

But Olga is of Ukrainian origin and has the tenacity often associated with the race. When funds got low, she took a job as secretary to a British Member of Parliament and continued her acting career in the evenings.

Now she works days at the town house of the M.P. in a select London Square, and spends her nights at a theatre club in suburban Ealing, rehearsing the female lead in a new play called "Edge of the World." When the play opens, she's going to do her best to see there are important people in the audience.

"I've had so many disappointments," she said in an interview, "but I'm determined to keep trying."

She is both pleased and amused at being in Egon's book. "When I look in the mirror I can't understand it," she said with a laugh. She would have preferred to be in a later book on famous women including such British actresses as Celia Johnson, Gladys Cooper and Valerie Hobson.

CANADIAN BEAUTY— Olga Landiak, 26, who once lived on a farm near Fort William, Ont., is the only Canadian in a forthcoming book entitled "Beautiful Women of Our Time." Artist Nicholas Egon, noted for his head- and - shoulders portrait drawings, selected her and 47 others from various parts of the world for the book. Miss Landiak came to London Eng., in 1948 on the first scholarship granted by the London, Ont., Little Theatre group. She has appeared in several plays and a small part in a film.

Miss Rome's Pupils In Piano Recital

A piano recital by pupils of Miss Marguerite Rome R.M.T. at the Public Library on Wednesday evening was much enjoyed by a group of parents and friends.

All the pupils played well, some even brilliantly. Several played the pieces they are rehearsing for the Kiwanis Festival next month.

Little Catharine Mortlock presented flowers to Miss Rome at the conclusion of the program.

W.M.S. Branch Ex. Business Sessions

Annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch executive of the Women's Missionary Society concluded Thursday afternoon at St. Andrew's Church when president Mrs. A. A. Munro and members of the afternoon auxiliary were tea hostesses.

A new job for vice presidents of the Presbyterials is to be that of survey work over all the branches. This subject was discussed by Mrs. J. H. McKinney of Oshawa, who pointed out that though there are 20,000 more members in Baby Bands and Mission Bands, membership in older auxiliaries is decreasing.

Reports of associate members showed 413 new members in the year and gains all along the line. They donated $2,156.47. Mrs. E. S. Denyes of Belleville reported.

Good use of panel discussions was reported by the Christian citizenship secretary Mrs. E. Snelgrove of Kingston.

Nominations convener Mrs. Munro looked after the election of two officers to fill vacancies caused by resignations. Mrs. R. W. Craighead of Lindsay is the new treasurer of the branch and Mrs. R. M. McMullen of Kingston was named literature secretary.

Mrs. G. Haywood, Kingston, and Mrs. A. E. Blair, Renfrew, were appointed delegates to Dominion board convention with Mrs. A. D. Cornett, Oshawa and Mrs. A. A. Munro, Peterborough, as alternates.

An invitation by Sydenham United Church, Kingston, for Branch meeting in 1953 was accepted.

Other reports heard in the Thursday sessions were Mrs. Cornett, Oshawa, for community friendship, Mrs. A. Empey, Belleville, for Missionary Monthly and World Friends; Mrs. Haywood for Mission Bands, Mrs. R. D. P. Davidson, Bellaville, for Evening Auxiliaries, Mrs. Blair for C.G.I.T. Mrs. A. G. McLachlan, Kingston, for candidate work.

Nurses' Role Would Change In Civil Defence Service

TORONTO, April 25 (CP). — Nurses would have to assume many of the normal duties of doctors in the event of disaster, Dr. K. C. Charron, Ottawa civil defence expert, said last night.

Speaking at a civil defence session of the annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, the chairman of the civil defence health planning group of Ottawa said the civil defence program must be extremely flexible and must fit in with other community services.

Thousands of nurses across Canada already have been trained in special methods required in case of atomic attack.

"The way nurses have got behind the civil defence program and supported it is inspiring and encouraging."

Prepare For Worst

Evelyn A. Pepper, nursing consultant to Dr. Charron's Ottawa group, said:

"Unless we are prepared for the worst, we have no right to hope for the best. Many people are under the delusion that, if this country were attacked, our tri-services would protect us, when actually we civilians would be responsible for our own protection."

Another illusion is that Canada, with its vast distances, is immune to national disruption for geographical reasons.

"But with the advance of science, our geographic defences have disappeared. Vast distances have been reduced to a matter of minutes."

Miss Pepper said preparedness is the only hope of reducing casualties and, perhaps, of averting attack.

In mass disaster, nothing remained normal. The role of the nurse would change considerably. The nurse would be called upon to assume all sorts of duties beyond her professional ones and to co-operate with all groups of rescue workers, including medical and nursing professions.

"Teamwork might well be the keynote to survival in a major disaster."

Isabel Black, consultant for civil defence nursing courses in Ontario said teamwork is the central theme of such training. Nurses were taught to work with the doctor, the nursing auxiliary and the volunteer.

Interest shown by Ontario nurses toward federal courses in atomic blast nursing has been encouraging, Miss Black said. To date, 96 nurses have taken the course, 191 have completed the instructors' short course and 2,300 have taken, or are taking, the 12-hour course.

"Inactive married nurses have been invited to participate and the response has been good."

Bianca M. Beyer, convener of the Association's committee on civil defence and representative to the civil defence health services advisory committee for Ontario, said plans are under way to "cover the province" with the teaching program.

"If we never need what we learn in civil defence, we lose nothing," she said. "But if we never learn what we need, we may lose everything."

She appealed to every nurse to take civil defence training.

Reports on the money donated to the classroom were given by teachers Mrs. Ree Brownsell, Miss Murphy and Mrs. Patterson. Annual reports were read by Mrs. G. Ray Sr., Mrs. E. Nichols, Mrs. C. Hartman, Mrs. A. Watkins, Mrs. E. Bryans and Mrs. E. Clarke.

MARMORA

MARMORA, April 25 (ENS)— Taking the form of Father's Night with male members discharging the duties of principal officers, Marmora Home and School Association held its April meeting Thursday evening in the Public School.

Roy Frost, husband of the president, occupied the chair. Leighton McGinniss acted as recording secretary. J. Trombley was deputized to give the treasurer's report which showed a favorable balance.

Mrs. M. Kouri, as delegate to the 33rd annual convention held in Toronto last week, gave a report of the sessions. James Sproul, for the nominatin committee, called for the early return of the nomination forms which had been given to members. Donald Marett then introduced the guest speaker of the evening G. Nelson of Tweed, who has taken over the duties of inspector of public schools in the district during the leave of absence granted to A. W. McGuire through illness. In a very impressive address, the speaker touched upon the relationship of parents to children and that of home to school.

Children, he said, should not be subject to pressure, the thing that parents would rebel against themselves. They should accept their child as she or he is.

Parents should not discuss the teacher in front of their children. Questions put to them by children should be answered carefully and ultimately if the answer cannot be given right away. Otherwise the children will seek their answers elsewhere. Children should stand on their own feet and make their own decisions as far as they are able to. The child's life should not be meddled with too much.

He concluded by saying "Protect your children from yourself all you can and see to it that you do not become your children's worst enemies." Thanks to the speaker were tendered by W. J. Cottrell. The attendance of parents and grandparents was taken by Principal E. C. Prentice with Mrs. F. Hannah's class scoring highest. Canon J. M. Brownlie sang "When You Come Home Dear", with Mrs. R. Frost as accompanist. James Sproul led in a sing song with Mrs. A. F. Fraser at the piano.

Credit Women's Club For Helping Older Women

Admiration of the service work of the Soroptimist Club in Peterborough was expressed by the Rev. Maurice Poole when he addressed the club members after their dinner meeting Thursday evening.

Mr. Poole said he was particularly grateful for the Golden Mile Club and the work being done for the older women of this city because he feels that it is actually church work which has somehow been neglected. "I want to give credit where credit is due—and it is due the Soroptimists" he said.

Explaining that he could speak best in the realm of his own calling, Mr. Poole chose the story of Moses and the burning bush as his topic.

"Perhaps in a similar way God is trying to find us" he suggested, "but we are so engrossed in our own troubles we do not notice." He pointed out "It is imperative in our day to fix our eyes over and above worldly problems and on the creator of the universe."

"Do we say 'I would but—' when asked to take an office of head a committee of some organization?" Mr. Poole asked. "Do we use often the phrase 'Me first' which has become characteristic of this age?"

You can render some service to humanity even while doing your daily work the rector told the business ladies. "God calls those who are willing, not the proud or the lazy" he said and reminded of when God called Moses to bring the people out of Egypt. Moses' answer was "Who am I?" and Mr. Poole's comment on this was "Human nature hasn't changed very much.

"Love of God goes together with the comandment "Love thy neighbor as thyself" said Mr. Poole with further reference to the Soroptimists work with older women. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto Me" he concluded.

Peterborough Soroptimists will next month have an out-of-town speaker, Mrs. Jean Goode of Toronto, to speak solely on this project which it is possible may become the international Soroptimist project. Mrs. Goode is secretary of the division of old age of the Welfare Council of Toronto.

At their convention in London, Ontario, last weekend the first fellowship to be awarded by Eastern Canada Region for Geroniology (the science of old age) was given to Miss Georgina Harper of the Public Library staff, Hamilton. She will study social and recreational problems dealing with old age in the coming year and probably report at the convention next year in Ottawa.

Mr. Poole was introduced to the Soroptimists by Mrs. Isabel Hughson and thanked by Miss Isobel Sutherland. President Miss Alice Curtis presided.

Evening Tea Held By St. John's W.A.

A very pretty evening Spring Tea was held Wednesday evening in St. John's Anglican Church parish hall by the Evening Branch of the W. A. The guests were received by president Mrs. F. C. Marshall.

Apple blossoms and budding lilacs decorated the tea room and the table decorations were carried out with a centrepiece of apple blossoms, pale pink and blue candles.

A bale of work for a western Indian School was displayed along with six complete layettes—three in pink and three in blue—to be sent to Toronto W.A. House. Mrs. B. Ottewell, Dorcas secretary, was in charge of the display.

Miss Hazel Jones, now deaconess at Apsley, entertained with colored pictures of the Arctic where she previously spent 13 years in mission work.

Miss M. Dainton was general convener of this tea and Mrs. A. Clysdale was responsible for decorations. Miss H. Melville poured the tea and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Mrs. F. Ford and Mrs. L. Spriggs served.

DOROTHY DIX

Annoyed By Letters From Old Flame

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married to a wonderful man for the past year. During this time he has been getting love letters from a woman who once worked with him—before he knew me. She has tried by all means to break up our marriage. These notes are mailed to his place of business and are handed to me—unopened. They are destroyed as soon as I get them. I read the first few, but they revolted me so I never bothered to open any more.

How can I let this woman know she is wasting her time, let her know the letters are never read? She was told by a mutual friend to stop sending them, and my husband has told her the same thing, but to no avail.

A. A. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Instead of destroying the unopened letters, why not send them back to the writer? As soon as you get each one, write her address across the envelope and send it back, unopened, of course. When she sees with her own eyes that her efforts to reach your husband are futile, she'll soon stop. If the annoyance continues, threaten to call on the law for help. That'll stop her!

Inferiority Complex

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a girl of 23, painfully shy. I suppose I have an inferiority complex because I always imagine people are better than I am. Although I'm told by friends that I'm pretty, I still can't get along with people. With my intimate friends, I'm full of life and fun, but with strangers I'm completely tongue-tied.

MILDRED G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The best way to get over shyness among strangers is to get out among them more. Perhaps this sounds paradoxical, but it is only the initial plunge that hurts. Group activity of any kind is what you need. Before you go out, prime yourself with a few observations on current topics. They'll serve as an opening wedge, then let the other party do the talking. You just listen attentively.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We were married seven years ago, when I was 16. We now have a daughter of 4. My husband is 27. I can't seem to settle down since I started to work three years ago. I like to go out and have a good time. My husband's family has caused us so much trouble that I fear I'm losing my love for him. He is good to me and our child, and tries to make a good living. Now I have met a man I think I could learn to love but don't want to break up my family. Should I continue to try to hold the home together?

ROSALIE C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Having married too young to enjoy your girlhood, you are trying to make up for lost time now. It is, however, seven years too late. This does not necessarily mean that your good times are all over, it just means that you must enjoy them in a different fashion. A devoted husband and a charming child are nucleus enough for any woman's life. Of course your in-law's have been talking about you; your conduct certainly has not been conducive to good opinion. You have a lot to undo, for by this time you are probably the object of much unpleasant local gossip. Turn your attention to your husband, and leave other males alone. You're at a very serious crossroads and, unless you take the right one, a most disastrous future is ahead.

DEAR MISS DIX: I always wake up feeling fine, clear eyed and full of pep. Most of my friends seem cranky in the mornings. The trouble is that they seem to resent my cheerfulness. Should I hide my true feelings from them, or would it be better if I knew a different group of people?

JACK

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Aren't you the lucky one! Imagine being able to get up every morning completely rested and full of pep. I doubt if an acquaintance with a new group of people would help you, for they'd be sure to look with equal doubt on your matinal gaiety.

Just continue living as you do, Jack; perhaps you'll inspire others to overcome the alarm clock blues.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21, and go with a girl 16. Her mother died about two years ago. Although she is actually mature for her age, her father claims I am too old for her. He treats her like a child, checking up on all her activities and putting her on an absolutely ridiculous curfew.

PAUL H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Father probably treats his daughter like a child for the very sufficient reason that she is one! Sixteen is not adult, no matter how mature you think the girl is. A motherless daughter to rear is a serious responsibility for any father, and it is much better for him to be a little overstrict with her than too lenient. Bide your time until the girl is older; father's discipline will relax.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Beat High Cost Of Living By Sewing For Children

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sew your own clothes and save money, says Mrs. R. G. Purcell of Fort William, Ont.

Mrs. Purcell is president of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, an organization composed of 47,500 women in farming communities throughout the province.

She told the Canadian Press that any woman can help beat the high cost of living by doing her own sewing. It also helps if she plans her wardrobe around a basic color.

"The idea of the basic dress which can be changed in appearance by the addition of a scarf, necklace or other trimming, is an old one—but ever new," said Mrs. Purcell.

Spring, said Mrs. Purcell, always gives her "a yen" to sew.

"Certainly a young mother with a growing family needs a sewing machine—and needs to use it.

"There is such a choice of material today, simplified patterns with all instruction clearly given, or classes in sewing in all schools, that there is no excuse for any mother not knowing how to sew for her children."

Rhubarb, Rhubarb

The head of the Ontario women's institutes said that if housewives want to save they should buy in larger quantities and plan meals ahead. This is one way to get more value for the food dollar.

"Wherever possible I buy in larger quantities—potatoes are much cheaper by the bag. Canned milk or other canned foods commonly used, is cheaper by the case," said Mrs. Purcell.

In the Purcell garden are raspberry - busthes. Every spring there's rhubarb.

Mrs. Purcell found "after the first taste for rhubarb has gone there always seems to be a surplus not used." She preserved some, uncooked, in cold water for winter use. Some went into conserve and rhubarb pickle.

But there still was rhubarb in the garden.

Last year Mrs. Purcell solved her problem.

"I took equal quantities of raspberry and rhubarb, cooked it, strained it through the jelly bag and made a clear jelly in the usual way."

She said this new kind of jelly has more juice than usual. And the sweetness of the raspberry is fully balanced by the tang of the rhubard.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Sufficient Servings For 30 At Mother, Daughter Banquet

QUESTION: As I find your suggestions and recipes most helpful I was wondering if you would have any for a mother and daughter banquet. We are a small group of 14 members and usually prepare most of the food ourselves. We would like to be able to keep the price of tickets down but realize a nominal profit . . . Mrs. C. J. B.

ANSWER: Since there are 14 members I will assume that there will be at least 30—maybe 35—at the banquet. The way to keep meal and ticket costs down and to make a profit is to make everything yourself, as you say. Potatoes are expensive and fresh pork is cheap, so this gives us a good reason for a complete change from the usual church banquet menu.

Pork Curry on Fluffy Rice
Cole Slaw Tomato Jellies
Homemade Rolls
Blanc Mange with Fruit Topping
Date and Oatmeal Squares
Tea or Coffee

Directions

Variations of curries are endless, but here a basic rule: Pork Curry: (these amounts will serve 24; make 1½ times this recipe if you expect 36 guests). Roll in seasoned flour, brown in hot fat 5 lbs. fresh lean pork cut in ¾ inch cubes. Then add 16 cups boiling water, 2½ tablespoons sayt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 6 cups diced celery, 6 cups diced onions. Simmer 1 hour or until meat is tender. Mix together 1 cup flour and 2 to 6 teaspoons curry (amount of curry powder depends on your judgment). 1 cup cold water. Stir this into the curry until thick. Simmer 10 minutes. Serve over—

Fluffy Rice:

(Double boiler method is best for such a large amount.) One cup rice cooked this way serves 3 people. In large institution-size top of doubleboiler put 4 cups long-grain rice, 4 teaspoons salt, 7 cups boiling water, and if desired 2 tablespoons butter. Cover, and cook over boiling water for about 35 minutes. Turn off heat, remove lid, let rice stand a few minutes to dry and fluff. Put lid back on if not to be served at once. Make double this amount for 24 people.

Blanc Mange

Heat 6 cups milk in top of large double boiler. Mix together in bowl ¾ cup cornstarch, 6 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, then stir into them ¾cup cold milk. Stir this into the hot milk until thick, cover and cook 30 minutes, stirring 3 times. Remove from heat, add 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Cool a little and apportion into 12 stemmed glasses. Make double this amount for 24 people. Top with—

Fruit Topping:

Canned apricots, canned pineapple, sliced maraschino cherries, chopped oranges or canned mandarin oranges, mixed together.

Date and Oatmeal Squares

(These will be popular—so make double or triple this amount.) One and one-half lbs. dates, 1½ cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon baking soda, 2½ cups rolled oats, ½ cup brown sugar, 1 cup shortening. Add boiling water to dates, cook slowly until thick, cool, and add vanilla. Mix and sift together the flour, salt, baking powder and baking soda. Put the rolled oats through the meat chopper and add them and the brown sugar. Cut in the shortening. Spread half of this mixture on a 12-inch buttered pan, spread date mixture over, cover with remainder of flour mixture, pressing it down with palms. Bake about 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr. To prevent crumbling top may be brushed with a mixture of 1 beaten egg and 2 tablespoons water.

I hope your banquet is a success. If you would like more details write to me again.

6—In Memoriam

MILLS—In loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mills.
One by one they go before us,
They are fading like the dew.
But we know they're watching o'er us,
They the good, the fair, the true,
They are waiting for us only,
Where no pain can ever mar,
Dear ones who left us lonely,
Watch us through the gates ajar;
There a father, there a mother,
Gone within those gates ajar.
—Ever lovingly remembered by their daughters.

ROGOW—In loving memory of Sgt.-Pilot Sam Rogow who passed away ten years ago today.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft, dim light
A face we loved the best,
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Always remembered by mother, dad, brothers and sisters.

SIMMONS—In loving memory of James H. Simmons, who passed away four years ago today.
You can only have one father,
Patient, kind and true,
No other friend in all the world
Will be as kind to you.
For all his loving kindness,
He asks nothing in return,
If all the world deserts you,
To your father you can turn.
So all we can do, dear father,
Is go and tend your grave
And leave behind a taken of love
To the best father God ever made.
So you who have a father,
Cherish him with care,
For you'll never know the heartache,
Till you see his vacant chair.
—Sadly missed by daughter and son-in-law, Isobelle, Harry and family.

SIMMONS—In loving memory of James H. Simmons who passed away four years ago April 25, 1948.
You're not forgotten, father dear
Nor ever shall you be
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

WHITE—In loving memory of Mr. H. White, who passed away April, 25, one year ago today.
Your presence is ever near us,
Your love remains with us yet,
You were the kind of a father
Your loved ones would never forget.
—Lovingly remembered by daughters Selena and Rose.

ations he belonged to and was president of during his years in the city.

In 1928, he was elected president of the Peterborough Manufacturers' Association, and for four years served on the executive committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

For 12 years he was a member of the board of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and was president for four years, from 1931 to 1934. In 1924 he was president of the Kiwanis Club.

Nine successive years he spent on the Board of Education, serving as its chairman in 1939. In 1938 he was appointed the board's representative on the Public Library Board, and for two years, 1943-44, was chairman of the board, retiring in 1951.

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association in 1948, he was elected first vice-president and in 1949 was elected president for 1950-51. Also in 1948, he was appointed a member of the executive council of the Blue Cross plan for hospital care. At the time of his death, he was an honorary vice-president of the hospital association.

For 15 years or more he served on the board of managers of St. Andrew's United Church, was chairman of the board in 1945 and devised a plan for the retirement of the church mortgage over a five-year period. He assumed chairmanship of the board again in 1947 and was successful in retiring the mortgage.

He was a Past Master of St. Lawrence Lodge 14, A.F. & A.M., Montreal, and was affiliated with the Royal Arthur Lodge of Peterborough, being an 18th degree member of its Scottish Rite.

He was as well a life member of the Peterborough Club, and was a past president of that club.

Born In England

Mr. Marshall was born in Bishop, Aukland, England, a son of the late Richard Marshall and Elizabeth Reed. He came to Canada in 1885, was educated in Toronto schools, and moved to Montreal in 1904.

While in Montreal, he served with several firms, including Business Systems, Limited, which he left to join Canadian Nashua.

He is survived by his widow, the former Joanna Lawson, one daughter, Mrs. Aileen Sallaway, Toronto; one son, J. R. Desmond Marshall of Peterborough; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Frances Cook of Toronto, and a stepson, J. C. Jennings of Ajax.

There are as well three brothers Thomas P., Richard, and William of Toronto.

P.C.V.S. Cadets Hold Parade

Spring means to many people babbling brooks, brightly colored flowers and chirping birds, but to the boys at P.C.V.S. spring is tramping feet. The cadet corps started its spring practising Thursday for its annual inspection on May 15.

For the next three weeks the boys from Grades 9 to 12 will be holding daily practices, sometimes in the morning, but generally in the afternoon. The girls will be taking regular class or study periods while Grade 13 will be preparing for May examinations.

Commanding officer this year is Cadet Lieut.-Col. Larry Forbes with Darrel Lipsett, second-in-command, and Hugh Outram, adjutant. There are 530 boys in the corps.

Directing the training is James McNabb, assisted by teacher-instructors Alex Londry, Howard Moebus, G. E. Beals, Arnold Noftall, Howard David, Al MacQuarrie, Harry Collingwood, G. B. Goulding, Jack Cullis, H. A. Craig and band instructor Albert Croasdale.

Besides the parading there will be extra periods spent on map reading, machine gun drill, field craft, rifle drill, the band, and signal training. At the inspection special demonstrations will be held by each group.

Wife Of Adviser Dies On Trip

LONDON, April 25—(CP)—Mrs. Meta Griffin of Winnipeg, wife of H. L. Griffin, economic adviser to the United Grain Growers, died today in London Clinic. She was 63.

Mrs. Griffin became ill last Monday just a week after her arrival in England. She had planned the trip as a long-deferred holiday when her husband was named as observer to attend the current London sessions of the International Wheat Agreement Conference.

A son, E. Griffin, of Montreal, is flying to London for the funeral to be held Monday in St. Peter's Anglican Church.

Mrs. Griffin is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. S. Sanderson of Ottawa, two brothers, Fred E. Fraser, Montreal, Hugh, of Ottawa and a sister, Mrs. L. Howard of Victoria.

Car Radio Stolen Gets It Back Quickly

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP). — Keith Wigney had a $140 custom-built radio stolen from his car on Thursday.

He called police, then inserted a "wanted" ad in an Ottawa newspaper for a "custom-built radio."

He didn't have to wait long for results. A man called offering the type of radio he wanted. Investigation disclosed it was the very set stolen on a theft charge by Joseph Smith, 23, of no fixed address.

24 Killed Or Missing After Landslide

MENTON, France, April 25 (AP) —Four persons were killed and 10 others were missing today after a landslide crushed 20 houses in this French Riviera city near the Italian border.

In addition, 13 persons were injured, three of them severely, as the houses were washed Thursday night from their foundations by flooded streams.

Gordon Says Railroading "Partnership"

MONTREAL, April 25 — Railroading is a partnership operation, Donald Gordon, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, told 26th annual meeting of the C.N.R. union Management Co-operative Movement, Mechanical Section, Thursday. "We should recognize and understand each others problems; you should recognize and worry with us in managerial matters and we, in turn, should heed the recommendations you make to us," he said.

Mr. Gordon stated that the most important problem facing the railways today was that of competition. "We must meet competition, not stifle it. To do this, we must get the maximum amount of production from our working forces, working tools and working materials."

The president complimented the C.N.R. motive power and car shop staffs for their efficiency record attained in 1951. He particularly commended the performance of the car shops in reducing the number of unserviceable freight cars from eight to three per cent.

Study Dieselization

Mr. Gordon told the delegates that the company is engaged in an extensive study of dieselization. Implementation of the program will necessitate major changes in the utilization of labour forces but, he said, "we are providing training methods for existing employees to qualify themselves for the maintenance and operation of diesel power. We are going to handle dieselization in as considerate a way as possible so as to use the maximum number of existing personnel. Our program is a long range one."

The president drew attention to the company's new pension plan and he advised all employees to study it to take advantage of it according to the option that seems best suited to individual needs. He stated that the company is setting up committees on a regional basis to help employees make their selection.

Truman's Ultimatum Talk Embarrasses US Officials

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—President Truman's off-the-cuff assertion that he forced the Russians out of Iran by a personal ultimatum to Premier Stalin led to some unhappy tongue-clucking in high quarters today.

A press office "clarification" of Truman's extemporaneous statement at a press conference Thursday pointed up the embarrassment occasioned by this and other off-hand remarks that have raised eyebrows around the world.

British newspapers splashed the "ultimatum" story under such headlines as "Sensation at Truman Talk," and "Blunders by Mr. Truman."

In diplomatic language an "ultimatum" is regarded as a step just short of war. Roger Tubby, assistant presidential press secretary who formerly worked at the State Department, told reporters afterward that Truman had used the word in a "non-technical, layman sense."

The note in question, he said, was not one from the president to Stalin, but a note from this government to the Russian government on March 4, 1946, published the next day, stating U.S. opposition to Russia's continued occupation of Iran.

"As you possibly recall," Tubby said, "the Russians withdrew their troops from Iran in May, 1946."

Just Example

Truman cited the Iran matter in outlining some of the actions he and other presidents have taken to meet national emergencies. He was talking about his seizure of the steel industry to prevent a strike.

Truman's Ultimatum

It wasn't the first time the White House press office had been moved to clarify presidential remarks.

Newspapermen recalled the firing of Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce on Sept. 20, 1946, following his speech attacking the "Get-tough-with-Russia" policy.

Truman told reporters he had approved Wallace's speech. Two days later, he issued a statement saying he meant only that he had approved Wallace's right to make the speech. Six days later the President fired Wallace.

Truman's Nov. 30, 1950, press-conference remarks on the use of the atomic bomb created world-wide concern.

Truman had said the U.S. would fight on in Korea with every means at its disposal—including the atomic bomb, if necessary.

The White House explained later that use of the atom bomb had not been authorized and that Truman's comment did "not represent any change in the situation.

Toronto Entry Earns Criticism

TORONTO, April 25 (CP)—The Arts Club Theatre's presentatioon of "The Glorified Brat" at the Central Ontario Drama League's one-act play festival Thursday night received criticism from adjudicator Edward Thommen.

Mr. Thommen, of the Niagara Falls, Ont., Summer Theatre, termed the play by Charles Emery "inexcusable and contrived." He added he felt that the time and energy of the group had been wasted in producing the play.

He found the "Six Queens of Henry" by Marjorie Price static in its staging. The play about the wives of Henry VIII was produced by the Toronto Studio Players. He said he wished the Queens had not been quite so effectively costumed.

The third play—"The Case of the Crushed Petunia" by Tennessee Williams, made up for the whole evening, Mr. Thommen said. It was staged by the St. Catharines Theatre Guild.

Fight At Party One In Hospital One In Court

An argument over poker winnings between two men at a C.G.E. bowling stag party Thursday night was blamed for one man being taken to hospital and the other being charged with assault occasioning bodily harm.

Police found John Cotton, 35, Chemong Park in the washroom of the Club Aragon bleeding considerably from a four inch cut on his left temple. Dr. Robert Young was attending Cotton when police arrived, and the injured man was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by ambulance.

As a result of information given them by a witness who said he saw the fracas, Charles O'Brien, 24, 207 Stewart St., was arrested by patorol sergeant Gordon Trennum and constable W. A. Scott.

In police court today, O'Brien did not enter a plea when he was arraigned on a charge assaulting Cotton and occasioning him actual bodily harm.

$2,000 Bail

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said he had not yet learned the extent of Cotton's injuries and was obliged to ask for substantial bail. O'Brien was remanded until Monday on bail of $2,000. Mr. Bradshaw said that if Cotton's injuries proved to be not too serious and O'Brien is unable to raise the bail, it might be reduced on Saturday.

The blow which severed O'Brien's temple artery is believed to have been caused by a beer bottle. Although he lost a considerable amount of blood before the flow could be stopped, his condition is described by hospital officials as satisfactory today.

Could Cut Off $315,000,000 From Budget

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott has been told he can chop $315,000,000 off his peacetime-record budget of $4,500,000,000.

Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) advised the government in the Commons Thursday night that defence spending could be cut by $225,000,000 and money could be saved by such means as reducing old-age pensions and family allowances for the well-to-do and by postponing public works.

A 34-year-old hardware dealer who sometimes does not see eye to-eye with the rest of his party, Mr. Thatcher found his social-security and public-works proposals challenged by some C.C.F. members as he spoke.

Later Joseph Noseworthy (CCF—York South), in a speech of his own in the budget debate, expressed belief that "in many respects" Mr. Thatcher was delivering his own opinions and not speaking C.C.F. policy.

Other Suggestions

Besides reductions in the $2,500,000,000 defence program, Mr. Thatcher suggested these economies for the current fiscal year:

Old-age pensions and family allowances, $30,000,000; public works, $20,000; CBC shortwave broadcasts, $2,039,000; government publicity and printing, $4,000; statistical publications, $1,000,000; reduction in civil service personnel, $20,000,000; centralized government purchasing, $10,000,000.

He listed, too, a number of miscellaneous items that might be reduced such as $500,000 for buying aluminum buckets for maple sugar producers and $7,143 apiece for seven gift doors for the United Nations headquarters at New York.

Saying peacetime taxes are too high, Mr. Thatcher said the government's spending program will take 21 cents out of every dollar earned and means an average of $320 in taxes for every person in the country.

He came into conflict with fellow-members of the C.C.F. when he suggested the universal pension of $40 a month and family allowances should not be paid to the wealthy.

Nothing Doing

When Justice Minister Garson asked if Mr. Thatcher would apply the means test to the baby bonus, Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) interjected:

"Over my dead body!"

Mr. Thatcher said there is no need for pensions or family allowances to those earning more than $5,000, or perhaps $6,000.

H. W. Herridge (CCF—Kottenway West) objected to his proposal for cutting down on public works.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West), the Commons' only woman member, said the government has been using tax money to reduce the national debt. If it was going to cut down the debt it should tell the people its intentions.

False Pretences

The money should not be raised by imposing taxes for "public buildings which cannot be built, clothing for the forces which cannot be used and equipment which is not required."

George D. Weaver (L—Churchill) dealt largely with potential mineral developments in northern Manitoba, declaring it will become the nickel capital of the world. He said that area contains 75 per cent of the world's nickel resources.

HASLAM, a 74-year-old British grandmother, who plans to marry her late husband's brother, was among the 600 passengers who arrived in Montreal recently aboard the Empress of France. This is the first time that she has ventured outside her native Britain, with the exception of a visit to Belgium in 1934.

U.S. Forces May Leave Japan

TOKYO, April 26. (AP)—Emperor Hirohito and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the fading Allied occupation, exchanged brief formal courtesy calls today as the hour neared for Japan's transition to a sovereign state. Observers said it was unlikely the two would meet officially again after the seven-year Allied occupation ends at 10:30 p.m. Monday (8:30 a.m. EST). Thirteen times in the last seven years the emperor has slipped quietly out of his palace for an "incognito" visit to Allied headquarters. But this morning Hirohito appeared as a full-fledged monarch. His glistening black sedan complete with imperial crest—a huge 16-petal chrysanthemum—sped out of the front gate of the palace behind an escort of police motorcycles. The emperor was accompanied by five court officials. Ridgway returned the courtesy call this afternoon.

Earlier, in a farewell radio address to the Japanese people, Ridgway said American troops will be withdrawn from Japan as soon as the nation is able to defend itself.

Not Too Far Off

"I hope that day will not be so far distant," he said. "The United States certainly does not want to prolong needlessly the stationing of its troops anywhere abroad."

The occupation commander conceded there probably will be friction between the Japanese and U.S. soldiers. And he said he recognized that "Communists and other subversive groups will attempt deliberately to aggravate these difficulties."

As the hour of Japan's independence approached, there were these other developments:

Occupation authorities returned to Japanese owners nearly 850 plants seized for possible reparations payments.

All Japanese industries, businesses and government offices will be idle for nine full days.

The peace treaty goes into effect Monday.

Huge Radio Telescope Being Built In Manchester

MANCHESTER, April 26. (Reuters)—Manchester University scientists are planning to build the world's biggest radio telescope—a device consisting mostly of aerials which will enable it to pick up radio-type impulses from invisible "radio stars" and plot their positions.

The announcement Friday said the telescope, shaped like a huge bowl on a horizontal axis, will have a diameter of 265 feet—making it the largest of its type.

Scientists believe it will do for the infant science of radio-astronomy what the giant lens telescopes in Mount Wilson and Mount Palomar, Cal., have done for visual astronomy.

Little has been learned of radio stars since U.S. scientists discovered in 1931 that radio waves were coming to the earth from somewhere in space.

After the Second World War, it was discovered that these impulses came from stars and it is believed the waves affect both television transmissions and radar.

Atomic Processes

Scientists now agree the pulses are generated by atomic processes in the rarefield hydrogen gas in inter-stellar space.

One theory is that the "radio stars" are not like visible stars, but merely areas of electrons freed from their normal place in the sun's atmosphere and are incapable of emitting light.

Britons, who now claim the lead in radio-astronomy, have been studying the sky with a 220-foot, stationary telescope for the last three years.

With it they have detected radio waves from the Andromea nebula, 750,000 light years away.

But their field has been restricted because they could move the aerials only slightly by adjusting the guy ropes holding it in position. The new telescope will be completely adjustable and will receive signals from any part of the sky.

It is expected to take four years to build.

Suggest Single Salary Scale

TORONTO, April 26. (CP) — Representatives of 25 school boards in the Toronto district on Friday night decided to explore the possibility of setting up a single salary scale for teachers in the whole area.

The Toronto and District Urban School Trustees' Association appointed a committee to look into the idea.

Agreement on a common schedule would mean that teachers would negotiate with a group representing all the boards and the schedule arrived at would cover the whole area.

Trustee Harold Male of Toronto said that as long as salary differences exist, teachers will be tempted to work where they are paid most, resulting in ever-increasing competition between various boards.

Reeve Facing Assault Charge

BELLEVILLE, April 26.—Two men, one of them the reeve of the town of Stirling, have been charged with assault causing actual bodily harm to 16-year-old Sheila Ingram of Stirling. Reeve Russell West and William Morton, a garage operator, have been released on $1,000 bail to appear before a magistrate on May 1.

Police were called to Glenross, four miles southwest of Stirling, at 4:15 a.m. Tuesday by a farmer who said the girl had sought refuge in his home. O.P.P. Constables Edward Smith, R. Kowal and G. M. E. Robertson have been investigating the case since then.

Husband Beat Her Every Day Wife Says

CHICAGO, April 26 (AP) — Mrs. Olma Hansel, 43, testified in court Friday that her husband, Fred, 48, a truck driver, had struck her every day during their 23 years of marriage.

"Did I understand you right?" asked Judge John T. Dempsey regarding the daily blows.

"Absolutely," replied Mrs. Hansel who was in court seeking an order for temporary alimony.

Dempsey ordered Hansel to pay her $25 weekly pending her suit for divorce alleging cruelty and non-support. He enjoined Hansel from striking his wife.

Students Convene

BUENOS AIRES, April 26 (AP) —A government-sponsored meeting of the World Congress of University Students convened here Friday with 233 students from 67 universities in 33 countries present. Object of the congress is to discuss social matters pertaining to students. The delegates were chosen by the Argentine embassies and legations in their respective countries. All expenses to and from the meeting are paid by the Argentine government.

Tells Britons In Malaya To Drop Racial Barriers

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, April 26 (AP).—Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, British High Commissioner for Malaya, told British business men here today it might be "disastrous" to isolate themselves from local Malays, Chinese and Indians by racial barriers.

The peppery little General, who stirred up a fuss among old Malayan hands a fortnight ago by saying they spent too much time of the golf links instead of combatting Communism, renewed his plea for more public service in a speech to the Malayan Federation Chamber of Commerce.

With an indirect slap at social clubs which bar Asians from membership, Templer said Britons in Malaya "must crusade against racial barriers or discrimination wherever they may be found."

"The British community in particular, as citizens of a leading democratic country, have a special responsibility for leadership and example," Templer declared.

"It has been suggested to me that some Europeans in commercial life here in Malaya feel they are only temporary inhabitants of this country" and "tend to isolate themselves," he said.

"Such isolation, if this were true could well be disastrous. Europeans must learn to see themselves, not just as transients without roots in Malaya, but as part of a tradition of partnership between Britain and Malaya. . . They must take an active part in life of local Malayan community."

Governor Reprimands Prison Psychologist For Praising Convicts

JACKSON, Mich., April 26. (AP)—A rousing storm of criticism surged back and forth today over handling of the Southern Michigan Prison riot.

A series of investigations may be made into the four-day mutiny which cost the life of one prisoner, wounded nearly a score of inmates and guards, and left some $2,000,000 damage in its wake.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, who aproved the 11-point agreement on prison reforms demanded by 170-odd convict rebels, sharply reprimanded the young psychologist who negotiated the surrender terms.

Wiliams acted as various state officials demanded a shakeup in top prison personnel, mentioned a posible grand jury inquiry, and promised that the mutineers would be prosecuted for any crimes committed in connection with the riot,

Williams ordered an official reprimand given to Dr. Vernon Fox, assistant deputy warden and chief prison psychologist who had broadcast his congratulations to the rebel leaders.

The 36-year-old Fox, popular with many of the huge prison's 6,50 inmates, spoke over the prison loudspeaker system Thursday just before the mutineers surrendered from embattled cellblock 15 and freed their eight hostage guards.

Fox praised convict chieftain Earl Ward as a "natural leader," and said he and his fellows were "to be congratulated on the good faith with which they have bargained."

"Fox," said the governor, "performed magnificent work in bringing about the surrender of the convicts in Block 15 and saving the lives of the guards.

"Except for this, his choice of language in addressing the inmates would be utterly inexcusable."

Fox commented that press accounts had given the wrong impression of his statement. He said he congratulated the men only because they had given up 20 hours in advance of their original deadline and said he called Ward a leader "in the sense that an individual is judged by comparing him with others in his group."

Sanction Monday For Celebration

OTTAWA, April 26 — (CP) — The Commons, after considering the matter for two sessions, agreed Friday that Queen Victoria's birthday should always be celebrated on a Monday, rather than on whatever day May 24 happens to fall.

However, no immediate change will be made, and this year the holiday will be celebrated May 24, a Saturday.

The Commons accepted a bill sponsored by J. L. Macdougall (L Vancouver-Burrard) after one final amendment.

The last change made it clear that the holiday will be celebrated on the last Monday immediately preceding May 25.

The bill now goes to the Senate for three readings. If it is adopted there, its provisions will not take effect until 1953.

Expect Japan Ignore Russia

TOKYO, April 26 (Reuters) — Japan will turn a cold shoulder on any Russian attempt to make separate treaty arrangements when the peace treaty comes into force Monday, Japanese diplomatic officers predicted today.

The Russians did not sign the Japanese peace treaty at San Francisco, although they attended the conference.

The foreign office has noted Moscow dispatches suggesting the U.S.S.R. would attempt negotiations soon with Japan.

At present Japan is carefully avoiding any official action towards the Russian mission here. Its legal status now is void with dissolution of the Allied Council for Japan, the officers said.

General Says Farewell

PARIS, April 26. (AP)—In good spirits despite his recent illness, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, went to Luxembourg today. While in the grand duchy, the general will say farewell to the officers and men of the Luxembourg army who were under his command for the last year. Eisenhower plans to return here Sunday then go to Germany next week for other farewell visits, including a parade in which Canadian troops will take part.

Queen Juliana Resting After Busy Week

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands today rested at the home of Canadian friends after a strenuous, two-day visit to Dutch immigrants in Ontario.

The names of her host and hostess in suburban Rockcliffe were kept secret.

No activities were planned for the Queen today. She may pay visits in the Ottawa area to some of the friends made during her wartime stay in Canada. A shopping trip also may be undertaken.

Sunday, Prince Bernhard, her husband, will fly here from New York where most of the Royal party remained after a three-week tour of the United States with the Queen.

The Royal party will leave by plane for the Netherlands shortly afterwards. Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor General of Canada and the Queen's host for the first three days of her stay here, will bid them goodbye at nearby Uplands airport.

Certain Sacrifices

The Queen gave an interview here Friday night after completing the tour of Dutch settlements. She said the Dutch must be prepared for "certain sacrifices" in building a new life in Canada.

"Immigration is decidedly not for people who have no backbone. Please don't consider this as meant as a discouragement for those who wish to emigrate.

"If one can push through the initial problems—and that is what each of the immigrants to whom I spoke told me—then there is certainly a future for the Dutch in Canada."

Housing conditions were the one thing the Queen noticed. Six Dutch families were living temporarily in summer cottages on the eastern outskirts of Brockville, Ont.

"The housing conditions as I found them often were not ideal, but this is part of the initial pioneering stages," the Queen said later.

She said Dutch farm hands were "lucky people" to live on the farm of H. C. Jeffries on the edge of Hamilton, where she stopped on Thursday. Their working conditions were excellent.

Jail Escapee Gives Self Up

BRANDON, Man., April 26 (CP) —The youngest of three prisoners who escaped Thursday from a working party at the Brandon jail, Raymond B. McKeeman, 18, gave himself up early today.

Haggard and hungry after almost 34 hours in the bush, McKeeman knocked on the door of John Nadler and announced to the startled farmer: "I'm hungry."

The youth, from Truro, N.S., identified himself. The farmer fed him and called police.

Two other prisoners — John Klippert, 29, of Owen Sound, and Donald James Fairy, 24, of St. Catharines—were still at large today.

McKeeman left the heavily-wooded Brandon hills about three miles west of Highway No. 11. He said he left his companions early Friday night but did not say where they were.

Police planned to resume an air and ground search for the pair today. Two helicopters and a Dakota aircraft from the R.C.A.F. base at Rivers, Man., co-operated with 30 policemen in the search Friday.

Going To Paris

TUNIS, Tunisia, April 26 (Reuters) — Prime Minister Salam Eddine Baccouche will go to Paris next Monday. He will consult with French ministers on setting up the proposed joint Franco-Tunisian Commission on Constitutional Reforms in this protectorate.

Steel Ruling Expected Next Week

Government, Industry Wait Tensely For Judge's Decision

WASHINGTON, April 26. — (AP)—The U.S. government and the steel industry sweated out in tense expectancy today a period of waiting for a court decision on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the steel mills. After listening to arguments by lawyers of both sides in a crowded courtroom Friday, Judge David A. Pine said he would "take the case under submission and give it my attention to the exclusion of all other court business."

The 60-year-old jurist did not say when he might give his decision but legal experts said it may not be announced until Monday or later.

The soft-spoken judge has pletny of reading material for the weekend—hundreds of pages of legal briefs filed by the government and six steel companies and the transcript of almost two full days of testimony, filled with legal footnotes.

Authorize $3 Increase

Meanwhile, the government authorized a $3-a-ton average price rise for steel, effective May 1. But it won't take effect until individual steel companies apply for it or the government decrees it in force.

Price stabilizer Ellis said $3 is all the steel companies are entitled to under present policy. The industry has estimated its costs would be boosted $12 a ton if government - recommended wage boosts were put into effect.

The $3 increase, on top of the current average steel price of $110 a ton, was granted under the Capehart Amendment to the Controls Law. That allows producers

Daughter Dying Ban Transfusion

ODESSA, Tex., April 26 (AP)— A young woman lay near death here Friday while her father and brother stood at her hospital room door to prevent any one giving her a blood transfusion which doctors say she needs.

Grace Marie Olliff, 20, oil company office worker, was critically injured in a two-car head-on collision on Sunday night. She has been unconscious since.

Miss Olliff's father, William Olliff, 51-year-old operator of a Midland trailer camp, and her two brothers, John, 27, and Ben, 23, said they have refused to allow nurses to give the woman a blood transfusion principally "because it would be a violation of the Scriptures of the Bible to tamper with blood."

They are members of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Raymond Gray, acting administrator for Medical Centre Hospital, said if the woman's condition becomes worse and physicans again order a blood transfusion he will "call officers and have the father and brothers taken from the hospital and see that the transfusion is administered."

Four Companions Killed In Crash, Ground Men Heroes

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., April 26. (CP)—Heroic action of R.C.A.F. ground crew members saved the lives of eight airmen Friday after four of their companions were killed when their heavily-loaded Lancaster crashed at the base. This brings air deaths in the Martimes to 12 in little more than a week. Only a flimsy fence averted an even greater tragedy. The flaming, twisted wreck of the four-engined Lancaster, skidding along the ground toward the station's fuel depot, was slowed by a fence and stopped 50 feet from the tanks. Additional thousands of gallons of high octane gasoline stood nearby in several railway cars. They were shunted away as some of the remaining eight occupants clambered from the broken plane.

An eyewitness who said the plane broke in two as it crashed revealed that the first two members of the ground crew saved at least three lives. "One of the ground crew held the jagged edges of the fuselage apart while the other crawled in and pulled out at least three people," he said.

Dragged From Plane

Five of the plane's occupants were seriously injured and three suffered minor burns. They were dragged from the burning aircraft while its gasoline tanks were still exploding, by members of the Summerside station ground crew. One of the ground crew was injured in rescue operations.

Names of the dead and injured are being withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Eyewitnesses said the plane made a routine approach to the runway as it returned from a 600-mile flight to Goose Bay, Labrador. As it prepared to touch down it apparently overshot the strip and started to climb, went into a stall and crashed to the ground.

Two navy Avengers were lost off southwestern Nova Scotia last week when they aparently collided in mid-air and carried seven men into the Atalntic. Another naval pilot died Thursday shortly after his Avenger took off from the Shearwater Air Base near Dartmouth, N. S. His craft crashed and burned about a mile from the field.

Friday's tragic accident occurred a few minutes before Defence Minister Claxton's plane was due to leave for Charlottetown.

Eight Allied Planes Lost To Ground Fire

SEOUL, April 26 (AP)—Communist ground-fire knocked down eight Allied planes during the week ended Friday, the Far East Air Forces said today.

That number matched the toll of Red MIG-15 jets shot down in air combat by United States F-86 Sabre jets during the same period. One Sabre jet was lost in the air fighting.

In its weekly summary the air force said three other Allied planes failed to return for unknown causes. One downed plane was Australian, the others American.

The Red toll was put at eight MIG-15s destroyed, two probably destroyed and eight damaged.

U.N. planes also destroyed one IL-10 and two YAK-9s and damaged two YAKS in strafing attacks on Red airfields in North Korea. Both types are Russian built.

Reds Agree To Full-Dress Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea, April 26 — (CP)—The United Nations Command today was reported planning a new and possibly bold move to break the Korean truce talk stalemate as the Communists agreed to a full-dress meeting of armistice delegations Sunday.

There was no indication what the Allies will propose when the five-man delegations of admirals and generals meet at 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m. EST Saturday). It will be the first plenary session since February 19.

The U.N. called for the session Friday after the Reds broke off secret talks on how to exchange prisoners of war.

The Communists said today they would attend the full-dress meeting, but asked what the U.N Command wanted to discuss. They were told the subject would be the "armistice agreement."

Three Stumbling Blocks

The top negotiators will face three major stumbling blocks to a Korean truce: (1) The dispute over whether prisoners should be allowed to choose whether they will return home; (2) an Allied demand for a ban on airfield construction during an armistice; and (3) Communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector.

The Communists agreed to the plenary session 30 minutes before staff officers working on plans for supervising a truce held a brief and fruitless meeting.

They made no headway during the six-minute session toward breaking the Russian and airfield deadlocks.

Prisoner-exchange talks were recessed indefinitely Friday after the Allies said fewer than 70,000 of about 169,000 prisoners of war and civilian internees want to return to Communist-held territory.

Hide Radium For Fishing

CARTERET, N.J., April 26. — (AP)—Four missing radium pellets valued at $200,000 were located Friday in a sidewalk niche where three boys hid them, believing they were fishing sinkers.

Police said loss of the steel pellets—shaped like toy tops with strings attached—was reported at 1 p.m. by the Foster-Wheeler Corp. They were returned to the firm at 2:30 p.m.

Army authorities were called in to trace the valuable radium with geiger counters. They hit pay dirt at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Grammar School, where three boys admitted that they buried the pellets under a cracked sidewalk.

The boys were taken to a specialist for examinations to determine if they had been harmed by radiation.

Has Tear-Drop Shape

New Sub Can Go Faster Under Water

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP) —The U.S. submarine Trigger—new, compact and full of gadgets —was mored here today to show defence officials and Congress members the progress being made in undersea warfare.

The Trigger, powered with the new radial-type diesel engines, has a higher speed submerged than on the surface, due primarily to the tear-drop streamlining of her hull. The speeds attained have not been disclosed.

Shorter than present fleet submarines, including the Guppy class boats, and with a different hull design, the Trigger can manoeuvre better than the long, narrow-hulled craft. A small turning circle is highly important to a submarine in both offensive and evasive operation.

Topside, the Trigger, which was commissioned at New London, Conn., last month, looks much like the Guppy boats except for a wider beam and shorter length.

Something New

But below, the fact that she is an entirely new type is noticeable immediately. The engine room is a marvel of compactness, even for submarines. The fact that the four radial engines stand vertically, instead of horizontally, makes it possible to house the power plant in substantially less space than in other fleet submersibles.

Although she has a superstructure like the Guppy class and the older submarines, the conning tower no longer exists as a tower.

The skipper does not have to scramble up a ladder to reach the tower when the submarine surfaces, and leap down when it is ready to dive.

The surfaced and submerged command post, including the periscopes, is located on the main deck. Hard by that nerve centre are diving controls, the helmsman and planesmen. All this means the Trigger can execute a diving or surfacing operation just a little faster than other submersibles.

Although substantially shorter than the approximate 300 feet of other fleet submarines, the Trigger displaces 1,600 tons, about the same as the others, accountable in part to greater width. She also carries about the same complement of men and officers.

Better and roomier crew accommodations are provided. The main crew quarters, located aft, have bunks, fitted with new sponge-rubber mattresses, for 52 men.

Farm Troubles Discussed In Commons

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—Farmers are getting most of the attention as the free-swinging budget debate rambles over a wide field in the Commons.

Members from many parts of the country had a variety of remedies for the ills of agriculture in Friday's session that closed out the parliamentary week.

They ranged through floor prices stepped-up trade with the United Kingdom and development of wider home markets.

George C. Nowlan (PC-Annapolis Kings), national president of the Progressive Conservatives, and Earl Catherwood (PC-Haldimand) urged heavier purchases from Britain—particularly defence orders—in return for British buying of Canadian foods.

They suggested money obtained by Britain from Canada should be earmarked for such things as bacon, cheese, tobacco, fish, apples and other primary products.

Urge Trade Development

Both the Progressive Conservative speakers also urged the development of Empire trade generally, Mr. Nowlan declaring it is necessary to rectify an "imbalance" in Canada's existing trade pattern.

Mr. Nowlan suggested, too, that it might be necessary eventually to take reprisals against the United States for such measures as its restrictions on import of Canadian cheese and "dumping" of some products in Canada.

Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) also suggested retaliatory action against the U.S. on its cheese move and he proposed too that Canada sell cheese to Britain in exchange for farm implements.

As several other members have done in the last few days, he urged a floor price under cheese because of loss of the United Kingdom market. He contended also that the operation of current floor prices under cattle and eggs is not satisfactory. Many western producers were not getting the floor prices.

Wins Support

The cheese floor was supported by Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark), who said the dairy industry has been hit hard by several factors in addition to loss of the U.K. cheese market—including the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease, competition from New Zealand and competition from margarine.

Two Liberals took exception to the idea of federal price support for cheese. G. M. Ferrie (Mackenzie) said the cheese industry after deciding to operate independently of federal bulk selling, had priced itself out of the market. Now it found it made a mistake and wanted help.

A. Wesley Stuart (L-Charlotte) said the question of a floor price for cheese from Ontario—the big producing province—is one for the government of that province to settle.

E. B. Huffman (L-Kent) thought farmers could be helped if Canada developed industries to use more of her base metals and forest output. More secondary production would lead to a greater population to consume farm products.

Closed Market

Dr. Blair, whose Eastern Ontario constituency contains many cheese factories, said the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has closed the market for Canadian milk cows in the United States. Milk production is increasing and cheese factories are closing down because of the loss of the United Kingdom market.

Loss of the U.K. market followed action by the United States Congress to limit imports of cheese from Canada. Imports of cheese from New Zealand were being allowed to the detriment of the Canadian industry.

"A satisfactory floor below which prices will not be allowed to fall must be assured our producers now," said Dr. Blair.

"Even this is only a partial answer. There must, as well, be an all-out sales effort by the dairy trade and the government . . . some means must be found of disposing of surplus production.

"I would further suggest that the government again make representation to the United States government regarding the quota placed against imports of Canadian cheese and the relationship this virtual embargo bears on our mutual agreement under the Geneva trade agreements.

Should Reconsider

"I, for one, have supported legislation designed to expand international trade, but if the application of escape clauses by other countries, also signatories to the Geneva agreement on trade and tariff, are to continue to discriminate against Canadian producers, then I believe an obligation rests upon this parliament to reappraise our position under this mutual agreement to expand trade."

Mr. Catherwood said Production Minister Howe should go to the United Kingdom immediately and offer to place defence orders there in exchange for food orders in Canada.

Mr. Howe should tell the British government that "Canada is prepared to divert millions of dollars in defence orders to the United Kingdom, as a means for them to purchase our bacon, cheese, tobacco, apples, and other primary products of which we have been a traditional supplier."

Rural Bridge Drops 3 Feet

WARKWORTH, April 26. — (ENS)—The spring floods took their toll on the bridge at Sweet's Mill or Marden's Mill as it is now called, north of this village, with the result that one of the cement abutments gave away on Monday morning about nine o'clock, twisting the bridge around and dropping the one end about 3 feet below the road bed.

This bridge, built of steel and cement, has been in use for the past 15 years and it has been repaired several times during that period. It is expected that a new one will have to be put in now.

Several people had travelled over this bridge earlier in the morning but it did not give away until about nine o'clock. Fortunately it was noticed before an accident occurred.

James Clarkson Heads Personnel At Brinton Co.

The new personnel manager of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. is James Clarkson, a cheery Scot with a good war record and an equally good sense of timing. He arrived in Canada on St. Andrew's Day.

Mr. Clarkson succeeds Walter Dyer, personnel manager at the plant for 16 years. Mr. Dyer has left the company to operate a general store in Cavan.

From Paisley, Mr. Clarkson is no novice in the carpet business. For four years he was personnel manager of A. F. Stoddard and Co., a carpet manufacturing firm in Elderslie, Scotland. Before that he held a similar position with a marine manufacturing company.

Decided On Plane

Mr. Clarkson is apparently a man of quick decisions. He was en route to Canada by airplane when a fellow passenger suggested that instead of going on to Edmonton, Alberta, he should manage a hotel. So he managed a hotel in Shawville, Quebec, for several months.

"That was my first view of Canada—in Shawville—and I can't speak too highly of the hospitality I received," says Mr. Clarkson. "I feel that it is my 'hometown' in Canada."

But wanting to get back into his own field of personnel managership Mr. Clarkson pushed on to Toronto. There he contacted representatives of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. and moved to this city.

When the Second World War ended Mr. Clarkson was a captain in the King's Own Scottish Borderers. Altogether he had 6½ years of service, rising from the rank of private in the London Scottish to a captaincy in the Borderers.

For 4½ years he was in the South East Asia Command, serving in Burma, South Africa and India, He took part in the occupation of Madagascar in 1942, then he was posted to India.

His wife and two sons—Roddy 5, and Peter 2½—are still in Scotland and he is trying to get them here as soon os possible.

Millbrook Guild Plans Film, Baking Sale

MILLBROOK, April 26 (ENS) —The regular monthly meeting of St. Thomas' Anglican Guild was held in the parish hall Wednesday evening with a good attendance and with the president, Mrs. Percy Hamilton in the chair. Mrs. T. A. Campbell, the treasurer, reported a satisfactory bank balance and that $11 talent money had been paid in. Miss Anna Fair reported two visits to the sick and the secretary told of sending ten good cheer cards to the sick and shut-in at Easter.

In order to increase the treasury it was decided to ask the Durham Film Board to present an educational film on May 15 in the parish hall. It was also decided to hold a homemade baking and candy sale in the waiting-room on June 7th:

The meeting which would regularly be held in June is to be held on May 28th at the home of Mrs. Charles Brackenridge.

Mrs. T. A. Campbell and Mrs. C. Brackenridge were supper hostess for the pleasant social half hour which followed.

Car Rolls Over Two Shaken Up

A Peterborough couple were badly shaken up and their car wrecked Friday night when they rolled over in the north ditch by the side of Highway 7, a mile and a half east of Peterborough.

Clifford Woodcock, 49, of Chesterfield Ave., received bruises and shock as a result of the accident. His 39-year-old wife, Madeline, was temporarily knocked unconscious but was able to go home without medical attention.

The 1937-model sedan was wrecked and damage is estimated at $350.

Woodcock told O.P.P. Constable Tom Fitzpatrick that another car was the indirect cause of the accident.

A large transport truck, driven by Clayton McCann, 25, of Morrow St., was travelling west toward Peterborough. Suddenly an unidentified car made a "U" turn on the highway and the transport driver put on his brakes to avoid a collision.

Woodcock, also going west, swung his car to the north to avoid hitting the transport. His vehicle turned over on the side of the road, slightly injuring him and temporarily knocking his wife unconscious.

O.P.P. Constable Tom Fitzpatrick is continuing the investigation.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 26 (CP) — Prices generally showed a firm tone Friday in a fairly active session of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The trend reflected upturns in U.S. markets.

Fair commercial demand was reported. Shippers took oats; exporters barley, processors and seaboard interests flax. There was modest U.S. demand for rye.

A cargo of barley was reported sold to Japan and a smaller quantity to Scandinavia. Some flax also was reported sold to the continent. Prices for Class 2 and I.W.A. wheat were up ¼ cent.

Love Of God

(Continued from Church Page) is "Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God" (I Corinthians 10:31).

But what it means to love God depends not only upon man's whole-hearted sincerity; it depends, also, upon man's conception of the God whom he loves. The pagan may be whole-heartedly devoted to an idol. Many a man has bowed down reverently to a God of stern justice and righteousness; but it is something more to love a God, who Himself is Love.

To love God is to love God's creatures. The Apostle John puts it very plainly in many passages in his Epistles. "He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love."

What a world this might be, if the great multitude of those, both Jews and Christians, who profess to cherish the truth of the Bible, really put what it means to love God into their daily lives!

Don't Fear Reds

MADISON, Wis., April 26 (AP)— Architect Frank Lloyd Wright said in an interview Friday "Fear of Russia is an American invention, not shared by Europeans." Wright just returned from Paris where an exhibit of his architectural work is on display. "I found no fear of Russia in Europe," he continued. Communism does not mean th same to a European as it does to us."

to raise prices enough to offset any cost increases between the start of the Korean war and last July 26.

The six companies engaged in the district court action have asked that Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer be forbidden to raise the wages of 650,000 C.I.O. steelworkers. Truman turned operation of the mills over to Sawyer after he seized them April 8.

Five of the companies also are asking Pine to declare the seizure order itself illegal, with Sawyer also the defendant in this suit. The six companies involved in the court action produce 70 per cent of the nation's steel.

SUCKER STREAM

A local lawyer is wondering today if somebody was indulging in a not so subtle innuendo about 1 a.m. He found a three-pound sucker deposited on the driver's seat of his car when he left his lodge to go home. Apparently some keen fisherman (keen on the fishing, that is, but not so keen on the cleaning) tossed a stream of suckers out the window as his car sailed down Water St. By accident or design the three-pounder went through the window of the lawyer's car, parked on Water St.

Camp Proposed For Supervisors

Recreation directors from Eastern Ontario centres today in Toronto discussed the suggestion that a four-day training camp for playground supervisors be held the last week in June.

The directors are in Toronto for a regular workshop session and discussed the camp period as a sideline issue.

Alex Sinclair, Peterborough's recreation director, said that the suggested camp school could be held with co-operation from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Lindsay, Port Hope, Trenton, Belleville and Haliburton.

Mr. Sinclair said that the instructors would likely be the recreation directors, teaching subjects best suited for them, and members of the community programs branch, Department of Education.

Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake and another camp, near Madoc, have been suggested as possible sites for the four-day school, to be held the last week in June.

This year Peterborough children will have the same playgrounds as last year to play in. Mr. Sinclair said that McKellar totlot, Riverside, Inverlea, Hamilton, King Edward, Turner and Confederation Parks and Fleming Place will be used again.

Two playground supervisors will conduct the play at each playground, while at the McKellar totlot only one supervisor will be employed.

Again this year the city-sponsored swimming will be only at Inverlea Park beach. Mr. Sinclair said that three lifeguards will be hired to patrol the river there, while two instructors will teach swimming. One of the playground supervisors at Hamilton Park wil act as a swimming instructor.

Reminds Tories of Bad War Scandal

OTTAWA, April 26 — (CP) — Hector Dupuis (L., Montreal St. Mary) said Friday night the recent thefts from the army camp at Petawawa were nothing compared to the "scandals" under the Conservative government during the First World War.

Speaking in the Commons during the budget debate, Mr. Dupuis said no one could condone the thefts at Petawawa, but he wished to remind George Drew, Progresive Conservative leader, that the Liberal party went through the Second World War without a scandal.

In the First World War, under a Conservative government, thefts amounted to thousands and thousands of dollars. There were cases where soldiers were supplied with boots with cardboard soles. There were cases where goods were ordered and paid for but never received.

Bell Ringers Strike Along With Organist

ABBOTTS ANN, England, April 26 (AP)—The bells of St. Mary's in this Hampshire village didn't ring Friday and there is going to be singing without organ music come Sunday.

The organist quit in a huff and five bell ringers of the church walked out in sympathy because the church council thought the psalms were being sung too slowly.

The psalm singing, paced by organist Stanley Waite, was so leisurely that worshippers complained they couldn't get home in time to prepare Sunday dinner.

Dominion Drama Festival To Open In Saint John

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 26 — (CP)—Players and other theatre enthusiasts converged on Saint John today for the Dominion Drama Festival.

Many are anticipating festival conference sessions with as much interest as the nine plays to be presented from Monday to Saturday.

The conference, to be opened Tuesday by Dr. A. W. Trueman, president of the University of New Brunswick, will be featured by lectures, demonstrations and panel discussions, ending with a theatre-in-the-round performance Friday by the Robert Alban Players of Halifax.

Among those taking part in the session will be Lister Sinclair of Toronto, author, actor and critic, Robertson Davies, well known Peterborough playwright and editor of The Peterborough Examiner; and Robert Gill, Toronto, director of Hart House Theatre.

Another feature of festival week will be the annual meeting of D.D.F. governors next Friday. Economic difficulties and selection of a chairman are among major subjects on the agenda.

D. Park Jamieson of Sarnia, festival chairman for the last four years, suggested he resign but was asked to stay on for another year.

Consider Offer

The festival secretary, Richard MacDonald of Ottawa, has reported the national playhouse to be running out of funds and operating in the red for a second straight year. The governors will consider a distillery company offer to contribute $15,000 annually to the festival.

Seven groups from six provinces will compete in this year's week-long event. In addition, two plays by Canadians—Mr. Davies and Marcel Dube of Montreal, will be staged on a non-competitive basis.

The program:

Monday, Saint John Theatre Guild, Ltd., "Hay Fever" by Noel Coward.

Tuesday, St. John's Players of Newfoundland, "Ladies In Retirement" by Edward Percy and Reginald Denham.

Wednesday afternoon, Halifax Theatre Arts Guild, "Second Threshold" by Philip Barry.

Wednesday night, Regina Little Theatre, "Tomorrow the World" by James Gow and Araund d'Usseau.

Thursday, Saturday Players of Ottawa Little Theatre, "The Enchanted" by Jean Giradoux.

Oil For The Pistons Of Canada

Two news items in yesterday's Examiner should be correlated in the mind. They signify important milestones in the career of this district and of the whole country. The first item noted that the laying of the Hamilton-Montreal oil pipeline will begin as soon as frost is out of the ground that the work may be finished across the entire lake and St. Lawrence river front by October; and that oil companies serving Peterborough will tap the line at Dale (26 miles south of the city, on Highway 28) and remove their city storage tanks. The second news item was a report from Cleveland where an oil company executive told an American audience that Canada expects to be producing enough oil by 1954 to meet her own needs.

* * *

Countries today languish or flourish in both peace and war according to the amount of oil they have available to them. It and hydro power are the two chief energizers of the modern world. That within two years Canada should become self-sufficient in oil is an assurance of her future. That this district will be able to tap into the oil wells of Alberta at a pipe running across its front shows not only that Canada has the oil but that Canadians will have the use of it—at their own doors. When mentioning such a high and mighty matter as millions of gallons of oil flowing through a pipe in our fields perhaps we should not descend to mere talk of dollars. But we diffidently ask it all the same: will the tap at Dale bring the price of oil and gasoline down locally?

Five Hundred Birds and Last Mountain Lake

First settlers in any region of Canada have always been impressed by the birds. The reason is that, from Cartier (who noted the immense number of gannets on two sea-washed rocks in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, which he discovered in 1534) to Peter Scott (an English explorer of wild life who went to the Arctic a couple of years ago and wrote a book reviewed on this page in February about the inhabitants human and winged of the Perry River District), Europeans have been fascinated to see different species from their own countries' birds. More than five hundred different species of birds have been recorded in Canada. The country is so vast and varied that even settlers from one part who go to another see unfamiliar birds. Then, of course, many brids are good eating or good game, both of which gave explorers and settlers for three centuries a special interest in our birds.

Actually, settlement and the game flesh of birds have been their undoing in Canada. People, their houses, farms and factories foreclose the feeding and breeding areas which once belonged to birds. And the birds are always in mortal danger from people armed with stones or guns. By 1900 the bird life of Canada as well as of the United States was seriously threatened. There were special conditions affecting this situation.

A majority of our birds are migratory—from northern parts of Canada where they nest and rear their young to a southern part during the winter; and from southerly parts where they nest, to the United States where they spend the winter. Local laws to preserve bird life, or even provincial or federal laws, cannot cover migrants. Yet until 1916 the laws for the protection or regulation of hunting of migratory birds were merely local in effect.

In 1916, after many years of propaganda for international controls, the Migratory Bird Treaty was signed at Washington. It limited the length of shooting season for migratory game birds, and it protected most other migratory bird species not classed as game. In the same month (August 29th, 1917) the Canadian Parliament passed the Migratory Birds Convention Act, to fulfill the obligations of the treaty. Now, in both Canada and the United States, only Indians and Eskimos can hunt birds at will. (They may, for instance, take at any season auks, auklets, guillemots, murres and puffins, and their eggs for human food, and their skins for clothing.) Under Canadian-American regulations special protection of five or ten-year closed seasons have been given a few species of game birds, and the closed seasons have been prolonged so as to give swans, cranes and most shore birds perpetual protection.

Before the Migratory Birds Convention Act was passed, there had been in this country several public and private wildlife sanctuaries. The first, and the only one for more than thirty years, was the sanctuary established by the Canadian government at Long Lake in the Northwest Territories, now known as Last Mountain Lake in the province of Saskatchewan. On June 8, 1887 this area of 2,500 acres was "reserved from sale and settlement, and set apart as breeding grounds for wild fowl". Last Mountain Lake Sanctuary is now maintained by Saskatchewan. Sanctuaries are a recognition that many species of birds need special protection if they are to survive. Within a bird sanctuary even the possession of firearms is forbidden, and dogs and cats are not allowed.

Following the Act of 1917 other sanctuaries were established. Today there are 76 controlled by the Dominion Government under the Act, occupying a total area of about 1,800 square miles. This is a small area relative to the size of Canada; but most migratory birds have absolute protection at all times anywhere in Canada; and there are short open seasons for others. In the hundreds of thousands of acres of national and provincial parks no shooting is permitted; and the Northwest Territories are so thinly populated that humans are not a menace to birds.

The most famous bird sanctuary in the country is Bonaventure Island—Perce Rock, authorized in 1919 by the Dominion Government, after it had been created by the Quebec Legislature. This dual sanctuary consists of only 32 acres of cliffs and limestone in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, off the tip of Gaspe peninsula. The sanctuary gives unusual protection because it is inaccessible to predatory animals, and its cliffs cannot by scaled by man. But every year tens of thousands of people see the tens of thousands of gannets, double-crested cormorants and herring-gulls, and the fewer kittiwakes and guillemots—from boats.

The two sea-washed islands which Cartier discovered in the central part of the Gulf of St. Lawrence in 1534 are also a sanctuary created the same time as the Bonaventure-Perce sanctuary. It is the "Bird Rocks Bird Sanctuary", where until nearly a hundred years ago half the world population of gannets nested. By 1860 there were an estimated 100,000 on the rocks, but now the number has dwindled to a few thousand, despite the protection they get by law. The tiny islands (seven acres) are quickly eroding into nothing, and the gannets are seeking more permanent seats now on Anticosti.

The largest sanctuary in Canada is at Akimiski in James Bay, covering 1,300 square miles of land, fresh-water lakes and James Bay.

John R. Marshall

We share the sorrow of many of his fellow-citizens in learning of the death of Mr. John R. Marshall, chairman of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors from 1945 until last February. On his retirement because of ill-health in February we wrote of his masterly service to the community and are glad to have paid this tribute when he was alive to read that his work and worth were held in the highest estimation by Peterborough people. He served the city in many capacities, both before and after his retirement from the direction of the Nashua Paper Company; on the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Education, the Manufacturers' Association, the directorate of the Y.M.C.A. and the Civic Hospital. At one time or another he headed each of these Boards. But it is his service as chairman of the Hospital Board which looms largest in the civic mind. He presided over the hospital from the time it became the Civic Hospital, through the planning stages of the new building, to the erection and full operation of the institution on its commanding new site and in its splendid buildings. Thorough and kindly in all his dealings, and vigilant, efficient and generous in his public service, John R. Marshall has left his mark on the city which he adopted thirty-one years ago.

A Matter Of Punctuation

We have been reading several books lately published by the Oxford University Press, and in them we have observed a reform in punctuation which we think should be widely noted, and which might well become the general rule. It is this: direct quotations are enclosed by single quotation marks, and quotations within quotations are enclosed in double quotation marks. Here is an example:

'Won't you recite "The Boy Stood on the Burning Deck", Mr. Flannelmouth?' said his hostess, with a charming smile.

Is this not logical? Matter which is quoted goes between single inverted commas; when the act of quotation is carried a step farther, the inverted commas are doubled. The introduction of such a change would take a very long time, for compositors are the most ingrainedly conservative class of men in the world, but over fifty years it might be done. Indeed, it has been done by the logical O.U.P.

NOTES AND COMMENT

BIBLIOMANIA

Victorian Sensationalist

WILKIE COLLINS, a Biography by Kenneth Robinson (The Bodley Head)

THIS, THE FIRST FULL-LENGTH biography to be written of Wilkie Collins, and it is possible that his name may be unknown to some readers of this column. Nevertheless Collins was one of the most popular writers of the Victorian era, and it may be said that he invented the "sensation novel"—the pattern from which so many of our detective stories, crime stories, and horror stories of today have sprung. He wrote more than thirty books, and twelve plays, most of which were uncommonly successful. He was able to live like a rich man on what he made from his writings—a most unusual achievement for an author. And, as writers go, he had an interesting life, which Mr. Robinson has told with a good deal of skill.

COLLINS WAS THE SON of a successful painter, William Collins, and he was christened Wilkie after his father's closest friend Sir David Wilkie, the English painter of genre and landscape pictures. The elder Collins was what is commonly called a deeply religious man, and the atmosphere of oppressive piety in his home influenced his son to grow up a free-thinker, who regarded Christmas as the most dismal time of the year. The conformity of the father was reflected, upside down and backward, in the unconventionality of the son. Wilkie Collins was not a Bohemian in the sense that his life was disorderly, but he was in perpetual quiet revolt against Victorian convention. He had two mistresses, and was faithful to both, for the greater part of his life, and these two ladies appear to have been on good terms with each other. Most of his friends were aware of this fact, but until Mr. Robinson ferreted it out the secret was very closely kept by them. It has long been known, however, that Collins was a drug-taker on a very large scale. It is an odd reflection of Victorian prudery that the mistresses should have been kept dark, while the drug-addiction was discussed without reticence.

Collins did not take drugs for pleasure, but because from his thirtieth year he was in pain for many months every winter. He suffered from gout in his feet, which is a sufficiently excruciating illness, but in addition the gout caused swelling and very great pain in his eyes. Laudanum, in heavy doses, made life endurable and work possible. It is recorded in this biography that Collins' daily consumption of this opiate was sufficient to kill anyone who was not habituated to it. Opium kept him from succumbing to his pain, but it took its own toll of his intellect, and in the work written during the last ten years of his life there is a failure of inventive power which must be attributed at least in part to this enslavement.

* * *

TO THE MODERN READER Wilkie Collins is known for two books, "The Woman In White", and "The Moonstone". The former has one of the most ingenious and complicated plots in English literature; the latter is the first true detective story in English literature, and it is still one of the best—some connoisseurs assert that it is The Best. Anyone who has not read these books may take them up with the assurance that a revelation is in store for him, for Collins is perhaps the greatest master of ingenious plot the world has ever known. He does not cheat; every clue and relevant circumstance in both stories is made known to the reader, but it will be a clever reader indeed who solves the mystery before the author wishes him to solve it. Collins is unlike modern writers of mystery stories in that he does not rely on violence for his effects. He is, however, a great creator of convincing villains, and Count Fosco, in "The Woman In White" is certainly one of the most memorable villains in English fiction.

* * *

FEW WRITERS LEAD LIVES of exciting incident; their work demands that they sit at a desk and write, and except for a few travels and holidays, nothing else is apt to happen to them. But their friendships are often interesting. Collins was one of the most intimate friends of Charles Dickens, and he shared Dickens' fondness for amateur acting. He also, it is suggested by Mr. Robinson, shared some of Dickens' adventures with ladies of obliging temperament, but it is easy to exaggerate such incidents in the lives of people long dead. Collins' brother Charles married Dickens' daughter Kate, and it is from Kate's recollections that some of our more intimate glimpses of Collins' life are gleaned. But the misery and complication of Dickens family still awaits full explanation, and it is hardly likely that Kate knew Collins any better than she knew her father—which was not very deeply.

* * *

WE MUST BE GRATEFUL to Mr. Robinson for the patience with which he has searched out the details of Wilkie Collins' life and set them down for our enjoyment. The impression the book leaves of its subject is of a man of remarkable, though narrow, genius, industrious and honourable, and heroic in his endurance of a life of terrible suffering; he was generous, a staunch friend, and a kindly helper of young people who sought his help in the field of literature. Those who have read his best work admired him before this biography appeared, and now that we know more about him, our admiration is increased. It is a pleasure to recommend this book to connoisseurs of biography.

MARTIN MERRIEDEW by Mary Borden. (British Book Service)

MARTIN MERRIEDEW, THE HERO OF this book, is a modern Christ, or saint or demogorgon (whichever you prefer); a characterization which tempts numerous authors. Most of them fail embarrassingly; a few whose art, knowledge, philosophic and psychological perceptions are adequate, succeed in remarkable portraitures of the god and his milieu. Somerset Maugham's Larry in "The Razor's Edge" is one of them; the greatest is Christian in Jakob Wasserman's "The World's Illusion".

Martin Merriedew, in Mary Borden's novel, just published, is a character to move the mind to thinking, the heart to turning over. Yet I feel that Martin is a contrived creation. To say so is a tribute to the skill of the novelist; Mary Borden shows in this book that she is one of the best English novelists of the day. I feel that she has created a remarkable novel out of the straw of a great English house of exalted nobility (Crabbe Minster, seat of the Earls; and Crabbe village, birthplace of Martin, son of a doctor); out of Somerset Maugham's example; and out of the trials of English traitors, as set down for her and all to read in Rebecca West's reportorial interpretation of treason. To say that it and its characters derive from these is not to under-rate her art.

* * *

THE NOVEL IS NOT THE handmaiden of history. It is the charwoman of history with her gift for the gab, her revelations of what went on in the boss's office (as she sees it from the waste-paper basket); and her ability to simplify, to exalt and to prick poses. The novel is always behind the times; just one step in advance of the playwright. The novel reveals nothing new but sets what has happened into a round which the commonalty can perceive, if their interest is sufficiently quickened by the story-teller.

"Martin Merriedew" is a remarkable and remarkably good novel; and the writer is subtle as well as skilled in her art. I found Part I, which sets the stage and the characters more interesting than Part II, the denouement, when Martin is on trial for his life. The Court sessions in Part II become a tedious paraphrase of Rebecca West in her most momentous moments. The adroit way in which the author handles her time and psychological sequences shows her to be a consummate novelist. The book is derivately important. It is also intensely readable.

An American Opinion: COURTING THE WRONG PERSON?

An Art Too Great To Lose

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

AN OFFICIAL report has been made in England upon the effects of television on people's habits. It was found that the chief effect is that television ends conversation.

Perhaps some will say that television will only hasten the end of an art that has been withering for many years. The modern world does not seem to value the art of conversation, as earlier generations did. People rarely come together for talk.

Yet conversation is one of the best fruits and rewards of civilization. It can give scope for the accomplished expression of all one has read and learned and experienced. It can be the finest of recreations and the most rewarding use of leisure.

But it is probably true that for the best conversation the guests must be selected. If conversation is to be the order of the evening, it is as important to select one's guests for their conversational abilities, as it would be to select one's bridge-table guests for their ability to play cards. The wise host, or hostess, shows skill in nothing so much as in the effectiveness of the selection.

* * *

CONVERSATION, it must be noted, is something entirely different from debate. Those who cannot make this important distinction are best left with those who are ready to give and seek no quarter. Conversation, it is true, may welcome discussion. But discussion has always a certain lightness of touch. If really spirited, it may, on occasion, use the rapier. But it would always abhor the broadsword.

It was said of Lord Arthur Balfour that he was the most interesting conversationalist because he never used pressure. A man of a most philosophic and learned mind, he was always interested in bringing out his ideas for comparison with those of others. But, in cases of disagreement, he seemed always to adhere to Lord Chesterfield's saying: "It is unlikely that we would ever agree, nor is there any reason why we should."

There are always, of course, those occasions when somebody abandons the wise restraints of conversation and tries to back his opponent into a corner, as it were. The only deliverance from such unpleasantness is the use of wit, in which the Irish are often to adept.

In Shane Leslie's novel, "Doomsday," there is the scene between the Admiral and the Irish Professor. The admiral abruptly pinned down the Professor with an inquiry as to whether or not he had ever been converted. This was hardly a topic for general conservation. The Professor, however, was equal to the occasion. "To tell you the truth," he replied, "it was such a narrow squeeze that I prefer to say nothing about it."

The Canadian litterateur, Sir James Macpherson LeMoine, has given a delightful picture of the perfect conversationalist, old Monsieur Xavier Marmier, who lived in Paris in a tall house in the Rue Saint Thomas d'Aquin—a house overflowing with books. A noted writer himself, Monsieur Marmier was host to writers, and many a literary visitor from French Canada was welcomed to his door.

* * *

SIR JAMES MACPHERSON LeMOINE described the "dejeuner" at half-past eleven in the morning to which he was invited. Old Monsieur Marmier had carefully selected his guests for their conflict-views and their tactful manners. Never has Sir James heard finer conversation. It was carried on with zest and freedom but never harshly or with ill-temper.

Though they were discussing some of the most burning questions of the day, and from opposing viewpoints, they remained throughout keen and polished and courteous old gentlemen. In all this brilliant "fusillade de bons mots" decorum always guided the shaft of wit. When the conversation around the table ended with the classic "little glass of Chartreuse," everyone was in a glow of agreeable and urbane satisfaction.

Perhaps the best definition of a true conversationalist is that with which Cardinal Newman defined a gentleman. "It is almost a definition of a gentleman," wrote Cardinal Newman, "to say that he is one who never inflicts pain."

Certainly the art of conversation—an art that demands the best of mind and manner and which avoids the infliction of pain—is too fine an art to be allowed to wither, even in this hurrying and clashing world.

While attending a night club with a favourite escort, a girl went to the cloakroom to repair her face and met several friends she hadn't seen for a long time. They started gossiping and time went on . . . and on.

Presently an attendant handed her a note. It was from the obviously weary escort and read: "Can't understand why you haven't written."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, a woman in the city, which was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at meat in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster box of ointment, and stood at his feet behind him weeping, and began to wash his feet with tears, and did wipe them with the hairs of her head, and kissed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment. Now when the Pharisee which had bidden him saw it, he spake within himself, saying, This man, if he were a prophet, would have known who and what manner of woman this is that toucheth him: for she is a sinner.

And Jesus answering said unto him, Simon, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And he saith, Master, say on. There was a certain creditor which had two debtors: the one owed five hundred pence, and the other fifty. And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both. Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most?

Simon answered and said, I suppose that he, to whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, Thou hast rightly judged. And he turned to the woman, and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head. . . . . My head with oil thou didst not anoint: but this woman hath anointed my feet with ointment. Wherefore I say unto thee, Her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little . . .

And he said to the woman, Thy faith hath

GORGING ON THE BIBLE

Sir: Much is being said in press about education—but education needs no words for or against for it has spoken for itself in the actions of people, and their children. For all have partaken of, though to different degrees; none of it seems to have come to the neplus ultra—mainly because, the greatest 'book', of all has been neglected I believe.

But many by-pass the Bible because they say anything can be proven by the Bible—and why not? It is thus we are judged, ministers, infidels, everyone: but those with no interest, or belief in, or work, are condemned already.

Some educators (preachers too) think there are parts of Bible unfit to read or speak, and they would and have deleted such; even so will God delete them . . .

An Ottawa farm paper had an article by Massey, headed—Massey says student surplus likely to face universities. Massey says universities are aware of students unable to take advantage of what universities have to give; and he, Massey, also says or avoids the word 'dormitory', using residence, as dormitory suggests barracks or a hostel—so does Massey 'express' himself.

Sure the students cannot take advantage of universities—can one cram food enough into one's stomach in a few years to last a lifetime? Such a method would and does create indigestion—mentally and physically—so can one get spiritual indigestion by a wholesale reading of the Bible; as you said in a recent editorial—slower reading (eating) and of good food was essential to understanding.

Massey and the students need to work on farms for a few seasons to know and appreciate the value of 'hostels' too—and lose their anti-biologic reactions which is our undoing.

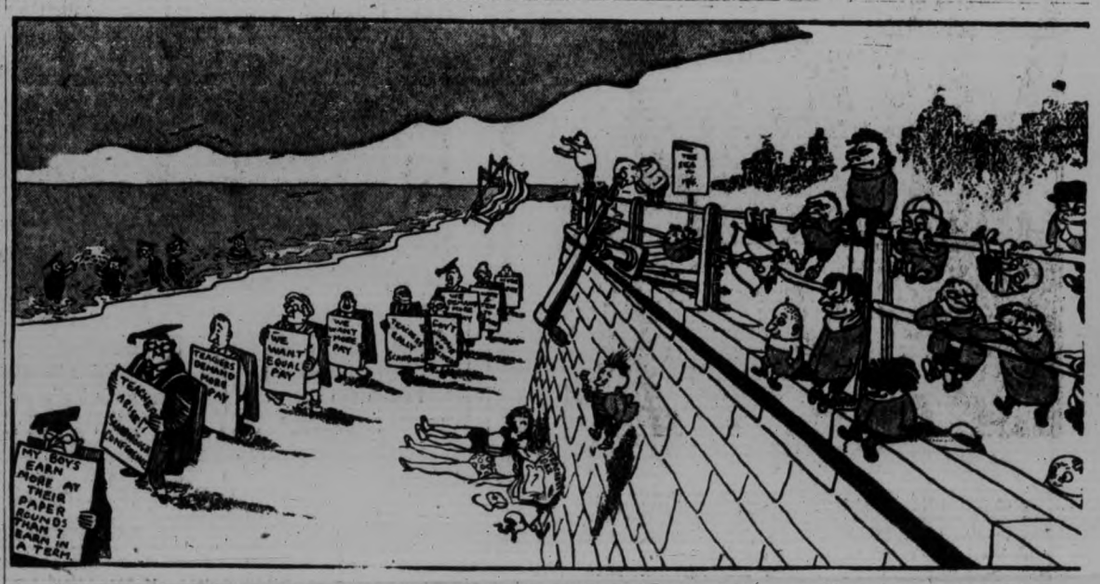
MODERN

A man took his schoolgirl daughter to a play in London. It was a very modern play, and the father blushed and squirmed in his seat. "I'm sorry, Betty, that I brought you here," he said. "This is hardly a play for a girl of your age."

"Oh, that's all right, Daddy," the girl said brightly. "It'll probably liven up a bit before the end."



"My dad reckons that anyone who has to spend all day with us ought to get the same as a Hollywood film star."

A-F-I-E-L-D with NICK NICKELS

Herb, Bobby and a retriever pup named "Butch" took me one warm sunny afternoon to see the Pond of the Five Silver Stairs. It was in the Eel's Creek Crown Game Preserve and as Herb described it, "just over the hill".

We tramped over several hills, bald rock ridges with footing fit for mountain goats. There were pastures of dry grass and dead bracken and sudden dark swamps where grey drifts still lingered. The creek and its flooded rapids were always within ear shot.

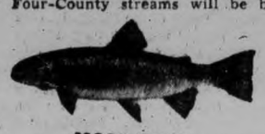
My guides finally turned up a narrow steep gorge dampened by a thin trickle of water. We came to a small dark brown pool complete with a miniature beaver dam and, in succession, four others. The final barrier was a ten-foot dam of interwoven sticks and mud about eight feet across the top. The beaver had felled a monstrous poplar that was meant to fall across the stream but something had gone wrong; it lay the opposite way with its maze of branches gnawed off to make the master dam. We climbed to pond level, stood by the flooded two-acre lake and watched a bright yellow lodge in the centre for signs of life.

Two pairs of nesting black ducks took off. A small brown head nosed out from the lodge pushing a V of ripples. We stood as still as statues while the pup raced and scrambled about. The beaver sensed the man smell somewhere and came towards us from all directions, to within ten feet. It crawled up on logs twice, did a routine inspection of the main dam and worked itself into quite a lather of frustration by repeatedly slapping the water with its tail. Once the pup swam out. He and the beaver converged until it seemed there would be a collision. Neither one saw the other and veered off and the beaver disappeared, this time, for good.

So, if you folks would see nature in action find someone to take you to a beaver pond. Don't ask me where this one is located because I doubt whether I could find it again and, furthermore, won't tell you if I do.

Specks Before the Eyes, and All That

Come next Thursday morning in the dawn's early light the Four-County streams will be busting with trout fishermen. Dry fly purists looking down on wet fly tossers and both classes cussing the pickerel - turned - trout fans. It will be a mad morning, simply mad. You will find them spread out across the Ganaraska watershed, on Pole Creek, Cavan and Baxter's, Bannister's and Percer's Ponds. Noggies, the Mississauga, Big and Little Ouse, Springbook and Plato. The "best spots" are too numerous to list and since everyone has his favourite haunt, what's the use listing them. The two-score streams in Northumberland, 12 of them well stocked with rainbows, will be busy spots, too.



BROOK TROUT
Salvelinus fontinalis

I think the only smart thing to do is to adopt the system of my trout fishin' friend and mentor Hughie Blair of Millbrook. Hughie goes to bed the first day and stays for the two following until the fever has spent itself. Then, he says, he has all the fishing he wants and no crowds.

BROWN TROUT
Salmo trutta

He scorns the use of a creel, that distinctive wicker basket that holds worm can, fly book, lunch, slicker, and occasionally, small trout. Nor has he any use for waders which he considers only useful for carrying water from the stream to the nearest log.

All trout fishermen are sporting, of course, and know the score; speckles, 15 per day or 10 pounds in weight; Rainbows and Browns, 5 per day, 7-inch minimum length.

To whet your appetites better for the great occasion snaffle yourself a copy of LIFE Magazine on the stands this weekend. A full-page color photo of a striking trout shows you what happens in the quarter of a second when the fish flip-flops the surface; this performer is a real tail-walker.

A NIGHT-CAP, MADE IN A MOMENT) costing nothing, and admirable for Railway Travellers)

TAKE your pocket-handkerchief, and laying it out the full square, double down one-third over the other part. Then raise the whole, and turn it over, so that the third folded down shall lie underneath. Then take hold of one of the folded corners, and draw its point towards the centre; then do the same with the other, as in making a cocked hat, or a boat of paper. Then take hold of the two remaining corners, and twisting the hem of the handkerchief, continue to roll it until it meets the doubled corners brought to the centre, and catches them up a little. Lift the whole and you will see the form of a cap, which, when applied to the head, will cover the head and ears, and, being tied under the chin, will not come off. Very little practice will enable you to regulate the size of the folds, so as to suit the head.

Your Garden:

Vegetables To Plant Now

By HENRY PREE, (NEA)

Seeds of several vegetables may now be sown if the soil has been prepared and the seed treated to reduce danger of rot in case of excessive spring rains.

Garden peas will withstand quite a chill. However, the gardener should inoculate the seed with a bacterial mixture which helps them to get their nitrogen from the air.

In purchasing this material it is important to get the special strain of the organism needed, that is, a culture made up especially for peas and other leguminous crops. A 10-cent package will inoculate up to five pounds of peas and bean seeds.

Greens, such as kale, spinach, lettuce and mustard, grow best in cool weather, and are especially tender in early spring.

Mustard greens are most delicious when three or four inches high, and cutting at this height encourages other growth. Kale and spinach are always best when young and tender.

A gardener friend of mine has already set out two dozen early cabbage plants. The young plants are protected against possible damage from cold by covering with hotkaps, those little weather-proof paper tents.

Incidentally, the hotkaps are used throughout the planting season, not only to safeguard tender plants from frosts, but also to act as sun shades for tomato and other seedlings, set out in May, when the days are apt to be hot.

Agricultural experiment station tests prove that these little hot houses will increase the total yield of the plants, promote bigger tomatoes, egg plants, etc. and ripen plants three weeks earlier. Insect injury is bound to be reduced. Hotkaps are inexpensive.

Beet, carrot and radish seed may be sown now. However, I suggest that the seed before sowing be dusted with spergon, or a similar fungicide to reduce the possibility of rot.

Here again, a little goes a long way. Use enough to cover the tip of the flat end of a toothpick, placed in the seed packet. Close the flap and shake the seed and powder together until the seeds are completely covered.

Spergon is best for most seeds, and for lima beans and peas, while semesan is recommended for about every seed except lima beans. Seeds may be treated at any time and stored away in a dry place until plant time.

The first sowings should consist of short rows, five to eight feet in length; then follow at two or three week intervals to provide with successive crops, and to avoid a too-abundant harvest which cannot be consumed.

Gardening Questions

Q—A cut-leaf weeping birch in the yard is our desire. However, the nurseryman discourages its use, saying that he does not grow it because of its susceptibility to the bronze birch borer. What is your recommendation?

A—The nurseryman is correct, but do endeavour to find the Canoe Birch, betula papyrifera. It is more immune to borers and has fully as attractive white bark. Failing this, try the Gray Birch, betula populifolia.

Q—The shrub borders have not been fertilized for several years. When should we do this chore and how much should be applied?

A—Early Spring is the ideal time. Spread a commercial fertilizer, with a 6-10-4, 5-10-5 or 10-6-4 analysis, on the surface over the whole root area and carefully cultivate it into the soil. Use at the rate of one pound to each 20 feet of area. Water immediately if no rain is in sight.

Bridges Of Peterborough: River Spanned Since 1827, Latest At London St. 1940

By JIM ENGLISH

Old Man Otonabee, cutting as he did through the centre of the city, made it necessary for Peterborough to have bridges, and quite a few of them.

One of the present bridges—Hunter St. Bridge—replaces several predecessors that brought the citizens some unhappy memories. It is also the only Peterborough bridge to be sketched in the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Built in 1919 from designs by Frank Barber, of a Toronto engineering firm, Hunter St. Bridge replaced a steel bridge built in 1875 by a firm from Canton, Ohio. The present bridge was built by Russell-Townsend, a Toronto contracting company.

Early Hunter St. Bridges

The steel bridge succeeded a cast iron bridge built in 1872, the eastern span of which collapsed in 1875. Before the cast iron bridge, there was a wooden one, built sometime after the 1827 bridge was swept away by spring floods in 1828. The second wooden bridge burned in 1871.

Starting at the north end of the city, there is the Inverlea Bridge, known still to a few older residents as the Smith St. Bridge. It was built in 1909 by Conroy Brothers of Peterborough, and designed by the then city engineer T. A. S. Hay.

Once upon a time, when a railway was planned to run between Rice Lake and Chemong Lake, the Black Bridge was built across the river, slanting to the northwest, just north of the Goose Pond. It was built about 1869, and removed some time later, when the railway did not materialize.

Newest Bridge

South of the Goose Pond now is the London St. footbridge, constructed in 1940 by the Blythe Construction Co. of Toronto.

Then comes Hunter St. Bridge, and to the south of that is the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge, built across the Otonabee in 1882-83. The footbridge and swing section that are now parts of the bridge were added to it in 1916.

Last of the bridges crossing the Otonabee and within the city is the Locks Bridge, at the south end of the city, and serving as the eastern entrance by Highway 7. Originally this span was across the Welland Canal.

Midway through the Second World War it was moved here when the steel span that originally crossed the Otonabee began to show serious signs of wear.

It is slightly to the south of the site of the narrower steel bridge it replaced. But a century before that there was a Lock Bridge as well. It was a privately-owned toll bridge and occupied roughly the same site as the present span.

Toll Bridges

Further south of the city there were four other private toll bridges; all with swing sections to let steamers through. Toll was 2¢ cents for a horse and wagon, 1¢ for horse and five for pedestrians.

The screams of outraged virtue that arose in those times when a bridgetender offered to forego a woman's toll for a kiss are comparable to the screams of rage that arose from virtuous taxpayers when they heard the costs of the municipal bridges that now span the river.

Bisons Edge Ottawa 6-4, Leading League

By The Associated Press.

Ottawa Athletics are still looking for their first victory of the 1952 International League season.

They came mighty close to posting their first victory Friday against Buffalo Bisons.

Ed Hrabscak had Buffalo beaten 3-0 going into the eighth inning but before the frame ended the Bisons had rallied for six runs and went on to a 6-4 victory. The loss was Ottawa's eighth straight.

Infielder Al Daugherty featured the Bisons' game-winning rally with a three-run double. Daugherty scored on a single by Russ Sullivan. Sullivan and pinch-hitter Frank Carswell tallied the final two runs on a one-bagger by John Lund.

Take Over Top Spot

The victory enabled the Bisons to take over first place from Montreal Royals. The Royals dropped a 5-4 11-inning decision to Syracuse Chiefs in Montreal.

Syracuse broke a 2-2 tie with three runs in the 11th. The Royals rallied for two in their half but Chuck Eisenmann, third Chief pitcher, snuffed out the rally to preserve Bobo Holloman's third straight victory.

Springfield Cubs rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to defeat Rochester Red Wings 7-6. Four walks, three singles and an error by Lou Ortiz featured the Cub rally.

Veteran Andy Anderson drove home three runs including the winning marker in the ninth to lead Toronto Maple Leafs to a 5-4 victory over Baltimore Orioles. Anderson banged out four hits including a homer and double. He singled home Bobby Balecena, who had tripled, with the payoff run in the ninth.

Jr. Ski Meet To Be Held Here

Next year the Southern Ontario ski zone of which the Peterborough Ski club is a member, will hold a junior team meet, Ontario junior chairman James Craig, Roper Drive, said today.

Last season the team meet was held in Northern Ontario for the province. But next season a preliminary meet will be held in Southern Ontario, followed later by the all-Ontario meet, also to be held in Southern Ontario.

The team includes five skiers, all from one club, who compete in the jumping, cross-country, downhill and slalom events. Only the best three scores are counted.

Hope For Local Team

As a member of the Peterborough club, Mr. Craig added that the club hopes a number of junior ski school members will form teams to enter the championships. No team from Peterborough was entered this year, the first time that the junior team championships have been held.

The provincial champions will compete with teams from the other provinces for the Canadian junior team championship at Banff. Individual champions will likely be held at the same time.

Before next season the junior age may be changed to 18 years and under as of September 1, 1952. Mr. Craig said the the Canadian Amateur Ski Association is considering the change from the present age limit of under 18 years, January 1, 1953. The United States Association is also considering changing the age bracket for juniors.

Kiwanis, YMCA Sponsor Hobby Show

To stimulate hobbies and handicrafts in Peterborough the Kiwanis Club and the Y.M.C.A. are holding May 2 and 3 a Ki-Y hobby fair for boys and girls.

William McFarlane, boys' work secretary, said today that a number of boys and girls have hobbies or are working at some craft, but through the fair they hope more will begin some leisure time hobby.

This fair is limited only to boys and girls under 19 years. With the exception of the penmanship division, which is divided into groups according to school grades, all the other divisions will be divided into the age groups: A, under 11 years; B, under 15 years; C, under 19 years.

In the first division the coins, stamps, book matches, scrap books and other types of collections are grouped together. Poster art forms the second group which is in two divisions, the first advertising the fair and the second other posters.

Divisions three and four deal with the aeroplanes, boats and other building sets. The model aeroplanes are subdivided into gas, rubber and non-flying models in group three, while the model boats, cars, mechano and erector sets for the fourth division.

The fifth, sixth and seventh groups are the woodwork, leatherwork and shellwork classes. These include fret and coping saw, furniture, small articles, bird houses, various types of leather craft, jewellery, pictures and novelties.

Modelling with plaster, plasticine, soap and wood forms the eighth group, followed by the household arts, knitting, crocheting and sewing in the ninth.

Photography is in a department apart from the others, featuring the prints, both made by the exhibitor and commercial photographer and enlargements by both.

The penmanship is still another department, graded according to the school grades. The work up to grade 4 may be done in pencil and from there to grade 8 and 19 years in ink.

Ball Fans Make Rookie Nervous

PITTSBURG, April 26 (AP) — What makes a baseball rookie nervous in his first appearances in the major leagues—pitching, fielding, batting?

"None of those," says outfielder Brandy Davis, up for his big league try with the Pittsburgh Pirates. "It's the fans."

And the 23-year-old former Duke University baseball and track star isn't kidding. In a night game against the Pirates, Frankie Baumholtz of Chicago Cubs singled to right field. And as Davis ran to grab the ball, one fan yelled:

"You'll miss it."

Sure enough, he booted the ball.

That prompted one Pittsburgh newspaper to plead for a "be-kind-to-rookies week."

Davis, a shy youngster, spent most of last season with Bartlesvills in the Kansas-Oklahoma Missouri Class B League.

"Fans in the minor leagues are a lot different," mused Davis. "They more or less take it for granted that us guys still have a lot to learn. But not in Pittsburgh. They even boo Ralph Kiner, the best home-run hitter in the National League."

Reminded that the steel city fans more or less shunted Bob Elliott, now with the Giants, out of Pittsburgh, Davis replied:

"That's one thing I don't want to happen to me. I'm not letting that one erorr worry me. I just hope I can stick with the Pirates and play a lot of games."

That one miscue didn't have any effect on manager Billy Meyer or general manager Branch Rickey.

"The only thing wrong with that boy is that he needs confidence," commented Rickey. "I've got more confidence in him than he has in himself."

"He's got speed and a good throwing arm. All he needs is to refrain from swinging at pitches in the ball zone and he's a major leaguer. That boy can run like a scared ape. He can outrun anybody on the field. But he needs to improve his hitting. That comes with experience."

Girls' city bowling loop wound up operatiohs this week after a long and successful indoor season of toppling the pins. They have a dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. out at the Peterborough Golf Club to write 'finis' to the semester. Marines won out by two points over Black's in the 10-team circuit. M. Knight had high single for the season with 382, L. Vincent top triple of 879, and M. Hawthorne best average with a 214 mark. All quite respectable counts as the top trundlers among city lasses roll in this well-known league at Duffus'. Many of the bowlers also go in for softball in the summer.

Hateful Hans Hermann returns to insult grapple fans here next Tuesday eve in the Brock. The strutting German is matched against powerful and popular Yukon Eric, the pair recently having battled to a Toronto draw before 9,000 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens. Scaling well over 250 pounds each, and being in good trim, they're a potent pair of matmen. Two more huskies, Wee Willie Davis and Irón Talun, tangle in the semi-final. Prelim has newcomer Frank Fozo in against Dave Simms. Pro wrestling is nearing the end of its season here and may conclude any week, with the grapplers moving into other centres—where they had no mat shows all winter—like Oshawa and Belleville.

Grand Old Man of Ball

That grand old man of major league baseball, Connie Mack, was in Ottawa for their opening game against Buffalo the other day. He is 89 years old and has just finished a 50-year career as manager of Philadelphia Athletics! The tall, slim Connie appears as smart as ever, reports say, and is still the likeable, soft-spoken old gentleman. Asked who was the greatest player he ever saw in the majors, he said: "Why Cobb was the greatest player, but I got him when he was far past his prime. However, I paid Cobb $100,000 for the two seasons, 1927-28." Someone else asked if Cobb was actually a rough player on the base-paths. "Yes," Mr. Mack replied, "he didn't care who or what was in the way." Cobb led the loop 12 years in hitting.

If the weather's right, the senior baseballers open workouts this aft at two in Riverside. All positions open for a week or two yet till the players begin to shake down in shape and show where they best fit. Several openings on the club, at least, and several new players will be added. Also a manager, possibly a playing one. A new deal this year with the Petes back with their first love in the Central Ontario League, and with a strong executive in charge. They expect to field a colorful and contending club in a good loop and fill the stands regularly in floodlight frays. That's good news to lovers of the summertime diamond game.

A Glance Around The Loop

Jack Carson is managing the Belleville Redmen in the C.O.B.L. this year and they start light workouts this weekend. Like Kingston and the Petes, the Redmen will play home games under the arcs, and they have a neat ball park now. Batawa has till today to file entry if the club wants in. No info yet on Picton or Napanee, but the Flyers are permitted changing personnel so players may come and go to the big airport. Joe Levandoski has been named playing manager of the Kingston Ponies, and will likely hold down an outfield position. Stan Scrutton is business manager, as he was with the Kingston senior "B" puckists the past winter. They start practising right away, too.

A bit greasy in one corner but Miller Bowl is drying out well, and the lacrossers did some loosening up there last p.m. Lou Vitarelli's juniors have been at it a few times and are going in for some stiffer drilling now, though not too heavy yet. After all, youngsters don't take long to round into shape. The senior Petes start slower and just begin to hit their right stride when the schedule opens several weeks hence. We dropped around for a spell, but didn't hear when the next workout was. Imagine they'll be at it pretty steadily from now on, barring bad weather. Daylight saving takes effect this weekend and will give more time for twilight practices. Juniors drill again April 27 at 10 a.m.

Place Dekdebrun On Waiver List

TORONTO, April 26 (CP)—Al Dekdebrun, cut loose by Toronto Argonauts last year, has been placed on the Big Four waiver list along with Marvin (Stretch) Whaley and Oatten Fisher, president Bob Moran of Argos said in Toronto Friday.

Dekdebrun led Argos to a 13-0 victory in the mud over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the 1950 Canadian football final. Other Big Four teams have 72 hours to indicate if they want the players.

Moran said Winnipeg has asked that a price be placed on Dekdebrun. The smooth-working U.S. quarterback will fulfill his four-year residence rule and no longer will be regarded as an import at the end of the season.

Moran can't do that under league rules until eastern Big Four teams decide whether they want him.

Loblaws In Front Of Mercantile Loop

Loblaw's finished in front of the Mercantile Bowling League at Duffus', followed by Braund's No. 1, Utilities, Prudential, Austin's, Crowe's, A&P, Neill's, Braund's No. 2, and Bond's. On the final night of play, Braund's No. 1 rolled pinnage of 3041, Verda McWilliams having lasses' high single of 292 and Winnie McCarrell top three of 678. For men, Bob Willshaw had a 293 single and Ted Crowe a three of 832.

High pinnage for the season went to Utilities with 3330, as Marcelle Lake led girls all season in singles with 382 and Theresa Crowley's 813 was high triple. Len Watkins' 371 topped men's singles, while Bill Cribbis rolled a high cross of 852.

Utilities blanked Bond's on the windup night, and Braund's No. 1 did likewise to Braund's No. 2. The rest were 3-1 wins, for Loblaw's over Crowe's, Neill's against Austin's, and for A&P over Prudential.

Ladies' high average for the season was 201 by Verna Hopkins, as men's high average resulted in a 206 tie by Don Penrose and Jack Martell.

Umpire Admits He Was Wrong

CEDAR GROVE, N. J., April 26 (AP).—Umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb says he deserved the public wrist-slapping handed him this week by National League president Warren Giles and hopes the incident soon will be forgotten.

At the same time, from his home here, the umpire denied reports he may be planning to resign and said he would be in St. Louis today to resume his duties.

"Mr. Giles made the only decision he could have made after hearing the report," Robb added. "I made a mistake and was punished for it."

Robb was fined and disciplined publicly by Giles for shoving Eddie Stanky, manager of St. Louis Cardinals, during an argument in the Card-Reds game Tuesday at Cincinnati.

The ruckus started when Solly Hemus, Cardinal shortstop, threw his bat away in disgust after being called out on strikes. The tempestuous Stanky stormed into the field and the shoving incident followed, with Giles among the spectators.

Hemus was fined $25, Stanky $50 and Robb, according to files, was fined an amount "much greater than the combined fines of the players." It was the first time in 13 years a National League umpire had been so chastised publicly.

Injuries Weaken Arsenal For Cup Game

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 25—(CP)—Despite a crop of injuries, Arsenal's famed gunners are confident their brilliant team play and strong reserves will carry them to victory over the great Newcastle United team in the Football Association cup final at Wembley May 3.

For the Gunners it will be their sixth appearance in a cup final, with a chance to score their fourth victory. Arsenal and Newcastle met only once at Wembley. That was in 1932, and Newcastle won 2-1.

The Gunners engaged in a tight battle with Manchester United for English league honors and suffered a mounting casualty list in the process. Newcastle, out of contention for the league title, concentrated on the cup playoffs and will go into the final with a well-rested club.

Arsenal lost its chance Monday to become the first club in 55 years to win the cup and league championship "double"—a prize last won by Aston Villa in 1897. The Gunners bowed to West Bromwich Albion 3-1 and dropped two points behind Manchester United, which virtually clinched the title by defeating Chelsea 3-0.

Manchester and Arsenal clash in the last fixture of the season Saturday. But Manchester can afford to lose this one, even though an Arsenal win would leave the teams tied in points, because United has a better goal average than the gunners.

Easter Misfortune

The injury jinx hit the Gunners hard during the Easter list of fixtures. First major casualty was Ray Daniel, Arsenal's brilliant young Welsh international centre-half. His left wrist snapped when he collided head-on with Blackpool's Stan Mortensen in a vital Good Friday match which ended in a scoreless draw.

Leslie Compton, who at 38 won his first international cap with England last season, was called in to fill the gap.

Daniel, however, is being fitted with a lightweight plastic cast and may be ready at Wembley.

Fate frowned again on the London club in its league encounter against Bolton the following day. This time left-back Lionel Smith, an English international, was sidelined with a badly-wrenched knee.

In the last few days Jimmy Logie, Reg Lewis and Art Shaw joined the injured list.

However, the club has lost none of its vaunted confidence. Led by the master of strategy, 38-year-old Joe Mercer, the team boasts of such other noted stars as goalie George Swindin, the aggressive Alex Forbes and alert, unerring marksmen in Doug Lishman, Peter Goring, D. Roper and the opportunist, Freddie Cox. Behind them is a reserve of veterans and youngsters, all imbued with an inflexible will-to-win.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Ty Cobb, one of baseballs, all-time greats, led Philadelphia Athletics to a 9-8 victory over Boston in an American League game 25 years ago today. Playing his 23rd year in the Majors, the Georgia Peach who retired the following year, drove in two runs, scored two himself including one by stealing home, and ended the game with an unassisted double play.

Pitching—Bob Kelly, Cubs — Pitched Chicago to a five-hit 7-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Two Canadian track stars sparked a victory for the University of Michigan Friday at the opening of the annual Penn Relay Carnival at Philadelphia.

Don McEwen of Ottawa and John Ross of Oakville were members of the quartette which scored a smashing victory in the distance medley against the Lockbourne air base team from Ohio.

The Wolverine quartette came from behind to win the event in the slow time of 10:18.1 over a course soaked by three days of constant rainfall. The track was a soupy sea of mud.

At that, McEwen had his work cut out for him. An "unknown" in United States major track competition, Hobard Jones, raced stride for stride with the Canadian over the mile finish and gained three yards at the tape. Ross had handed McEwen a five-yard lead as he pulled away from his Lockbourne competitor.

Lou Burdette, Boston Braves righthander, at his present pace, will threaten the "most games pitched" record held by Philadelphia Phillies' Jim Konstanty. Burdette has appeared in 11 games so far this season, winning two and losing one.

The much-travelled Clyde Kluttz may take over the No. 1 catching job for Washington Senators. The former New York, Boston, St. Louis and Pittsburgh player is hitting a blazing .500 with seven hits in 14 times at bat.

Marty Marion, known as "Mr. Shortstop" when he was a St. Louis Cardinal, is turning out to be the same old master with St. Louis Browns. The former Cardinal manager has handled 32 chances without an error.

Four alleged basketball fixers, Joseph Beineende, Jack Rubenstein, Eli Klufosky, and Jack West, charged with trying to rig a Bradley-City college game at New York two years ago, face other indictments, District Attorney Frank Hogan announced at New York Friday.

Frank Sedgman, Australia's No. 1 tennis star, took just 28 minutes Friday to get into the final round of the Sutton, England, hard court finals. He whipped Pierre Chatrier, sixth-ranking Frenchman, 6-0, 6-3. Sedgman meets Sven Stockenburg of Sweden in the final today.

Plans for a Sugar Ray Robinson-Joey Maxim match for the light-heavyweight championship were abandond Friday by Jams Norris, president of the International Boxing Club. Maxim wanted the fight but Robinson wasn't in favor.

Bobby Dykes gave Ted Murray a sound whipping Friday night in their welterweight fight at New York's St. Nicholas Arena. Dykes won a unanimous 10-round decision.

Guelph Downs Pats 8-2 In First Game

GUELPH, April 26 — (CP) — Guelph Biltmores looked good in the first game of the Memorial Cup finals Friday night as they defeated Regina Pats 8-2.

But Regina coach Murray Armstrong wasn't too discouraged. "If we had played like that all year, we wouldn't be here," he said after the game.

Main criticism of the Regina play was that the team relied mostly on individual effort and lacked the Biltmores' smooth teamwork. The western champs also showed a reluctance to shoot even when in position. They persisted in trying to carry the puck into the goal crease—a manoeuvre that seldom paid off.

Regina's Bob Tyler in goal was credited with preventing Guelph from getting a larger score. He stopped 40 Biltmore shots while the Guelph goalie, Merv Brewer, handled only 10.

Not Overconfident

Alfie Pike, coach of the Guelph team, was not feeling overconfident after the game Friday night. "It won't be so easy next time," he predicted.

How "easy" it was is indicated by the period scored. Biltmores took a one-goal lead in the first period, outscored Regina 3-1 in the secand and 4-1 in the third.

Ron Stewart and Ken Laufman led the Biltmores with two goals each. Other Guelph scorers were Ron Murphy, Dean Prentice, Jim Conelly and Chuck Henderson.

Harvey Schmidt and Eddie Litzenberger scored for Regina. Litzenberger almost had another in the last minute of play when he broke through alone but Brewer smothered his shot.

Regina defenceman Joe Sauve had a hard night of it. He gave away a goal in the third period when he cleared the puck directly into his own net. Conelly got credit for it. He picked up his third penalty of the night and then talked himself into a misconduct.

Chicago Cubs Big Surprise Add Cincinnati To Victims

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Everybody is cheering for the giddy St. Louis Browns. How about three rahs and a tiger for the chipper Chicago Cubs. Most of the National League owners ridiculed the Cubs all winter for not making deals. "What can they do with that club?" they asked. "How can they afford to stand pat?" That was the way the conversation ran at the winter meetings and around the training camps, too. Sure they won the Grapefruit League title. But they did that last year and finished last.

The cubs carried their fine preseason play into the regular play. With a 6-2 record they're within clutching distance of the lead, trailing Brooklyn by one game.

Frankie Baumholtz has been a spring sensation. In Friday's 7-3 win over Cincinnati, he rapped a triple and two singles to boost his average to .455. He has hit safely in all eight Cub games.

Second-Place Tie

Frank Sauer's home run and two runs batted in boosted him into a second-place tie in both departments with three homers and 12 R.B.I.s.

Bob Kelly silenced the Reds with five hits for his first win while handing Ewell Blackwell his second straight loss.

Gerry Staley needed help from reliever Al Brazle and solid hitting by Wally Westlake, Stan Musial and Steve Bilko to whip Pittsburgh, 6-4.

Westlake had three straight hits, one a double, and Musial smashed three singles to account for half the Cards' 12 hits. Bilko had two doubles and a single.

Harry Simpson, who floundered with a .229 average in his rookie year, was the big noise in Cleveland's 5-4 victory over the White Sox. The fleet outfielder capped a three-hit day by doubling home two runs in the last of the ninth to tie the score after Chicago scored two in the top half. Simpson then came home on Luke Easter's fly with the winning run.

The upstart Brownies and Detroit were not scheduled. Everybody else was rained out.

Love Of God Goes Deep In Jewish Religion, Worship

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The love of God was deeply ingrained in Jewish religion and worship, and was at the very heart of the faith and experience of the devout souls in Israel.

In the synagogue the recitation of the "shema," consisting of verses 4 to 9 in Deuteronomy 6 had a place simliar to the regular use of the Lord's Prayer in Christian churches today.

We do not know just how, or at what time, the consciousness of His Messiahship and divine mission may have become a reality to the Master.

In the normal life of the boy Jesus growing up in Nazareth, attending the synagogue "as His custom was" (Luke 4:16), I have often thought of the thrill with which this 12-year-old lad must have heard from Sabbath to Sabbath those great commanding words:

"Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."

I have no doubt that in the synagogue service, as in our Christian services, there were many to whom the worship was conventional and formal, to whom the recitation was a mere exercise in the order of worship.

To a devout and sensitive soul, however, the words were an invitation to a vast and limitless experience, involving all that man was, and all that man could be.

What it means to love God is emphasized in the very nature of the command to love God with the heart and soul, and might. Both in Judaism and in Christianity religion and religious experience is not merely a part of life; it underlies and dominates the whole life of the true believer and disciple. The typical prayer to God of the devout Israelite was, "Search me and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts; and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting" (Psalm 139:23, 24).

And a typical Christian precept

Millard Candidate

TORONTO, April 26 (CP) — Charles Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) was chosen Friday night by the York West C.C.F. association as the party's candidate in the next federal election for that riding.

WITH DIVES, DIPS AND LOOPS the Plymouth Aero League model planes are put through a series of tests every bright Sunday at Nicholls Park. Since the club was formed a year ago, model plane building as a hobby has become increasingly popular. Gerry Moffatt, club president, is a typical hobbyist with his assortment of planes including the neat gas model held by his sister, Mrs. Joan Ronco upper left). The fireplace ledge forms a landing field for Moffatt's small solid models while Moffatt talks with Ken Rose about the flying possibilities of the model hanging on the wall. Moffatt completes another model (upper right) but his work table (lower right) indicates another plane is on the way.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Milk Producers Offer To Help Finance Plan To Give Cheese To Hungry

Would Finance Purchase of Cheese As Gift To Country In Need Expect Help of Provincial, Federal Gov'ts

Peterborough Milk Producers gave unanimous assent on Friday night to a proposed contributory plan for financing the purchase of cheese to be disposed of as a gift "to some hungry country." As suggested by Mr. V. S. Milburn, secretary of the local county association, it contemplates a levy on the several branches of the dairy industry of Canada, the amount collected to be duplicated by the provincial government, and doubled by the federal government.

"The federal government, of course, have their responsibilities, and it might be proposed that the dairy industry contribute one-third of the fund, and the province and the Dominion one-third each," Mr. Milburn said.

In broaching the scheme to the Milk Producers, he told them that directors of the dairy commodity groups have expressed themselves in favor of it, and that the Dairy Council of Canada is the agency through which it would be submitted to the dairy organizations in the other provinces.

Set Levy

The proposed levy would be applied to the usual units of fluid milk, cheese and manufactured milk, such as condensed milk. Mr. Milburn said that if the dairy farmers of the country got behind the idea, it was likely that the federal and provincial governments would support it,

Obviously, the details have to be smoothed out. As a test of producer attitude, Mr. Milburn received affirmative response here Friday night, and without any note of objection.

The meeting also voted for the June "set aside", the means by which milk producers contribute to the advertising fund which they first collected two years ago.

Sentiment of the meeting was a willingness to face a series of reverses in a realistic spirit. Inroads of vegetable oils have cost the dairy farmers of Canada millions of dollars.

The United States embargo following the outbreak of mouth and hoof disease in the west has deprived them of an established market for many thousands of cows. The cheese branch is confronted with the loss this year of a contract with Britain, although Mr. Milburn said he was hopeful of an early announcement from Ottawa relating to that front of the dairy industry.

Ask Decrease

He mentioned also the disposition of organized labor to clamor for reduction of prices of dairy products whenever they sense a sur-

Thieves Rob 2 Bethany Shops

Thieves broke into two Bethany village shops during the night and escaped with nearly $50 in cash and groceries. But barred windows on a third store foiled a triple entry.

Hardest hit was the general store of A. B. Ryley and Son. There the thieves rifled the till and got away with about $12. A quantity of packaged meats, bread, cakes, and other groceries was also taken.

The hardware store of Fred W. Reynolds was also entered and ransacked but, so far as is known, only 75 cents in coppers was taken. The coppers were all the money that was in the till.

Steel bars on a window at the grocery and butcher store of Reg. R. Edmunds prevented a third breakin.

The thefts were discovered at 8 a.m. today when Mr. Ryley and Harry Reynolds, son of the proprietor, went to open up for the day's business.

"We sold all our guns just a couple of days ago," said Harry Reynolds, "so they were out of luck if that's what they were looking for. However there was all the other merchandise in the hardware store. We have a stock of pocket watches and jackknives and they didn't take any of them; I can't figure that out."

The hardware store was thoroughly searched but nothing other than the coppers in one scoop of the till was taken.

Mr. Ryley said he was awaiting a thorough check by the provincial police before he took inventory and added up his total loss.

Couple Admit Robbed Pensioner

COBOURG, April 26 (ENS)—William Rutledge, 27, Seaforth, alias Peter John Allen, and Mrs. Elaine Pont, 31-year-old divorcee of 90 Maple St., Campbellford, pleaded guilty in police court Friday to a charge of robbery with violence and theft of a car. Magistrate R. B. Baxter remanded them until next Friday for sentence in order that their records could be ascertained.

The pair were arrested outside a Cobourg hotel on April 23 by Provincial Constables Don Erskine and George Rose, of Campbellford, the same day they tied up 86-year-old Robert Alexander, Hastings old-age pensioner, and robbed him of $16, the entire contents of his wallet.

Alexander wriggled loose from his bonds and managed to get word to the police.

Provincial Constable Don Erskine testified that he and Constable Rose investigated a complaint on April 23 that Mr. Alexander had been robbed.

It was learned that he had been invited over to an hotel beverage room for a drink of beer by Mrs Pont. There they were joined by Rutledge and the accused man borrowed two dollars from the complainant.

After he had had some beer, Mr. Alexander left the hotel and went home, accompanied by Mrs. Pont. They were followed later by Rutledge who grabbed him, tied a suit of his underwear around his head, bound his hands and feet with sash cord and proceeded to rifle his pockets.

They took the contents of his wallet, $16, and left. In the hotel yard they stole a car owned by Gordon Johnston but ran out of gas 15 miles from Hastings. The pair made their way into Cobourg where they were arrested that night.

Mr. Alexander had rope burns on his wrists and he said that he had been punched four or five times by Rutledge.

Railroads Alter Times of Trains

The switch to daylight saving time on Sunday will make changes in railway schedules, but none in bus schedules. Bus companies will merely change over their timetables to daylight time.

Your clocks should be advanced one hour Saturday night.

Only one change will be made in C.N.R. timetables. The train arriving in Peterborough from Toronto at 8.35 p.m. standard time will now arrive at 7.35 standard time (8.35 p.m. D.S.T.). No changes are contemplated in outbound trains.

C.P.R. Trains

Week-day C.P.R. trains are all changed. The one leaving for Toronto normally at 4.55 a.m. E.S.T. will leave after Sunday at 4.35 E.S.T. (5.35 a.m. D.S.T.). The 8 a.m. train leaves now at 5.55 E.S.T. (6.55 a.m. D.S.T.), the 5.30 p.m. train will leave at 5.10 E.S.T. (6.10 p.m. D.S.T.).

On Sundays, the 5.30 p.m. train will leave at 5 p.m. E.S.T. (6 p.m. D.S.T.).

Incoming C.P.R. trains also change: From 1140 p.m. E.S.T. to 11.30 E.S.T. (12.30 D.S.T.); from 1.35 a.m. E.S.T. to 1.05 E.S.T. (2.05 D.S.T.). The Sunday train from Toronto that normally arrived at 11.20 a.m. E.S.T. will still arrive at that time (12.20 D.S.T.).

The 9.30 p.m. C.P.R. train will arrive at 8 p.m. E.S.T. (9 p.m. D.S.T.).

Model Airplanes Transform Nicholls Oval Into Airfield

By DON GRANT

The busiest airfield for miles around is right inside the city at Nicholls Oval. There on a bright sunny day in spring or summer, dozens of airplanes take off, land and do practice combat flying. But the pilots stay on the ground. They are members of the Plymouth Aero League who are model plane builders and flyers taking part in the fastest growing sport in the city at the moment.

This club, formed a year ago as part of a large international model aeroplane organization, has grown by leaps and bounds. The hobby is rapidly becoming the most popular among young boys and adults alike.

Before the club was formed, model plane building was gradually going downhill in Peterborough. But it has now swung in the opposite direction; 35 boys and men are hobbyists on a large scale while hundreds of others are tinkering with the models.

The club meets weekly at the Ashburnham hall. The members share new ideas, discuss problems, show newcomers how to build planes, plan weekend get-togethers and yes, even fly planes inside the building.

There are three basic types of model planes, rubber-powered, engine-powered, free flight and U-control.

Rubber-Powered First

Quite often the rubber-powered models are the first attempted by boys thinking of planes as a hobby. With these they learn the fundamentals of making planes by scale.

But many model builders con-

Clock-Changing Party Solves Problem

By JIM ENGLISH

Daylight Saving Time, to a lot of people, poses quite a problem. Probably it is quite a difficult thing to figure out, for people who aren't mathematically minded.

Last year, we had a clock-changing party. It was very pleasant. A group of serious-minded folk like ourselves got together, and decided to see the new time in.

There is no better way to lose that extra hour than to have a clock - changing party. Some people, not so well-controlled as others, have lost more than an hour at them. But if it is managed properly, a clock-changing party can be a lot of fun.

Here's a rough resume of what went on at the one we threw:

What To Do

We talked it over for a while, and decided it was really very simple, and that some people just tried to make it difficult by talking about setting the clock forward or backward, or something.

Finally somebody said let's take all the clocks and change them at 10 o' clock.

Nope, said somebody else, that's too early for Saturday night. Let's try another time.

How about 11?

Nuts. Nobody goes to bed Saturday night at 11. Try again.

Well . . . how about . . . ummm . . . two in the morning?

That's all very well, but by that time, we're already changed over to daylight saving. It's three o' clock. Changes after midnight, you know.

Oh. Well, if we say 11:30 . . . You know, it seems like an awful lot of bother to interrupt a party to set clocks. But the law is the law, and set them we must.

Okay, everybody off their chairs and get a clock. If there aren't enough to go around, use your wrist watch. If you haven't got a wrist watch, you'll just have to sulk; that's all there are . . . clocks, that is.

Now 11:30

Now, got your clock? Okay. It's now 11:30. Take the time setting knob and . . . huh? It's this little jigger over here, you just pull it out and twist it.

BRRRRRRRRRRRR!!

I guess that's not the button. Take the other little button, pull that out, and twist. Say! Look a those hands go around. Must have gears of some kind in there. Wonder how fast I can make this go?

BOOOOIIIIIIINNNNNGGGG!

Another bad guess.

Here, let's have that other clock. You take this knob, like this, and pull it out and twist it, and set the clock at . . . Hey! Anybody know which way? Is it 12:30 or 10:30?

Ten-thirty, eh? Okay, just keep turning until you get to 10:30.

Everybody get to 10:30?

See? No trouble at all.

And that's how we changed to Daylight Saving Time.

(Editor's Note: For those who are just as confused as the writer, clocks should be advanced one hour before you retire Saturday night.)

Lower Prices Don't Upset Stock Traders

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Traders on Toronto's Stock Exchange this week maintained an almost unruffled calm as prices drifted lower.

Imperial Oil's announcement Wednesday of lower crude oil prices produced sporadic selling sprees in western oils but most issues regained part of their losses Friday.

Industrials declined steadily. Trading, however, was confined largely to selected leading issues and most observers attributed the recession more to a lack of buying interest than to a desire to sell.

Professionals say investors have adopted a "wait-and-see" attitude.

There have been few international developments to affect stock markets, they say. On the domestic level, inflation appears to be controlled and prospects of a general recession of any consequence seem remote. Earliest pessimism of discouraging first-quarter company reports has not been justified in most cases.

Some United States observers think that stock markets will maintain a pattern of light, highly selective trading for some months. This will be followed, they say, by a broad market noted for overspeculation, followed by a sharp drop.

Toronto opened the week Monday with a brisk upturn as firm support rallied most issues. Papers and industrials pushed higher in Montreal.

Western oils paced an irregular decline in Toronto Tuesday. All sections dipped. Montreal industrials also eased but papers were steady. The trend continued in Toronto Wednesday as all sections slipped. Montreal papers and industrials weakened.

Industrials and western oils stretched a steady decline through the third consecutive session Thursday in Toronto. Industrials and papers slipped in Montreal. Toronto industrials and western oils reversed direction yesterday for a moderate advance. Montreal papers and industrials were steady.

Rails led New York higher Monday but the rally faltered Tuesday and early gains were lost. Oilsrails led a decline Wednesday. Stock closed lower again Thursday as oils led a selling spurt. Rails headed a quiet rally yesterday.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto Stock Exchange indices showed industrials down 3.84 at 314.05, golds down .81 at 89.07, base metals down 1.38 at 184.81 and western oils down 3.58 at 147.44.

In the Montreal averages banks were down .33 at 29.14, utilities down .2 at 83.7, industrials down 2.0 at 196.0, combined down 1.5 at 158.5, papers down 9.34 at 661.05 and golds down 2.71 at 65.81.

In New York, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped 10 cents to $101.00.

Phone Manners In Hollywood Said Terrible

HOLLYWOOD, April 26—(AP)—No wonder Hollywood is also known as ulcer haven. You can find out why just by using the telephone.

Telephone manners in Hollywood are worse than in any normal community. The telephone is not merely a means of communication here; it's also a form of harassment.

This isn't merely the fault of secretaries. Most of them are acting under orders from their thoughtless bosses. But the gals aren't faultless, either. They often talk on the phone with all the warmth and feeling of a clerk recording another body at the morgue.

Here is an alaysis of the various offenders:

The relentless inquirer — you call up and ask for Moe Minkle. Quick as lightning comes the reply, "Who's calling?" Before you can find out if Moe is on the premises, you have to identify yourself. It doesn't matter if Moe is the third assistant inkwell filler you still have to play this game of "Who are you?"

The diligent detective—this is the girl who protects important men, or men who think they are important. First, you have to identify yourself and possibly account for your birthplace, citizenship and loyalty. Then comes the topper: "And what is your call concerning?"

No Pomposity

A rare exception among bigshots is M.G.M. boss Dore Schary. He will answer a phone call from anyone he knows big or small, without question. Perhaps he remembers the days when he was trying to reach the ears of men in power.

The disappearing act—the voice on the other end asks your name and mission and then says blithely: "Mr. Eagle is talking on another line; would you care to wait?" You say okay and start to wait. You drum on the desk, write a few personal letters, read a novel or two, file your nails and make out your income tax. Still there is no word from the other end of the wire.

The putter-offer — this deadheaded executive can't bear to talk to you at the time you call. So he has his secretary say, "Where can Mr. Jerkberg call you at 2 o'clock?" Or, "Mr. Jergberg will call you at 3.45 on Arbor Day."

TROUBLE IN BERLIN — West Berlin policemen swing clubs as they drive stone-throwing Communist demonstrators back to the city's Soviet sector from where they came. It was estimated that 5,000 Reds, shouting anti-Western slogans, surged across the border into the French sector. Police used fire hoses to turn them back.

Ill-Equipped For Atom Blast

OTTAWA, April 26 (CP)—Civil defence experts, evaluating the results of a hypothetical atomic bomb blast on the Ottawa-Hull area, said Friday the area is hopelessly ill-equipped to handle the flaming holocaust such a blast would leave.

That was the conclusion reached as C.D. co-ordinators studied the hypothetical blast demonstration they carried out Friday on a huge floor map of the area. The blast, they said, would have killed 25,000 persons, seriously injured 28,000, slightly injured 21,000 and trapped another 36,000 in burning buildings.

Fire Chief Gray Burnett said his department of 300 firemen and about 45 pieces of equipment would urgently need help from Ottawa area towns if such an atomic fire was to be controlled at all. And he believed no amount of help could save the area within a three-quarter mile radius of ground zero —the point over which the blast occurred.

He suggested the federal government should supply the city with auxiliary equipment with which to train a volunteer fire-fighting force.

Baptist Churches Plan Spring Rally

The Peterborough Association of Baptist Churches which is composed of the Baptist churches in a triangle from Belleville to Peterborough to Port Hope, will hold its annual spring rally in the Murray Street Baptist Church on Monday, April 28th. Harry Van Evedingen of Port Hope is the moderator and will be in charge of the sessions, assisted by Mrs. H. H. Graham of Peterborough, Director of Women's Activities. The speaker at the afternoon session will be Miss Lois Tupper, Dean of the Women's Leadership School at McMaster University. At the evening service the Park Street and Murray Street choirs will combine to sing, and the president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, Dr. Harry R. Nobles will be the speaker.

Tone Wins 1st Round In Divorce Case

LOS ANGELES, April 26 (AP)—Actor Franchot Tone won round No. 1 in his sizzling divorce case with blonde Barbara Payton Friday when Superior Court dismissed her demand for $1,000 a month alimony.

The shapely blonde's lawyer, meanwhile, took the occasion to charge Tone with "an attempt to air dirty linen." Tone, in an amended divorce complaint filed Thursday, accused Miss Payton of making illicit love—even as recently as last Wednesday—with actor Tom Neal.

Judge M. L. Lillie stopped the public washing quickly by dismissing the alimony demands.

More Room Needed For Pupils In Southend

Separate School authorities are faced with the problem of finding elementary school accommodation in the south end of the city. And as yet they have not come up with the final answer.

At present St. John's elementary school is the only separate school serving the Roman Catholic population south of Lansdowne St. Yet the south end is the most rapidly expanding area of the city.

About 57 pupils are expected to start in Grade I in the fall, and as a normal classroom only accommodates 35-40 pupils, this means that an extra classroom must be found for the overflow. An additional teacher must be hired, as well.

St. John's is now an eight-room school with some 210 pupils. The enrolment is expected to jump to at least 250 in the fall.

Unless some other arrangements are made one class will be using the auditorium as a classroom. This was done several years ago, before an addition was made to the school.

Fire Plugs For Dogs

TORONTO, April 26. (CP)—Where do old fire plugs go? Why, to the dog kennel, of course. That's where they are going in Toronto. The Humane Society here has taken over the city's used fire hydrants and installed them — minus any water connections — in its outdoor dog kennels. An official said the plugs are designed to calm canine nerves which may be upset by the unfamiliar journey to the kennels.

Educate Emotions

WINNIPEG (CP)—Importance of art and music in school and university classes to "educate the emotions" was stressed by Dr. A. H. S. Gillson, president of the University of Manitoba, in an address to the Manitoba Registered Music Teachers' Association. He said the aim of education is not only to show people how to make a living, but also how to live.

Mice Cost $3,978 in Month

TORONTO, April 26—(CP)—A tale of "mortar mice" and $85-a-gallon paint which cost a 68-year-old spinster $3,978 in one month was told in court Friday.

Raymond Hibbert, 38, Hugh Gilmore, 39, and James Fleming, 23 were convicted of fraud and remanded until May 2 to permit them to make restitution.

Maud Binkley testified that the three represented themselves to her as contractors. She said Gilmore told her "mortar mice" had crept into the walls and chimney of her house.

Gilmore and Fleming began work in the basement. At one time Gilmore said he heard a mouse coming up the cold air register.

"He told everyone to stand back," said Miss Binkley. "Then he brought a mouse out of the register and identified it as a 'mortar mouse'—I still don't know if it was a live or rubber mouse."

For a special chemical paint "which repels mortar mice" Miss Binkley paid $85 a gallon.

End 5-Week Strike

WELLAND, April 26—(CP)—A five-week strike of 190 employees of Reliance Electric and Engineering Canada Ltd. plant here was settled Friday with an agreement on hourly wage increases ranging from 18½ to 21 cents. The minimum rate now is $1.24½ an hour for women and $1.30 for men.

MODERN TECHNIQUE

Many Ways To Fix Sticking Doors

There are few things more exasperating than a sticking door. Until you learn whether to put your weight on the knob or to lift up on it to open the door, you may lose several finger nails and the better part of your disposition.

Prime cause of sticking doors is poorly-placed hinges. Doors also stick when the door has warped out of shape and doesn't fit the frame, and when the frame has changed shape until it no longer fits the door.

To check, push the door closed and examine the gap between the door and the frame all the way around. If the space is narrow on one side and wide on the other, the hinges may be set wrong on the door. Doors that fit correctly when hung may swell until they are too large for the opening of the frame. Check for cracks in the plaster around the door. Cracks are usually evidence that the frame has shrunk or settled and is binding the door at one or more points.

There isn't much to be done with a frame that has changed shape without dismantling it. Make the correction on the door itself.

Check the hinges by removing the pins and taking the door out of the frame. If the hinge plates on either the door or the frame are loose, they must be tightened. If the wood is too worn around the screws, either use longer screws or plug the holes and reset the hinge plates.

If the door sticks along the "lock" side, cut the hinge recesses longer on the door and reset. If the high spot on the door is on the "hinge" side, it is probably because the hinges are set too deeply. Remove both plates of the hinge and put cardboard under them and replace. If the lower outside corner sticks, put cardboard under the lower hinge to lift the corner.

If the door is swelled because of moisture, remove the door from the frame and plane it down on the hinge side until it fits the frame freely. If it still hangs at the top, lower it on the hinges or if it sticks at the bottom because of a warped or damaged threshold, plane off the bottom edge. As you will be planing across the grain, be careful or you will split the edge. If the amount to be removed is slight, it will be better to use sandpaper or a block.

In adjusting the door so that it will open, you may have raised or lowered it to the point where the lock misses the plate on the frame. Remove the plate from the frame and enlarge the square holes in the frame and replace the plate in the proper position.

Festival Plays Praised By Adjudicator

TORONTO, April 26 (CP)—Adjudicator Edward Thommen became enthusiastic Friday night over the presentation at the Central Ontario Drama League's one-act play festival.

It was, he said, a nice evening of well-written, well-acted and well-produced plays and added that his comments could only be frosting on the cake.

Plays presented were: "Submerged" by t[illegible]nhurst Dramatic Society, the first act of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town" presented by the Canadian General Electric Players and J. M. Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals" by the Kitchener-Waterloo Little Theatre.

One night and three plays yet remain of the festival.

The chief fault in "Submerged" was in too much lighting. Of the second play he said the group had the right attitude and did a good job.

In the Barrie play Mr. Thommen criticized only a big window which he said should have been cut off to suggest a basement apartment. The casting of Louise Bartlett as Mrs. Dowey was praised and Mr. Thommen spoke of her sensitive face, likening it to that of Helen

Housewife's Needs First In Planning Of a Kitchen

Good home planning does not necessarily begin and end in the kitchen, but many a home, sweet home has sour memories for the housewife because too little attention was given to designing that room.

The housewife's special needs, her likes and dislikes, are a good starting point in kitchen planning, but they seldom provide sufficient standards for the complete design.

Storage space is the most important consideration in making the kitchen a happy and efficient work place. For ample space, 20 linear feet of walls are needed for cabinets, range, sink and refrigerator. Even a very small kitchen needs at least 15 linear feet for storage.

Adequate counter surfaces at each side of the sink greatly speed up dishwashing. The suggested minimum counter for dirty dishes is three feet long, and for the drainboard two and a half to three feet. If surfaced with a waterproof material such as clay tile, counters will not become unsanitary and need refinishing in a few years.

A space three feet long is recommended by the report for a mix center. The kitchen also needs about two feet of counter surface beside the range.

Floor area should not be skimped in the kitchen, since two or more people often work there. When cabinets or appliances are located on opposite walls, allow at least four feet between them.

The window area of the kitchen should be at least 10 per cent of the floor area, according to experts. Fifteen per cent or more is recommended.

The most traveled area in kitchen work is between sink, range and refrigerator. The kitchen should be planned so that other traffic does not go through this area.

Finally, two doors are enough for the kitchen—one to the dining area and the other to the outside. More just cut up space.

First Korea Vet Back In Village

LAKEFIELD, April 26 (ENS)—Lakefield's first Korean veteran, Cpl. Harry Baldwin, returned home this week after a year overseas.

Enlisting in the Army Medical Corps, Cpl. Baldwin transferred to the Canadian Postal Corps in January 1951 and left for overseas in March of that year. After a stay in the Aleutian Islands the corps moved to Yokohama for two days and then to Pusan, Korea, where Cpl. Baldwin was stationed.

When asked how he liked being back back in Canada, Cpl. Baldwin replied 'A-1. I didn't like Korea, it was too filthy and dirty. I am very glad to be back in the white man's country again, and especially right here in Lakefield."

Describing the climate he claimed that it was quite similar to that of Canada except that it was very raw in winter. The country, he said, was very mountainous and covered with rice paddies.

A veteran of the Second World War, he served for 5½ years with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in England, Scotland, France, Sicily and Italy, returning to Canada in 1945.

Variety Show Put On In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, April 26 (ENS) A large cast presented "Town Frolics," a variety show sponsored by the Canadian Legion Branch 402 in the town hall on Thursday and Friday evenings. Mrs. G. A. Woods was mistress of ceremonies.

The show opened with the play "Toyland on Parade" put on by the juniors under the direction of Mrs. G. P. MacKay and Mrs. R. Raper. Billy and Betty Scott (Wayne Raper and Helen Ingham) cannot decide what birthday present to buy for their younger brother and sister. The fairy doll (Judy Hobbs) appears and says she is in charge of all the other toys in the shop and that she will have a toy parade to help them make their decision. First to appear are the drum majorette dolls (Laureen Guthrie and Elsie Fickling) and the toy soldiers (Bart and Brad Medd, Alan Fowler, Bobby Hamilton, Glenn Fallis and Bobby Bredin) who do a drill.

The whirling toys enter next. They are John Stinson, Gary Snelgrove and George Hawkins, and whirl off again. Next are the dolls. The beauty dolls, Elinore Crowley, Sharon Bremner, Gail Olan, Nancy Powell and Sharon Ball sing; then the ballerina dolls Nancy Nattress, Patsy Hobbs and Yvonne Scott, dance; the cowboy dolls, Douglas Sheppard and Gloria Raper, and Glenn Forsyth and Betty Raper sing; two Scotch dolls, Judy Gilbert and Karen Powell, do the highland fling, and the mama dolls, June Greer, Donna Murney and Marilyn Chapman, sing.

The toyland chaperone (Mary Mosher) tells of her troubles keeping all the dolls in order. Next comes a large ball (Barry Woods) and a jack-in-the-box who does a song, (Teddy Nattress) and finally the teddy bears, Michael Butler, Gordon Gibson, Johnny Bredin and Reggie Sloan with their leader, Dorothy Dawson. Joan Sanders played the piano accompaniments.

The rest of the show was under the direction of Mrs. Woods, and Homer Ouellette was accompanist. It opened with "Memories", a fashion parade of costumes recalled by old songs. There were old-fashioned trailing dresses, an old time bathing suit, short skits of the '20's and a bicycling outfit. Those taking part were: Margaret MacKay, Marion Kennedy, Jean Kinsman, Helen Dufty, Mrs. A. Foottit, Marlene Richards, Nancy Richards, Gail Olan, Ada Olan, Dorothea Chapman, Alice Hawkins and Mrs. Ed Richards. The man who was having the "memories" was Keith Blair.

One of the features of the evening was a vocal duet by Lenore Buckham who is barely three and her four-year-old sister Merrilea, who sang "A Little Dutch Boy and a Little Dutch Girl." Vocal solos were given by Yvonne Richards "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" and "I'll See You in My Dreams," by Arlynne MacPherson.

Wes Cummings delighted the audience with his displays of tap dancing and with his comic songs. Other favorites were Mrs. Woods' song and dance numbers, Ruth Richards comedy stunts, Henry Gray's imitations, Ruth Richards and Helen Dufty's black face "Strutters' Ball." The cowboy group around the campfire with their guitars and girl friends featuring the yodelling of Bill Woodward was also very popular. Those taking part, as well as Bill, were Jim Davis, Tom Moore, Ivan Challice, Margaret MacKay, Marlene Richards, Nancy Richards, Helen Dufty and Jean Kinsman.

Other colorful specialty numbers were: "Strolling Through the Park," "The Ball Game" and "Alice Blue Gown." Mrs. Woods sang the solo part in "Alice Blue Gown". The others taking part were: Jean Kinsman, Nancy Richards, Margaret MacKay, Arlynne MacPherson, Marlene Richards, Marion Kennedy, Ada Olan, and Dorothea Chapman.

The proceeds of the show go to the building fund of the new Legion hall which is nearing completion.

First Class Graduate at RMC

KINGSTON, April 26 (CP)—The first graduating class at the Royal Military College since it was reopened as a tri-service training centre in 1948 took place Friday in the closing exercises.

Prizes and awards were presented and Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the chiefs of staff, inspected the cadets.

The 72 cadets in the graduating class broke R.M.C. tradition by making a non-commissioned officer an hornary member of their class.

They selected Warrant Officer J. E. Coggins, 48, of Kingston, known as "The Dean of R.M.C." and now regimental sergeant major in charge of all cadet training. Friday's closing exercises were the 14th he has witnessed.

Cadet Squadron Leader H. C. Pitts, of Castlegar, B.C., was presented with the Vandersmissen-Ridout award and books as the best all-round cadet. The award takes into account moral, intellectual and physical attainments.

Fund Officials Being Censured

WINNIPEG, April 26—(CP)—Manitoba flood relief fund officials were censured Friday for giving Winnipeg a bad name by refusing to disperse the fund's $1,486,332 surplus to victims of other Canadian disasters.

The city finance committee criticized them for accepting the generosity of others but refusing to be generous themselves.

The committee referred specifically to the flood disasters in Calgary and Medicine Hat this year.

The fund's officials turned down a request for help from Calgary earlier this year.

The Manitoba flood fund received $9,169,492 in donations from Canada, Britain, the United States, and several other countries to aid the 1950 flood victims. It paid out $7,503 354. More than $200,000 was donated by Calgary citizens.

THOUSANDS OF PERSONS WATCHED this tense, two-hour drama from the street below a Miami, Fla., hotel rooftop recently as Rev. Daniel Cronin tried unsuccessfully to dissuade lovesick James Vickery from jumping to his death. The youth turned aside all efforts of the priest, a psychologist, a pretty woman and scores of police to entice him to safety. But one fireman spotted his chance and when the youth ducked his head, lunged over the rooftop and grabbed him. Four firemen hauled the pair to safety.

Fat and Fortyish Newsom Says He's Changed Man

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Fat and 43, fabulous Bobo Newsom is happy as a damp-eared rookie over his new chance in the Majors.

"You can tell the world this is a new Newsom," the portly right-hander said as he leaned against the Washington dugout at Yankee Stadium.

"No more popoffs. No more breaking training.

"Old Bobo is dead serious now. Proud to be up here again. There's only one place to play ball, that's the major leagues. Old Bo's going to make the most of it this time."

Bounced from club to club and league to league and finally shuffled to the Minors, Newsom's baseball days appeared numbered until he popped up again this spring as relief pitcher for the Senators. It's his fifth time with the Washington club.

"I'm grateful and I'm ready," he said. "Whatever Bucky (Bucky Harris, Washington manager) wants me to do, I'll do it. If he wants me to start, okay. If it's just to relieve, okay.

"I figure my old wing hasn't lost much. I figure I've lost only about 12 per cent of my speed and picked up about 50 per cent on brains and savvy. I'm probably as good a pitcher as I ever was."

Still Limber

Only one other pitcher active in baseball has won more major league games than Bobo. That is Cleveland's Bob Feller, who has won 231. Bobo's total is 205.

"I pitched more than 300 innings for Birmingham (in the Southern Association) last year," Newsom added. "I won 17 games and two in the playoff. That doesn't sound like old Bo is through, does it?

"I've picked up a knuckler which helps some but the main thing is I've held my control. I can throw any pitch I've got on a 3-2 count as well as on a 1-0 count.

"And I haven't gone stiff like a lot of the older fellows. Chuck Dressen(Brooklyn manager) was telling me the other night how loose and limber I was out there on the mound.

"The old hoss is not ready for pasture yet."

Newsom said he weighed 240 during the winter but got down to 215 through rigid training and golf at his winter home in Orlando, Fla.

"I'm going to keep in shape, too," he added. "Put that down in your book."

Year In Korea Drawing To Close For Van Doos' Second Battalion

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA (CP) — (By Mail)—The allotted 12 months in Korea is drawing to a close for the 2nd Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment Elements of the 1st Battalion have arrived to begin its replacement.

The new occupants of Quebec's storied citadel, commanded by Lt.-Col. Gaston Valle of Quebec, already have begun their Canadian take-over. An advance party commanded by Maj. Ben Lacasse of Montreal left Korea in March to prepare the way.

When Quebec's Van Doos finally muster in their new stamping grounds, Korea and all they have experienced here will be thousands of miles away. But their record in Korea is imperishable and they are famous here for their fabulour "never-give-way" stand of last November.

To the warriors of French Canada belongs the glory of fighting possibly the last major action of the Korean war. Their five-day stand, last Nov. 22-27, determined the cease-fire line in the western sector, especially the possession of Hill 210 and the control of Hill 227, a feature dominating vital roads.

Everything Else Easy

Compared to the Nov. 22-27 battle everything else the Van Doos met in Korea was so much cake.

After sorting themselves out in Pusan last May, they were committed later the same month to the United Nations' running chase to the 38th Parallel.

During late June and early July they patrolled north of Chorwon and after a period in reserve cooperated with the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in "Operation Claymore." This was a protracted patrol across the Imjim river which was complicated by torrential rains and a flood which washed out bridges.

In September and October they participated in "Operation Commando," which advanced the U.N. front 12,000 yards to roughly its present line, and then proceeded to establish defence positions.

Called In To Relieve

The Van Doos had just completed these when they were called at short notice to relieve the beleaguered Leicestershire Regiment.

Within 24 hours the Chinese launched the first of a series of attacks that was to extend through five days.

Then there was a hot clash in mid-December when a platoon position commanded by Lieut. J. Paradis of Quebec City was assailed by 140 Chinese.

Since then the Van Doos have maintained the initiative in sectors assigned to them. Their patrolling has been aggressive aimed at persuading the Chinese that wherever the Van Doos are they control no man's land.

Change of Commander

There was a change of commanding officers just before Christmas. Lt.-Col. Jacques A. (Jimmy) Dextraze of Montreal, who had raised, trained and fought the regiment up to then, was relieved by Lt.-Col. Gaston Valle of Montreal, one of his company commanders and an officer who had fought with the regiment in Sicily.

The thing about the Van Doos' fighting—as indeed with the whole of Canadian action in Korea—is that while it never involved a battle on a battalion scale it did reveal that the battalion was ready for it should it ever have happened.

Wherever the Chinese cared to strike, the men on the spot were trained and able to cope with them.

HOMOGENIZED

Manufactured in Canada's Newest, Most Modern Plant

FEATURES OF THE NEW WHITE ROSE MOTOR OIL

1. IT'S HOMOGENIZED—Now being used exclusively in Canada by Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, homogenization is the latest advancement in the processing of Motor Oil. This technique disperses all ingredients so thoroughly that they remain permanently in solution. Thus, they perform their various functions rapidly and efficiently.

2. LOWERS OIL CONSUMPTION—The lower oil consumption of the new White Rose Motor Oil is due to its high Viscosity Index and the heat resistant properties of the mineral oils it contains.

3. KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN—Detergent and dispersant additives hold dirt in suspension so that it drains away at regular oil change intervals.

4. PREVENTS ACID ACTION—The new White Rose Motor Oil neutralizes the harmful acids which form in every engine as by-products of combustion—one of the major causes of engine wear.

5. FIGHTS WEAR—Gruelling road-tests across Canada under the supervision of an independent testing laboratory (Donald Inspection Limited) proved that, with the use of the new White Rose Motor Oil, there was no appreciable wear on engine parts.

6. INCREASES GASOLINE MILEAGE — The cleansing action plus the high film strength of new White Rose Motor Oil enables piston rings to operate freely, thus sealing the combustion chamber. This assures more efficient use of fuel.

7. PREVENTS ENGINE RUST—New White Rose Motor Oil penetrates and clings to engine parts . . . counter-acting one of the greatest causes of engine deterioration.

8. FLOWS FREELY—Low cold-test properties enable the new White Rose Motor Oil to flow freely at low temperatures. This aids cold weather starting and gives instant protection to all vital parts.

9. RESISTS THINNING—Even under operating conditions of extreme heat, the new White Rose Motor Oil resists thinning, and keeps a protective film of oil between vital engine parts.

10. SUPPRESSES FOAM—The new White Rose Motor Oil provides a bubble-free oil film—offsets oxidation—reduces oil consumption—gives complete protection to all lubricated surfaces.

Labrador Eskimos Describe Joust With Death On Hunt

HOPEDALE, Labrador—(CP) — Eskimos of northern Labrador still wage a stiff battle for survival. They change from tent to igloo with the seasons and depend on seals and caribou for their slim existence, despite the benefits of bigger villages, hospitals, and even family allowances.

Early this year Jerry Sillit and two other Eskimos started out on what they expected to be a routine caribou hunt. But it turned out to be a grim battle against the elements.

Here is Sillit's story of the trip, translated by Game Warden Bill Anderson.

We left Nain on January 14 to go caribou hunting. On the journey into the hinterland we had good weather but very cold. Now we are in the country and the weather is bad and we are unable to go anywhere today. The next day it was not so bad and late in the evening we came upon old tracks. We were a long way from camp and thought we had better start back.

The next day was fine so we started out again and we travelled until it was time to boil (the kettle). I told Zach and George to boil and said I would go alone for a while. This I did, the night coming on and I was getting hungry.

I have a long way to go back now, but I stopped on a high hill and looked around but saw nothing. I walked on a while. What is this? Caribou looking right at me! I stopped and away they go, a long shot for my 30-30 Winchester but I started shooting anyway and shot four.

Baffled By Snow

So I started back to the camp and the others were very happy when I told them I got four caribou. It started to snow. In the morning, it was still snowing and the snow was deep, but not too bad as it was not blowing. We decided to go after our caribou with the dog team. We got there all right and started back, but it began to blow and drift.

We could not see anything, not even the dogs ahead of us. Indeed we could not see each other. I went out to the leader dog and led it by the harness. We cannot go far for there is too much drift. I stop and go back to see if George is all right. I go holding the lead dog's line to George. I ask him where Zach is and George says he is lost. We can't help it for we cannot get our team to go as they won't stand up against the wind.

We keep calling. Zach hears and stumbles toward us. We all start searching for shelter. It is getting worse and we are blown over the bank into an open place in a brook and we all get wet. Our clothes are frozen. We can't stay here. It is better to keep moving or we shall freeze. If we do not keep moving we have not a chance of getting home. We are getting weak from cold. Our cuffs (gloves) are frozen and we cannot get them off.

We are getting closer to our camp now. I wait for the man behind me to catch up with me. His face is all frozen. One of his eyes is shut and he cannot open it because he is so badly frozen. I try to help him, but I cannot get my cuff off. Where is Zach? We cannot wait any longer for him. So start on. I get to our camp and I start to make a fire, and I hear George shouting. I go out to look for him and see him staggering, so I go towards him to help him. I carry him into the camp and cut his outer clothes off for the night. His face and head and throat are frozen.

We cannot start for Nain as our dogs are somewhere out there and the snow is too deep and the weather bad. We must look for our dogs. Zach turned up and we got our dogs and left in bad weather for Nain, but not before another bad day and a night had passed.

This is not the first hard time we have had inland during the winter.

Young Montreal Actor Finds Stratford Exacting School

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STRATFORD - ON - AVON, England, April 26—(CP)—After nearly two season at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Montreal's Leo Ciceri is still just one of the crowd—but he's not complaining.

He reasons that the experience he gets, playing with some of the world's finest actors in some of the world's most famous plays, more than compensates for his comparative obscurity.

"It's a difficult and exacting school," said the slim, dark-haired Canadian, "but it's wonderful to work with the big names."

Ciceri, a 27-year-old bachelor who served with the R.C.A.F. during the war, came to Britain in September, 1948, to study at the Old Vic Theatre School. Then he drifted to Stratford-on-Avon, where his biggest part is the current role of Titus Lartius in "Coriolanus."

At Stratford he draws on an acquaintance with Shakespeare's plays acquired through three post-war years with the Montreal Shakespeare Society. His biggest part in Canada, however, was as lead dancer for a Montreal group which appeared in the first Canadian Dance Festival at Winnipeg.

Ciceri is at present rehearsing a small part in "MacBeth," directed by Shakespearian expert John Gielgud, who drives to and from Stratford by fast automobile for nightly appearances at London in "Much Ado About Nothing."

In Good Company

In the "MacBeth" Company at Stratford are such famous British stars as Sir Ralph Richardson and Margaret Leighton.

While content with his small part, Ciceri has high hopes that at any time he may be pitchforked into some more important role at short notice. Although he is not acting as understudy at the moment, it often happens that a member of the company is called on unexpectedly.

Last year Ciceri took over the role of Pistol in "Henry IV" and "Henry V", appearing 22 times. As Pistol the Montreal actor shared the stage with Michael Redgrave, the British actor whose performance in the film "The Browning Version" won critical acclaim.

Right now Ciceri has his fingers crossed. He hopes to be among the chosen few to go on a six-month tour of Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and the United States, starting next January.

This would bring him home sooner than otherwise possible. He'd be able to visit his folks at 377 Claremont Avenue) Westmount, Montreal, and his brothers and sisters in Toronto and Windsor, Ont.

ACTING IN LONDON — Leo Ciceri of Montreal may be just one of the crowd at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-On-Avon, but he's not complaining. It's an outstanding crowd. Ciceri, 27-year-old bachelor, has played with such stars as Sir Ralph Richardson, Margaret Leighton, John Gielgud and Michael Redgrave in Shakespeare plays. He hopes to be among the chosen few to go on a six-month tour of Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and the United States, starting next January.

P. M. McCarrell Honored On Retirement from Quaker

P. M. McCarrell, retiring vice-president in charge of manufacturing operations of the Quaker Oats Company, was honored at a dinner Wednesday evening in the Empress Hotel.

Two hundred of Mr. McCarrell's associates and friends of the Peterborough plant attended the banquet and presented him with a power saw and a car radio. Mrs. McCarrell was presented with a bouquet of roses. The company's Saskatoon plant, where Mr. McCarrell served for 15 years, presented him with a painting of the city.

James Wharry, vice-president in charge of sales and assistant manager of the Peterborough plant, was chairman for the evening, and Clark Thackery was the main speaker.

Joined In 1907

After joining the company here in 1907, Mr. McCarrell was appointed assistant superintendent of the company's operations in Sudbury where the Quaker Oats Co., located temporarily after the Peterborough plant was destroyed by fire in 1916.

In May, 1919, he was appointed assistant superintendent of the company's Battle Creek, Michigan, plant, and was promoted to superintendent of the Memphis, Tennessee, factory in January, 1920.

Returning to Canada in 1928, Mr. McCarrell was placed in charge of production of the Quaker mill at Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. In 1939, he was named manager for Western Canada and returned to Peterborough in January, 1943, in charge of the company's Canadian manufacturing operations.

When the company was reorganized in September, 1943, Mr. McCarrell was made vice-president and director of the Quaker Oats Company of Canada.

Will Be Consultant

Mr. McCarrell will remain on the board of directors and will be available to the company in a consulting capacity, although he is retiring from active duties with the company.

Peterborough is Mr. McCarrell's home town, and he will continue to share his time between his home here and his cottage on Lake Chemong.

During his 45 years with the company, he has introduced several valuable milling practices and has played a large part in developing the modern manufacturing methods used by the company today. He is known as an authority on the manufacturing of cereal products throughout the continent, and the present operations at Peterborough and Saskatoon are largely the result of his planning.

He has been active in Y.M.C.A. work for many years and is presently a director of the Peterborough "Y" and chairman of the boys' work committee.

Mr. MacCarrell is also a trustee of George St. United Church and a member of the Rotary Club of Peterborough.

$300 Per Annum Increase Recommended By Nurses

TORONTO, April 26 (CP). — The annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario yesterday recommended a general increase of $300 a year for salaried and private-duty nurses. The increase would bring the minimum salary to $2,460 a year.

Salary of a nurse who has special preparation or specialized experience which increases the value of her services should be at least $240 a year more than that of the nurse who has not, it was stipulated. A differential of $240 a year should also be granted to a nurse holding certificate or diploma for an advanced course in her specialty. A non-registered nurse (one not currently registered in Ontario) should receive a lesser salary than the registered nurse and "should not be placed in a position of responsibility involving direction of registered nurses."

Nurses on short term or relief employment up to a period of three months from an approved registry should be paid the prevailing private nursing fee, it was recommended. A part-time nurse, if appointed to the permanent staff, should be entitled to the same benefits on a proportionate basis as are granted to full time members.

Private duty nurses from approved professional registeries for short term or relief general staff nursing should be paid "the prevailing private nursing fee up to a period of three months."

Minimum fee for eight-hour private duty nursing should be $9, it was recommended. When a period of duty extends over eight hours the rate for additional hours should be $1.25 per hour, total not to exceed the fee for 12 hours in any one day. Fees for partial period of duty (understood not to be done on an hourly basis) should be, exceeding four hours but under eight, the daily fee; four hours or less, half the daily fee.

"It is the responsibility of the director of nursing of any hospital, large or small, to keep her board informed as to equitable salaries and other benefits she considers necessary for her staff," said President Gladys J. Sharpe, in the course of discussion which followed presentation of the report by Miss Sarah A. Wallace, which was almost unanimously adopted by the meeting.

Rifle Range H. & S. Holds Tea In St. Luke's Hall

Soft music and spring flowers made a perfect setting for the Rifle Range Home and School Association spring tea and bazaar, held in St. Luke's parish hall Wednesday afternoon. A gracefully arranged floral centrepiece of mauve iris and yellow daffodils set in maidenhair fern, and flanked by mauve and yellow tapers, drew many favourable comments.

Tea was served at ten small tables each holding a bud-bowl with daffodil and rose leaves. The spring colour scheme was carried out on the bazaar tables, making a pleasing over-all picture.

The bazaar table was in charge of Mrs. H. Hope and Mrs. K. Mann. The home-baking and candy table was sold by Mrs. L. Welch, Mrs. B. Rogers, Mrs. James, and Mrs. E. Huffman. Potted plants and patterns were in charge of Mrs. K. Pyche. In a tiny "post office", with Mrs. H. Pearson as postmistress, mysterious parcels were transferred from counter to customer for the small sum of a quarter. Knitted goods, novelties, and toys were sold by Mrs. L. Black and Mrs. R. Brenson.

Guests were received by Mrs. E. Davis, president and Mrs. P. Neely, bazaar convener, while Mrs. W. Muir took tickets. The music was supplied by Mrs. N. Andrew.

Tea convener, Mrs. J. Quinn, was assisted in the kitchen by Mrs. H. Quinn, Mrs. H. Winterbottm, Mrs. Gladwin, Mrs. L. Tyndall, Mrs. White, Mrs. S. Wood, and Mrs. M. Humphries.

Austrian Women Are Grateful For I.O.D.E. Gifts

TORONTO (CP). — The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire has received a letter of thanks from the administrator of the Save the Children Fund in Austria, for clothing sent overseas last year.

"Your recent consignments have arrived in time not only to help us to relieve the growing need in the two provinces of Carinthia and Styria but they also are enabling us to help many Italian flood-refugee children who had lost all their possessions in the recent catastrophe," said the administrator, Basil Gardner-McTaggart.

Mr. Gardner-McTaggart said diapers "are as valuable as gold" in the needy European countries. This is because "they are so expensive that no mothers in the country areas can afford them and therefore they are forced normally to wrap their babies in any old rags which they can find."

"The fact that the type of work which is being carried out with our help in this province is of real value has now been demonstrated by the figures which show that the province of Carinthia had in 1952 the lowest rate of infant mortality of all provinces in Austria," said the administrator.

He added that in the neighboring province of Styria the figure has not yet decreased. Because of lack of necessary supplies and funds it has not yet been possible to institute the same measures now being developed in Carinthia.

MISS JOAN WEBB, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Webb of Toronto, formerly of this city, who was married today to Dr. G. Keith Phillips, of Oakville, in Grace Church-on-the-hill, Forest Hill Village.

Joan Webb Wed Today Formerly Of Peterborough

Of considerable interest in Peterborough is the wedding in Toronto today of Miss Gertrude Joan Webb to Dr. Godfrey Keith Phillips. Miss Webb's parents Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hodgson Webb are former residents of Peterborough and her grandfather was a minister at Murray St. Baptist Church.

The ceremony is at Grace Church on-the-Hill at three o'clock this afternoon and the officiating minister is Canon Hasted Dowker with Dr. George T. Webb, great uncle of the bride, assisting.

Bridal attendants are her sister Miss Geralda Savage Webb, maid of honor, Mrs. Robert A. Fairhead, Toronto, matron of honor, Miss Mary Phillips, sister of the groom, Miss M. Jean Garbutt, Vancouver, bridesmaids, and Miss Gail O'Neill, Toronto flower girl.

Dr. Phillips is son of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. V. G. H. Phillips of Shelburne, Ontario. He is attended by his brother Mr. William L. Phillips.

The bride chose an original gown of feather white daisy lace and satin fashioned with a wide, portrait neckline edged with satin, to which the lace basque was appliqued. The long, fitted sleeves were offset by pointed satin cuffs and narrow satin cording belted the waistline. The skirt flared in soft folds to the deep border of satin, starting at the front hemline, and ending in a sweeping cathedral train. Her long veil of tulle illusion flowed from a lace bonnet brim and she carried a white prayer book with orchid and bouvardia.

Attendants' dresses were of bamboo rose taffeta featuring cutaway boleros buttoned to the taffeta bodices which extended to form a front panel on the gathered net skirts. They wore matching headdresses accented with sweetheart roses and carried roses in matching tones, blending carnation petals and tulle to match the dresses.

Mrs. Webb wore an ankle length dress of greenish gold taffeta with flowered hat of lilac buds in matching tones and a corsage of green orchids. The groom's mother was in navy crepe and taffeta with pink hat and pink rose corsage. Both received with the bridal party at Casa Loma.

On their wedding trip to South Carolina the bride will wear a navy suit with red and white hat, a white corsage and navy accessories.

Dr. and Mrs. Phillips will live in Oakville.

Speaker Urges Standardization Of Citizenship

HAMILTON, April 26 (CP). — Standardization of citizenship was urged as a great need in view of the many thousands of immigrants entering Canada, by Mrs. G. L. Hamilton of Windsor, during the conferences at the annual sessions of the Ontario Provincial Chapter, I.O.D.E.

She said that it should be made compulsory that every application for citizenship be accompanied by a language proficiency certificate. While many of these newcomers are attending English language classes, there are also many cases where the person being granted citizenship is unable to even repeat the oath of allegiance.

This was particularly glaring and tragic in the case of alien wives of Canadians who are granted Canadian citizenship after one year's residence in Canada, she said. "In many instances they are not qualified to become citizens of a democracy, and yet they are granted the full rights of citizens."

There were also cases pointed out in the discussion where newcomers were charged with infractions of the law, such as reckless or careless driving, and when they appeared the court discovered they are unable to read, and sometimes even speak, English.

To the question as to whether judges in naturalization courts should not examine and decide in each case as to whether an individual is fully prepared for citizenship, Mrs. Hamilton said the judges were unwilling to accept responsibility for this, because too much was involved to properly examine each application and they would not have time. They thought that it was a matter for which the educational authorities should be given responsibility, since they had the means of carrying it through. She said this was an understandable attitude on the part of the courts, because "think of what it will be five years from now when 100,000 people will be applying for citizenship in Ontario."

Rev. W. Tonge Is Speaker At Baby Band Mothers' Rally

A most challenging address was given by the Rev. Walter Tonge of Lakefield at the Baby Band Motehrs' Rally of Peterborough Presbyterial held in Mark St. United Church.

Mr. Tonge gave a vivid picture of China today gleaned from his study of the country and its history while there as a teacher and missionary of the United Church for three years.

"If we Christians had the enthusiasm, devotion and fervour for Christianity that the Communists have for Communism we would have nothing to fear.

"In China we have an ancient background of culture and religion, centuries old which is being destroyed by the Communists. Christianity too is suffering the same fate," declared Mr. Tonge.

All United Church missionaries are out of China today but they have left behind them a fine Christian fellowship, a strong and verile church, a church that is suffering in the persecution which is more comparable to the early church than anything we have known," he declared.

The Chinese wanted peace at any price, but what a price she is paying, said Mr. Tonge.

Seventy-five per cent of the doctors and teachers of China have been educated in mission universities and normal schools and these instruments of education have met with the full fury of the Communist hordes. Communism will have no opposition.

Hundreds are willing to die for their faith in China and are being called upon to do so but are we willing to live for ours? he asked. Mothers have a great responsibility, more than you dare imagine. Are you going to meet that responsibility? Challenge? We must wake up, declared Mr. Tonge, for we have the dynamite of faith to stem the flow of this evil power that has been created if we would only use it. Let us live dedicated and consecrated lives to give ourselves sacrificially to help others.

Peace can never come while half the world is starving while the other half have more than they can use.

The Christian church is the only hope of China and the only bulwark against the rising flood of Communism today.

Mr. Tonge was thanked most graciously for his inspiring address by Mrs. J. Wishart, president of Murray St. Baptist church and was introduced by Mrs. W. B. Gordon, president of Trinity Mothers.

Mrs. H. Guppy, president of Mark St., assisted Mrs. W. R. Philp to receive.

The impressive worship service which opened with quiet music played by Mrs. Ken Kidd had as its theme "Ye Are My Witnesses." Five of the seven presidents taking part in this service were Mrs. A. Gertley, Knox, Mrs. C. Jones, St. James, Mrs. Guppy, Mark St., Mrs. R. Parnell, George St., and Mrs. G. Savigny, Stewart Hall.

Annual reports were read by the past president of each group. Mrs. Philp in giving a resume of the year reported increases in both membership and givings. Forty-five layettes were sent to home mission fields, Korea, Red Cross and Children's Aid. Emphasis, she said, had been placed on children's work in hospitals, kindergartens and nursery schools. The Baby Band children of the United Church have raised $14,000 from their mite boxes.

A St. James' Baby Band member, five-year-old Marion Fife, was a special guest and won the hearts of all when she sang three numbers. She was accompanied by her father, Mr. Ashton Fife.

The tea table was laid with a lovely lace cloth, the centrepiece being a baby basket and baby shoes filled with pink, blue and white flowers flanked with pink and blue candles. Mrs. C. Alton, Mrs. S. Carver, honorary presidents, poured coffee.

DOROTHY DIX

Lazy Girl Can Conquer Her Inertia

DEAR MISS DIX: My one weakness is laziness. I am by no means a slovenly girl, but I am inclined to put off today what I can do tomrrow. I am being married in six months, and would like to know how I can cure myself of this terrible thing. I want to be a good wife but a lazy girl can't be both lazy and a good wife.

T. L.

ANSWER: Your position was summed up some time ago by the fiance of a young friend of mine. The girl was beset by exactly your woe—she admitted to laziness while wanting to be an efficent housewife. Said he fiance, "I don't know what you're going to do; you're too lazy to keep a clean house and too particular to live in a dirty one."

What happened? They married, and lived evermore in a sparkling, beautifully run home, entertaining well and completely happy. No, it was not achieved by a miracle. The girl knew what kind of home she wanted and determined to have it. It was no easy task for her; the fight against laziness goes on to this day, but indolence is a consistent loser.

May Be Physical Condition

There is a possibility that physical condition may be at the bottom of your difficulty. A thorough check-up, followed by faithful adherence to the doctor's orders, may effect a considerable increase in your ambition. Vitamin pills can work wonders — though not miracles.

When you have your own home, you must make up a set of rigid rules for its upkeep—and since you have a tendency to procrastination, these rules must be more strict for you than they would be for other homemakers. Never, never, for instance, leave dishes in the sink. Never leave a newspaper on the floor, or an ashtray filled, when you retire at night. Don't put off shopping until the staple shelf is empty. Acknowledge every note as soon as you read it. Prod yourself into punctuality. Such unceasing tactics have made models of promptness and dependability from some of the most indolent people I know.

Don't ever let your husband depart breakfastless in the morning while you loll in bed, and don't ever succumb to the temptation to go back to bed after he has left. Once the day begins, keep on your toes. Keep to your schedule and when, in the afternoon, you take time out for a well-earned rest, it will be with the very pleasant assurance that the house is shining, and an appetizing dinner is all ready except for last-minute touches. Isn't that a picture to strive for?

You know, some of the most efficient people are the laziest. In looking for shortcuts to speed their work, they devise many truly amazing time-savers. Apply your own initiative to individual problems. Start the fight now, never give up for a second, and good luck in a happy marriage.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been married three years; we are both 25. Soon after the wedding, his sister and brother moved in with us. She's 17 and he is 19. Even though she has quit school, she won't even try to get a job, nor will she help me around the house. The boy works but gives me nothing for room and board. My husband says we shouldn't expect anything from them.

B. T. A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband couldn't be more wrong! The worst injustice he can do his brother and sister is to permit them to grow up with no feeling of responsibility. Since you and your husband are acting in the capacity of parents to these young people, some discipline must be exercised over them. The situation as presently handled is unfair to you, your husband, and especially to the youngsters. The girl should be either in school or working; the boy definitely should be contributing something to your household. If he makes a small salary, the sum would be a small one, but at least it would establish him as a responsible person, not a parasite.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My young daughter, aged 14, loves dancing but doesn't know how to dance very well. I wonder if you could recommend a good dancing school for young folks that wouldn't be too expensive.

DOROTHY M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Most dancing schools are quite expensive, but I think you will find community houses in your neighborhood where lessons are given. Her teacher at school should be able to help you locate one. Such organizations as the Y.W.C.A., Y.W.H.A., neighborhood centres or local high schools generally hold classes for teensters.

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: Would it be possible to let me have some recipes for cookies suitable to pack and send overseas—not too hard to make please. Also some candy recipes. I clipped the ones for caramels from your column and am going to make some right away. I enjoy your page immensely . . I am going to send the candy and cookies to my son in Korea and a friend . . . that is why I am axious to have them as soon as I can. Mrs. Stanley R. F.

ANSWER: I am answering this letter ahead of many others which came before it but I am sure I will be excused, to facilitate this good deed.

Suggestions For Mailing Cookies

Select heavy box, lined with wax paper. Use plenty of filler such as tissue or crushed wrapping paper. Separately wrap each cookie in wax paper. Or, place cookies, back to back, and separately wrap each pair. Pad bottom and top and between layers. Wrap box tightly with heavy paper or cloth and cord and after addressing plainly cover address with Scotch tape. Mark box fragile.

Peanut Butter Cookies (excellent for mailing)

One cup margarine or other shortening, 1 cup each white and brown sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 eggs, 1 cup smooth peanut butter, 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Sift the sifted flour with the baking powder. Cream the butter well and cream into it gradually the vanilla, sugars, then eggs, then vanilla. When very creamy and light sift the sifted ingredients over and stir in well. If desired 1 cup chopped dates or peanuts or ½ cup each may be added. Roll into small balls and place on greased cookie sheet. Flatten with the floured tines of a fork. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 10 or 15 minutes.

Cocoanut Dream Bars

One-third cup shortening at room temperature, one-third cup icing sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 egg yolk, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ½ cup well-packed brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, ½ cup each corn syrup and shredded coccanut, 1 cup walnuts, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Cream together shortening and icing sugar until creamy, then add egg yolk and vanilla, beating well. Mix in the 1 cup flour. Spread this dough into a pan 9 x 9 x 2 inches. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Remove from over. Turn down heat to 350 deg. Fahr. Mix the brown sugar with the 1 tablespoon flour, baking powder and salt. Beat in the eggs, mix in remaining ingredients. Spread this over the baked crust. Bake about 20 minutes or until golden. Cool in pan then cut in squares

Best Fudge

In top of double boiler put 1 cup milk and 2 squares cooking chocolate. When chocolate is melted remove from double boiler and add 2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon corn syrup and one-sixteenth teaspoon salt. Place over direct heat and bring to 236 deg. Fahr. (soft ball stage), stirring up from the bottom occasionally. Remove from heat at once and add 2 table spoons butter. Cool without stirring until when you feel the outside of the pot with your palm temperature is the same. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat until thick and dull. One cup broken nuts is a good addition now. Spread in buttered pan and mark into squares or shape into a 12-inch roll on waxed paper, roll up to chill, then slice with very sharp knife. For mailing wrap each piece in a square of wax paper.

Model Airplanes

sider the rubber-powered planes a job for specialists. For experts can make a model plane stay up for a period from 10 to 20 minutes just by winding up a long elastic inside the model.

But the fun, and the expense, is in the small gas motor planes. Powered with the small engines which have a power ranging from .5 H.P. down to .1 H.P., the model planes often reach speeds as high as 70 and 75 miles an hour.

In the free flight models, their owners have no control of the plane while in flight. This is one of model plane building, the crafts usually ending a flight with a crackup.

Work Controls

The wire-controlled models, called U-control, provides the fun in flying, giving the builder a feeling that he practically is aloft in the cock pit. The wire controls the elevator flaps, enabling the plane to do its tricks.

By manipulating the wires the "pilot" can fly his plane inverted, perform inside or outside loops, vertical and horizontal figure eights, square loops and overhead eights.

The more-daring owners, those with a devil-may-care attitude, even try "combat flying". Six-foot streamers are added to two planes and the planes are manoeuvred to snip the streamers off short. This often ends in a disaster for one or both.

The club this season has two projects, a model plane flying contest and the building of a radio-controlled model.

The contest this summer will generally consist of precision flying (U-control planes doing stunts). Clubs from the district including Orillia, Barrie, Lakefield, Belleville, Oshawa and Toronto.

Costing about $100, the radio-controlled model is the latest in plane hobbies. It was new in the United States late last year and in some Canadian centres this year.

The model is similar to the free flight style in that it doesn't have wires from the control point to the plane. But it is controlled from the ground by the radio operator.

The radio-control model is above the average club member, both in building and expense. Most of them will be content to sit back and settle for a good U-control model.

By the way while on your walk to the park if you think you see a flying saucer, look again, likely it's a model plane escaping into the wild, blue yonder.

Romulo Honored

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP) — The Roman Catholic Institute of the press announced Friday it had selected General Carlos P. Romulo Philippine ambassador to the United States, to receive a special award for outstanding Catholic action. Selection of the Philippine statesman was based on his "continual fight in the United Nations for basic Christian principles."

Women Enter Congress

BUENOS AIRES, April 26. — (Reuters)—Women entered the Argentine congress for the first time Friday. Six women senators and 23 deputies took the oath at a preparatory session. They all are members of the Peronista party and were elected in November.

PUSSY WILLOWS—are a joy to find, but even they should be picked with care. | All Canada's lovely wild flowers need protection.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Guard Canada's Flowers Against The Ardent Picker

By NANCY CLEAVER

When the warm spring sunshine floods the world with golden splendour and the soft breezes blow and the birds are calling to each other from the trees, do you not long to walk in the woods to look for pussy willows and see if any wild flowers are out? There is no more satisfying family excursion or finer adventure for a parent and a child than hiking in the outdoors together.

We in Canada are rich in the wealth and variety of our wild flowers — round-leaved hepatica, white bunch berry, yellow spotted adder's-tongue or dog tooth violet, lacey Dutchman's breeches, yellow, white, mauve, blue and purple violets, fragile bloodroot, tiny pink twin flower and striped Spring Beauty—this is just a beginning of the list of wild flowers we can claim.

Unfortunately, because greedy, thoughtless fingers have picked some of our wild flowers and left none growing for seed, some of our lovely species are becoming rare. Indeed a few like the fragrant trailing arbutus and the exquisite pink and white showy Lady's slipper and its cousin the yellow moccasin flower are almost extinct in many areas.

The poet, Ethel Romig Fuller, wrote of the Great Creator's work in "Prodigality" in these lines:

"The Artificer wastes beauty so,
He is prodigal of snow,
He paint's a hill with violets
Which no one sees, and He forgets."

These are fine lines—but the catch is that although in Canada for centuries to come we will likely have snow in the winter, no matter how we use it, there is no doubt that we cannot count on having violets in the springtime, unless we can be content to admire them where they grow — and leave them without plucking them.

Root May Not Survive

There are some flowers which are particularly vulnerable to the attack of the ardent "picker." The trillium is one of these — because the leaf is plucked with the flower, leaving only a stump of a stem and the probability that the tiny root will not survive such treatment.

The late Andy Clarke, beloved for his "Neighborly News," once mentioned with appreciation the treatment of wild flowers on Mrs. D. A. Dunlap's farm supervised by Dr. Ralph Jenkins. He pointed out that a law was laid down by the owner of Donalda that no one should pluck or uproot a wild flower on the premises. The result was a glade where there was "the grandest showing of trilliums one could possibly imagine. It is a sight worth going miles to see. Other wild flowers following in profusion as the season advances."

Here is a good rule for any owner of a farm or woodland lot to make public and see that it is observed:

PLEASE NOTE
No Wild Flowers To Be Picked Here!

A postscript "Beware the Dog" might be added — but after all reasonable people should be willing to abide by reasonable suggestions — especially when they are visiting—and on a stranger's property too.

Job for Parents, Teachers

But the greatest protection of our wild flowers lies not in rules but in parents and teachers working together to educate our boys and girls in the conservation of all wild life and in the appreciation of beauty as it grows in its natural state.

"Do not destroy life—including plant life; unless it is harmful!" should be as well known to our children as their arithmetic tables. Wild flowers are a heritage of the past—we owe it to boys and girls of future generations to guard them from being wiped out.

There is no comparison between the bright yellow marsh marigolds growing beside a stream, and a half-wilted, crumpled bunch crammed into a vase in a house. Wild flowers should never be picked unless they are of a common variety and growing in great abundance. Even then they should be picked sparingly, and placed at once in water.

Occasionally a parent who is an ardent gardener has worked with a son or daughter to build up a wild flower corner in a shaded garden spot. The success of this venture depends on extreme care in transplanting, willingness to carry earth from the woods too, and sufficient shade and moisture for the plants. One specimen of each kind, or a small clump are sufficient for a garden of this sort. A good substitution for picking a bouquet of hepatica, if it is blooming profusely in your district is to take a low bowl and a trowel and cut out a clump, root and all. This makes a charming centrepiece for a table and when the petals have fallen the clump can then be transplanted outdoors.

In a materialistic and pagan world, the beauty of the out of doors speak to mankind of spiritual things and the hand of the Great Creator. Fortunate the child whose parents share with him their appreciation of wild flowers and all wild life. Fortunate the boy or girl who is encouraged to cultivate "the seeing eye." Elizabeth Barret Browning's lines are so true they are worth memorizing:

"Earth's crammed with Heaven,
And every common bush afire with God;
But only he who sees takes off his shoes—
The rest sit round it and pluck blackberries."

Milk Producers

plus in that basic industry.

"Only a few days ago," Mr. Milburn said, "I noticed on the front page of a Toronto newspaper a news story in which a prominent Ontario labor leader was contending that the Milk Control Act should be immediately scrapped, and the price of dairy products reduced.

"On that same page, there was another story to the effect that Toronto building trades were threatening to strike if they didn't get a wage increase of 30 cents an hour. In another column the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers wanted an increase of 35c an hour. I read that day in a little paper, published by the packinghouse workers, charts showing the percentage of unemployment of labor which is a form of surplus. But, they wanted 30c an hour more, and to agriculture labor says 'you have a surplus and you should take less money than you have been getting'."

The meeting authorized the signing of an agreement with Peterborough milk distributors for a temporary arrangement of disposing of surplus milk as sweet cream.

Ship Breaks In Two

TOKYO, April 26—(AP)—The navy said today the merchant ship S.S. William Eaton which ran aground 60 miles south of Tokyo April 14 "has broken in two and is a complete loss." The navy announcement said the captain and the chief engineer, only two aboard, "are both safe (in) the stern section." They will be removed "when sea conditions permit."

No Communications

SALT LAKE CITY, April 26—(AP)—Practically all telephone and news wire communications with major cities east of Salt Lake City were wiped out for nearly an hour-and-a-half Friday night. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company office here reported the trouble was presumed to have been a landslide.

Indian Lad, 11, Is Mathematical Genius

NEWCASTLE, England—(CP)—Krishan Kumar, 11, an Indian boy who came to Britain six months ago, invariably has a 100-per-cent mark in mathematics.

Yet Krishan never works out a problem—he merely puts down the answer. The most complicated sums and algebraic problems are just mental exercise.

"Even for an English boy speaking his own language, tackling compound interest, fractions, percentages and algebra in this way would be extraordinary," said Headmaster G. D. Pearson.

So far, Krishan does'nt know enough English to allow research into his capabilities. But, as long as he understands the problem, Krishan can easily divide 2341.72 by 1079.1 as other 11-year-olds do simple addition and substraction.

Truck Mired In Road

CAMPBELLFORD, April 26 — (ENS)—The Campbellford-Hastings road, which is often in poor condition at any time of the year, and is bad during the spring season, was the Waterloo of a large combination mechanical shovel and grader owned by the McFarland Construction Company on Thursday afternoon. The large truck, weighing many tons, became mired. The truck slid into the ditch and had to stay there until a heavy truck with a winch could be brought in to haul it out.

Flood Threatens New Section

CLINTON, Ia., April 26 (AP)—A record Mississippi River flood crest was bearing down on this industrial city of 50,000 persons today after leaving upstream Dubuque where a slight recession now has begun.

All along Iowa's eastern border, however, today's reports were optimistic and no overnight levee breaks were reported.

On the Illinois side, where flatlands near Fulton were inundated by a dike break Friday, no new overnight troubles occurred. Dike work continued downstream near Quincy where levees hold the angry stream away from 197,000 acres of Ilinois and Missouri farmland.

Clinton's river stage this morning was 20.8 feet—a tenth of a foot above last year's all time high—but the only major result of the rise from Friday's readings was to close the Lyons-Fulton bridge to truck traffic.

Wife Of Mad Killer Seeks To Free Him

VANCOUVER, April 26 (CP)—Shirley McBeth, 20-year-old common-law wife of mad killer Melville Wilkie, will seek to have him freed from an Ontario hospital for the criminally insane.

She has opened her home here as headquarters for signing of a petition, sponsored by a group called the "Friends of Melville Wilkie."

The petition asks that the case be reopened and that Wilkie be given a sanity test.

He was recaptured March 28 and returned to the hospital at Penetanguishene, from where he escaped July 19, 1950.

Wilkie, 42, was committed to the mental hospital after the arson murder of his wife and child at Owen Sound in 1933.

Accuse Red China Of Drug Warfare

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 26. (AP)—The United States accused Red China today of drug warfare against the U.N. in the Far East.

Harry J. Anslinger, U.S. narcotics commissioner, said he will present fully-documented cases to prove his charge to the U.N. commission on narcotic drugs next week. Anslinger is the U.S. delegate to the commission.

He told a reporter the Oriental Communists had a two-fold purpose: selling habit-forming drugs to finance party activities and buy war materials, and spreading drug addiction to undermine the morale of U.S. and other troops in the Far East.

North Korean as well as Chinese Communists are involved in growing, smuggling and selling the drugs, chifely heroin, Anslinger said. Japan is the principal target. Japanese Communists were enlisted in the ring.

Anslinger said U.S. business men also were approached by the Chinese Communists with an offer to exchange opium for cotton. They notified the government and did not trade.

P.C.V.S. Band, Choral Club Present Annual Concert

A capacity audience attended the fifth annual concert presented by the P.C.V.S. Choral Club and Concert Band in the Collegiate auditorium Friday night.

From beginning to end the evening's performance was characterized by a high degree of musicianship that was amazing considring the youth of the performers and the limited amount of time allowed to music study in a busy school curriculum.

Peterborough may well be proud of its young msuicians. The members of the P.C.V.S. Choral Club, consisting of about 80 girls, have already brought fame to themselves, their director, Melvin J. Curtis, and the city by winning top honors in the Toronto Kiwanis Music Festival this spring.

Friday nilght they sang with a charming naturalness and beauty that was a joy to hear. They are an extremely well - balanced group and their combination of rich blending tone, smooth phrasing and splendid diction made their singing sound more professional than amateur.

In each of the selections they caught the spirit whether it was rollicking rythm, vitality or power that was called for or expressive sweetness.

The selections sung by this group included: A Winter Frolic, by Waldteufel; As Torrent In Summer, by Sir Edward Elgar; The Floral Dance (old Cornish air), by Moss; One Day When We Were Young, by Strauss; Dance To Your Daddy (old Scottish tune), arranged by Robertson; Orpheus With His Lute, by Gerhan; Fantasy On Nursery Rhymes, Bell and Slumber Song, by Challinor.

Equally to be congratulated is the P.C.V.S. Concert Band and its director, Albert Croasdale, for their performance Friday night.

It takes longer for an instrumental group to reach a high standard of performance than a choral group, with each member having to master his instrument before that group can excel. But this band is well on its way to rating favorably with other bands of the past few years.

The brass section is already remarkable for its ability to present a polished performance. The instruments were always under control and there were none of those blaring effects which too often spoil what otherwise might have been a well-balanced and enjoyable playing.

If any criticism is to be offered, it is that the woodwind section at times failed to meet their notes head-on, giving an over-all effect of scooping. But this will be overcome with a little more practice and confidence.

Especially enjoyable was the band's playing of two selections from The London Suite, by Eric Coates, Westminster and in Town Tonight (Knightsbridge March). Both selections were polished and it was in the former that there was a splendid control in the delicate pianissimo playing that is so difficult to achieve.

Murray Mander, accompanied by the band, played a very commendable xylophone solo, The Butterfly, by Bendix.

The other selections played by the band were: Bless This House by Brane; The Thunderer (March) by Sousa; Selection, Chu Chin Chow, by Norton; Overture, The Lonely Mill, Lancaster; A Hunting Scene, by Bucalossi; Abide With Me, by Monk.

The P.C.V.S. Mixed Choir made its first public appearance Friday evening. And this group too, under the direction of Mr. Curtis, acelaimed itself. The selections were: Surwood Mountain (American Mountain tune), Early One Morning (English folk-song), arranged by Dunhill and Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee, by Bach.

Three smaller choral groups, the Triple Trio, the Double Trio and the P.C.V.S. Barber Shop Boys, also delighted the audience. The first group sang Oklahoma, from the Broadway musical of the same name by Rodgers and Hammerstein; the second, The Owl and the Pussy Cat, by De Koven, and the third a group of four numbers, The Old Songs (theme song of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A.); Daisy, by Dacre; Little Annie Rooney, by Nolan; and You Tell Me Your Dream, by Daniels.

Italian Street Song, by Victor Herbert, was sung delightfully as a duet by Miss Phyllis Hart and Miss Ruth Grandy.

The Choral Club accompanists were Miss Mary McBride and Miss Betty Lapp. Miss Barbara Eprgrave was the accompanist for the Mixed Choir.

W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Board of Education, opened the program with words of welcome to the audience.—C. F.

"I'D RATHER CATCH A MUSKIE".—Harry Yudin, 614 Gilmour St., landed this pair of sailfish off Acapulco, Mexico, on April 15, but he says there are more thrills in catching a Kawartha muskie. "It's too bad I didn't enter the big one (right, 10 feet 10 inches, 125 pounds) in the four day regatta," commented Mr. Yudin. "I'd have been second; the biggest one weighed 165 pounds. During their recent vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Yudin spent two weeks in Acapulco. Mr. Yudin is seen at the left in the the above photo with Captain Rodriguez, centre, captain of the launch Galan from where Mr. Yudin did his fishing, and Sid Cohn, right, of Chicago, who took time out from his honeymoon to accompany Mr. Yudin on his successful fishing trip.

School Boards Seeking New Teachers

Both the Board of Education and the Separate School Board are already on the lookout for qualified teachers to begin the fall term.

About 13 vacancies still exist: seven of them in the public schools and the others in the separate schools. A survey at this time, however, is still inexact because teachers employed by both boards have till May 31 to give their notices to quit.

The Board of Education have already hired six new teachers. Four of them, all students from the Normal School, are Misses Lorraine Barker, Betty Merrett, Edith Bronson and Gwen Wartman. Miss June Galway, at present on the Lakefield public school staff, is the fifth appointee.

Shop Director

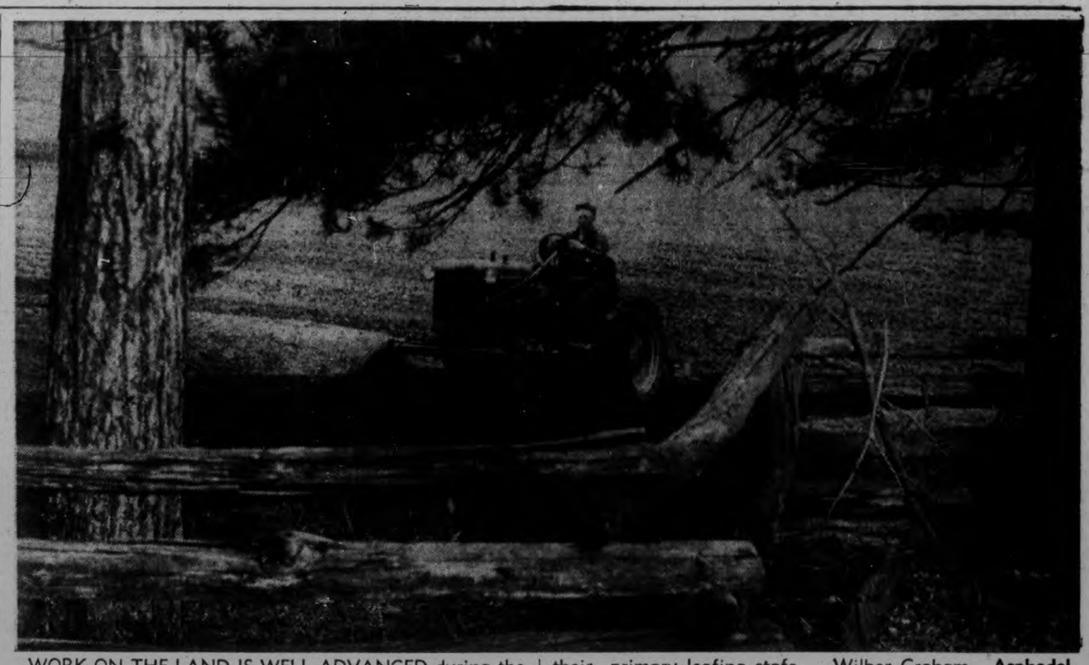
J. L. McColl, industrial arts tacher in Peterborough county, will be the shop director at Kenner Collegiate.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said there will probably be four other male appointments to the elementary school staff, probably two or three more teachers needed for the secondary schools.

Mr. Wightman said the extra demand for teachers—principally caused by increased pupil attendance in rural districts of Ontario—is making it unusually difficult to get qualified teachers.

John G. McCarney, chairman of the Separate School Board, gave the tentative estimate of the number of teachers required for next fall: four for the elementary schools and one or two for the secondary schools.

"We're not anticipating any trouble in obtainnig teachers," said Mr. McCarney, "but we're not sure."



WORK ON THE LAND IS WELL ADVANCED during the past week regardless of the heavy rain on Tuesday evening. Much of the seeding is completed in high southern townships, pasture cover is showing green and trees are in their primary leafing stafe. Wilber Graham, Asphodel township, above, cultivates a light loamy field preparatory to sowing it with oats. Most field work, farmers say, is taking place on normal schedule this spring.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Three Dead After Dispute Between Yukon Trappers

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 26. (AP)—Three men are dead as a result of a dispute between two trappers in the tiny Yukon village of Kokrines, 200 miles west of here, U.S. Marshal Frank Chapados reported Friday.

Chapados said investigation disclosed that one man was accidentally shot and killed and the other two men took their own lives after his death.

The trouble started with a fist fight between two trappers mushing a dog team on the trail between Ruby and Kokrines.

Native Trapper Robert Bob received a bad beating at the hands of Trapper Nelson McQueston, the marshal said.

The next day, he added, Bob took a rifle and started a search for McQueston to "get even with him."

Just as Bob and McQueston were about to clash, a bystander stepped between them and attempted to break up the argument. The bystander, identified as Fred Olin, was accidentally killed by a bullet from Bob's rifle.

Bob, apparently in remorse, killed himself a short time later by slashing his throat.

When word of the two deaths reached Tanana, a few miles away, police set out for Kokrines to investigate. When McQueston heard of the officers' arrival he shot himself in the lung with a rifle.

Chapados said the nature of the original quarrel has not been determined.

Summer Theatre Opens In June

Peterborough Summer Theatre will open its fourth season on Monday, June 23rd, managing director Michael Sadlier announces. It will be a ten-week season, with the first play at the Collegiate as last y because the elementary school term will not have ended, and the remaining plays at the Queen Mary auditorium.

Mr. Sadlier is gratified that complete and cordial arrangements have been made with the Board of Education, the rental authorities, on virtually the same terms and conditions as last year. The rental of the Queen Mary auditorium has been increased slightly, by ten dollars a week. The rental contract has been agreed upon and will shortly be signed.

The company to take the boards on June 23rd and throughout the summer is one of the strongest the Summer Theatre has had. Bill Needles will be back in a senior acting-directing capacity. Other favourites returning are Betty Leighton, Peter Mews, Jerry Saracini, Kate Reid, Frank Perry and Ron Bailey. Among the newcomers will be Barbara Hamilton, a New York Canadian who has been playing leading roles with the company in Bermuda, and Chris Plummery.

Two W.I.'s Make Visit To Bethesda South

COLDSPRINGS, April 26. — (ENS)—The Bethesda South Women's Missionary Society held their Easter Thankoffering meeting in Bethesda South Church on Thursday. They were hostesses to Coldsprings and Camborne Societies.

Welcome was extended to the guests by Bethesda president, Mrs. H. Bickle. The worship service was conducted by Coldsprings W.M.S.

The theme was "God's Garden." Readings and prayers were given by Mesdames A. Jamieson, H. McKinley, L. McIntosh, F. Shier, C. Brooks, W. McMann and N. McIntosh, on flowers, fruit, the vine, faith, growth and character.

Mrs. C. Timlin sang a solo, "The Beautiful Garden of God," with accompaniment by Miss E. Hoskin.

Highlight of the meeting was an address given by Miss Hinman, a returned missionary from India. In part she said, there is no sanitation whatsoever in India. Girls are unwanted, and are married at fourteen. The women of India do all the work, carrying bundles and parcels, while the men, always walk ahead of the women on the street, or at church. Miss Hinman displayed idols, rupees, little lamps and sarongs the women wear.

Mrs. A. Bowman and Mrs. W. Jibb, Camborne, sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. E. Philp.

Mrs. Luffman moved a vote of thanks to Miss Hinman, and visiting societies took part.

Refreshments were served by Bethesda members. Mrs. P. Brown moved a vote of thanks to Bethesda on behalf of Camborne and Coldsprings for the delightful afternoon.

Included among those attending were: Mesdames J. Rosevear, J. Ritchie, W. Teney, J. McBride, N. Lang, and A. McKinley.

Boys Operating Klan Crime Club In Orillia Area

ORILLIA, Ont., April 28. (CP)—A secret society of boys operated as a "Ku Klux Klan of Crime" has been uncovered by police investigating a wave of juvenile crime in this area. Police Chief Stanley James said 14 youngsters have been arrested. He expects to round up at least 20 more on charges ranging from housebreaking and car theft to gasoline syphoning and molesting. One boy, named by most of the others as the leader of the gang, now is serving a Bowmanville Correction School term for theft.

He and another boy, known as "Big Charley," were said to have gathered information on ganizing the clan by corresponding with regular Ku Klux Klan members in St. Louis, Mo. Those who joined had to make a black cloth hood with a red cross to wear at meetings or when committing a crime.

Police were told pledging recruits to the organization began a month ago.

Started As Joke

"We just started the thing as a joke," said one youth. "And then when all the boys got together we had to do something to keep 'em busy—that's when we started to pull jobs."

Members signed a pledge card and were warned that if they ever quit the organization they would be "tarred and feathered".

Drunken parties after they had "pulled a job" were one of the club's activities.

Asked how they obtained liquor, a 12-year-old replied: "Oh, there are plenty of drunks waiting to be rolled—they have all got a bottle or two."

Police said that 80 per cent of the gang members rounded up so far have come from broken or poorly run homes.

Early Member

One of the first members of the gang was a youth of 15 whose parents took him from school to help support the family. He said he joined and later tried to resign.

"They kept phoning me and telling me to come back or else," he said. "I was scared . . . but I didn't go back. I want to be a welder, not a crook.

He said later: "Other kids who can still go to school have so much fun guys like us miss—heck, when you have to work, you don't go to school parties . . . and all the regular kids figure you are just a goon."

Included in the list of crimes charged against the gang is a break-in at a beverage factory. The boys are accused of smashing their way in late at night and sat drinking cases of pop stored for shipping.

176 Missing After Collision Of 2 Warships

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The destroyer-minesweeper Hobson crashed into the aircraft carrier Wasp Saturday night and sank in the middle of the Atlantic. The U.S. navy said today it has called off the search for 176 seamen listed as missing.

It was one of the worst naval disasters in U.S. History.

The navy department said the air-and-sea search for survivors was called off at sundown Sunday.

There were no casualties reported on the Wasp. Sixty-one seamen on the 1,600-ton Hobson were rescued.

Both the Wasp and the Hobson had distinguished records in the Second World War. They were en route to the Mediterranean as part of a U.S. task force.

The collision took place 1,200 miles due east of Boston and 700 miles west of the Azores. The navy said the seas were choppy and the weather murky.

Night Manoeuvres

The ships were taking part in night manoeuvres, a normal routine. The collision took place shortly before midnight Saturday, around 9:25 p.m. E.D.T. The first official word of the crash came shortly before 1 p.m. E.D.T. Sunday.

A navy department spokesman said the search was called off because planes and ships n the area of the sinking had "ample time to search the waters."

But the department declined to list the victims as "presumed dead"—only as "tentatively missing."

Seaman Robert Otto Eisenach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bart Eisenach of (P.O. Box 33) Kenora, Ont., was among those listed as "tentatively missing".

The Hobson's records went down with the ship and there was no accurate way of knowing the exact complement. The department said it believed there were 14 officers as 223 men aboard.

Hole In Wasp

The crash ripped a 75-foot hole in the starboard side of the Wasp. The gash was just above the waterline near the bow. The Wasp was making its way to New York for

1,000 Isolated Near Moosonee

MOOSONEE, April 28—(CP)—Tons of ice-cakes today jammed the mouth of the Moose river which for eight miles up stream was a scene of towering ice shoals, 50 feet high. Observers said a break somewhere in the blockage allowed water which had backed up more than 20 feet above normal to drop six feet.

Moose Factory, on an island three miles north, remained out of touch with the mainland. Telephone connections with Moosonee still are down and a Hudson Bay Company radio set on the island has not been put in working order.

On the island is an Indian hospital with 275 patients. Also on the island are 700 Indians and 60 whites. It is believed the hospital has large stocks of food as has the Hudson's Bay Company store.

Some persons fear that ice will continue to pile up on the many islands at the river's mouth and this,together with rains of the last weekend, will raise the water level even higher than the peak Saturday of 20 feet above normal.

Defence Workers To Be Screened Later

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP) — A defence production official said today that workers on a highly-secret defence project in northern Ontario have not been screened for security because the project is still in the construction stage and holds no classified or secret materials.

He was commenting on a Timmins, report Sunday night quoting a senior official of the United Steelworkers Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) as saying Communists have been employed on the project located somewhere in that area.

"It's our belief the Reds know every stick and stone of property and every room and corridor in every building," the official said.

Commenting, the defence production officers said that once classified material is installed at the project, no worker will be allowed near it without undergoing thorough R.C.M.P. screening.

Ask Ottawa Define Civil Defence Costs

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP) — Provincial authorities called on the Federal government today to lay down a clear-cut definition of the financial responsibilities for civil defence.

With Quebec leading off, seven of them expressed varying degrees of dissatisfaction wih the existing financial arrangements between themselves and Ottawa as a new Federal-Provincial C.D. conference opened here.

Health Minister Martin told the opening session that he hopes the financial problem will be licked by the time the conference is over.

He said the Federal government has asked parliament for $7,000,000 for civil defence spending this fiscal year and said "the most important addition for civil defence is $1,400,000 for grants to the provinces for general civil defence purposes."

Need Strong Air Force

LONDON, April 28—(Reuters)—A strong air force is one of the most valuable contributions that Britain can make to the defence of the west, Defence Minister Earl Alexander said tonight in a radio talk to Europe.

Coronation To Be Held June 2, 1953

Crowning Will Fall In Britain's Greatest Social Week of Year

LONDON, April 28. (CP)—The Queen announced tonight she will be crowned June 2, 1953. A brief announcement from Buckingham Palace said:

"The Queen has been pleased to appoint Tuesday 2nd June, 1953, to be the day of Her Majesty's coronation."

Coronation day thus will fall in Britain's greatest social week of 1953. The following Friday, June 5, the Queen's official birthday will be celebrated.

Elizabeth II became Queen Feb. 6, on the death of her father, King George VI.

She already has taken part in one coronation in Westminster Abbey. Her father, who became King Dec. 11, 1936 after the abdication of Edward VIII, was crowned there May 12, 1937.

Change In Dates

The Queen's real birthday is April 21. She will be 27 on her next birthday, just a little more than a month before her Coronation. She has set June 5 for the official celebration of her birthday, following a custom set by her father.

Canada will celebrate the Queen's birthday June 9 under a custom whereby the birthday of a Sovereign is clebrated on a Monday in June.

Other social events usually held in the first week of June include the famed Derby, the trooping of the color and the military pageant known as the Royal tournament. These may be postponed.

The Coronation will come soon after the beginning of Britain's tourist season when the city normally is packed with visitors.

Queen Juliana Returns Home

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands and Prince Bernhard, her husband, wound up their four-week North American visit Sunday night. They left by plane from nearby Uplands airport.

For the Prince, the two hours at the airport was a reunion as well as a farewell. He flew here Sunday night from New York where he stayed while Queen Juliana paid a week's visit to wartime friends and Dutch settlers in Ontario.

The Governor General, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, and two of Canada's top soldiers, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar and Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the joint Chiefs of Staff, welcomed the Prince with Queen Juliana. Later they said goodbye with External Affairs Minister Pearson who almost missed the ceremony.

Sorry To Leave

"I am very sorry to leave Canadian soil," Queen Juliana said before boarding the four-engined plane which took the Royal party to Amsterdam.

"I had wonderful days here, full of real Canadian hospitality."

After semi-official functions earlier in the week, the Queen visited Dutch immigrants near Hamilton, and Brockville. She said she hoped immigration to Canada from Holland would continue.

Canada Expects Japan Be Strong Bastion Of Peace

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent said today Canada looks to Japan "to be an effective bastion of peace and freedom in an area afflicted by Communist aggression and oppression."

He sent a message to Prime Minister Yoshida of Japan, expressing Canada's good wishes on the coming into force of the Japanse Peace Treaty.

The External Affairs Department, releasing the text of Mr. St. Laurent's message, also announced that full diplomatic relations are being resumed between Canada and Japan.

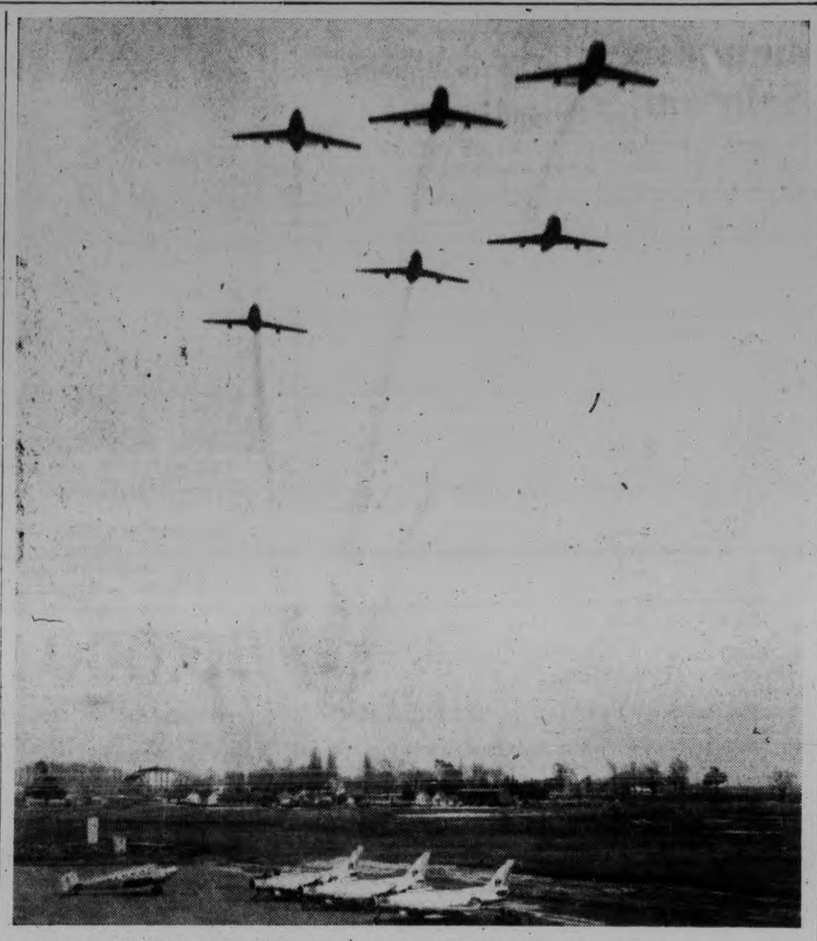
The Canadian Liaison Mission, established in Tokyo in 1948, now will have the status of an embassy. A. R. Menzies, 35, will be charge d'affaires until an ambassador is appointed.

Mr. St. Laurent said that with the coming into force of the peace treaty, Canadians are "putting behind us all thoughts of rancour which the tragic war may have engendered."

He added:

"It is the deeply felt hope of the Canadian people that Japan will play an honorable and constructive part in helping to re-establish peace, security and friendly relations among the peoples of East Asia.

"As a prosperous and peaceful Far East is in the best interests of Canada, we expect to find ourselves co-operating with Japan in meeting a great number of common problems in the Pacific area."



THE SABRES ARE COMING—A squadron of 12 R.C.A.F. F-86 Sabret jets, Canad's first-line day fighters, will fly over Peterborough May 13 at 1.10 p.m. if the weather permits, as part of a four-week tour of Eastern Canada. The tour will give many Canadians a chance to see these 600-mile-an-hour aircraft for first time. These are the same type of aircraft being used in Korea and the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 fighter wing in England.—(National Defence Photo).

Most Of Destroyer's Crew Said Trapped Below Decks

By LAWRENCE E. DAME, Boston Herald Reporter.
(Copyright 1952 by Boston Herald)

ABOARD U.S.S. O'HARE IN MID-ATLANTIC, April 27.—(Delayed)—(AP)—A tempestuous sea strewn with wreckage. Empty life-jackets rolling in an oil slick. The body of a chief petty officer tossing in the raging waters. This was the scene minutes after the aircraft carrier Wasp was in collision with the destroyer Hobson, sending the comparatively lightweight, converted minesweeper to the bottom. The tragedy struck without warning on a rolling sea under faint stars and a black sky.

Most of the Hobson's men were trapped below decks. Many had never been at sea before. A watch of about seven men and possibly as many officers out of the 15 aboard had a chance to escape. There appeared to have been no chance for frantic rushes up the steel ladders from the ship's bowels.

Several of the survivors were injured, a few critically. They are resting in the wallowing Wasp's sick bay and on the destroyed Rodman, not to be reached from my destroyer because of heavy seas.

50 Miles Away

We received the alarm aboard the O'Hare while 50 miles from the death scene after night plane manoeuvres had barely reached an end.

The planes that located us in the darkness came from the recently - recommissioned Wasp, dropped flares and headed back for their ship's haven.

Several had not succeeded in making the flight deck before the crash occurred.

Flag Express To Save Tea

LONDON, April 28—(AP)—The crack London-to-Scotland Express, the Aberdonian, was brought to an emergency stop Sunday night outside York so a Scotsman, John Lowden, could save his three-penny cup of tea.

Lowden had dashed into the station restaurant at York when the train made its regular stop there. He rushed out with his cup of tea just as the Aberdonian began pulling out. He jumped on to a thin wooden railing on one of the coaches and held fast.

Signalmen flagged down the Express 1¼ miles away. Lowden, clinging precariously to the side of the train, was unperturbed—his cup of tea still was in his hand.

Fight To End Against Malan

CAPETOWN, April 28 (AP) — Winding up a two-day council, leaders of the torch commando said Sunday night they have mobilized their 175,000 members for a "fight to the end" against government attempts to tamper with South Africa's constitution.

Delegates from the Union's four provinces bluntly warned Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan they will meet "action with action" if he pushes through a bill to strip the appeals (supreme) court of its power to pass judgment on parliamentary acts.

The bill, which passed its first reading last Wednesday, was Malan's answer to a court decision which threw out his law restricting voting rights of persons of mixed blood in the Cape province. Full debate on the bill begins in parliament Wednesday.

The torch commando, organized by war veterans who opposed the Nationalist government's drastic measures for enforcing white supremacy, laid down a three-point program to resist the Malan regime, informants said.

Transfer Psychologist From Jackson Prison

JACKSON, Mich., April 28 (AP)—The young psychologist who negotiated the agreement that ended a bloody five-day mutiny at Southern Michigan prison here no longer is assistant deputy warden.

Dr. Vernon Fox, 36, has been transferred "for the present" to "other duties outside the prison," said state corrections commissioner Earnest C. Brooks.

Brooks announced the action Saturday night a few hours after prison guards demanded Fox's firing, plus "adequate protection" from armed state troopers inside the prison.

Fox, broadcasting over the prison's loudspeaker system, had congratulated the mutineers who won 11 concessions for reforms from the state before they surrendered and freed eight guards held as hostages.

Army Brings Charges Against General

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—The army today brought court-martial charges against Maj.-Gen. Robert W. Grow, former United States military attache in Moscow whose diary was copied by Communist agents in Germany last year.

The army anouncement by secretary Frank Pace said Grow has been charged with "improperly recording classified military information in private records and failing properly to safeguard classified military information."

Grow had written in the diary that he thought war with Russia was imminent.

Printed In Book

Grow has been assigned to the headquarters of the Second Army at Fort Meade, Md., since his return from Europe.

Army officials said in March that someone believed to be a Soviet agent slipped into Grow's room in Frankfurt, Germany, and photographed portions of the diary.

Excerpts were printed in a book, published in East Berlin, which the army said tried "to 'prove' Gen. Grow and the U.S. were 'tools of Wall Street' and 'warmongers,' and that Gen. Grow was a spy."

A Quick Visit

MONTREAL, April 28 (CP)—The Duke of Windsor arrived here today from New York by train but declined to be interviewed. The Duke's secretary said he is here on business and will return to New York Tuesday.

Clark Commander In Korea Of Eastern Forces

WASHINGTON, April 28. (AP)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway was appointed today to succeed General Eisenhower as supreme Allied commander in Europe. President Truman announced at the same time the appointment of Gen. Mark Clark to succeed Ridgway as the United Nations commander in Korea and commander-in-chief of the United States armed forces in the Far East. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther will continue as chief of staff to the supreme Allied commander in Europe. This is the post he has held under Eisenhower.

Truman said in a statement:

"I have every confidence that Generals Ridgway and Gruenther will make an outstanding team for our common defence effort."

Ridgway's appointment and Eisenhower's release as supreme allied commander will become effective approximately June 1.

Truman said he is continuing Gruenther as chief of staff "in accordance with Gen. Ridgway's desires."

Clark now is commander of army field forces at Fort Monroe, Va.

Truman said Clark will continue in the Far East "the policies which have been so ably carried out by Gen. Ridgway with regard to the United Nations action in Korea, including, if possible, the achievement of an honorable armistice."

Truman's nomination was sent to the 14-country North Atlantic Treaty Organization council immediately after the council had asked him to name Eisenhower's successor.

Immediately after the reply had reached the council in session in Paris, the delegations adjourned to contact their capitals for a poll on the name.

The delegates of the N.A.T.O. council met again at 5 p.m. (noon EDT) to approve formally the appointment of Ridgway as new supreme allied commander in Europe.

The request of the council for an American nominee was sent to the White House by Ambassador William H. Draper, permanent U.S. representative on the council.

Egg Marketing Scheme Not Approved

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP).—A proposed egg and poultry marketing scheme for Ontario producers has not been approved.

Commercial egg producers voted on the proposal during the three days ending April 19.

The Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board said in an announcement today that an insufficient number voted on the plan to permit its approval.

The plan would have called for a marketing group to handle all dealings with wholesalers on behalf of the producers.

No complete list of producers was available. For that reason, it was agreed before the vote was taken that a vote of at least 3,300 persons in favor would be necessary before the scheme could be considered for approval.

At least a two-third majority of favorable votes is required before a marketing scheme is approved.

The board said reports received so far from 50 of the 55 counties and districts show a total vote as follows: Proposed egg scheme, yes 7,496, no 7,050; proposed poultry meat scheme, yes 7,048, no 6,568.

Japan Regains Independence

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—The United States put the Japanese peace treaty into effect today and Russia immediately denounced it and the accompanying U. S.-Japanese security pact as "treaties for the preparation of a new war in the Far East."

Russia assailed the pacts in a statement made public by Ambassador Alexander Panyushkin.

The peace treaty, returning independence to Japan after nearly seven years of allied occupation, was brought into force when the U. S. deposited its ratification at the State Department.

This was an 11-minute ceremony which included reading of a statement from President Truman hailing the re-born country as a valiant ally in the struggle against "Communist imperialism and aggression in the Pacific."

Japan's Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida declared the Japanese people "can meet the challenge of our times."

Then the Russians fired their statement from the Soviet embassy.

Panyushkin called the peace pact an "illegal separate peace treaty with Japan" concluded in violation of the big four Moscow conference of 1945.

Simultaneous with the effective hour of the peace treaty, a security pact between Japan and the United States went into force. This guarantees the continued presence of U.S. troops in the Japanese islands for as long as necessary to protect the disarmed and defenceless country.

The treaties were put into operation at a simple ceremony in a State Department conference room. Tokyo and Washington had agreed that the hour of final action should be 9:30 a.m.

Tiny Twister Hits Oak Ridges Village

OAK RIDGES, Ont., April 28—(CP)—A tiny twister visited this community during the weekend, whipped a small rug onto a roof and stirred up a lot of dust.

Mrs. Robert Ash said she and her husband were out in the fields when they heard a noise "like a roaring fire."

"We looked and saw the funnel," she said. "It was moving slowly and zig-zagging—it came within a few yards of our house."

A small rug was picked off the verandah of Joseph Fluery's house and flicked to a neighbor's roof.

BULLETIN

VANCOUVER — (CP).—Fire broke out today in the hold of a Dutch freighter loading grain at Ballantyne Pier here. The harbor fireboat and fire trucks sped to the scene as smoke mushroomed over the dock area. The scene was only a couple of blocks from the scene of a multi-million-dollar waterfront fire last Wednesday. Twenty minutes after the first fire call, a second alarm was sounded. The freighter, the 10,942-ton Holland-America Lines' Dongedyk, carries 52 pasengers as well as cargo. It was not known immediately whether anyone was trapped, but city inhalator squads rushed to the scene. "We need all the help we can get," police said in ordering more patrols to the scene.

What Are Things Coming To?

No Grass Shacks For Stowaways On Guam

GUAM, April 28—(AP)—Two women stowaways who travelled the 6,000 miles from California to Guam in an air force B-29 finally gave themselves up because they couldn't find even a grass shack to live in on this far Pacific island.

But they don't want to go home.

"It's wonderful," exclaimed Jerie McDaniel, 26, Walnut Grove, Calif.

"We would like to stay and work if they would let us," said her companion, Maxine Allen, 23, Tacoma, Wash.

Both are in custody of immigration officials.

How do women travel to the far reaches of the Pacific in a Superfortress as unpaying guests of the air force? Well, it takes a bit of doing and it doesn't hurt if you know a couple of guys . . .

The air force was holding two airmen for investigation.

This is the story the girls told:

They donned flying togs and hid last week in the rear of the plane at McClellan Field, Sacramento. Their gear, stuffed into pillow cases, was stowed away in the plane's bomb bay.

At Hickam air base, Hawaii, they remained hidden overnight aboard the plane.

At tiny Kwajalein, busy air crossroads in the Marshall Islands, they slipped down to the beach and washed in the warm tropical waters.

En route to Guam, they shared box lunches with their two airmen friends.

They slipped off the plane at Guam—with their friends.

But Guam didn't pan out as an idyllic Pacific island. It is too civilized and crowded for grass shacks. And empty houses or quonset huts weren't to be had.

Authorities were dumbfounded when the four surrendered Saturday.

Conservatory Changes Cause Rift

Sir Ernest MacMillan Will Retire, Mazzoleni Resigning

TORONTO, April 28. (CP)—A proposed reorganization of Toronto's Conservatory of Music has caused the retirement of Sir Ernest MacMillan as dean of the Faculty of Music at the University of Toronto.

In addition, Ettore Mazzoleni, principal of the Conservatory, has resigned. Several other staff changes in the wake of the proposed shakeup are reported in prospect.

Sir Ernest said in a statement Monday night he was relinquishing his post. The plan would abolish the University faculty and create a faculty of music at the Conservatory, which has operated under direction of the University since 1921.

The Conservatory's board of directors is scheduled to meet Wednesday to discuss the scheme, reported to have caused a rift among officials.

Also involved are Dr. Edward Johnson, former general manager of New York's Metropolitan Opera Company and now chairman of the Conservatory's board of directors; Dr. Arnold Walter, director of the Conservatory's senior school and Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University.

Have One Head

Sir Ernest, 58, said the reorganization would combine the faculty of music, the Royal Conservatory and the senior school under one head and under one budget. The Conservatory then would consist of a faculty dealing with degree and advanced diploma courses and a school of music dealing with all other activities.

Th expansion in recent years of the faculty "had rendered the position of Dean somewhat onerous to me in view of my many activities. I was therefore ready and even eager to retire, especially if by doing so I could promote the best interests of music in the university."

Sir Ernest said the original nominee for the chief post under the scheme was ruled out because of age. "So far as I know, no other name has been approved or is even in contemplation. This being so, the chief object of the reorganization scheme has not been achieved."

Told of Appointment

Mr. Mazzoleni was told in a letter dated April 2 that he would be appointed principal of the second division of the reorganized conservatory.

"I understand a corresponding letter was sent to Dr. Arnold Walter regarding his appointment to the first division."

Presumably many overlapping problems would arise "which could only be solved by a wise and diplomatic dean in the chief office."

"It was for this reason, and not, as one might infer from certain public statements, personal pique, that Mr. Mazzoleni felt it impossible to carry on."

One version of the dispute is that Sir Ernest and Dr. Mazzoleni are considered champions of a belief that Canada has developed culturally to the stage where she can support her own musical talent. Others are said to believe that Canadian entertainment should feautre European artists and that Canada would benefit from close contact with a culture that is centuries older than her own.

Clipped Two Cars Automobile Rolls Over

LINDSAY, April 28—(CP)—Richard Norman Griever, 32, of Campbellford, has been charged with drunken driving following a series of traffic mishaps.

Police said Grieves was driving a car which clipped one vehicle, then collided head-on with another car a block away.

Then police were informed that a car had overturned on a rock pile at the foot of a blind street near the Scugog River.

They found Grieves pinned underneath the car.

U.N. Offers Communists Over-All Truce Solution

MUNSAN, April 28. (AP)—The United Nations' command today gave the Communists what it called an "over-all solution" to the three critical issues blocking a Korean armistice. Details were not disclosed. But the Communists, after agreeing to keep the full-dress negotiations secret, asked for an indefinite recess. Presumably they want to submit the plan to Peiping and Pyongyang.

Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. spokesman, said:

"The U.N. command feels that an over-all solution to the problem is possible and for that reason such an over-all solution was proposed today."

It was handed to the Communists at the first meeting of the main Allied and Communist armistice delegations in Panmunjom in more than two months.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior U.N. negotiator, proposed at the outset of the plenary session that the discussions be secret. This meant that there would be no announcement what takes place.

Communists Agree

The Communists, after thinking it over, agreed.

The U.N. communique said:

"The U.N. command today proposed an over-all resolution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice in Korea..."

Despite official secrecy, there was little doubt the prolonged talks had entered a new and perhaps decisive phase.

The next meeting will be called by the Communists. Meantime discussions at the staff-officer level were suspended.

There appeared little doubt that the package proposal centred on the all-important question of prisoners and how to exchange them.

Only last Friday the Communists ended secret negotiations on prisoner exchange after the U.N. command advised them that only 70,000 of the 169,000 Red soldiers and civilians held by the Allies want to return to Communist rule.

Asked what the U.N. hopes to accomplish by secret discussions, Nuckols said:

"We hope to minimize the use of the meeting for propaganda purposes. We hope that by getting down to brass tacks that an armistice can be reached more speedily."

Nuckols told newspapermen: "If you asked if this is a sell-out; the answer is no."

Nevertheless, Nuckols hinted indirectly that some sort of compromise was in the making.

Cheese Factories Open For Season

Pine Grove cheese factory, northeast of Lakefield, unbolted its doors today on a new season of production, that is overcast with present doubts of markets and prices.

Other factories in operation, some of them through the winter, are Warkworth, Trent Valley, Trent Bridge, Rylstone and Minie.

C. N. Heath, Belleville, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Cheese Producers, was in Ottawa most of last week seeking to clarify the prospects of the industry.

W. P. Moore of Campbellford, dairy instructor, said today that he had little new information except that most of the factories of the district were getting ready to reopen on May 1.

Some definite announcement as to price of cheese for the season is expected from Ottawa. It is not only an expectation, but also a hope of support for the industry in one of the most critical springs it has ever faced.

Cheesemakers and patrons lack a clear perspective of their position, and are said to be depending on government action to indicate what may be forthcoming from that quarter.

50,000 Fascists Jeer At West

ROME, April 28. (AP)—Fascism's followers massed 50,000 strong in the heart of Rome Sunday to jeer at democracy and communism in a scene unduplicated since Allied armies overthrew Mussolini. "Rescue Rome from the incompetence of the Christian Democrats and the barbarism of the Tartar hordes of communism," shouted Augusto de Marsanich, veteran of the 1922 Black Shirt march on Rome. He spoke, hand on hip, apeing Mussolini's mannerism. Applause roared up from the followers of his openly pro-Fascist Italian social movement (MSI) jammed into the Piazza del Popola.

The pro-fascist meeting highlighted Sunday's opening of a campaign to win control of Rome and 2,400 other Italian communities in the May 25 municipal elections.

Equal Chance

In poverty stricken Calabria to the south, Communist boss Palmiro Togliatti—whose Red followers are given an equal chance of capturing Rome, Naples and Bari—cried out for a Communist victory.

Premier Alicide de Gasperi called for support of his middle-of-the road government in a major address at Naples.

The campaign grew more violent Sunday, with these developments:

Bomb blew up the headquarters of the anti-Communist laborers' movement at Catania, Sicily. The movement was established last year by two Communist deputies who quit the party in disgust.

The Communists revealed their campaign ace-in-the-hole — Alighiero Tondi, a Jesuit priest who turned Communist two days ago. Tondi published a blistering charge that the Gasperi government has "bound (Italy), hand and foot, to the foreigner."

Reds Told Missionary Soon Be Communist

TORONTO, April 28 (CP)—Dr. Stewart Allen, former United Church missionary in China, said Sunday night the Chinese Communists told him before deporting him last year:

"Why go back to Canada? It will only be a matter of months, or at best a few years, before your country, too, will be liberated from the evils of an imperialistic capitalistic society."

Dr. Allen spoke Sunday at Danforth Avenue United Church. He returned to Canada recently after serving in China since 1923.

repairs. It was not expected to reach there before Friday or Saturday.

Navy Department aides stayed on the job around the clock working on the grim assignment of compiling the list of those reported as missing.

Names were made public as soon as next-of-kin were notified. An aide emphasized there might be some errors in its lists.

The mid-ocean crash was probably the most disastrous Naval collision since the end of the Second World War.

Plows Into Side

The Hobson and the U.S.S. Rodman, another destroyer-minesweeper, were trailing the Wasp to help pick up the men if any of the carrier's planes failed to land on its decks.

The Wasp, probably cutting through rough seas at 20 to 25 knots, turned into the wind to enable planes to land after a simulated night strike.

The Hobson, travelling at about the same speed, plowed into the carrier's forward right side.

Early lists of survivors did not include the name of the Hobson's skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. W. J. Tierney of Philadelphia.

Most Of Destroyer's

What they could not see and what I saw in wonder when daylight came were two bites out of the bow keel of the carrier, visible at the waterline. The two, the front one larger than the other, extended for about 50 feet. The forward bite, perhaps 35 feet wide, snapped off the keel 25 feet below.

What I saw from the O'Hare is typical of post-disaster and rescue-attempt activity

For 50 miles there was nothing but obscurity, cut by searchlights on the steaming rescue destroyers.

Spot Debris

Suddenly observers saw what appeared to be a circle light. Then debris, including oranges from the Hobson's food lockers, showed under persistent lights.

Rescue crews lined the main weather decks of the destroyers. They held ropes, grapnels, hooks, life-jackets, small lights and other rescue gears.

Indicative of the self-sacrificing, esprit de crops that spread through the flotilla when disaster struck, was the fact that 25 swimmers aboard the O'Hare volunteered to go into the water before officers forbade it.

It was too late to do more than haul in empty life-saving gear and other floating debris.

The Wasp, responsible for the safety of planes still in the dark sky, put over all available rafts, jackets and boats before she got into a new position to take the last of her planes aboard.

Prices Take Drop On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP).—Prices turned downward today as early afternoon stock market support weakened steadily.

Industrial dealings remained in selected leading issues, but a scattered list of western oils, penny golds, and lower-priced base metals attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,867,000 shares

Steels, banks and liquors led industrials downward with a scattered list of fractional declines. Manufacturing companies and agricultures also slipped, but refining oils and miscellaneous issues edged upyard.

Britain Ready To Retaliate Against Any A-Bombs

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—Any country dropping an atom bomb on Britain will get 20 back, Britain's top soldier promised Saturday night.

Field Marshal Sir William Slim, chief of the Imperial General Staff, gave this assurance in a radio speech. He was urging civilians to volunteer for part-time service in the home guard.

The force, disbanded after the Second World War, is being revived by Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

"Don't say what's the use of a home guard in this atomic age," Slim warned. "Believe me, if the horrors of an atomic bombing fall on this island one of our first needs will be a force of steady, disciplined armed men.

"I can assure you, too, that if any aggressor is mad enough to start such bombing, for every atomic bomb dropped on us, he'll get 20 back on him.

Strong Medicine

"That's a salutory thought for an aggressor."

In his country wide address, Slim told Britons: "I'm not raising a bogey to frighten you. The danger (of war) is real."

But, he added, thanks to growing western strength since last year, "the imminent threat of war has receded a bit."

"We've reduced the flash point a little.

"It would need, perhaps, a bigger spark to set it off, but we're still sitting on a powder barrel and it's terribly easy for some one deliberately, or even carelessly, to produce that spark."

Iran Parliament Opens With Great Pomp

By NATE POLOWETZKY

TEHRAN, April 28 — (AP) — Amid the glittering trappings of pomp and ceremony, Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi opened Iran's 17th Majlis Sunday with pleas for greater social justice and equality.

The legislators then recessed until May 8, without tackling any of the difficult financial problems that they face.

Resplendent in a blue uniform with medals, the 33-year-old ruler spoke only 4½ minutes before senators, deputies, army officials and foreign diplomats.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh was not present. The official reason for his absence was ill health. Also missing was Soviet Ambassador Ivan Sadchikov, dean of the diplomatic corps. Speculation was that he stayed away in protest against resumption of United States military aid to Iran.

(Moscow newspapers Sunday accused the U.S. of forcing military assistance on Iran.)

The Shah came to the Majlis chamber in a limousine along the crowded heavily guarded two-mile route from the palace.

About 74 deputies were in the Chamber to hear him, five over the legal quorum.

Elections to the lower house have been going on since last December, but only 76 of 136 seats have been filled and the voting continues. The country has been without a parliament since Feb. 19, when the terms of old members expired.

Fathers And Sons Hold Enjoyable Dinner

The Father and Son Banquet of the Knox United Church was held on Wednesday April 23rd when about 100 dads and lads sat down to a very fine banquet provided by the Women's Association.

During the dinner, Miss Eleanor Taylor entertained with selections on the piano.

J. Donaldson led community singing, consisting of old favorites and novelty numbers. Mr. Potter accompanied on the piano.

Lloyd Gaskin proposed a toast to the church and the Rev. H. G. Douglas responded.

Ken Butler proposed the toast to "Our Dads". Roy Genge responded.

The Rev. M. Poole of All Saints' Anglican Church was guest speaker and his opening remarks were addressed primarily to the boys.

He held up as an example to the boys, St. George, Patron Saint of England for St. George had faith in God and also the courage to go out and suppress evil wherever he found it.

Turning to the dads, he asked them to help their sons in right living by being what they themselves should be and likened a father to a man blazing a trail through a jungle, who snapped off twigs to show the safe way for others to follow.

Vincent Grainger was chairman for the evening.

Girl Dragged From Bed Raped In Nearby Shed

BRANTFORD, April 28 (CP)— A 13-year-old girl was dragged from her bed shortly before midnight Saturday and raped in a shed behind the house.

Her parents, who were out at the time, said they had no idea who would know the girl was alone in the house.

Police are searching for the man responsible. A neighbor said he saw the man leaving but the man covered his face with his hand.

The girl's face was swollen and bruised where the stranger slapped her. She said he asked her if she knew who he was and when she answered "no," he said: "It's a good thing for you that you don't."

Says Canadians Now Financing 80 Per Cent Of New Development

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP) —R. B. Perrault, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today Canadians are financing more than 80 per cent of their new economic development.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the 40th annual meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Perrault said $4,500,000,000 of new money flowed last year in to new factories, new mines, new transportation, new hydro-electric plants and new industries in Canada.

Of this amount, "only $700,000,000 was outside capital; the remainder was Canadian, out of our own savings, personal and corporate."

"Of the total investment capital in Canada, some two-thirds is in the hands of Canadians. This does not minimize the importance of your (United States) money coming into Canada. But the important fact is that Canadians are also investing large sums in their country's future."

Interdependent

Mr. Perrault, who heads a Canadian delegation to the three-day meeting, stressed that Canada and the United States are economically interdependent.

"We are your best customer, but you are our best customer too. You have a huge industrial plant needing raw materials, much of which we can supply. You have innumerable branch plants in Canada and you are playing a very valuable role in our national expansion. This has helped boost our currency to its strongest position in many years."

Canadians are "no longer casual about being Canadians."

"There is a fierce determination in our country to preserve our individuality, although we are close to you, the leading nation in the world today."

Ask Oatis Release

21 Unnecessary New Seats

In the twenty years since the last redistribution of Ontario legislative seats the population of the Province has grown from 3,431,683 to 4,597,542. There is no statutory requirement for it after a census, as with the Federal legislature, but the Frost Government has decided that the time has come for another redistribution. We commend the decision but not the proposed way of doing it.

• • •

The Ontario Government has suggested that twenty-one new Provincial ridings will be created to serve the increased population. Since all but two or three of the legislative committee to be set up to redistribute the seats will be Conservatives, the Frost suggestion to have 21 new seats is decisive. The legislature does not need more members, nor does the Province need more constituencies. There are already 90. If Ontario's interests in the much vaster and more complicated affairs of the country as a whole can be adequately represented by 82 members at Ottawa (two or three may be added after the Federal redistribution), the people of the Province do not need 111 members in Queen's Park.

• • •

The short five to eight weeks' annual sessions at Queen's Park show either that there is little legislation for the M.L.A.'s to deal with, or that it is being done by the Provincial Cabinet, through orders-in-council. The reports of the debates in the Ontario House of Assembly prove that the ordinary M.L.A. has little to do, little of importance to say, and really very little to contribute to the welfare and good government of the Province. The numerous Cabinet ministers are the voice of the government; they and their appointed deputy ministers are the instruments of government. The sessions amply demonstrate that the present 90 members are enough and to spare. Why go to the pense of another 21, at $3,000 each annually, and increased election expenses?

• • •

The representation throughout the Province is dense, except in thinly populated northern and north-western ridings, which are very much over-represented; as few as 18,000 people in these scattered constituencies have one member. In southern Ontario—for instance, in this area, the adjoining constituencies of Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham—the ridings are small in extent and easily served by one member. In fact, from the centre of this rectangle of four Provincial ridings a representative could reach any extremity of the four in less than two hours' driving. Yet Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham have not only four members, but four cabinet ministers. Are they being under-represented? Do they need more members? No; they could even do with fewer.

• • •

The Frost Government's decision to add 21 members to the Legislature is a politician's device to make the necessary redistribution—and it is necessary; the largest centres like Toronto and York and Hamilton and Ottawa are grossly under-represented—without disturbing safe, government seats, most of them rural. More seats are not really needed; but to divide up the existing seats properly would reduce the number of rural constituencies, and unseat government supporters and even Cabinet ministers. Already the rural areas are grossly over-represented. Urban population has increased, rural decreased, for 70.7 per cent. of the provincial population is now living in urban areas. Yet only 22 of the existing 90 seats can be said to be urban. Is the Government going to do as it should: really redistribute the seats? No. It has proposed the expensive and unnecessary increase of 21 seats, so as to leave the rural ridings undisturbed (and safe for the Government). The 21 new seats will go to urban centres. And still the people of this province will not be properly represented: the majority live in industrial centres, but the majority of the members will represent the agricultural, rural, small town minority.

• • •

This is not democratic, nor representation by population. The redistribution will be a farce, played for the benefit of rural ridings, for the security of tenure of the Frost government and against the rights and interests of the majority of the people of this province. It will not be a re-distribution at all, but an expensive handout. Why the Frost Government should feel it necessary to resort to such tricks is beyond our understanding. It has given good government, it has an extremely large majority; it should feel secure in facing electors. It does not need to hedge, to fawn, and to add 21 seats. Its timidity and fearfulness in falling to deal properly with a redistribution are disappointing to those who admire Mr. Frost and his Administration, and distressing to all who believe in democratic government.

Patience With The Feeble-Minded

We hope to hear more of a theory evolved and tested by Dr. Lise Gellner, of London, England, that feeble-minded children may be taught to read and write and in a very large measure share the life of normal people. Dr. Gellner has taught a child of her own according to the method she advocates, and he can read, write, manage a typewriter and, in her own phrase "do all the things that his personal well-being requires." She taught him by a method based upon that used in teaching blind children.

Very briefly, Dr. Gellner's theory is this: much feeble-mindedness is attributed to a lesion in the cerebral cortex, resulting from some inexplicable failure of the cortex to develop; Dr. Gellner believes that such lesions prohibit the ordinary links between the senses, and that if the links that are missing can be discovered by tests, means can be devised of teaching the child through other means, as is done with blind children. Obviously such a method is a complex one, demanding great skill and infinite patience, but if it works even with a proportion of feeble-minded children it marks a great step forward in education, and offers hope to a class of people who have had very little hope in life before.

In the history of man's treatment of insanity and mental defects, it is astonishing what a great part is played by the simple virtues of kindness and patience. The Quakers were the first people to establish asylums for the insane which were conducted on humane principles, and in the eighteenth century they resolved to see what could be done for the insane by kindness, as opposed to the terribly brutal methods which had been used before. They were laughed at, of course. It was a joke to thousands of people that in the Quaker asylums as much as a day might be occupied in questioning an inmate to see whether he liked jam or marmalade on his bread. But the Quakers brought about a few cures, and they brought a degree of rest and security to many poor, distracted minds. They did not know any psychology, but they knew how to be kind and patient.

If Dr. Gellner's theory proves workable, a number of children who have hitherto been shut out of ordinary life may be brought to normality, or something close to it. It is an exciting prospect, and we can only hope that her theory proves itself in widespread practice.

The Spartan T.C.A.

The Rt. Hon. Mr. C. D. Howe has told the Commons that after May 1 no free drinks or free meals will be served on board Trans-Canada Airlines. This will come as a surprise to the passengers of T.C.A., who had not realized that their meals, and the single cocktail which was sometimes served on trans-oceanic runs, were free. They had imagined that these things were charged for in their fare.

What Mr. Howe is doing is putting planes on a footing with trains, when they had been on a footing with ships. Passengers on a ship expect that they have paid for their meals when they have bought a ticket; this is not so on trains. As for drinks, none are served while T.C.A. planes are flying over Canada; when once over the ocean, the holy exhalation from our soil weakens, and drinks can be purchased. The single free drink was a courtesy offered by the airline on some flights. Other lines will continue this courtesy, we presume, and T.C.A. will eschew it.

This will not be the only courtesy which T.C.A. fails to offer its passengers. It is the only air line commonly in use by Canadians which does not provide reserved seats for its passengers, and the result is a scramble for the seats which are thought to be desirable whenever one of their planes takes on passengers. This is a nuisance, and contrasts unfavourably with the seat-reservation system used by other airlines.

There is one thing that must be said for T.C.A.: it is a very safe line, and takes the utmost care of the lives of its passengers. Other lines, however, go a little further, and look after the passengers' comfort. That is something T.C.A. is, presumably, too proud to do.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Thieves in the U.S.A. stole a truckload of whisky, but only kept six bottles. And thus the temperance movement gains ground.

These are days when the man who says he is hungry enough to eat a horse may find himself confronted with a horse to eat.

A statistician announces the interesting fact that ten times as many suicides take place on fine days as on stormy ones. Well, on a dirty day a potential suicide has such a quantity of grumbling about the weather to do that he never gets around to the Happy Dispatch.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

I MAKE no apology for introducing anniversaries and centenaries into my column from time to time. These occasions serve to remind us of composers who are in danger of falling into oblivion and prompt us to carry out some sort of revaluation of their work. I mention composers in particular, for it is their work alone that has the most claim to permanence. Performers are important to their own day: when that is gone their importance diminishes until they become a myth, a legend. Of recent years the invention of the gramophone has modified this state of affairs without changing it in its essentials.

Composer-virtuosi such as Liszt are assessed today more on their composing ability than on their prowess as executants: in any case, due to improvements in teaching it is probable that Litz's virtuosity, which so dazzled his contemporaries, would appear fairly commonplace by modern standards, though there would be few indeed capable of weaving the spell so artfully as the old wizard. Doubtless Horowitz would, from a merely mechanical standpoint, perform far more breath-taking feats than Liszt, but there is something sterile in Horowitz's cold and steely perfection. The human element is lacking. One of the reasons for this defect is the fact that Horowitz is not a composer. His musical development has been lop-sided.

If one examines musical history one will find with practically no exception that all the really great performers, from John Bull to Artur Scnabel have been composers. Some of them have been rather dull composers, but they have all done a certain amount of writing. Some of them have produced significant work: the influence of Liszt on Wagner is not sufficiently appreciated. In most cases it must be acknowledged that their chief contribution in composition has been towards the technical development of their chosen instrument. Nevertheless their essays in the art of composition cross-fertilized their performing ability; they have also served to perpetuate their fame. I doubt whether we shall observe the centenary of executants 'pur sang', such as Horowitz, unless they happen to be still alive themselves

THIS YEAR we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of one of the greatest music-teachers in history. Muzio Clementi, whose name we honour more in word than in deed, was born in Rome in 1752. He was thus the senior of Mozart by four years. His father was a silversmith with musical leanings. Incidentally the family crest of the Clementi family displays a cardinal's hat, which may indicate a relationship with one of the patrician families of Rome who have supplied the Roman Catholic church with so many of its higher dignitaries before the Americans moved in! But let us continue with young Muzio.

At a tender age he displayed remarkable talent, and by the age of 14 had written several works, including a mass. He was taken up by an English gentleman of some standing, Peter Beckford, M.P., cousin of the author of Vathek, who took him back to his country house in Wiltshire, where he studied assiduously until 1773. The time was then ripe for his appearance in London, where he carried all before him and won a spectacular success.

His keybord technique was in advance of anything else at the time, though as he himself admitted he concentrated on the mechancial side at that period. In 1781, he set out on his first continental tour, the highlight of which was the celebrated contest with Mozart in Vienna. Although the victory was undecided it represented a turning-point in Clementi's development: from that date onward he strove to put more taste and feeling into his music and less empty show.

◇ ◇ ◇

HE TRAVELLED and toured on the continent a good deal, but most of his time was spent in London as a teacher and conductor and as partner in the firm of Longman and Broderip, which later became Clementi and Co., makers of musical instruments, notably pianos, and music dealers. Unlike some musicians Clementi displayed unusual business acumen and was able to secure for himself what would then be called a handsome "competency." His name on an instrument was a guarantee of sound workmanship, and even today the Clementi pianos are once again being sought after. John Newmark, the Montreal pianist, sometimes gives recitals on the CBC on his Clementi piano. The soft and mellow tones of the small oblong instrument are a welcome change from some of the more percussive tones of our modern iron-frame pianos.

BUT IT was as a composer and teacher that Clementi is most celebrated. Looking into the annals of the period it will be seen that there is scarcely a single pianist of note of the succeeding generation that did not pass through his hands. Cramer, another of the musical colony of London, was one of his pupils, and John Field, the melancholy young Irishman who invented the Nocturne for Chopin's future benefit, was employed by Clementi to demonstrate the capabilities of his instruments in the showrooms of London, Paris, St. Petersburg and elsewhere. The redoubtable Czerny took lessons from him, and Meyerbeer, Moscheles and many others "sat at his feet."

As a composer he was justly celebrated, and though he wrote for many different combinations of voice and instruments it is as a writer for the piano that he is most known. He was the first man to write for the piano in a different style than the harpsichord, and thus the claim that he was the "father of the modern pianoforte" is quite correct. Beethoven, whose style of keyboard writing owed much to Clementi, had a high regard for the older master's works.

The time is ripe for a re-examination of Clementi's stature as a composer. There is something in the dry succinctness of his style that should appeal to the modern taste. The form is always concise, without padding, and the ideas are often fresh and always vigorous, the work of a man of commanding intellect and energy. His music is bracing, with a distinctive tang. This severe and astringent quality would render it a magnificent antidote to overdoses of Tschaikovsky and his lesser imitators.

◇ ◇ ◇

HE DIED at the age of eighty, in retirement in the pleasant town of Evesham, close by the orchards, and was buried in Westminster Abbey. He was married three times and had children in his old age. One of his sons, a clergyman of the Church of England, moved to Canada in the early days of the settlers and built the first church in Lakefield from funds collected from friends in England. But that is (as Kipling remarked) another story. He has a number of direct descendants in this continent. The other day I had the privilege of meeting Miss Emma Clementi, who lives in Peterborough, and who possesses a number of interesting family souvenirs. She is the great-great-grand-daughter of young Muzio, the prodigy, whose genius attracted the attention of Peter Beckford, M.P.

An American Opinion: MUCH MORE OF THE SAME

Cripps In Office

(MONTREAL STAR)

IT WAS not indeed until Sir Stafford became President of the Board of Trade (the British equivalent of our Ministry of Trade and Commerce) that his qualities in office revealed themselves clearly. He was faced at once by the problems of the dollar crisis, over which, when Hugh Dalton carelessly let slip a budget secret, he assumed full control. Cripps' term as Chancellor of the Exchequer was his most notable contribution.

His clear mind saw through the consequences of careless and wasteful financial policy to the disasters that lay ahead. He put to one side the hopes he held for the quick and general improvement of the condition of the people. First, he declared, Britain must pay its way, and he forced upon the Labour party the iron principles of finance which won him the press title of Mr. Austerity.

Cripps was unable to go the whole way, but what he wanted to do shone through all his budget speeches. His mind was logical and incisive. These are qualities repugnant to the average politician. But they were badly needed in post-war Britain where a party has assumed power strong in the the belief that soaking the rich and nationalization would set the country straight. Cripps was indeed an out-and-out socialist, but he did not believe a bankrupt state could be a successful socialist state. It was the problem of bankruptcy which occupied his mind until his frail health broke under the strain.

Those who met Sir Stafford Cripps had difficulty understanding the legends that grew up about him in the papers. His painfully simple diet, his constant preoccupation with what he regarded as the ideals and principles of Christian socialism, gave the public the impression of a stern, austere man, unbending and aloof. He was instead a man of happy, sunny nature, infinitely charming in company, even if this aspect of his nature did not project itself from a public platform.

One of his associates once remarked "Cripps talks cold but he acts warm," and, to quote his biographer, Eric Estorick, he was a man of "deep" convictions, passionate feeling and enduring attachments." His home was a place "of affectionate inspiration and superb companionship."

No Discrimination In Favour Of Soldiers

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

CROWN COUNSEL T. J. Rigney, Q.C., acted properly in refusing to consent to suspended sentence for two young soldiers who pleaded guilty to stealing an automobile here recently. Equally proper, we think, was Magistrate Garvin's prompt sentence of twelve months in the Ontario Reformatory as punishment for the offence. There was nothing in the case, as far as we have been able to ascertain, which could be regarded as an extenuating circumstance.

The fact that these young men are soldiers is irrelevant. The fact that they were footsore and weary after a hike of thirty-five miles from Cornwall is also irrelevant. The relevant fact is that they deliberately stole an automombile, and thus rendered themselves as liable to punishment as any other Canadian guilty of the offence.

These young men were not forced to make their journey by hiking. There are other means of transportation available. True, these cost money—but other Canadians are required to pay for transportation, and there is no reason why soldiers on leave nowadays should not pay. They are steadily employed, and the pay and other remuneration they receive compare favourably with pay and remuneration in civilian life. They should be able to pay for their transportation on such journeys as they may make on leave.

The situation was quite different during the war years. Trains and buses were painfully crowded, motor travel was rationed—and the demands made on all forms of public transportation were those of a grave emergency. Service men on leave were tacitly encouraged to seek lifts, and motorists were openly encouraged to offer them. There was justification for the expectation that service men on the highways would be given lifts, and we believe the response was considered most satisfactory by the authorities.

No such justification exists today. Servicemen may have as much right as civilians to try to hitch-hike—but no more. If they fail to get lifts and are forced to walk, that is their ill fortune, but it is a risk they assume when they elect to hitch-hike, just as it is assumed by civilian hitch-hikers. Weariness and soreness resulting from failure to get a lift cannot for a moment be regarded as a mitigating circumstance in the case of the theft of an automobile, and we hope there will be no attempt to interfere with a sentence which, in our opinion, establishes a proper precedent.

Citizens In Court

(Windsor Star)

Magistrate J. Arthur Hanrahan is serving a good purpose, at the opening of his court each day, by briefly outlining court procedure and the rights of people who appear before the court.

As the Magistrate says, most people who come to court for the first time are confused by the routine and often abrupt court procedures.

A large percentage are first timers. This applies whether they are accused persons or merely witnesses.

How Time Flies

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now there is at Jerusalem by the sheep market a pool, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Bethesda, having five porches . . . And a certain man was there, which had an infirmity thirty and eight years.

When Jesus saw him lie, and knew that he had been now a long time in that case, he saith unto him, Wilt thou be made whole? The impotent man answered him, Sir, I have no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the pool: but while I am coming, another steppeth down before me.

Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: and on the same day was the sabbath . . .

Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. (John 5:2, 5-9, 14.)

FOOTBALL CLUB NOT RESPONSIBLE

Sir: The Peterborough Orfuns Football Club would like to inform the sporting public of Peterborough that the damage to the Grandstand chairs at the Exhibition grounds last October was not the doings of this Club.

We have considered ourselves very fortunate to have had very harmonious dealings with the Exhibition Board, Mr. Gillespie and Mrs. Ridyard and the use of the park, by our team, is very much appreciated. We have always complied with their every wish and are very sorry to hear of the damage and inconvenience to their property. We hope that those who are to blame will acknowledge the fact and for the good of football, and relations with the Exhibition Board, will make restitution in some manner for their carelessness or lack of supervision at their games.

The Orfuns feel that Morrow Park is the finest football field and has the finest facilities of any gridiron in the league. Mr G. A. Gillespie has done the Club many many favours in the past and we know he will verify the fact that we have co-operated to the fullest with the Exhibition Board.

Thank you,
STAN McBRIDE,
Publicity Chairman

"Slave Market"

(L'Action Catholique, Quebec)

A bill by Mr. Bona Arsenault in the Commons has attracted attention to the unedifying methods of recruiting players in use in the National Hockey League. It is a problem which leaves no one indifferent, since it touches on fundamental personal human liberties . . . The system which some people do not hesitate to call a "slave market" works this way: a scout, charged by a professional club with discovering some brilliant recruit or other, decides that a young athlete has the stuff. He has his name enrolled on the negotiations list in the N.H.L. office, whether for the Canadiens or some other club. The scout is not required even to warn the player. At a given time the latter gets the order to report to the club that has discovered him. If he then refuses the conditions offered him he is banished from organized hockey. This system practically permits the treating of these young players as though they were mining claims or some sort of merchandise. It also permits paying for this merchandise at a lower rate than free competition might assure him. Even if in practice there are certain ameliorations, the fact remains that the present system permits the personal feelings of the recruit to be brutally set aside.

"So you're leaving us because our house is like a rabbit hutch? I did something taking you to see the Stately Homes this Easter, didn't I?"

X-Ray Corral Offers Key To Safety In Atomic Age

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., April 28 — (AP)—An x-ray corral here offers keys to safety for humans in the coming atomic power age.

Animals are placed in the enclosure and sprayed from all sides with x-rays from radio-active cobalt. They can get small doses, or large.

What the rays do to the animals' health and physical fitness can answer some important unknowns about humans:

How good must be the shielding to protect men driving atomic submarines or planes, or running power plants? How small a dose of repeated radiation could they withstand without any bad effects?

How good are various medicines or materials designed to prevent or overcome radiation sickness? Just how much x-ray radiation, over his whole body, can a human take?

Burros are being used in the x-ray pen because burros are much like humans in general body size and position of vital organs.

The answers will be far more accurate than similar studies made in the past with mice or fruit flies. They can pin down the facts about humans and tolerable and intolerable radiation.

The radiation study is one of the agricultural research projects being carried on by the university of Tennessee experiment station under a contract with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Natural Setting

The X-ray corral is set in a natural amphtheatre of wooded hills near Oak Ridge. There is a wire fence, surrounding a round concrete flooring 50 feet in diameter.

Inside the corral are 19 smaller fences, like the protective fences put around young trees on city sidewalks. Each little fence protects a vault in the concrete. Deep down inside the vaults are steel cylinders containg pellets of radio-active cobalt, strong sources of X-rays.

After the burros are put in the pen, remote - controlled winches raise the pellets from the vaults, lifting them three feet into the air. The burros are sprayed with X-rays. The little fences prevent the animals from brushing against the cobalt charges.

The rays shoot out far in all directions. Planes detected the rays 2,000 feet up. The rays are absorbed safely by hills on three sides of the pen and by a great earthen bunker on the fourth. Behind the bunker is the control room for raising and lowering of the cobalt pellets. The cobalt, made in an atomic reactor, is a far cheaper source of X-rays than big X-ray machines.

Afterward the burros are led back to their stalls for observation and study.

Soviets Work Hard To Push Culture Campaign In India

By ARUNA MUKERJI

BOMBAY, April 28—(Reuters)—Soviet interest in India has been increasing during the last six months.

Outward Russian interest in India has been mainly cultural and has been characterized by visits by delegations, exhibitions and participation in a festival. There has also been an attempt to foster trade between the two countries.

A Soviet art exhibition, the first big exhibition of foreign paintings ever to be held in India, now is touring the country. Recently an eight-member cultural delegation headed by Russian poet and author Nikolai Tikonov visited the country for two weeks.

Important Russians have been visiting India during the last six months. M. B. Nesterov, chairman of the Soviet Chamber of Commerce, headed a 50-man industrial delegation. N. Semenov, Russia's deputy minister for cinematography, headed the film delegation who participated in the international film festival. Aurthor Nikolai Tikonov, Stalin Prize winner, was leader of the cultural delegation.

Soviet political literature is sold cheaply on pavements at bus stops and in bookshops.

The Russian art exhibition, which opened in Delhi last month, includes 60 large oil paintings, 18 sculptures, and innumerable sketches shipped by the Russians from Odessa at the request of the Indian Fine Art Society.

At the International Industries Fair which opened here last January, Russia's Nesterov said:

"Soviet Russia is prepared for close trade relations with all countries on the basis of equality and considerations of mutual profit."

He said Russia is prepared to supply capital goods to India like textile machinery, machine tools, transport and mining equipment, and generators in return for Indian jute, textiles, tobacco and spices.

The Russian pavilion which drew crowds during the six weeks it was shown here exhibited streamlined cars, agricultural machinery such as tractors and harvesters, textile machinery, cameras, surgical instruments and furs. The goods, especially machinery, had been so chosen as to have the greatest appeal to a people fast trying to industrialize.

During recent months, well-known Indian artists and writers have received invitations to visit Moscow.

A thirty-member team of Indian business men and economic experts attended the recent economic conference in Moscow.

Stouffville Downs Colborne Merchants

PORT COLBORNE, April 28 — (CP)—Stouffville Clippers whipped Port Colborne Merchants 5-2 here Saturday night to take a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series for the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B Championship.

Bell, Stephenson, Hal Gibson, George Stark and Rumney notched singles for the victors. Port Colborne marksmen were Earl Southon and Archie Katzman.

Eric Will Try Power To Tame Hans Hermann

Yukon Eric will throw his exceptional mat power against Hans Hermann in the wrestling headliner at the Brock Tuesday.

Hermann's battering, punishing tactics have been a big factor in his overpowering charge to the position he now occupies as one of the most dangerous opponents for any wrestler. The well-known ability of Eric against rivals of Hermann's type figures to give him a real chance to end the German's stampeding. Even conceding that the rampaging Hermann is an extremely ominous threat, there is the fact from Yukon's record that he is not only strong enough to stand up under punishment that would down anyone with a less robust physique, but that his own spectacular power enables him to hand out crumpling forms of attack which few rivals can withstand.

Two huge and experienced grapplers clash in the semi-final. Wee Willie Davis will be pitting his might against Wladyslaw Talun, and this should rattle the ring boards in the Brock. The prelim has newcomer Frank Fozo in against Dave Simms to round out a promising card.

Rule Orillia Franchise Open In OLA

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP).—Orillia's Senior-A lacrosse franchise, inoperative for several years, was declared open by the new executive of the Ontario Lacrosse Association at a meeting in Toronto Saturday.

The move opens the way for a senior entry from the town, should lacrosse officials there elect to field a major league club. Orillia interests entered a team in the Senior-B series at last week's annual O.L.A. meeting.

The question may be answered Wednesday when the Senior-A clubs meet at Mimico.

To Forward Names

Suspension of six players and the Brantford intermediate club were continued by the executive. Names of the players will be forwarded to the Ontario Sports Federation which meets at Hamilton Saturday.

A. Smith, J. General, B. Martin, and E. Green, all of the Brantford team, were given indefinite suspensions following an attack on two referees last September 8. The other two are from Toronto district.

The Brantford club has been given until May 18 to meet financial obligations to the O.L.A. players in good standing on the team will be declared free agents after that date if the matter is not settled.

Additional executive members named Saturday included Fred Conradi of St. Catharines.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A light workout was held by some 20 diamondeers over at Riverside on Saturday aft. An ideal day and the park is in fair shape now. Open drills nightly at six from here in, weather being right, as the senior Petes prepare for their C.O.B.L. schedule which opens in four more weeks. They won't go at it too hard the first several practices but will round gradually into shape as the arms get warmed up and the muscles loosen. Executive meets early this week to arrange a number of business details, discuss players needed, and deal with a 1952 club manager. Lots to be done and time is limited.

* * * * * *

Ray Tanner threw a fine steak dinner for the Petes' puckists on Saturday and some fancy stickhandling and backchecking were seen in the Knife and Fork League. Ben Swartz has offered a similar "do" for some night next month. Looks like the boys will be getting new windbreakers, too. On behalf of the club, Fred Scates made a presentation to coach Jim Ellis. Then Gus Leonard, for the players, gave a gift to President Bob Gamble. And Ed Riley remembered Curly Alberico, one of the keen executive workers. Others were remembered as well. 'Twas reported that knee operations are necessary for Ted Collins and Chum Fryia, injured in late season play.

Brings In Waiver Rule

O. H. A. annual meeting dealt with a lot of amendments, and one rather important change—though it could be a confusing one. It adopted the waiver rule whereby an unattached player could go anywhere at any time to another club of no lower category than his last class. Provided his nearest club waives on him. Idea is to get more players in O.H.A. competition, like fellows of intermediate calibre living here and unable to catch on in senior "B" ranks. Let 'em get a waiver and play for Lindsay or some such. No residence rule or time restrictions on such a move. It will be clarified no doubt ere autumn rolls around.

* * * * * *

Ned Vitarelli attended the annual meeting for the Eagles but couldn't vote as the club is under suspension. Their entry fee has been returned. Apparently the automatic suspension rule of one year hits at the executive, but no players may play again until their case has been dealt with. In such a case, Eagles' players should make application now for re-instatement to get that point cleared up. And for that matter, President D. A. McGillis of Eagles—if he wished—could sponsor another squad, through his son, for instance, even if he himself is kept out a year by the O.H.A. Latter body has been saying practically nothing about the matter at all. It's odd.

* * * * * *

Odds and Ends From O. H. A.

A suggestion will be made to the C.A.H.A. by the O.H.A.—which, incidentally, now has a balance of more than $40,000—that the junior age limit be raised to 21 years. A peculiar thing, in a sense, is that the O.H.A. officially regards junior "A" hockey as of a higher calibre than senior "B". Also, it feels that junior "B" is better than intermediate "B". That's right, and you'll never see an intermediate "B" club allowed a replacement from a junior "B" team. When Kingston Sacs were seeking a goalie replacement they were turned down on a request for a Western Ontario junior "A" netminder, O.H.A. saying he was playing in a higher bracket. Lorne Cook of Kingston was returned to the Ontario executive Saturday.

* * * * * *

New O.L.A. executive had a huddle Saturday and declared the senior "A" franchise in Orillia open. That could pave the way for an "A" entry from that town, though Orillia is presently entered as a senior "B" squad. Being the only such entry, the Orillians aren't sure whether they should combine with Huntsville and go senior "A" this year or stick to senior "B" for playoffs and arrange exhibitions this semester with the "A" teams in this grouping. Brampton must decide to come in or stay out at a meeting in Mimico this Wednesday, and then the seniors can go ahead and draw up their schedule. Play will probably open within three weeks. Likely, the Petes will be practicing pretty regularly this week.

Flying Forts Trip Indians 6-5, Take Lead

FORT FRANCES, April 28 — (CP).—Stratford Indians will be out to disprove a theory that Fort Frances Canadians are a strong third-period club and home-ice winners when they meet in the fourth game of the Allan Cup hockey final.

The flying Forts took a 2-1 lead in the best-of seven series for the Canadian senior championship here Saturday night, defeating Indians 6-5 after blasting in three goals in the last eight minutes of play. Some 3,000 fans whooped it up.

As in the first game when they whipped Stratford 9-5 at Fort William, Canadians suddenly came to life in the third frame. The Forts started a powerful third period offensive in the second encounter but Stratford held on for a 3-0 shutout.

Stratford held a wide edge in play and led 5-3 when Canadians started to roll. George Aitken had scored his second goal to apparently write finish to the Fort Frances cause when Aitken and Ed Kliner of Canadians were sent off at 9:28 of the third period for fighting.

Gets Winning Marker

Mike Eizensoph put Canucks back within striking distance while they were off beating Bruce Dale in the Stratford net with a long shot. With 5½ minutes remaining, Ric Richard poked in Sambo Fedoruk's rebound while Indians were a man short to tie the count 5-5.

Big Ed Kliner notched the winning marker with 15 seconds left.

Both teams had opportunities to score before Kliner came through. It came on a harmless looking play after the puck was forced into a corner.

Vern O'Donnell went in after it, then shoved it out to Kliner who quickly cut across the Stratford net and backhanded a short shot to the corner.

Teams split goals in the first period by Mike Hurchuk, Bruce Burdett. Indians outscored Canadians 3-2 in the second on goals by Mickey Roth, Aitken and Larry Lemenchick. Fort Frances scorers were Fedoruk and Walt Christiansen.

Indians played two men short for nearly two minutes in the second period but weathered the storm nicely. Their third goal was scored when Eizensoph was off for Canadians.

O.B.A. Decides To Speed Up Playoffs

ST. CATHARINES, April 28 — (CP)—Delegates to the 25th annual convention of the Ontario Baseball Association elected a new president Saturday, decided to speed up playoffs and added another grade of baseball—Class D—to the schedule.

W. F. Nickel of Stratford, an executive member of the Association for 20 years, was elected president by acclamation. He succeeds Fred Young of Chippawa.

Other officers elected were: vice-presidents, Harry Argent, St. Catharines; Otta Manske, Waterloo; James Millman, London. Executive members: C. G. Riddell, Milton; A. E. Stirling, Chatham; Tim Turow, Preston; A. Vangoethem, Delhi.

Several plans to speed up playoffs were decided upon. During the last few years, playoffs in all series have extended well into the autumn and cold weather.

A chairman will be appointed to supervise playoffs in each division and to see that all games are played as early in September as possible. It is hoped to declare all championships by the first week in October.

Must Be Ready

All individual associations must have a winner ready for Provincial playoffs by the last Saturday in August. The Peewee, Bantam, Midget and Juvenile series will be decided by one-day tournaments after they have been narrowed down to four teams in each grade.

Class D ball will be organized in centres with populations of 1,000 or less.

New limits were set for other classes. Class A now is for towns and cities of 8,000 or more population; class B, from 3,000 to 8,000; and class C, 1,000 to 3,000.

It was decided that in future, the O.B.A. convention will be held on the last Saturday in March instead of late in April to speed up the organization of the various leagues.

The 51 delegates, representing more than 8,000 baseball players in Ontario, were given a civic dinner at noon.

Guest speaker Rev. Brian McCullough of Mount Carmel College, Niagara Falls, Ont., commended the O.B.A. for promoting the physical and mental growth of young men through sport.

O.H.A. Favors Higher Age Limit For All Junior A Players

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — The Ontario Hockey Association has gone on record as favoring a higher age limit for Junior A hockey players in Canada.

About 120 delegates, representing 53 hockey clubs throughout the province, voted in favor of raising the age limit to 21, from 20, at the association's 63rd annual convention here Saturday.

Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe, immediate past president, will carry the O.H.A.'s vote to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association's annual meeting in June.

There was little discussion on the question, a controversial one among hockey men in Canada.

The association also passed an amendment to the regulations which, Roxburgh said, will cut down the number of protests lodged with the O.H.A. after league playoffs start.

The amendment said, in effect, no team will be permitted to protest eligibility of a player, based on residence qualifications, after Feb. 10 each season. On Feb. 1 the secretary will provide every team with a list of signed players of all clubs in the group, together with their residence qualifications. Players signed subsequent to Feb. 1 would be subject to protest.

Life Memberships

The O.H.A. voted two past presidents to life membership in the association: treasurer George S. Dudley of Midland, who missed his first meeting in 34 years because of illness, and James Douglas of Brantford.

The executive recommended that the constitution, regulations and rules of competition be changed to correspond, where necessary, with those of the C.A.H.A.

The treasurer's report, read by W. A. Hewitt, showed a cash balance of $22,291 and $18,000 in government bonds. Last year the O.H.A. had a cash balance of $19,986 and bonds worth $20,000.

Other highlights of the meeting were: grants of $100 each to the Red Cross and the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and a waiver rule which allows a player to sign for a team within a radius of 25 miles from his residence, provided the team he is joining is not within a smaller population group.

Stewart McTavish, Oshawa, was elected president, succeeding Jack Roxburgh. M. L. Gregg, Wingham and Frank Buckland, Peterborough, were named vice-presidents. Dudley and Hewitt were returned as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Lorne D. Cook, Kingston; Ken McMillen, Georgetown; David Pinkney, Stratford; and Lloyd Pollock, Windsor, were named to the executive.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Derby County, an historic club in English football, won the Football Association Cup six years ago today by defeating Charlton Athletic 4-1. During 62 years in big-time soccer the Rams had been runners-up in the cup on three occasions but this was their first victory in the English soccer classic. Arsenal and Newcastle United are this year's finalists on May 3.

Guelph Drops Regina 4-2

TORONTO, April 28 (CP). — Captain Andy Bathgate led his Guelph Biltmores to their second sucessive victory in the Memorial Cup finals here Sunday, potting two important goals as the Bilts dropped Regina Pats 4-2 before 7,333 Maple Leaf Garden fans.

The win shoved the New York Ranger farm club into a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven finals for the Canadian junior hockey title. Guelph won the Friday opener 8-2. The third game will be played here Wednesday.

The Biltmores—Eastern Canada junior champions—held a 1-0 lead in the first period and were ahead 3-2 by the end of the middle session. Bathgate's second goal clinched the issue midway through the final.

Despite the fact that his team is on the wrong end of the 2-0 series standings, Regina coach Muray Armstrong still believes his boys can give Guelph a run for their money.

Guelph had a wide margin in play throughout. The Bilts swarmed around the Regina goal at the opening whistle and gave Bob Tyler a tough time.

The little Regina goalkeeper was called on to come up with some spectacular saves and turned aside 36 pucks, while Marv Brewer kept 17 shots from the Guelph nets. Tyler put up his best show in the second period by batting away 16 shots while his teammates scored twice on Brewer.

Bathgate opened and closed the Guelph scoring. He banged in his first goal in the opening period and tallied the clincher in third. Ron Murphy and Billy McCreary filled in the others during the middle session.

Tigers Back On Right Track Down Cleveland In 2 Games

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

Bosom buddies Art Houtteman and Ted Gray have put Detroit Tigers back on the right track. Tigers still are on the fringe of last place in the American League today but they don't expect them to hover in that vicinity long. Detroit's resurgence began behind closed doors in the visitor's dressing room at Chicago's Comiskey Park on Wednesday. Tigers, smarting from eight straight defeats, were reported to be at odds with Manager Red Rolfe.

Fred Hutchinson, veteran pitcher and player representative, called the players together and chased Rolfe out of the room. The result was a rousing vote of confidence for Rolfe.

Houtteman and Gray have demonstrated emphatically that the Tigers meant what they said.

Hard luck Art launched the comeback drive Saturday with a spectacular 13-0 one-hit victory over Cleveland Indians. Gray followed his roommate's feat with a 1-0 six hit triumph over the tough Tribe Sunday.

Doubly Sweet

The victories were doubly sweet for the Tigers. Last year the Indians captured 17 out of 22 games from Detroit. This season Cleveland won its first four meetings with Tigers.

Rain curtailed activity in both leagues. In the American League a doubleheader between the Athletics and Boston Red Sox was rained out and a single game between New York and Washington. In the National League a doubleheader between Boston and Philadelphia was washed out and a single game between Brooklyn and New York.

Chicago White Sox cooled off St. Louis Browns in the only other action in the American League. White Sox tripped the Browns 7-6 in 14 innings in the opener of a doubleheader. The Sox led the Browns 3-1 in the second game which was called after five innings because of darkness. The game will be completed in Chicago July 3.

Minnie Minoso singled home Nelson Fox with Chicago's winning run in the opener. Ed Robinson homered with one on in the ninth for Chicago to send the game into overtime. Harry Dorish permitted only one hit over the last five innings and gained credit for his first victory.

Snap Tie

Surprising Cincinnati Reds snapped their second-place tie with Chicago in the National League by beating Pittsburgh in a twin bill 8-2 and 1-0 while the Cubs won a single game from St. Louis Cardinals 6-3.

Ken Raffensberger breezed to his third straight victory in the opener for Cincinnati. The Reds jumped on Bob Friend, who shut them out recently, for six runs in the third inning to seal the verdict.

Dutch Hiller bested Howie Pollett in the thrilling night-cap. Roy McMillan drove home Bob Borkowski with the winning run in the ninth inning on a fly ball.

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, highly publicized Cardinal rookie, held the Cubs to three hits in seven innings but blew up in the eighth and yielded four runs. Frank Baumholtz, the league's top batter, climaxed the rally with a three-run double.

Lefty Joe Hatton, usually an easy target for the Cards, scattered nine hits to post his second victory of the season and his sixth in 20 lifetime decisions over St. Louis.

Authority On U.K. Blue Bloods Editor Of Debrett's Peerage

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 28—(CP)—"Mr. Hankinson, Sir, somebody wants to know would you say 'Rt. Hon. the Lord so-and-so,' or 'The Rt. Hon. Lord?' "

Hankinson puts his finger-tips together and considers the matter.

"On balance," he replies gravely, "I think I'd just say, 'Rt. Hon. Lord so-and-so.' "

That's the sort of delicate distinction that is drawn every day by Cyril Francis James Hankinson, the dedicated, frail-looking Englishman who edits "Debrett's Peerage," a 2,000-page register of Britain's finest families irreverently called the Bible of the Blue Bloods.

In his book-strewn, second-storey office near Covent Garden, approached through an arch appropriately bearing the coat of arms of a Duke, Hankinson and his assistants patiently keep tabs on tilted families, sifting through birth, marriage and death notices for background on the 150,000 persons annually listed in Who's Who of the Elite.

"We don't miss many of them," says the 56-year-old Hankinson, a bloodhound after baronets and belted earls ever since the day 31 years ago when he drifted from a spell of unemployment into the business of tracking down family trees.

Hankinson is a tall, thin, approachable man whose pockets are always stuffed with papers. He became editor of Debrett's in 1935 and likes his job. In a way he's grateful to Oliver Cromwell, who left the nobility in such an untidy state that in 1675 after the Restoration, it was decided to clean things up in a book on the leading families, published in what was then called "Fleetstreet."

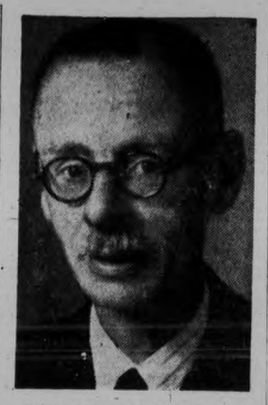
Debrett's Since 1770

A young man named John Debrett took over the book in 1770 and it's born his name ever since, never having missed an issue since 1864.

Apart from keeping track of titles, Hankinson has developed into a sort of back-door office to Buckingham Palace. He gets about 50 letters a week from persons interested on royalty and genealogy, principally from abroad. A woman in Chatham, Ont., for instance, learned that she is descended from Charlemagne, King of the Franks.

Debrett's editor has a gentle, professional air. Sometimes, though, he writes pretty stiff letters to people who are trying to elbow into the aristocracy.

"It's the same every spring," he says. "Something about the prospect of matrimony seems to make people think they'd like to have a handle to their names. But not many of them get away with it."



PEERAGE EXPERT —Cyril Francis James Hankinson, 56, is the dedicated, frail-looking Englishman who edits "Debrett's Peerage," a 2,000-page register of Britain's finest families, sometimes irreverently called the "Bible of the Blue Bloods." In his office near Covent Garden, London, he and his assistants patiently keep tab on titled families for background on the 150,000 annually listed in the Who's Who of the elite.

On the other hand, some people who are entitled to be in Debrett's object to having their names—or their ages—listed, and some particularly sensitive ones have come to Hankinson's office threatening legal action.

When he isn't listing lords and dukes, Hankinson likes to read biographies of the Victorian era, bathing himself in the fragrance of a more kindly time. He mildly deplores the "rootlessness" of modern life. His father, still an active writer at 86, lives in a big house in Bournemouth but Debrett's editor, a man attuned to tradition, has to settle for a labor-saving apartment in suburban Ealing.

His favorite anecdote is of a Socialist peer whose coat of arms, lentificcoOns g8z¼ixrARES-m W£ "Labor Omnia Vincit," means "labor conquers all things," and is interpreted as a not-so-subtle plug for the Labor party.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIV. No. 100 — MONDAY, APRIL 28, 1952

MAIN STREET TOPICS

AT BELLEVILLE SHOW

Dit Clapper made the draw for a chest of silverware at Belleville Canadian Legion concert Friday night. He also autographed hockey sticks that were presented to the first eight boys who arrived at the Collegiate auditorium.

MAY START WORK

From several intimations which have come to Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., of late, work may be begun by July on the postal-customs building. The information is from "a little bird," he told the Examiner Saturday, and to mix the metaphor it sounded from the oatbag.

NAMED TO GRAND EXECUTIVE

J. E. Girven a past first principal of Corinthian Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, Peterborough and a past grand superintendent of Ontario District of Grand Chapter was named a member of the grand executive at the annual meeting of Grand Chapter held in Toronto last week.

STILL ON STANDARD TIME

The traffic lights at Park and Lansdowne Sts. which are switched to blinker lights late at night and back onto signal lights during the day, are apparently still on standard time. Today at 6.40 a.m. they were still blinking, long after they are usually directing cars to stop and go.

CIVIC INSURANCE

Peterborough insurance on its municipal properties is listed as follows in the audited report by Edward Humpage: market building $110,000; municipal offices (Water St.) $70,750; court house $135,500; fire hall $30,000; incinerator plant $35,000; barns, stables $25,000; other buildings $47,000; contents $16,000; new city hall $750,000; contents $40,000; garage $4,000. That total is $1,323,250.

HONKERS ALOFT

Several phone calls between 9 and 10 a.m. today reported flights of Canada geese heading north over the general watercourse of the Otonabee River and Trent Canal. Flocks have been winging over the district for the past several days and their numbers, and gabble, increasing during the week-end. Sundown flights have also been observed as flocks head from some secluded spot in the Kawartha lakes chain for a night of rest. Their ultimate destinations, by open water stages, are the nesting areas in the Eastern and Western Arctic.

Slow Burn

The year's slow burn started over the weekend. Many men and women reported for work with sunburned faces, arms and back as they began the yearly summer pilgrimage for the sun god. This year the season began early and now the worshippers are worried about how to turn the sunburn into tan and keep it darkening as the summer comes along.

Odd Fellows Eastern Star Church Parades

Two annual church parades were held Sunday evening when four city organizations marched to attend service in two churches.

Otonabee and No. 111 Peterborough lodges of the I.O.O.F. and the Golden Link Rebekah Lodge attended St. James United Church and Peterborough Chapter 161 Order of the Eastern Star attended George St. United Church.

Odd Fellows from Lakfield and Millbrook also attended St. James' United Church.

Approximately 90 Odd Fellows met at the lodge hall, on the corner of George and Hunter Sts. and marched to the church led by the C.G.E. pipe band. Members of the Rebekah lodge assembled at the church door.

Three Basic Concepts

The Rev. H. D. McCormack, of St. James' United Church, used the theme, "In the Time of Endless Splendour" for his sermon. He referred to the three basic concepts of the Odd Fellows, friendship, love and truth as the immortal concepts within the endless line of Christian tradition.

Alex Greig was guest soloist and sang "Nearer My God to Thee." The choir sang the anthem "Saviour Thy Children Keep," by Sullivan, under the direction of Mrs Charles M. Renaud.

Approximately 60 members of the Order of the Eastern Star assembled in George St. United Church to attend the service.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews, of George St. Church, welcomed the guests. The text of his sermon was Galatians 6:3 and Galatians 6:5, "For if a man think himself something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself. For every man shall bear his own burden."

A trio, Mrs. J. Goldie, Mrs. C. Carson and R. Aspinall, sang "Hail to the Lord's Anointed," by Andrews. The choir sang the anthem "Build Thee More Stately Mansions," by Andrews, under the direction of Charles Allen.

B'NAI B'RITH DELEGATES

Four delegates from Peterborough will be attending the annual Eastern Canadian Council of B'nai B'rith being held this week-end in Montreal. They are President Joe Rogow of the Peterborough lodge, and Harry G. Silver and Harry Yudin. They will be accompanied by Isadore Black, member-at-large for the Eastern Canadian Council. The Council will go into session Friday and will adjourn Monday.

FLAMES CONSUMED this barn on Armour Rd. Saturday afternoon and left only the walls standing. The loss was put at about $350. The barn, used mostly as a storage shed contained some valuable tools.

Fire Destroys Storage Shed On Armour Rd.

Fire late Saturday afternoon destroyed a barn, owned by Fred Conroy of Park St., on a lot at 547 Armour Rd. Damage is estimated at $350.

The barn, built about 12 years ago, contained no livestock and was used mainly as a storage shed.

Cause of the fire is not known. Mrs. Morgan Pinch, a housewife whose family lives in the house on the lot, said the flames seemed to come from the loft. She said no children were about at the time.

The most valuable property in the barn was a coal oil stove owned by Mr. Conroy. It and most of the other equipment of any value were saved. Only a shell of the former building now remains.

Included in the loss were some garden tools, children's toys, odds and ends of harness, and some bagged straw.

Mrs. Pinch was working in the house Saturday afternoon and was unaware that anything was wrong until a neighbor dashed in and asked for a pail of water to put out the fire.

Mr. Conroy's barn is partly insured.

Stores To Close On May 26

The majority of Peterborough's stores will be closed Monday, May 26 rather than May 24.

James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, said this morning that a survey had been taken and it was found that more than 75 per cent voted to close Monday and remain open Saturday.

All classifications of retail establishments were contacted in the survey including restaurants.

Mr. Fraser explained that this year Monday closing is being adopted in most of the centres of the province.

Stolen Truck Stopped Driver Arrested

Constable Ed Patterson was commended by Police Chief John Thompson today, for his alertness in spotting a panel truck Sunday night, reported stolen from Toronto a short time before.

Description of the truck was extremely sketchy, but Constable Patterson stopped it to question the driver and it turned out to be the one Toronto police were looking for.

The driver, Douglas Barrett, was held until Toronto police arrived today to take him back to Toronto. There were no charges against a woman companion who was riding with Barrett, and she was later released.

Most City Merchants To Take US Money At Par

Peterborough's merchants and hotelkeepers are pretty well agreed that they will accept U.S. money at par this summer. Most say that it is the only thing to do; that to charge for the difference would not hurt the tourist industry this year, but would probably do it damage in the future.

Act Of Courtesy

James Fraser, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said he felt merchants should take U.S. money at par unless the exchange is six per cent or more.

"Most of the customers dealing in Peterborough are 'repeat' customers," he said. "They've been buying here in their holidays for years. Certainly they had the advantage when the exchange was favorable to them, but as a matter of courtesy alone, they should have their money accepted at par."

Two merchants interviewed in a telephone survey today demurred a little. Both said their policies would depend on the value of the U.S. dollar within the next few weeks.

"If it were to be at a discount of six or seven cents," said one, "we'd charge the difference."

One merchant expressed the general viewpoint when he said he had heard of "some people talking foolishly of charging for the discount." Most others interviewed said they agreed with that sentiment.

A hotelkeepper brought up the problem of Peterborough people who have been holding U.S. money and who were caught by the rise in value of the Canadian dollar.

"They come in, buy a package of cigarettes with an American $20 bill, and ask for the change in Canadian money. You might just as well give them the cigarettes, and tell them to take their American money somewhere else," he said.

Used As Lure

A clothing merchant said he had heard of stores in Windsor luring buyers from across the border with offers of discounts similar to those paid on the U.S. dollar last year.

Most of those interviewed felt that, in a way, they wouldn't mind making U.S. tourists pay the full value of the Canadian dollar.

"We paid them the discount last year and in other years," said one. "It would be a nice change to make them pay us."

Despite this wishful thinking, the consensus was: one Canadian dollar equals one American dollar.

Murray St. Observes 106th Birthday

All of us are faced with the problem of sin, the Rev. H. R. Nobles, president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, told the Sunday night congregation of Murray Street Baptist Church. And only God can deliver us from that sin, said Dr. Nobles.

Minister of Temple Baptist Church, Windsor, Dr. Nobles was guest preacher at the morning and evening services during the 106th anniversary services at Murray Street.

In the morning his subject was 'What Faith Can Do" and at the evening service he took the related theme "What God Can Do."

His text was the 13th verse of the 1st Chapter of the Apostle Paul's Epistle to the Colossians: "Who hath delivered us from the powers of darkness and hath translated us into the Kingdom of his dear Son."

Only God Has Power

There is only one way to deal with the problem of sin, said Dr. Nobles. No scientist and no philosopher has the answer; only God can "deliver us from the powers of darkness and translate us into the Kingdom of his dear Son."

"Christ was and is and ever will be the most satisfactory interpreter of life there ever has been."

The problem of sin and evil exists: we must face it, said Dr. Nobles. "It has been truly said that 'the soul that sinneth it shall surely die'. There is nothing worse than to see a soul die, i.e., see a person lose the capacity for faith and lose touch with the living God."

"What can God do for us in this strange world that often gets the better of us and never ceases its relentless attacks on us"?

Dr. Nobles said we often lose our way in sloth, worthless conduct and other un-Godly acts and we grope "like blind men seeking the light." It is then that God "delivers us from the powers of darkness."

"When the things of earth have failed us God gives us the help of another world."

God takes enemies and makes them friends; cowards and makes them brave. He takes spiritually sick people and makes them well "delivering them into the Kingdom of God."

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan officiated at the service.

Special music was provided by Keith Girard, a Toronto flautist and scholarship student at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. John Moore of Reaboro who has won honors at both Toronto and Peterborough music festivals, was guest soloist.

A fireside hour with a special musical program followed the evening service.

At 2.30 p.m. today begins the spring rally sessions of the Peterborough Association of Baptist Churches. Miss Lois Tupper, dean of Women's Leadership School, McMaster University, will be guest speaker. And tonight at 8 p.m. Dr. Nobles will be guest speaker.

PROPERTY FOR SALE

The sign on the former premises of the Full Gospel Pentecostal Assembly on Water St. was taken down this morning. The congregation has moved to their new church on Dublin St. The sign was set up about 20 years ago when the members acquired the property that is now for sale. An offer of purchase is being considered.

GRENFELL MISSION

Police Investigate Two Breakins

Provincial police are investigating two break-ins near the city over the weekend—one at Smith Transport office in North Monaghan township; the other at Heck's Bait Shop, on the southern outskirts of Lakefield village in Smith township.

An undisclosed amount of cash and merchandise was taken from the transport office. Company officials and O.P.P. Corporal Jack Munro today are going over the inventory to see what is missing.

Saturday night one of the transport-trailers, left unguarded on the parking lot, had the covering tarpaulin partly removed. Company officials say they don't know if anything was taken.

A rear window was forced to gain entry.

Fishing Reels

Seven fishing reels, with a retail value of $150, were taken from Heck's Bait Shop sometime after dark Saturday night. The loss was noticed by the proprietor when he went to the shop Sunday morning.

Five of the reels were spring reels: one Luxor, one Mitchell, one C.A.P., one Swiss-Whiz, and the fifth was a Duco. The two casting reels were a Phlueger Skil-Cast and a Heddon Dowagiac.

The thief or thieves got into the small shop which is located by the side of Highway 28 by forcing a front window. O.P.P. Contable Tom Fitzpatrick is investigating.

Red Faces

City Hall clocks were probably the last ones in the city to be moved ahead when Daylight Saving went into effect. Chief Janitor Earl Hope explained today rather shamefacedly why. Sunday morning he moved the master clock 15 minutes ahead. The mechanism of other clocks in the building is self-adjusting for time errors up to 15 minutes and he planned on making up the hour by moving the master clock ahead by 15 minutes four times. However, the other clocks moved back instead of forward, and it was 2 p.m. before he managed to untangle the time mixup and get all the clocks adjusted properly.

3 In Hospital 4 Others Hurt In City Accidents

Three persons required hospital treatment and four others received minor injuries in city traffic accidents during the weekend.

Struck by a car driven by Robert Killingbeck, 548 Sherbrooke St., on Monaghan Rd., Sunday afternoon, four-year-old Dorothy Bertrand, 551 O'Connell Rd., was taken to the Peterborough Clinic and treated for a broken right leg.

Constable Eldon McDonald who investigated reported that Killingbeck was driving north and saw four children start across the road from the west side. He said he stopped, then started up just after a southbound car driven by W. Mitchell, 559 Monaghan Rd., drove slowly past the children. The children ran out from behind the Mitchell car, and the Bertrand child ran into the side of Killingbeck's car.

Two Hurt

Two persons were taken to hospital after a two-car accident at Charlotte and Rubidge Sts., which attracted a large crowd Sunday evening.

Mrs. Margaret McCormick, 1226 Clonsilla Ave., was taken to Civic hospital where it was learned she had a fractured collarbone.

Mrs. McCormick was a passenger in a car driven by J. E. Dyble of the same address, who was driving east on Charlotte St., when his car was in collision with a northbound Rubidge St. car driven by Ross A. Fleming, R.R. 8, Peterborough.

Fleming was also taken to hospital and treated for shock. Mrs. Dyble, received cuts on her right knee and head, and Colin Dyble, 7, and Barbara Dyble 9, were treated for slight cuts and bruises but did not require hospital treatment.

Both cars were damaged considerably in the collision. Constables W. A. Scott and Eldon McDonald investigated.

Car, Motorcycle Hit

Leslie Northey, Millbrook, is recovering in hospital from a bruised leg, brush burns and a scalp cut received Saturday afternoon when his motorcycle was in collision with a car at Monaghan Rd., and Charlotte Sts.

According to police, the car, travelling north on Monaghan Rd., was driven by Di Ilio Nicola, 591 Downie St., and ended up on top of a stop sign at the north-west corner of the intersection.

Northey was travelling west on Charlotte St., when the accident occurred in the intersection.

There were no injuries, but damage to the vehicles was extensive when three cars were involved in a collision at Charlotte and Park Sts., Saturday afternoon.

As Samuel Fama, 628 Brown St., was driving his panel truck south on Park St., a car travelling west on Charlotte St., was passing through the intersection and the two vehicles collided.

After the collision, the car, driven by Cyril Glover, 620 Homewood Ave., and the truck swung over to the south west corner of the intersection and struck a car driven by Mrs. Mina Blewett, 615 Bolivar St., which was stopped for the red light, facing east.

The front ends of the Glover car and Fama's truck were damaged considerably, while the car Mrs. Blewett was driving received slight damage. Patrol Sergeant Claire McGillen and Constable Sherman Keliele investigated.

Baby Scalded To Death Mother, Brother, Sister Burned As Stove Upsets

Brother Given Only 50-50 Chance To Live
Only Father In Garden Of Home In Lindsay Escapes Accident

LINDSAY, April 28. (ENS)—A 4½-months-old baby is dead, her mother, brother and sister are in hospital, after a kettle of boiling water upset, scalding all four. Dead is Lynn Hanes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hanes, St. Patrick St., Lindsay. Her arms, legs, back and face were badly scalded late Sunday afternoon, and she died in hospital about midnight.

On the critical list, and given only a fifty-fifty chance to live is her two-year-old brother Billy, whose legs, face, arms, left side and back were scalded severely.

Mrs. Hanes, 22, was badly scalded from the waist down, and will have to spend at least two weeks in hospital.

Suzanne Hanes, 3, suffered only slight scalds, but will be in hospital a week.

Playing Near Stove

All the family but Mr. Hanes, 23, were in the kitchen at the time of the accident. Mrs. Hanes was sitting in a rocking chair in front of the stove, holding Lynn in her arms. Billy and Suzanne were playing near the stove, a small, two-burner rangette.

Mr. Hanes said he was in the garden and heard screams. He ran into the house to find the stove overturned, and his wife and children in agony on the kitchen floor.

He said he believed Billy, while playing near the stove, grabbed at the oven door and somehow upset the stove, tipping the large kettle of boiling water directly on to his mother and Lynn.

Mr. Hanes telephoned Ross Memorial Hospital, and an ambulance came to take the three injured children and their mother to hospital. Dr. H. G. Metcalfe gave first aid before they were taken away in the ambulance.

At hospital, both Lynn and Billy were placed in oxygen tents, and the boy is still in one.

Hanes, a machinist at a Lindsay steel company, originally came from Peterborough. He has lived in Lindsay for the past few years.

Collegiate Afire Most Damage Done By Water

COBOURG, April 28—(ENS)—Water damage is heavy at Cobourg Collegiate, after a minor fire today damaged the roof and attic of the old section of the school.

The fire started in the chimney and sparks spread from it to the wood-shingled roof of the old section, at the northeast corner. When firemen arrived, the blaze had settled in the attic, but their quick work prevented it from spreading farther.

Close School

Grade 13 students, in a science class, smelled smoke, and their teacher, Norman Massey, turned in the alarm. The school will be closed until Thursday, when classes will resume.

Pupils, most of them thinking it an ordinary fire drill, marched in orderly fashion from the school. After the fire was under control, they were given permission to go in and bring their books out. Books were heaped on the walk in front of the school, and there was a mad scramble for recovery once they were all out.

Shortly after the fire was put out, a second alarm called the fire department to the town dump, where some plastics were on fire. The blaze was not serious and was controlled quickly.

Will Decide Festival Future

SAINT JOHN, N.S., April 28—(CP)—D Park Jamieson, of Sarnia, honorary chairman of the Dominion Drama Festival, said Sunday that the future of the festival "will be decided during the next few days right here in Saint John."

While the organization faced a serious financial problem, Mr. Jamieson said there was every reason to believe that the festival would continue to operate and grow as one of Canada's truly great cultural events.

Executive meetings will be held this week and important decisions regarding the festival's future will be reached at a meeting of the governors Friday.

"We have been going ahead in all departments but finances," the honorary chairman said. "We are at the crossroads and we must now go forward or backward. We cannot continue to operate on a shoestring."

RCR's End Year Of Solid Service In Korea

By BILL BOSS

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 28 (CP)—(By Mail)—The Royal Canadian Regiment's spit-and-polish customs are a by-word in the Canadian Army.

The 2nd Battalion, which arrived in Korea last May, not only has retained them but is noted in the theatre for its ability to kid itself about them.

One of the favorite regimental songs, sung to the tune of "Maryland," begins:

"The R.C.R. will never fight
"Unless its brass is shining bright, . . ."

With the end of their year's served here in sight—already companies of the regimeont's 1st Battalion have begun to arrive—the 2nd Battalion has added a sly new verse:

It starts:

"The R.C.R. shout 'never fear
"We will not fight now Bingham's here . . ."

"Bingham," of course, is Lt.-Col. Peter Bingham of Petawawa, Ont., commanding officer of the 1st Battalion. His troops ultimateluy will replace those of Lt.Col. Gordon Corbauld of New Westminster, B.C., C.O. of the 2nd Battalion.

Its year in Korea has afforded the R.C.R. the sort of campaigning that makes a sense of humor a Godsend.

Wasted No Time

The regiment kicked off into the fighting soon after landing early in May. By the middle of the month it was spearheading the Eighth Army's drive north of Uijongbu, chasing the Communists north of the 38th parallel.

The skirmish-chase was followed by aggressive patrolling north of Chorwon during June and early July. Deep raids across the Imjin river marked later July and August, while in September and October the battalion participated in "Operation Commando," which advanced the U.N. line 12,000 yards forward to roughly its present position.

During November negotiations at Panmunjom for possible cease-fire line the Communists were determined, if possbile, to throw the Allies off a series of ridges dominating vital roads. Possession of the ridges and control of the roads might have enabled them to dictate a line much more favorable to them.

Against the R.C.R. they launched the first of a succession of probing attacks, looking for a weak point upon which to turn the Commonwealth Division's front.

Lieut. Ed Mastronardi of Toronto won the Military Cross in that Nov. 2 engagement, when his platoon solidly blocked them. They never again seriously bothered the R.C.R. during that phase.

During the boring period that followed—broken only by aggressive patrolling—the battalion kept the men on their toes and happy.

Set Up Rest Centre

The second-in-command, Maj. Jack Peterson of St. Thomas, and formerly of Peterborough, set up a one-day rest centre where one or two platoons a day, as circumstances permitted, were withdrawn for a few hours, showered, barbered, fed and entertained in the finest set-up in the division.

Throughout they were reminded that they were "Royal Canadians." A sign beside a mucky, cratered road asked them "are your shoes polished?" Another asked "is your brass shining?" They were kept on their toes—and they loved it.

At Christmas-time there was a change of command. Lt.-Col. R. A. Keane of Port Arthur, and Ottawa, who had raised and trained the unit, was transferred to army headquarters and relieved by Corbauld.

Keene had several times commanded the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade during absences of Brig. John Rockingham.

During the period between Sept. 4, when they returned to the line after a summer period of quasi-reserve, and Jan. 18, when they were finally pulled into winter reserve, the R.C.R. shared with other units in the brigade the distinction of having served continuously in the front line longer than any other Canadian troops in either First or Second World Wars.

Now they are about to take over Camp Petawawa, where an advance party under Peterson has been since last March.

Deaths In Eastern Canada Total 15 Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Seven persons killed in traffic accidents during the sunny spring weekend brought the toll of deaths in Eastern Canada to 15. Six of those killed were children under 16 years of age.

A Caandian Press survey early today showed 11 persons killed in Ontario, two in Quebec and one each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Five persons were drowned and three others met death in other mishaps.

Norman Topham, not quite two years old, was killed when an auotomobile mounted the curb of a street in London, Ont., and crushed his baby carriage.

At Centralia, also in Western Ontario, Dennis McNeill, 20 months, toddled in front of a moving car and was killed. Lise Larne, 5, was struck and killed by a car as she was crossing a highway 25 miles east of Montreal.

Children Drown

Richard Collett, 7, fell into the Lachine Canal at Montreal and was drowned. Barry Campbell, 10, was drowned in a creek near his home at Cainsville, near Brantford.

In Saint John, N.B., 15-year-old John Goddard died of apparently minor injuries suffered while playing.

Mrs. Doreen Anger was found dead on the floor of her apartment at Port Dalhousie, near St. Catharines. Cause of death is still unknown.

William Clark, 81, a retired railroad telegrapher, was struck and killed by a train while on his Sunday walk at West Lorne in Western Ontario. At Brampton, north of Toronto, Percy W. Herron, 72, was killed when he walked into the side of an automobile.

Mrs. Bernice Mikalaukas, of Vienna, Ont., was struck and killed by a car near Port Burwell on the north shore of Lake Erie.

Near Windsor, N.S., James A. Miller, 25, of Three Plains, was killed when his auto left the road and ran into a river. Lindsay Deauvais, 39, of Cornwall, was fatally injured when the truck in which he was riding ran into the ditch 20 miles east of his home.

The body of Phillip J. Maddern was recovered from the Grand River at Brantford. Two bodies were pulled out of the Welland Canal near Port Colborne. Mrs. Elsie Hughes and Charles James Rae had been missing for more than a month.

Highway Nuisances

AMHERST, N. S.—(CP)—Among other highway menaces are the drivers who dump garbage along the main highway in Cumberland County. Unsightly piles of garbage along the roadway led officials to warn that drastic action will be taken against offenders.

Hot Sales Talk

LONDON (CP)—A salesman threw his own hat into a corner of a customer's office here, poured some gasoline over it set it ablaze. Without a pause in his sales talk, he then produced a fire extinguisher and put out the flames. He got his order.

Hitler's Memorial Remains No-Man's Land By Red Order

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, April 28 — (AP) — A strange and desolate memorial to Hitler has been created by Russian order in East Berlin.

This is the plot of ground, two city blocks square, where the Reich Chancellory stood and where the underground bunker protected Hitler and his intimate until his suicide and the fall of Berlin, just seven years ago.

Everything has been razed. Nothing is built on this plot, the most valuable downtown site in Berlin.

Everywhere else in East Berlin the Communists are trying to reconstruct. Grandoise plans for huge building projects have been drawn for a half-dozen areas. Work has started.

There is no plan for laying even one brick on the Reich Chancellory acres. None is contemplated. There might as well be a huge sign saying: "Look, Germans, at what happens when the might of the Soviet Armies is challenged."

Rubble workers have been chipping away at the remains of Hitler's bastion since 1945. Piece by piece, the stone and marble has been carted away.

The bunker roof and sentry tower are the last "whole" pieces left. One afternoon's work would get rid of them. The order is never given.

Communist people's police are on watch duty on either end of the no-man's-land. Their job is to keep people away.

The lid of Hitler's bunker has long since been lifted, revealing the tiny underground cells in which he lived for months before he and Eva Braun committed suicide April 30, 1945.

The network of 30 rooms was set afire by S.S. Guards after the bodies of the suicides were burned in the garden outside the bunker entrance.

For the first few weeks after Allied entry to Berlin the bunker was visited by many persons. Then, without explanation, the Russians forbade any visits and blew it shut.

Censors Ban Only 2 Films

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP) — Ontario's motion picture censors rejected only two United States feature films during the year ended March 31 and found most films "in good taste."

The motion picture censorship and theatre inspection branch said in its annual report: "less material of an objectionable character was observed than ever before."

No films from Britain or elsewhere were rejected. The two banned U.S. films "were lewd in content" and the board felt they were beyond treatment. The banned films were not named.

"Both of these were made by independent companies not associated with the Motion Picture Producers Association of America and, therefore, not subject to the self-policing agency of the organization."

U.S. Jet Strikes Bank Building

BROADSTAIRS, Kent, England, April 28—(AP)—A flaming United States Thunderjet fighter hurtled into a bank building here Sunday killing the pilot and an elderly couple and injuring several others.

The blast of flame that brought down the building around the burning plane belched into an adjoining home and critically burned a housewife cooking her Sunday dinner.

The dead couple were in their flat above the bank's offices. The explosion collapsed the structure like a direct bomb-hit.

Flames surged from the plane's bursting fuel tanks into two more homes on the street.

Mrs. B. Fitchett offered her home for the next meeting with the program committee to be composed of Mrs. E. Huycke and Mrs. M. McComb, and the lunch committee to be Mrs. Don Massey, Mrs. Gerald Philip and Mrs. Charles Puffer.

Mrs. Lorne McComb and Mrs. Clifford Herrington conducted the following program: piano solo by Mrs. L. Dordge; Mrs. A. M. Crown Attorneys Want Increase

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP) — Ontario's Crown attorneys want more money for their work as full and part-time counsel.

Meeting here Saturday, the Crown Attorneys Association of Ontario set up a joint committee to study and prepare a case for increases both to salaried Crown counsel and those who do court work for the province on a fee basis.

Part-time Crown attorneys are permitted to retain up to $6,000 of fees collected annually and 50 per cent of fees over that figure.

A. D. Bell, of Chatham, said that in many cases the income of lawyers receiving fees for Crown work is greater than that of full-time Crown attorneys.

Alex Hall, of Oshawa, said Attorney-General Dana Porter has said there will be an increase for full-time Crown attorneys this year.

Believes Nazi Sub Loaded By Forster

BERLIN, April 28—(CP)—A former German Army courier said Sunday a sunken U-Boat found off Denmark is probably one that Albert Forster, then a Nazi party district leader in Danzig, organized for the flight of high Nazis in 1945.

Erich Sperling, 47, said in an interview that he was on duty in Danzig toward the close of the war and watched Forster's staff load a big submarine for a long trip.

The submarine located off Denmark April 22 was sunk by the R.A.F. ini 1945. Its torpedo tubes contained food.

Forster was apparently not on board the submarine when it was sunk. Sperling said Forster may have elected to land in Denmark, while the other U-boat passengers proceeded to destruction.

HERE'S PROOF...

"GET THIS"

"NOT THIS"

The pistons, rings, and cylinder walls of a motor will tell the story . . . and prove that Peerless Heavy Duty Detergent Motor Oil actually washes your motor while you drive. Compare the clean, smooth pistons of a car that's been using Peerless Heavy Duty Detergent Motor Oil with those of a car that's been using some ordinary oil. The detergents in Peerless Heavy Duty Detergent Motor Oil keep all the sludge, varnish, carbon and impurities in harmless suspension throughout the oil . . . they can never solidify and cause scoring, pitting, corrosion and loss of power. These materials that are held in suspension are removed from the engine when the oil is changed. And by keeping your high-compression motor clean Peerless Heavy Duty Oil cuts down maintenance costs, gives longer engine life. For more proof—try it yourself in your own car. People Of Israel Celebrate Fourth Independence Day

By ERIC GOTTGETREU

TEL AVIV., April 28—(AP)—With prayers of thanksgiving, military parades and joyous folk festivals, the people of Israel will cellebrate their fourth independence day April 30.

In popular opinion it is an event ranking even higher than the "Zionist Congress" held last autumn for the first time in Jewish history in Zion itself—in Jerusalem.

Israel achieved political independence in 1948 in what her historians call "the war of liberation" against seven Arab states—following the U.N. decision to cut Palestine into Jewish and Arab territories, and the end of almost 30 years of British mandate.

Israel still has not achieved economic independence and is not yet self-supporting.

Needs Millions

Because of the self-imposed task of the "ingathering of the exiles" Israel still needs hundreds of millions of dollars.

Premier David Ben Gurion recently told a group of visitors Israel will need another six years to achieve onomic independence.

What has already been achieved is no mean achievement. Most of the 700,000 newcomers from 69 countries have already been absorbed in Israel's expanding industry, commerce apd agriculture.

On the credit side of Israel's balance sheet are the first effects of the United States point four program help ($65,000,000 for 1951 1952); the additional cultivating of 250,000 acres of land and the founding of 54 more settlements; the agreement with the "Palestine Potash Company" for resumption of the Dead Sea exploitation; the preparation for large-scale oil and mineral exploration in the Negev desert and the rapidly progressing irrigation of semi-arid zones.

Severe Inflation

On the debit side is a severe inflation which has increased prices even for essentials by 100 to 200 per cent. Salaries have not risen accordingly. There is still an unsatisfactory food situation with a corresponding deterioration of the general health level.

There is, however, no starvation, no famine. The worst seems to be over on the food front and nutrition prospects appear to be somewhat brighter.

Apart from political opposition from left to right—the public as a whole has taken new government policies with understanding and calm.

DOROTHY DIX

Need Wisdom And Patience When You Share Home

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there nothing to be said in favor of a widowed mother living with a married daughter? Judging from the attitude taken most people toward this question, one would think it nothing short of criminal.

I was a widow when my only daughter married several years ago and went quite a distance away to live. My life was very busy at the time, as I took my aged parents into my home and cared for them until they died. Now I maintain my home and derive some income from it, but it is both a physical and financial struggle for me.

On the other hand, my daughter who is very happily married, is quite tied down with four children. She has no outside help except for an occasional baby-sitter. We could be a help to one another. If I sold my home and went to live with them (and they assure me there is always a room waiting for me) the financial sacrifices would all be on my side, and perhaps I shouldn't be doing that at the age of 60. I would not be dependent upon them entirely. I do feel, however, that life is too short to be away from those we love, but I would never want to bring discord into their home. A. S. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is a very great deal to be said in favor of a mother living with a daughter, and about the only thing against it is simple, human cussedness. Few people are willing to make the adjustments necessary to a workable solution of the problem. From the facts you present, and granting that your daughter and son-in-law are as intelligent and thoughtful as you, the combined family should be an outstanding success. Your daughter could certainly use the assistance of an understanding mother, and you are too wise to inflict unsought advice, or to try to monopolize her time or attention.

Be Willing To Compromise

The reason most three-sided households are not successful is that one, at least, of its members is too demanding, too unwilling to compromise. Mother considers that she still wields authority over daughter, or that the young people should never go out without her, or entertain company by themselves. Daughter, all too frequently, thinks she can have an unhampered social life because grandma is around to take care of the youngsters. Son-in-law resents every move Mom makes and refers to her, even before the children, as a battle-ax. No household can endure in harmony with so many conflicts.

But what a small job of readjusting will do! Mother takes her place as the third member of the family with no resentment. After all, she had her day of authority and it is only right that the reins of government should now be placed in younger hands. The young couple defers to her as a matter of good manners, and a result of good upbringing. The grandchildren are taught to do the same. Daughter is glad to have the assistance of another pair of hands, but doesn't try to inflict a burdensome share of the work onto the older woman. Son-in-law, too, is happy to see his wife less harrassed and with more time to go out with him. Why can't it work out?

If you do go to live with your daughter, don't give up all your own activities. Don't become entirely dependent on your daughter and her family for amusement or entertainment. Take an occasional vacation by yourself, or with friends. Getting away once in a while will give you a chance to keep your perspective and independence, and give your family a chance to miss you. Best of luck to a very wise and sensible woman!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm going steady with a girl who has a bad habit of acting up all the time. I've threatened to break with her if she doesn't stop, but I know I'm too much in love to carry out my threat. What can I do with her? K.K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Read "The Taming of the Shrew." Will Shakespeare had methods of handling headstrong women that are wise to this day.

If you marry the girl and let her continue to rule your life with her tantrums, you're in for a sorry fate. No matter how deep your love, it won't last long under such adverse conditions. Either reform her now, or give her up!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 25, about to be married, and have just one major worry. When I was quite young, my gums became infected and it was necessary for me to have all my teeth extracted. I'm terribly self-conscious about this handicap, and have never let anyone know of it. My fiance, of course, doesn't know, and I'm afraid if I tell him he'll call off the wedding. Do you think I could conceal my affliction when we're married! WILMA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I don't advise trying to keep so serious a matter secret. A man who truly loves you is not going to let you down over a matter of dentures. Eventually he is bound to find out, and will be terribly hurt at your secrecy. I know it will be hard to tell him; perhaps your mother could handle this detail better. Don't put it off any longer, and you'll have a much easier conscience.

Says Posture Aid To Healthy Body

LONDON —(CP)—Most women don't know how to carry themselves properly, says Charles Neil, chief instructor at a London centre for physical and mental re-education.

Some don't even know the right way to push a baby carriage, says Neil. Many mothers push the pram with the head back and chest thrown forward.

"All wrong," says 36-year-old Neil. "Carry the head level and push with the whole body."

Another tip: let your body sag while car shopping bag, you're just making things harder for yourself. It's less tiring to walk erect, spreading the strain over the body."

And never pick things up without bending the knees just to save your stockings. The knees are bent much more when you sit down.

Petite Doctor Rides Ambulance

MONTREAL — (CP)—Florence Nightingale on wheels—that's Dr. Dagmar Vosu, new Canadian from Estonia, who rides the ambulances at the Western division of the Montreal General Hospital.

The petite, five-foot-two, blue-eyed doctor has a degree from Tartu University in Estonia, but, like most foreign doctors hoping to practise in Canada she has to put in a year's internship before she can sit for qualifying exams.

Recently she has been answering the hospital's ambulance calls —anything from industrial accidents and fires to highway accidents and suicides.

A short time ago she was called upon to treat a man who had slit his throat and wrists.

Asked if she became nervous on calls, Dr. Vosu said:

"Why I've never been nervous in my life. True spectators seem surprised when they see a woman doctor, but most think I am a nurse and the patient doesn't worry about my sex—he's anxious to get medical treatment from man or woman."

She grabs 40 winks while on night emergency but claims, "I can get dressed in a split second when a call comes through . . . no pin curls though."

Married since 1940, Dr. Vosu's husband has been working as a designer since their arrival in Montreal last year.

Tiny Prematures Risk Blindness

WINNIPEG, (CP). — A new cause of blindness, an offshoot of modern medical facilities, is striking human beings, says Lt.-Col. E. A. Baker of Toronto.

Addressing a service club, the managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind said the blindness has been found in infants born more than two months premature and weighing less than three pounds.

Though advanced medical facilities such as incubators now make it possible for premature babies to live, many are becoming blind because their eyes haven't developed properly, he said.

The new blindness was an increasing problem but no cure had been found for it.

Col. Baker said 80 per cent of the blind persons lose their sight in adult life and 50 per cent is caused by ill health which has been neglected.

The Colonel said there now are about 19,000 blind persons in Canada. He, himself, lost his sight in the First World War and was one of the original Institute founders.

"Our biggest job is to prove to sighted people that the blind can do the things they want to," he said.

"I like to think that in accomplishing so much and showing such fortitude the Canadian blind have furnished inspiration to other handicapped people in Canada."

BANCROFT

BANCROFT, April 28 (ENS)—Provincial Constable R. J. Rackham, photographic and finger-print expert at Belleville district headquarters, was the speaker at the April meeting of Bancroft Public School Home and School Association, held in the school on Thursday evening.

To a large audience, including the highest percentage of fathers for years, Constable Rackham told many of the interesting parts of his work, in a manner that held the attention of everybody for every second. Briefly tracing the history of fingerprinting, he mentioned that more than 1,000 years ago Chinese monarchs used thumb-impressions to identify some of their valuable documents. Improvements, changes and innovations were added and our present system came to Canada after various ideas had been tried in Italy, Germany, Japan, Brazil and England.

Coming to fairly modern times the speaker related how Scotland Yark adopted the system of classifying prints into nine general patterns in 1897 an dintroduced it in their regular routine in 1901. In 1904 the system was brought to Canada and in 1911 it was first used as a means of positive identification in a Canadian court.

A number of pictures were used to illustrate the talk. After the regular meeting Constable Rackham gave a practical demonstration of how the police locate finger prints that are not evident to the naked eye.

Corporal A. F. Grayling of the Bancroft O.P.P. detachment introduced the speaker. During his introductory remarks he spoke of the large number of bicycles in the village and told the parents that they should do everything possible to teach their children the traffic regulations of the province.

President Mrs. J. N. Brown reported that the plans for a public health nurse for the elementary

Panel Discusses Growth Policies Of Nursing

TORONTO, April 28 — Policies and practices conducive to the growth of nursing as a profession, and the nurse as individual, were thoroughly discussed by a panel of nine experts at the concluding sessions of the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario annual meeting Saturday.

More than 800 nurses, repre-fession, and from all parts of the senting all branches of the province, listened in on the panel on How Effective Are You in Your Job?

Improved service to the community, better health for more people, the human factor in relationships between the nurse and others participating in the health team, and the concept of the group working with, not over or under others, are among recognized essentials in achieving the goal of more effective service, it was stressed by panel members.

Very definite progress is being made in allowing students more initiative in the training period, said Miss Gladys Sharpe, director of nursing at the Toronto Western Hospital school.

Building friendly relationships in industry through health services is an effective and subtle thing, said Miss Meldred Walker senior nursing consultant industrial health division. "The well established health service can be a liason between labor and management," she said.

An "open heart" policy, rather than the somewhat overworked open door, "anyone-can-come-and-talk-to-me-at-any-time," approach in human relationships was advocated by Dr. L. O. Bradley, executive secretary, Canadian Hospital Council stressing the need of understanding.

There must be recognition of authority without authoritarianism in the direction of others, maintained Mr. F. C. Toombs, associate professor of the institute of bussiness administration.

Miss Sharpe was re-elected president. Other officers elected were: vice-president, Bianca M. Beyer and M. Pearl Stiver, secretary-treasurer, Florence H. Walker. Committee chairman: institutional nursing; Jessie E. Young, Kitchener; private nursing, Sophie Holmes, Toronto; public health, Margaret McLachlan, Barrie.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

1952 Ham Pie Suggested To Use Up Leftover Ham

It was my definite intention to run some stuff on using up the end of the leftover ham the week after Easter, and I overlooked it.

Maybe I can get back into my own good graces by giving it to you now—two weeks later. You will be having a ham again, you [illegible] end of it leftover; you will be wondering if it's going to last forever.

You need never get into that jam for leftover ham runs chicken a close second in being the most versatile of all cooked meats. Clever treatment makes some "made" ham dishes even better than the original—regardless of its Easter trappings of glaze and garnish.

My old friends will know I am using admirable restraint in not repeating my all-time favorite — Guiche Lorraine (Ham Custard Pie to the uninitiated) If I arouse your curiosity by referring to it that is precisely what I intended. You gals with that kind of savvy can drop me a note and I'll fill the gap.

1952 Ham Pie

Filling: Two and one-half cups cooked ham cut into ½-inch cubes, 2 cups medium white sauce (see below), 4 sliced hard-cooked eggs, ½ to 1 cup lightly sauteed mushrooms. The sauce is made as you very well know, by melting 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, blending in 4 tablespoons flour, then stirring in 2 cups milk until thick. For a ham dish do not add salt, but do add 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. The ham and mushrooms are gently mixed into the made sauce and poured into the pastry-lined very large pie plate. Sliced eggs are arranged in a layer on top. Crust is sealed on, and should have plenty of pretty gashes to allow steam to escape and to look intriguing when you bring it to the table.

Special Pastry for Ham or Chicken Pies: Two and one-half cups sifted bread flour, 1½ or 3 teaspoons baking powder (amount depends on how porous and puffy you like the crust), 6 tablespoons butter or other good quality shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 egg yolks, ½ cup cold milk. Cut the shortening into the mixed dry ingredients until it looks like fine meal. Beat yolks, add milk to them, then with a fork stir them into the flour and shortening mixture. It forms a soft dough. Knead this gently on a floured board for one minute. Divide into 2 parts and roll out to fit large pie plate that is deep too, for meat pies should be at least 1 inch thick. When pie is assembled brush entire top with milk. Bake at 400 degrees Fahr. for about 30 minutes, or until filling bubbles through vents and the crust is golden.

The next offering is for casserole fiends. You'll recognize it as a winner by merely reading it through. It is one of those soul-satisfying cook-saving one-hot-dish beauties that many readers of this column constantly ask me to feature.

Ham and Potato Scallop

Five cups thinly sliced pared potatoes, 3 cups ham cut into strips about 1½ by ½ inch, 1 cup thinly sliced peeled onions, 3 cups well-seasoned white sauce. (See white sauce under Ham Pie and increase recipe by half and add another teaspoon Worcestershire—extra to that included.) Arrange the potatoes, ham and onions in alternate layers in large buttered casserole. Pour over white sauce; cover and bake at 400 degrees Fahr. for 1 hour or longer if potatoes are not tender. This amount serves 6. Your husbands will love me for this.

Blouses Keynote Summer Costumes

PARIS—(Reuters)—Blouses from the simple pique models to freshen up a morning tailor-made costume, through silk print blouses to formal models in organdy or lace are the keynote to variety in summer costumes this season.

Prices, starting at less than $3 go up to couture models which cost nearly as much as a dress itself.

Expert handling and a good cut have transformed the once nondescript blouse into one of the smartest items of the wardrobe.

Blouses with full billowing sleeves accentuate this summer's demand for a wasp waist.

Lanvin features frilled "dandy" shirtwaists of the early 19th century beaux.

These immaculately - tailored blouses in white batiste and linen feature prime high necks and long sleeves offset with frilly or pleated shirtfront ruffles.

Shantung and wild silk, besides small printed foulards and tie silks are smartly styled in soft dressmaker blouses, with gilets or bow necklines which offset tailored suit revers.

The cocktail or dinner blouse in crisp organdy replaces the frilly lingerie models in chiffon.

Indian Lass Queen Of Jukeboxes

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)—A buxom Indian lass who can't read a note of music is Queen of the jukeboxes.

Kay Starr, a girl with a big voice, spun the "wheel of fortune" into the country's No. 1 seller among popular records.

Capitol Records happily reports the Starr version already has hit the 1,000,000-mark and may go way over.

"Wheel of Fortune" is but the the latest hit in a series from the 29-year-old southern miss whose throaty, coon-shouting style once was tabbed uncommercial among the record people. Musicians and jazz purists had discovered her long ago when she weighed 165 pounds and was singing her tonsils out in saloons for $35 a week.

She was compared to the late Bessie Smith even then but that's as far as it went until Capitol signed her in 1947.

Kay and the famed Negro blues singer have similar styles—best described by a word widely used among musicians—gutbucket.

Got Early Start

She was born on an Indian reservation near Dougherty, Okla., but moved when she was three to Dallas, Tex. Her forebears are of Iroquois, Cherokee, Choctaw and Irish descent.

She was high school age when her family moved to Memphis—capital of the Blues. Even while a student at Memphis technical high school, she was good enough to be a featured soloist on a local radio station.

Summer vacations gave her a chance to sing with bands—one of them Joe Venuti's. When Kay finished high school at 17, she joined the famed jazz fiddler for a two-year tour.

Kay says Joe made one suggestion about her singing that she still thinks the most valuable she ever got:

"Old Joe told me to always sing loud. That way if I ever made a mistake the audience would blame it on the band."

She still sings loud, but with no mistakes.

Dieting has trimmed her figure to a svelte 120 pounds but not without much discomfort.

"I live on broiled lettuce," she moans.

That meant so much to me.

TAYLOR—In loving memory of our dear Dad, who passed away April 29, 1950.
The month of April is here again,
To us the saddest of all the year,
The blow was hard, the shock severe,

How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a vacant chair
No one can ever fill.

We who loved you will never forget.

Theft Hearing For 3 Youths

Preliminary hearing of two Oshawa youths, Joseph Rzamy, 20 and John F. Meagher, 20, both of 106 Stacey Ave., Oshawa, charged with breaking and entering Duffus Motors two weeks ago, began today.

Russell D. Humphries is defending Rzamy and Meagher who were stopped by OPP constable F. A. Clough, on Highway 2 west of Welcome about 2 a.m. April 14. They were in a car owned by the mother of William Rudyk, 406 Oliver St., Oshawa.

Rudyk is also charged with breaking and entering the garage, where an overturned safe was found in an upstairs office and police said two attempts had been made to crack it with a high explosive.

Constable Gerald Emmons arrested Rudyk, as he tried to leave from the building by a door at the south west corner.

Mr. Humphries elected trial by a higher court when the charges were read in police court today, and said he would consent to the same evidence applying to the charges against Meagher and Rzamy.

Former attorney general Gordon Conant will be defending Rudyk, when he appears for preliminary hearing later today.

40th Anniversary of Chapter Celebrated With Ceremony

Fortieth anniversary tea of the 57th Regiment Chapter, I.O.D.E., on Saturday afternoon, was a celebration that will carry through memory till the golden anniversary and after.

A beautiful candle-lighting ceremony carried out by past regents and closest living relatives of those unable to be present was the highlight, followed by the serving of the anniversary cake after the first cut was made by the eldest active member Mrs. T. W. H. Young, also a past regent.

The first regent of this chapter was the late Mrs. E. B. Clegg and her daughter Miss Doris Clegg of Toronto was present to light the candle. Second was the late Mrs. Georgia Eastwood and the candle was lighted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Eastwood. Miss Mary Medd officiated for the late Mrs. Duncan Walker, Mrs. M. E. Clarke for the late Mrs. J. C. Davidson, Mrs. D. B. Hall for her mother the late Mrs. T. Mills and Mrs. C. E. Newman for Mrs. C. S. Stapleton who was unable to be present.

The past regents who lighted their own candles were Mrs. R. G. Cottrell, Mrs. C. E. Jamieson, of Ottawa, Mrs. T. W. H. Young, Mrs. R. E. Clark, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. A. W. Turner of Stouffville, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore and Mrs. C. M. Scott.

Mrs. Hall gave a short resume of the chapter's history calling to mind the outstanding events and the fact it was the first I.O.D.E. Chapter in the city. These memories were emphasized with the playing of "Auld Lang Syne" at the conclusion.

Mrs. James McLeod, convener of the tea, had arranged the lovely setting for the ceremony and called upon each lady to perform her part.

About 500 ladies came during afternoon and the crowd was so large at the time of the ceremony that they could not all be accommodated in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room.

Ruby Red Symbols

As the ruby is the symbol of the 40th anniversary the cake was inscribed in ruby red icing on the white, and topped with red roses. Ruby red glassware was used for serving the cake and for the candle holders on the table and calla lilies and ruby red roses made up the tea table centrepiece.

The cake was served by Mrs. H. Dodds, Mrs. W. G. Howden, and Mrs. W. Hughes.

A register of the guests was taken by Mrs. G. Stewart. They were received by the present regent Mrs. M. E. Clarke and vice regent Mrs. C. E. Newman, assisted by regent of Municipal Chapter Miss Mary Medd. The tickets were taken by treasurer Mrs. Ronald Payne and returns of ticket sales by Mrs. L. Gilders.

An attractively patterned patchwork quilt was raffled and the winner was Miss Mary Allin of 1307 Monaghan Rd. Tickets on this were in charge of Mrs. R. G. Cottrell.

Some music in the background throughout the tea hours was played by Mrs. Adam Sands and Mrs. A. E. Barrie in turn.

Tea Room Assistants

Hostesses in the tea room were executive members Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. L. Foster, Mrs. R. Williams, Mrs. C. Whatley, Mrs. G. H. Moore, Mrs. F. Frape, Mrs. W. Hughes, Mrs. G. Groombridge, Mrs. C. H. Stuart and Mrs. R. A. Ford.

The ladies taking part in the candle-lighting also poured the tea with the exception of those filling other positions. The table had been arranged for this occasion by Mrs. A. G. Stock and she and Mrs. F. C. Haggart, Mrs. P. J. Latchford, Mrs. T. Stanley and Mrs. R. McWilliams attended the tea pourers.

Fear Rifts In South Africa May Threaten Defence Plans

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

CAPETOWN, April 28 (AP) — Western diplomats say they are beginning to fear that deepening rifts in this troubled land may threaten the west's plans for African-Middle East defence if war comes.

Some foreign envoys watching the situation have informed their home governments that, if South Africa is to do her part in Middle East defence, she first must solve her home-grown crises—the court row which has split the Union's whites and the race laws which have inflamed its non-whites.

The Union is committed to send armored troops to the Middle East if war flares. It is also expected to supply air, land and sea power to guard its own ramparts.

But westerners say they fear a government too busy trying to keep law and order at home will not be able to fulfill these obligations.

They also have expressed fear that the racial crisis will influence other Negro peoples, on whose co-operation Britain, France, Belgium and others would depend in wartime. These people, they contend, would be less willing to play ball with a western alliance including a country with race policies such as South Africa's.

Thinks Differently

The man who touched off the crises with his racial policies and his recent move to set up a parliamentary tribunal outranking the country's courts, apparently does not share this fear.

Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan has expressed conviction that if war against the Communists comes, South Africa's whites will forget their differences and rally to the country's cause.

Observers agreed that white camps, though split on the way Malan carries out his policies, are united behind his opposition to Communism. But they are uneasy over the clash between Malan's Nationalists and the moderate groups.

Opposition leaders say privately that their fight against the government may have to be carried to its "logical conclusion"—meaning civil war.

Gloves Off

In parliament a glove-off fight begins Wednesday between the government and the United and Labor opposition parties over Malan's bill to turn all the members of the senate and assembly into a supreme court to judge whether parliamentary acts are constitutional.

The legislation, which passed its first reading last Wednesday, was Malan's answer to the appeal court, which threw out his law restricting voting rights of colored (people of mixed blood) in the Cape Province.

The colored now are in a position to swing eight or nine constituencies in the Cape behind the United Party, Malan's chief parliamentary opposition. This, in the divided union, almost means they hold a balance of power.

The increasing tension has caused new cleavages.

In some areas long latent antagonism between English and Afrikaans has come into the open.

One example: United Party Provincial Councillor Alfred Every, discussing how to fight the Nationalists without breaking rules, said:

"We must use the same tactics they use on us—boycott them in business, ostracize them socially, have nothing to do with them."

$400 Damage In Crashes On Highways

Nearly $400 in damage was caused in three accidents over the weekend on local highways. Nobody was injured.

Saturday night a car driven by Melville Gillespie, 65, of Buckhorn, swung out onto the highway from a county road, a tenth of a mile north of Young's Point. Arthur Parker of Douro, driving north on Highway 28, tried to avoid an accident by going around Gillespie's car. Instead his left front fender hit the left rear fender of Gillespie's, causing $100 to each.

About $90 damage was caused after a collision Sunday afternoon between a car and a truck in the village of Warsaw.

Sideswipe

S. B. Chatten of the Grove School, Lakefield, was driving south on the village street when he came into sideswipe collision with a truck, driven by David Barr of R.R. 1 Warsaw.

Barr is said to have been shouting to an acquaintance on the street a moment or so before the accident.

The left front of the truck struck the front left fender of the car, glanced off, and then struck the left rear fender. About $100 damage was caused to the car and only about $5 to the truck.

OPP Constable J. G. Healey investigated both accidents.

Two cars in a funeral procession collided Sunday afternoon on Highway 7, five miles east of Peterborough. The car of Ronald Mahood, 21, of R.R. 4 Peterborough, collided with the rear of the car ahead, driven by George W. Kennedy, 54, of Bolivar St. About $90 damage was caused.

Both drivers were in the funeral cortege taking the body of Mrs. Hugh James Leason of R.R. 4, Peterborough, to Keene cemetery for burial after a funeral service in Lakefield.

Kennedy swung out to turn down a sideroad and Mahood collided with the rear of his car.

OPP Constable Tom Fitzpatrick investigated.

Thief Does Cleaning

BARRIE, April 28. (CP)—A thief donned an apron and flourish a mop while robbing Pryson's Grill today. He escaped with $1,100. The man entered via a small side window and moved about the restaurant in plain view of passersby as he cleaned out the till. The restaurant was supposed to be closed at the time.

Locate Soldiers Lost In Desert

ISMALIA, Egypt, April 28 — (Reuters) — Search planes today spotted seven British soldiers, lost for three days in the wastes of the Jordan desert.

The soldiers, an officer and six other ranks, were standing beside their vehicle, a self-propelled anti-aircraft gun.

They became lost during manoeuvres and a khamseen—violent sandstorm—hampered the search during the last 48 hours.

R.A.F. planes left Fayid airfield at dawn this morning. Middle East air force headquarters here announced the missing party had been located from the air in rough country surrounded by mountains. A land rescue party was on the way.

John F. Elliott

R.C.A.F. Officers Praise Rescue Work

SUMMERSIDE, P.E.I., April 28 (CP) — R.C.A.F. officers Sunday told how two men walked into a blazing Lancaster Friday and pulled clear several men who had been pinned by wreckage in the plane.

Four men were killed and eight injured, two seriously, when the big bomber, returning from a 600-mile flight from Goose Bay, overshot the runway and narrowly missed hitting the station's fuel depot. A fence stopped the four-engined plane from igniting the high-octane gasoline.

Three of the four killed were: Flt. Lt. Kenneth Edward Lussier, Ottawa, pilot; Flt. Lt. Walter James Norvall Burnett, Vancouver navigator and Cpl. Joseph Bernard Marcel Lachaine, Montreal. Their widows live in the station's married quarters.

Name of the fourth man was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Severely injured were: LAC. John Lewis Tupper, Wilmot Station, N.S.; Sgt. Walter Trimbee, Markham, Ont., and Cpl. Joseph Randolphe Chaisson, St. Leonards, N.B.

Others Injured

Slightly injured were: LAC. Milton Christopher Harris, Bear River N.S.; F.O. Donald Walter Beaton, Ottawa, and John C. Evans, Toronto, meteorological division, Transport Department.

Injured during rescue was AC. James Peter Doiron, Charlottetown.

Heroism of ground crew was supreme, one officer said. FO. Carson Spicer of Apple River, N.S., raced to the burning, broken fuselage to remove the crew members. Some were seriously injured and others nearly paralyzed with shock and fear.

FO. Robert Sinclair was another on hand at the wreck scene. In spite of the fact that the bomber's tanks might explode and fill the air with hissing gasoline, he continued searching the wreckage for the crew members.

He ordered a new election to be held soon. Sir Sadiq Mohammed Khan Abbasi, constitutional head of the state, took the step in consultation with the central governmen a Karachi.

LUCKY ESCAPE—Five-year-old John Cassidy was called the "luckiest boy in New Zealand" after a miraculous escape from drowning earlier this month. Unable to swim and with neither life jacket nor any other aid to keep him afloat he was in the sea for more than 30 minutes. He had fallen unnoticed from his father's launch into Rangitoto Channel outside Auckland harbor. He was picked up only because a woman in another boat thought she heard a child's voice calling "Daddy" from the sea and persuaded her husband to make a search. Little John, shown asleep in his crib with his toy boat after the ordeal, told his parents he had been sick while in the water, but he had not cried.

Child Survives Spell In Ocean

By D. W. LOCHORE
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — "The luckiest boy in New Zealand' 'is the name won by five-year-old John Cassidy.

Unable to swim a stroke, he fell from his father's launch into the Rangitoto Channel outside Auckland harbor on the evening of Easter Sunday. After being in the water more than 30 minutes without a life-jacket or any aid to keep him afloat, he was pickd up because a woman persuaded her husband to make a search when she thought she heard a child's voice calling "Daddy" from the sea.

John's disappearance was not discovered until his father's launch had almost reached its moorings two miles away at 5:30 p.m. The boy's father, Frank Sassidy, explained: "We were returning from a day's fishing and as dusk was coming on and it was getting chilly I sent my two boys into the cabin.

"But John, the young tyke must have got out through the forward hatch. As we were all cleaning fish aft, we did not notice him. Somehow or other he slipped off.

"We did not realize he had disappeared until Franky (his brother) asked where he was. Immediately we turned back and organized a search. I could hardly believe another launch party who told me nearly an hour later that John had been picked up in the meantime."

He "Falled In"

John's story was simple and to the point. "I went to paddle my meet in the water," he said. "Then I falled in, and the water went all over my head. I hit the side of the boat.

"When I came up, I floated on my back."

What did he think of while he floated: "I didn't think of anything," he said. "A lady pulled me out of the water.She gave me some bubber clothes. I'm not going to wear them every day."

John told his parents when he got home that he was sick while he was in the water, but he had not cried.

The child was rescued by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Macindoe, who were out fishing in a rowing boat. Mrs. Macindoe said she heard a voice calling "Daddy." At first her husband did not believe her, but after rowing around for five minutes, they found the boy floating on his back and still conscious.

When John reached home, the family doctor gave him a sedative and ordered him to bed. He went to sleep in his cot with his toy yacht beside him as if nothing had ever happened.

John proved quite unharmed by the experience. He and his parents have had many callers and received hundreds of congratulatory messages from all parts of New Zealand.

Going Tough For U.S. Athletes

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 — (AP). — Any suggestion that U.S. athletes may have an easy time in the Olympic Games next summer was vehemently denied in all languages, including the Scandinavian, at the rain-swept 1952 Penn relays.

Two Scandinavians and a trio of Canadians had a lot to say about the outcome of the meet and the outlook for the future in the big carnival which was considered extra-important because this is an Olympic year.

Denis Johansson, an exchange student from Finland at Purdue, made three of the best U.S. runners look a little silly in the Benjamin Franklin invitation mile. Big Roland Nilsson of Sweden, a University of Michigan student, easily won the discus throw and took second in the shot put. And three Canadians — John Ross of Oakville, Don McEwen of Ottaaw, and Jack Carroll of Montreal — running on Michigan relay teams completely dominated the longer college relays.

Royals Subdue Buffalo In Doubleheader

By The Associated Press.

Montreal Royals are following that old New York Yankees pennant formula — knock off your nearest rival.

Montreal, defending International League champions, took a double-header from Buffalo Bisons 4-3 and 3-1, Sunday, to strengthen their grip on first place. The defeats knocked Bisons from second into fourth place.

Hamp Coleman shaded rookie Al Yaylian in the opener. Coleman limited Bisons to six hits, including a home run by Yaylian. Rookie Jim Pendleton poled a three-run homer for the Royals.

Bud Roebuck checked the Bisons on four safeties in the second game. Royals sewed it up in the first on two-run single by Don Thompson.

Win Double-header

Syracuse Chiefs also won a double-header, but it took them nearly 6 hours before they defeated Springfield Cubs 9-8 and 2-1.

Syracuse won the opener in 14 innings when Carden Gillenwater singled with the bases loaded. The Cubs sent the game into overtime with a six-run ninth-inning uprising.

Hhe Chiefs pulled the seven-inning second game out of the fire in the last inning when pinch-hitter Frank Drews homered with two on and two out off Frank Marino.

Toronto Maple Leafs moved into second place, 1½ games behind Montreal, as they split a double-header with Ottawa Athletics. Ottawa won the opener 6-4 on five-run first-inning rally. Leafs took the nightcap 2-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Russ Bauers. Lew Morton drove in both runs on a homer and a single.

Rochester and Baltimore also divided a twin bill. The Red Wings won the first game 9-6, with Manager Harry Walker driving in four runs. Biltmore took the second 6-3, on the strength of a six-run third-inning rally that Marv Rickert featured with a grand-slam homer.

Repair Old Automobile

COPENHAGEN, April 28 — (Reuters) — What is believed to be the world's oldest automobile is being repaired. Mechanics hope to have it running in a few weeks. Built about 1886 by Hans Urban Johansen, a mechanic, and A. F. Hammel, an engineer, the car was found in a technical museum. The motor firm repairing it plans to run it on a mixture of gasoline and air. The Danish Royal Automobile club intends to send the car to the United States for the golden jubilee of the American Automobile Association.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Two of England's finest soccer teams — Manchester United and Tottenham Hotspur—will tour Canada in May and June.

Both Manchester United, winners of the English League championship Saturday, and Tottenham, league champions in 1950-51, have tough schedules lined up.

They will play against each other in Toronto June 14.

Manchester United is the most consistent soccer combination in England and has been runner-up for the league championship four times in five seasons since the Second World War.

Tottenham plays a speedy, short-passing game, popular with the fans. Manchester players "use a slightly longer ball" that the Hotspurs.

Edgar Dewhurst Hornsby, director of the Tottenham club, said his team is not making the trip for money but to cement soccer relations between England and Canada as well as the U.S.

Janet Peel of Oshawa set a Canadian Bowling Association Tournament record Saturday at Toronto, rolling a perfect 450 game during a three-game set of five-pin bowling. It was the first time a woman had rolled a perfect game in the 26-year history of the tournament.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League have purchased second-baseman Mike Goliat outright from St. Louis Browns. Goliat played for Toronto in 1949 and went to Philadelphia Phils with whom he competed in the 1950 world series. Last season he played with Baltimore and went to Browns via the waiver route in the off season.

Abe Yanofsky, Winnipeg's chess master, won the Stevenson Memorial Tournament Saturday at Southsea, Hampshire, England, in the fourth international chess congress. Thirty-eight experts took part in the matches.

Sparton Valor was put to the test Saturday with the top weight of 129 pounds but came through to win in fine style in the $60,000-added Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica, N.Y.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., downed Frank Starfaci of Flushing, N.Y., 8 and 7 in the 36-hole final Saturday of the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament at Pinehurst, N.C. It was Stranahan's third title in the event.

Revision Expected To Assist C.N.R. To Ease Debt Burden

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—Parliament is going to take its annual look this week at the operations of its—and Canada's — biggest business, the $2,300,000,000 Canadian National Railways

It's always an event when the C.N.R. executives undergo their annual examination by members of the Commons special railway committee, and this year some circumstances lend special interest to their appearance.

First is the prospect of a sweeping financial revision of the government-owned company, aimed at lightening the old debt burden that forces the C.N.R. into a chronic deficit position.

There is some likelihood of the government bringing in the recapitalization measure at this session, though it has been complicated by Finance Minister Abbott's budget proposal to tax the C.N.R. at the same rate as private companies.

Other Items

Other matters that will interest the committee are the C.N.R.'s position with respect to the currently developing program of national freight rate equalization; what it is going to do about costly competition from truckers, and the forthcoming new wage demands of its 120,000 employees.

Two other major crown companies will get their annual going-over from the committee. They are Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships, Ltd.

Now reaching its sessional peak, House committee work may soon be overshadowing the activities of parliament itself.

Major bodies already operating are the defense and external affairs committees, and some lesser ones also are sitting.

One of the most important politically, due to be set up shortly is the special committee that will work out a redistribution of Commons representation on the basis of the 1951 census.

In about a fortnight, the agriculture committee will get going. Attention will be focussed this year on a projected investigation into the causes of the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in cattle and the way the Agriculture Department has combated it.

Other groups soon to begin sessions are the annual public accounts committee, which will be reviewing government spending in the 1951-52 fiscal year, and a committee to study the activities of the National Film Board.

Flower Club Holds Meeting

OMEMEE, April 28 (ENS) — More than 50 Omemee and district horticulturists, at their regular meeting Thursday evening, heard talks from two Eastern Gladiolus Society men of Peterborough.

Fred Storey spoke first, prefacing his remarks with declaration that he who would raise gladiolus successfully must use his muscles freely. He dealt with the preparation and planting of the bulbs, the fertilization of the ground and spraying, giving a complete spray calendar.

Mr. Porter, Eastern Gladiolus Society president, dealt with the harvesting and storing of gladiolus bulbs. Some of Mr. Storey's pictures of glad specimens were then enjoyed.

Prize lists for the Omemee August show were distributed to the members. Mr. Storey was asked to judge the show. He consented to judge the flowers if he might be allowed to bring along a judge for the vegetables and his request was granted. The membership attendance prize for this month was glad bulbs including Florence Nightingale, Tivioli, Burma and Ravel.

To date 86 members are enrolled.

Pinza Refuses To Play Lover's Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (AP)—Ezio Pinza, the heartbeat of the dowagers, is back in Hollywood for another try at the movies. But this time he doesn't want to be typed as a lover.

"Naturally, producers thought of me only in terms of being a lover, after my role in 'South Pacific,'" he remarked. "But I don't always want to play romance. There aren't enough love stories as good as 'South Pacific'."

The famed bass played romantic roles in his first two starring roles. He frankly admitted that the pictures were not successful.

"It is like dealing with the writers of my television show," he remarked. "They bring you the first script and you say you cannot do it. You tell them how you want it and they go back and rewrite. But they are so in love with what they have written that they do not change it much. Finally, after several rewritings, you may get something like what you want to do.

Too Old For Lana

"In 'Mr. Imperium,' they started with a very old-fashioned story. Nobody could believe in it. Also, I think it was a mistake to cast me with such a young-looking girl as Lana Turner. I think I should be playing opposite a Barbara Stanwyck or somebody like that.

"I was not quite so dissatisfied with 'Slightly Dishonorable.' But the picture suffered because they had me playing a good guy in the first half of the picture and a bad guy in the second half."

Pinza added that he did not sign again with M.G.M., the studio that made the two films.

"They sent me the contract, but I would not sign it. They would not allow me to tear up the contract if I did not like the script. I will sign no more options for pictures. The studio has all the option, and I have none."

The middle-aged heart-throbber gets a departure from his romantic roles in his current film, "Tonight We Sing." He portrays Feodor Chaliapin, the noted Russian basso. It's a sentimental role for Pinza, who was once hailed as "The young Chaliapin". Pinza sang in minor roles while the older singer was starring at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The Real Thing

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—The screen kisses in Elizabeth Taylor's next movie will be the real thing. She's going to star opposite her new husband, Michael Wilding. Jules Goldstone, M.G.M. executive and Miss Taylor's manager, said they agreed to make a Hollywood picture together but details still have to be worked out.

GATHERING GRAIN—About 88,000,000 bushels of the 1951 wheat crop remained in the field when winter set in last fall in Saskatchewan. Modern harvesting machinery, such as operated by N. H. Pearce and his son Murray on a farm 12 miles northwest of Regina, are hard at work to bring in the record spring harvest. They are loading oats from their pull-type combine into their truck.

18 Plays Given At Festival

TORONTO, April 28—(CP)—The week-long one-act play festival of the Central Ontario Drama League ended Saturday with the presentation of three plays, making a total of 18 for the week.

The festival was intended as an opportunity for Ontario groups to stage and polish up their presentations. Because of this there were no awards. Adjudicator Edward Thommen of Niagara Falls, N.Y., summed up the week's performances and gave tips on speaking and acting.

Plays presented Saturday were: "The Unsatisfactory Supper," by Tennessee Williams and put on by the Sault Theatre Workshop; Susan Glaspell's "Trifles" by the Sudbury Little Theatre Guild and the comedy-farce "For Old Times' Sake," also by the Sault group.

French Plane Badly Riddled By Two Soviet Jet Fighters

2 Officials Fired From Board, Say Meeting "Rigged"

WINDSOR, April 29. (CP)—Frank Brobster, who requested an investigation of the management of East Windsor Hospital, was removed as chairman of the hospital board at a stormy five-hour meeting which ended early today. The Windsor Daily Star described the meeting as "rigged." Also unseated was Windsor Controller Hugh A. Simpson who has been an active supporter of Mr. Brobster in requesting a provincial government investigation of the hospital's management which is scheduled to get underway May 12.

The Windsor newspaper said in a newspage story that "it was common knowledge for days before the meeting that the two would be removed from the board."

New Chairman

John McKeon, Q.C., Windsor, was elected board chairman. He is legal adviser of Dr. P. J. G. Morgan, hospital superintendent.

Before the balloting took place, Mr. Simpson told board members that his presence on the board was the result of an agreement between the city and the hospital. The city had advanced $75,000 last July toward a building fund deficit on condition that it be allowed to nominate two board members.

"It is an ill-advised move to eliminate a representative of the city at a time when the hospital is under investigation. I am a nominee—not a stooge to be dominated by anyone. I will be heard and I will speak my mind."

Attorney-general Porter introduced legislation March 12 into the Ontario Legislature making it possible for the investigation to take place.

Report Clark Appointment Stirs Up Storm

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) —Gen. Matthew Ridgway's appointment to succeed Gen. Eisenhower drew mostly applause today, but Gen. Mark Clark, who gets Ridgway's old command, faced criticism in Congress.

In the Pentagon, the top-level reassignments—Ridgway from Far East commander to head of Allied forces in Europe, and Clark from chief of army field forces to Far East commander—were viewed by some officials as:

1. Results of a decision by President Truman to side with Gen. Omar Bradley instead of Eisenhower in choosing the new commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces.

2. Rewards to both Ridgway and Clark for past jobs well done.

The criticism of Clark came from Senator Russell Long (Dem. La.), a member of the armed services committee. He told a reporter he wants to review previous congressional investigations of Clark's Second World War record and may ask for a new inquiry.

Under Fire

Clark's crossing of the Rapido River during the Italian campaign has been under previous congregational fire. Bitter criticism of the manoeuvre was voiced by members of the Texas National Guard, which suffered heavy casualties.

"I was in that area with the navy at the time of the rapid crossing," Long said, "and I know that many of the officers with whom I associated did not think too highly of Clark's ability as a field commander. What we need in Korea now is a field, com-

Workers Battle Utah's Flood

SALT LAKE CITY, April 29—(AP). — Thousands of workers battled Utah's first flood crisis in history today, attempting to control surging streams fed by melting snow.

The flood waters knocked out a railroad bridge, ripped out a dam, drove families from their homes, blocked highway traffic and continued to spread over farmlands.

Streets in Salt Lake City were sandbagged into emergency canals to carry off the overflow from several canyons to the east in the Wasatch Mountains.

"This is the most dangerous flood situation the city has ever faced," said City Engineer Roy W. McLeese. "It's anybody's guess whether we can continue to control it."

Music Teachers Threaten Strike

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — A strike is threatened by the teachers and some of the 8,000 pupils of the Royal Conservatory of Music unless Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni is reinstated as principal.

Conservatory directors will meet Wednesday night to consider the resignations, arising from a shake-up proposal, of Dr. Mazzoleni and his brother-in-law, Sir Ernest MacMillan, who has been dean. Three teachers also have resigned.

The resignations stem from a proposed reorganization plan which it is reported, would put Dr. Mazzoleni in a lesser position to that of the present assistant principal, Dr. Arnold Walter.

Three Players Get Suspended Sentence

NEW YORK, April 29—(AP)—Suspended sentences were given today to three former University of Kentucky Varsity basketball players who pleaded guilty to conspiring to shave points in a National Invitation Tournament game in Madison Square Garden in 1949.

Judge Saul S. Streit said the university and coach Adolph Rupp "must share the responsibility."

The players, Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, members of Kentucky's "Fabulous Five" of 1948 and 1949, were placed on "indefinite probation."

Endicott Denies Saying Canada Aids Germ Warfare

LONDON, April 29 — (CP). — Dr. James Endicott of Toronto denied Monday he told Chinese newspapermen that Canada might be implicated in alleged germ warfare in Northeast China.

Endicott, former United Church minister, is in London en route home from a visit to China where he used to be a missionary. He is chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress.

April 15 the Moscow radio quoted him as saying some "infected insects" allegedly dropped in China may have been bred in Canada.

Endicott said in a telephone interview Monday that he had said no such thing. Newspapermen in Mukden had asked him about a story on Canadian bacteria experiments which had been published in a Montreal newspaper. He had said that article was "probably correct."

"But I made no statement I had knowledge the insects were bred in Canada," Endicott said.

He said he received a telephone call today from Toronto—he did not give the caller's name—saying External Affairs Minister Pearson planned to question him and possibly prosecute him for treason if he admitted the accuracy of Moscow radio's broadcast.

(April 24 Pearson said in the Commons at Ottawa that Endicott would be questioned. He said he hoped there was a law under which Endicott could be prosecuted if statements made abroad could damage Canada.)

Endicott said he will see Pearson soon after his arrival in Montreal, probably May 5.

While he denied say "infected insects" might have originated in Canada, Endicott said in a typewritten statement he believes there is "unquestionable and overwhelming" evidence the Americans are spreading anthrax, typhoid and cholera in China.

He said he stands by a statement made at a London press conference Thursday that he had found "clusters of insects" in China and that he examined many "germ" bombs.

Asked in today's interview whether the bombs might have been planted, Endicott said: "I have only my own ability to question the peasants (in their own language): I believe they were telling the truth." He said he is not a scientific or technical expert and what he had seen might be construed as "only a small piece of evidence."

Endicott resigned from the United Church in 1946 after a dispute with church officials on his political views. In a letter accompanying his resignation he said he intended to associate himself with the Communist movement in China.

U.S. Lawyer Changes Statement

Says Doesn't Claim Truman Holds Unlimited Powers

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(AP)—The government's chief lawyer in the steel seizure case said today he does not claim that President Truman holds unlimited powers.

Holmes Balbridge, assistant attorney-general, said, in a statement filed with the Federal district court here, that if that court had understood such a claim to have been made, he desired to correct it.

Balbridge represented the government last week in arguments on the plea of steel companies that a court nullify the presidential seizure of the steel industry.

Judge David Pine's ruling could come today but court attaches said it might not be ready until Wednesday.

Gave Argument

Balbridge argued before Pine that Truman acted properly to protect the public welfare under "inherent powers" held by the President. He said then that the constitution limits the legislative and judicial branches, but not the executive authority.

This argument drew a storm of protests from steel company lawyers—as well as many in Congress later—and Balbridge was subjected to close questioning on the point by Judge Pine.

The House of Representatives judiciary committee, meanwhile, met to consider a batch of Republican-sponsored proposals for Truman's impeachment or censure for the seizure action. Republican members pressed for a showdown on the proposals.

Steel firms brought the court case seeking an injunction for return of their property. Truman placed the mills under government control April 8 when 650,000 C.I.O. steelworkers threatened a country-wide strike.

Decides On Right

The issues before Judge Pine were whether the steel companies were right in their contention that Truman lacked legal authority to seize their plants, or whether the President was right in claiming both the power and duty for his action.

Government officials awaited Pine's decision before ordering a wage increase for steelworkers into effect over the industry's objections.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, nominally in charge of the seized industry, was expected to notify steel firms today they may apply for an average $3-a-ton price increase if they wished.

Discover Boat But Man Missing

PARRY SOUND, April 29 (CP). —Edward Payie, 57, has been missing since Saturday when he set out in a motorboat for a fishing trip on Parry Sound bay.

His boat was found smashed against the shore seven miles northwest of Parry Sound.

An air search Monday turned up no trace of Payie. Discovery of the boat with the throttle set at half speed suggested to searchers that he had possibly fallen out of the boat.

Mud Slide Hits Train Two Men Missing

WOODSTOCK, N.B., April 29 (CP). — Two men were missing after a mud slide hit a Canadian Pacific Railway train near here early today, throwing the locomotive into the St. John River and derailing 10 cars.

Missing, feared trapped in the submerged locomotive, are Engineman R. K. McNally 50, and Trainman D. G. Ketch 31, both of Aroostook, N.B.

Fireman E. H. Taylor was taken to hospital here, but it is believed he is not seriously injured.

The accident occurred at Newburg, four miles north of here.

One report said the slide, about 35 feet wide, rushed down a cliff about 10 feet in height with terrific force, knocking the engine and several of the front cars into the river.

Believe Counterfeit Bill Ring Smashed As Three Men Arrested In Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 29 — (AP)—The local head of the United States Secret Service believes he has ended the activities of a small, local group engaged in passing counterfeit Canadian bills.

Edwin Manning, special agent in charge here, said Monday that three men were picked up Sunday.

One of them, Marvin D. Epps, 25, was charged with possessing and passing counterfeit Canadian $10 bills. A United States commissioner ordered him held in $5,000 bail for possible federal grand jury action.

One of the other two men still was in custody today and Manning said he will consult with the U.S. District-Attorney on a possible charge. The other was released after questioning but Manning said he probably will be a material witness.

The trio may have made use of $200,000 in bogus money believed to have escaped seizure in 1950 when the Salli-Iraci counterfeit gang was smashed, Manning indicated.

He said that 20 Canadian $10 bills passed by Epps and his associates to Buffalo merchants this month were of the type made by the Salli-Iraci combine at their Depew plant.

Discover New Outbreak Of F-M Disease Within Sask. Buffer Zone

REGINA, April 29. (CP)—Foot-and-mouth disease has spread to a new area in southern Saskatchewan. Federal veterinarians placed the new outbreak near Mansur five miles northeast of Weyburn. This is 28 miles outside the quarantined area and about 75 miles southeast of Regina. It is within the buffer zone set up around the quarantined area. A herd of 41 animals—mixed beef and dairy stock—is infected, federal officials announced late Monday. Preparations were begun immediately to slaughter and bury the animals. In Ottawa, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said it is feared other animals in the area have been in contact with the infected herd.

Unlike last week's outbreak at Ormiston, southwest of Regina, veterinarians had no lead as to how the Weyburn herd became infected. The Ormiston outbreak was quickly traced to a quarter of beef purchased from infected premises in the Regina area.

Officials said the quarantined area would be extended immediately to take in the Weyburn district. Similar action was taken at Ormiston, which was seven miles outside the quarantine area but within the 30-mile buffer zone.

The infected Weyburn farm is at least 50 miles from the location of any previous case.

26 Places Infected

The two new outbreaks are the first since March 8. They brought to 26 the number of farms and other premises infected since the first outbreak was reported Feb. 25.

Since then more than 1,000 head of cattle as well as hogs, sheep and poultry have been slaughtered and their carcasses deep-buried in specially-dug pits. The Federal government has paid more than $300,000 in compensation to the owners of the slaughtered animals.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the Weyburn outbreak is not likely to affect the date on which the United States market will be re-opened to Canadian livestock and dressed meats. The U.S. ban has to remain in effect until 60 days after American authorities are satisfied the disease has been stamped out.

U.S. Millionaire Weds Supervisor Of Nurses

HARTSDALE, N.Y., April 29.—(AP)—Henry Jacques Gaisman, 83, philanthropist and retired safety-razor king, and Kitty Vance, 33, a nurse, were married April 18, it was disclosed today.

Gaisman retired as chairman of the board of the Gillette Safety Razor Company in 1938. He is reputed to be worth more than $25,000,000.

The bride is a former supervisor of nurses in the private pavilion at Mount Sinai Hospital, where she met Gaisman two years ago while he was a cardiac patient.

Liberals Reject House Inquiry

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)— A Liberal majority today voted down a Progressive Conservative bid for a parliamentary inquiry into the Camp Petawawa thefts.

After an hour's wrangling, the government supporters in the Commons defence - expenditures committee rejected that bid and voted instead for a proposal by a Liberal member for a general inquiry into handling and security of Army stores.

Led by Lt.-Col. Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary East), six opposition members said they can see no reason why the committee should not take up at once Defence Minister Claxton's offer to have the committee make an unrestricted investigation of the Petawawa thefts that have led to six arrests.

Liberal members unanimously insisted that such a specific inquiry would be improper at a time when police and a special investigator are probing what happened at Petawawa.

The wrangle came up when Col. Harkness objected to a sub-committee report which recommended that the Petawawa inquiry suggested by the opposition not be proceeded with "at this time."

Korean Truce Talks In Complete Recess

MUNSAN, Korea, April 29 — (AP). — Korean truce talks were in complete recess today for the first time in five months. The United Nations command waited for Communist reaction to a secret Allied proposal for an armistice. It is up to the Communists to set the date of the next meeting.

Presumably the Reds will make no move until a decision has been reached in Peiping and Pyongyang, and possibly in Moscow, on what to do about the plan the Allies delivered Monday.

The proposal was described officially only as "an over-all solution for the remaining unresolved issues standing in the way of a military armistice."

Strange Sky Object

SINGAPORE, April 29 (Reuters)—A "cigar-shaped silver object belching smoke" streaked high over Singapore island this morning. Eyewitnesses described it as "something like a wingless rocket spouting white smoke at intervals." An R.A.F. spokesman said no jet aircraft were flying at the time.

Cool Sailor Averts Tragedy On Carrier Sticks Finger In Live Bomb To Halt Explosion

ABOARD U.S.S. BOXER OFF KOREA, April 29 (AP). — A cool sailor averted possible tragedy on this carrier recently by sticking his finger in a live bomb to keep it from exploding.

This is the official story:

A Panther jet returned from a mission over North Korea with a 250-pound bomb the pilot couldn't release.

The bomb jarred loose and went bouncing and sliding up the deck. It jammed against a parked plane.

The arming propeller on the bomb's nose spun ominously.

Two flight crew members grabbed its tail fin and began dragging the bomb to one side, oblivious of the danger.

Ralph V. O'Dell, an expert on bombs and fuses, rushed up. He jabbed his finger into the space between the striking pin and the fuse body to prevent accidental discharge.

O'Dell held his finger in place until the bomb had been carried to one side.

Then he slipped a piece of wood into the mechanism and calmly removed the fuse.

Fear Plane In Jungle, 50 Missing

Giant Stratocruiser Overdue At Trinidad Base

BUENOS AIRES, April 29.—(AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today a stratocruiser reported missing on a flight from Rio de Janeiro to Trinidad is safe at Belem, Brazil.

BUENOS AIRES, April 29.—(AP)—A Pan-American stratocruiser carrying 50 persons was overdue today on a flight from Rio de Janeiro to Trinidad, en route to New York, officials announced late today for the second time.

The plane, with 50 persons aboard, earlier was reported overdue at Port of Spain, Trinidad, and a widespread search was started. It was feared it might have crashed in the jungle. Belem is about three-fifths of the way along the 2,600-mile route from Rio de Janeiro to Port of Spain.

The plane, on Pan-America's "El Presidente" service, was scheduled to fly non-stop from Rio to Port of Spain. It left Rio Monday night on a trip originated here.

No Confirmation

(Pan American in New York said, however, it had no information the plane was safe. Confirmation also was lacking at Miami).

A Pan-American airliner crashed off San Juan, Puerto Rico, April 11 taking 52 lives. The pilot, Capt. John C. Burn, husband of singer Jane Froman, was among the 17 survivors.

The strato-cruiser is a double-deck plane, with a lounge on the lower deck.

Two Wounded In Gun Training

PETAWAWA, April 29 (CP) — A volley of small-arms fire wounded two soldiers, one seriously, here Monday at the end of an exercise. A court of inquiry was set up to investigate.

Soldiers of the 2nd Battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, had just received the signal that the live - ammunition demonstration was over when the bullets started flying again.

One man went down with a severe wound in the back of his head, and was rushed by ambulance to the Rockcliffe Airport Military Hospital near Ottawa, while doctors debated whether to let him be flown on to the Neurological Institute at Montreal.

The other soldier suffered a flesh wound in the hip.

The two soldiers are with the R.C.R. battalion which has served in Korea and now is coming home, but they are not veterans of Korea.

The Petawawa exercise was rehearsing soldiers for a demonstration due to be held soon for officers attending the Army Staff College at Kingston.

Report King Wounded By Egyptian Assassin

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — An NBC correspondent reported Monday night that King Farouk of Egypt was wounded in the thigh last month during an assassination attempt.

The correspondent, Dan Kurzman, reported to NBC here that a would-be assassin shot the King during an audience at the Palace in Cairo late in March.

The man, described as a "Major Sitke," was in turn shot to death by the King's guards, Kurzman said.

Kurzman said his informants told him the assassination plot was part of a coup planned by the Wafd party in a bid to regain power.

Kurzman said he learned of the plot just before leaving Cairo. He said details were being "cloaked in deepest secrecy."

In London, the Egyptian Embassy today denied a report of an attempt on the life of King Farouk.

2 Passengers Shot, 2 Of Crew Nicked Flying Air Corridor

BERLIN, April 29. (CP)—Two Russian jet fighters attacked an Air France commercial airliner with cannon and machine-gun fire in the Allied air corridor over the Soviet zone today. Two German passengers were wounded and two crew members nicked by bullets. The airliner, en route to Berlin with 11 passengers and six crew members, ducked behind cloud cover after the fighters made four passes. It reached Berlin's Tempelhof airdrome safely a half-hour later.

The fuselage was riddled but none of the shots hit a vital part of the plane.

The Allied high commission at Bonn sent a stern protest to the Soviet control commission immediately.

Commercial flights between Berlin and western Germany were cancelled temporarily but the embargo was lifted gradually a few hours later.

Air France's four-engined Douglas plane arrived at Tempelhof from Frankurt with five cannon holes the size of a fist in the fuselage and wings. Inspecting crews said they counted 20 to 25 holes. An early report by United States air officers that there were 89 bullet holes was discounted later as exaggerated.

There was no immediate accounting for the attack. Since the 1948-49 Berlin blockade, traffic through the air corridors linking Berlin with Western Germany has been relatively free from alarms.

Holding Out Lure

Last Thursday, however, about 25,000 blue-shirted Communist youths stormed at West Berlin's borders in a "peace rally" connected with Russia's current campaign to convince Western Germany it should discard links with Atlantic Pact defence and listen to Moscow's promises of German unification and neutrality.

The demonstration resulted in several cracked heads and 14 arrests of youths who infiltrated the French sector.

The Air France office said the two wounded on the airliner were Mrs. Irmgard Nebel of Frankfurt, hit in the abdomen, and Walter Kurth of Bad Homburg, wounded in the arm and thigh. Mrs. Nebel was taken to a hospital where pieces of 20-millimetre ammunition were removed.

The French pilot said he was flying precisely in the centre of the air corridor over the Russian zone, when the two jets made four passes at him and unloaded bursts of cannon and machine-gun fire.

The co-pilot and steward were nicked by bullets.

Montebello Islands Believed Atomic Site

PERTH, Ausralia, April 29 — (Reuters) —Reports reaching this western Australian port today indicated that Britain will likely explode her first atomic weapons at Montebello Islands, 800 miles north of here. Tests are expected to be held in the fall.

Australian newspaper reporters said they saw two British ships, carrying some 300 atomic scientists and technicians, anchored off the islands.

Up until today, movements of the two ships—Narvik and Zeebrugge—have been cloaked in secrecy. They left Fremantle, 12 miles from here, for an undisclosed destination April 22.

U.S. Navy Orders Inquiry Court Into Sinking

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP) —The U.S. Navy arranged today for a formal inquiry into the mid-Atlantic sinking of the destroyer-minesweeper Hobson with an apparent loss of 174 lives. It was one of the worst peacetime disasters in American naval history.

Meanwhile, the 27,100-ton aircraft carrier Wasp, damaged in the Saturday night collision that sent the Hobson to the bottom, steamed slowly homeward. She carried 61 of the minesweeper's survivors, some of them injured seriously.

Travelling between eight and 10 knots, the carrier was expected to reach Brooklyn navy yard for repairs Friday or Saturday.

The original list of 176 missing in the tragedy was reduced by two when two sailors whose names appeared on it turned up safe. They had missed their ship's last voyage—one man being home on leave, the other in a naval hospital. No casualties were reported aboard the Wasp.

Admiral Lynde McCormick, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, announced in Norfolk that a formal court of inquiry would "make a full investigation of the facts and circumstances surrounding the sinking."

Can't Impose Punishment

A naval court of inquiry is empowered to take sworn testimony, find facts, express opinions and make recommendations, but it cannot impose punishment.

A demand for a congressional probe came from the father of one of the missing men who said his son had told him all the enlisted men aboard the Hobson feared she "would crack up, either in heavy seas or by hitting something in the water."

Chinese Face Extortion Counts

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP) — A Chinese newspaper and two of its officers were indicted Monday on charges of printing advertisements to aid Red China's huge overseas extortion racket.

The racket allegedly has poured millions of dollars into Red China, from Chinese overseas who are fearful of imprisonment, torture and even death for relatives in China.

The China Daily News, Inc., was indicted along with its president, Eugene Moy, 50, and former managing editor, Albert Wong, 40.

A 53-count federal indictment accuses them of inspiring and publishing advertisements of banks in China to show how to evade U.S. regulations and get the money into China to ransom relatives.

Island Takes Gamble

Residents Decide To Wait Till Ice Jam Breaks Up

MOOSONEE, April 29 (CP) — Brief radio messages received from residents of isolated Factory Island Monday said they have enough food for three weeks and are prepared to wait until the ice breaks up and the water level recedes.

The tiny island was cut off from the mainland when tons of ice-cakes jammed the mouth of the Moose river, which opens up into James Bay, leaving a trail of towering ice shoals studding the river for eight miles upstream.

The ice chunks, some of them 50 feet high, caused the water to back up more than 20 feet above normal.

Telephone and radio communications with this northernmost terminus of the Ontario Northland Railway were cut off last Thursday when the ice went on a rampage. Only temporary repairs were made Monday to the Hudson's Bay Company radio on the island.

Supply of fresh milk for 275 patients in an Indian hospital there is exhausted and canned and powdered milk now is being used. Also on the island are 700 other Indians and 60 whites.

Soaring temperatures yesterday failed to disturb the four-by-eight-mile ice jam.

Monday's message also told of an Indian who was thrown into the icy water when he made an attempt to get to the island before the ice went out. After scrambling to shore he stripped off his clothes but "almost went crazy with the cold." He was reported in good condition in hospital.

Philip Chairman Of Commission For Coronation

LONDON, April 29 (CP)—The coronation of the Queen, a ceremony of matchless pageantry and splendor, will be held June 2, 1953.

The date was announced Monday night in a simple statement from Buckingham Palace which said:

"The Queen has been pleased to appoint Tuesday, 2nd June, 1953, to be the day of Her Majesty's coronation."

Preparations for the coronation are expected to start immediately and Britain will spare no expense to make the ceremony as memorable as the coronation of Elizabeth's father in 1937.

Cost of the official preparations for the traditional crowning in ancient Westminster Abbey will alone probably exceed £1,000,000.

Millions of men and women from every corner of the world will congregate in London to watch the regal procession and join in the general festivities.

Public Holiday

Coronation Day will be a public holiday in Britain and throughout most of the Commonwealth.

The palace announced that the Duke of Edinburgh will be chairman of a coronation commission of 36 representatives from self-governing members of the Commonwealth.

Canada's representatives on the commission will be Prime Minister St. Laurent; the Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Frederic Hudd, official secretary of Canada House in London.

The Duke of Norfolk, the Earl Marshal who was in charge of the funeral of King George last February 15, will be deputy chairman.

The week of the coronation will be one of prolonged merry-making throughout Britain. Three days after she is crowned, Elizabeth will officially celebrate her 27th birthday. Her real birthday is April 21 but she has adhered to a custom started by her father in setting official celebration for a warm-weather date. Canada will celebrate the Queen's birthday June 9 under a custom of observing the Sovereign's birthday on a Monday in June.

In addition to birthday celebrations, such events as the running of the famed English Derby, Trooping the Color and the military pageant known as the Royal Tournament will be held during coronation week.

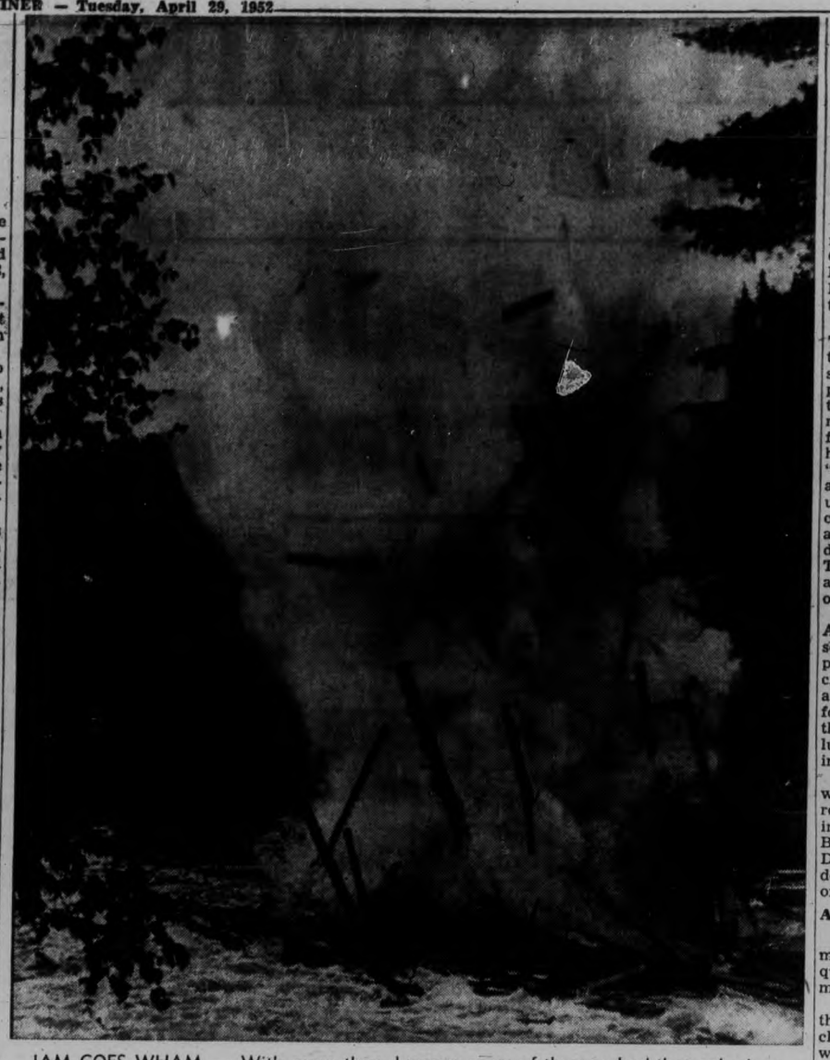
Long Ritual

The coronation is essentially a simple religious service. But throughout the centuries many traditional ceremonies have been added until it now has become a long ritual symbolizing the whole of Britain's history.

The crowning of the Queen will take place on a platform, known as the "theatre," which will be built in front of the high altar of the Abbey.

The Abbey normally seats 3,000 persons but extra seats and stands will be built for another 4,500 to accommodate the kings and queens, the lords, ladies, knights, ambassadors and other distinguished persons who will have privileged places at the ceremony.

Outside there will be dancing, in the streets, carnivals, sports and general merry-making. This scene will be repeated in every town and village in the British Isles.



JAM GOES WHAM — With more than 10,000,000 cords of pulpwood hurling down hundreds of miles of rivers and streams right now, tangled log jams are bound to occur, some of them so bad that only dynamite will break them up. This blast sends logs high in the air above the Tamacine river in the Gatineau district of Quebec.—(Photo by Malak).

U.S. Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, April 29 — (CP) —The United States dollar today opened at a discount of 2 1/32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $0.97 31/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was down ⅛ from Monday.

M.P. Asks Canada Help Strengthen Unity Of NATO

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said Monday it is desirable for nations to pool their sovereignty in the interests of security and possibly survival.

He made the statement in the Commons after Alistair Stewart (CCF, Winnipeg North) sponsored a resolution urging acceptance of any invitation to meet with parliamentary respresentatives of North Atlantic countries to discuss closer co-operation.

Mr. Stewart said he wanted to see the countries which sponsored the Atlantic Pact adopt common policies on defense, foreign affairs, currency, trade and citizenship. If war comes, that sort of union must come "for the preservation of our own freedom." It would be better to bring such a union about in peacetime.

Mr. Pearson noted the resolution asked the government to consider acceptance of an invitation addressed to parliament. He did not think it would be appropriate for the government to deal with an invitation addressed to parliament.

If it did, the Progressive Conservative opposition probably would charge the government with interfering with the rights of parliament.

Can't Pledge Acceptance

He noted that George Drew, Progressive Conservative leder, and Gordon Graydon (PC Peel), foreign affairs spokesman for the Opposition were not in their seats during debate on Mr. Stewart's resolution. Mr. Drew earlier had complained about cabinet ministers being absent during debates.

Mr. Pearson said the government could not pledge acceptance of any invitation.

If the invitation came from a responsible governmental body and was couched in terms that did not commit delegates to any formal agreement, it should be considered. Any serious proposal that would increase the co-operation among North Atlantic Treaty nations should commend itself to parliament and to the government.

He recalled that NATO already had discussed ways to bring the organization closer to representatives of the people. The matter will be discussed further by the recently appointed permanent council of the NATO.

Mr. Stewart said he would like to see the UN made stronger through a stronger NATO.

Cortisone Makes Synthetic Guinea Pigs

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

BOSTON, April 29 — (AP) — Synthetic "guinea pigs" are the latest marvels produced by the newest wonder hormone, cortisone.

These synthetics are animals which after receiving cortisone treatment become subject to human diseases they never have normally. That makes them useful for medical experiments.

This new medical exploration was reported in a number of papers today to the annual meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists.

By this use of cortisone, rabbits at the University of Minnesota are getting typhoid fever. The rabbits receive cortisone in much larger amounts than used for human treatments.

At Minnesota, and Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York City, four kinds of mice "guinea pigs" have been produced by cortisone plus X-rays.

Some of these mice get coxsackie disease. That is a virt disease closely resembling polio, but not as serious. Many polio victims have it along with polio.

Doesn't Want Radio To Be Controlled

WINDSOR, April 29 (CP)—T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said Monday night that radio or any medium of mass communication "should operate within the framework of the general law of the land."

"It should not be subject to specific controls which limit its freedom as a device for purveying information and news," he said in a speech to Windsor Council of Women.

Shortages of newsprint, higher production costs and other economic factors are reducing the number of daily newspapers in North America, he said, adding:

"More and more, the free peoples of North America were, and are, coming to depend upon broadcasting to find out what goes on in government, business, the community and the world."

2 Passengers Shot

"The attack was a complete surprise," said the pilot, "but there was no panic among the passengers."

Air France said all of the passengers of the plane were Europeans.

The weather was bright and sunny and the Russian Air Safety Centre schedule posted this morning listed training flights from the jet base at Koethen from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A West German passenger, Hans Juergen Stavnov, said he saw a Soviet jet fighter attacking. He said two of the passengers were wounded by machine-gun bullets.

All the passengers were excited, he said, but kept in their seats when the pilot told them he could still reach Tempelhof Field. The attack lasted only a few seconds.

Most of the bullets struck the front part of the plane. Stewardesses gave first aid to the wounded.

Soviet fighters have frequently sallied into the 20-mile-wide air corridors reserved for Berlin—West Germany flights but have not been regarded as a nuisance lately.

Shortly before the 1948-49 blockade of Berlin, Russian fighters were more daring, and a series of "buzzing" incidents was climaxed by a Yak fighter ramming into a British liner, killing 11 occupants.

Well Briefed

U.S. airmen said Soviet air patrols in the Russian zone are well-briefed on Allied rights in the three 20-mile air corridors between Berlin and Western Germany.

They said the approach of a MIG fighter to inspect a foreign aircraft is a frequent occurrence. But a "pass" by two fighters at the same time was "criminally foolish" even if there was no gunfire.

Fortunately, none of the bullets which hit the fuselage struck a vital spot of the airliner.

The passengers dispersed from Tempelhof soon after the plane landed and before the incidents had become known. The crew was interrogated by U.S. Air Police.

Wait for Opening At County Home For Fred Brant

It appears that at least four male inmates of the Victoria County Home for the aged in Lindsay will have to die before Fred Brant can be re-admitted to the institution.

In a telephone conversation with The Examiner Victoria County Clerk-Treasurer F. L. Weldon said there is no immediate prospect of his being accepted because there is no room available for men. There is a waiting list of five, and Brant is fifth on the list, he said. Mr. Weldon said he had "no idea" when Brant could be admitted, but it would not be until "someone dies or is discharged." He added that there are an average of seven or eight deaths at the home each year. There were four deaths in 1951 and so far this year, three inmates of the home have died.

Although Welfare Minister W. A. Goodfellow told The Examiner some time ago that the old people's home was the only provincial institution available for Brant and that it was the proper place for him, Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army has had no luck in his efforts to get Brant into the Victoria County Home.

Mr. Weldon, in his conversation with The Examiner, was merely re-stating the position he outlined in a letter to Brant's sister, Mrs. Bruce Higgins, after the Board of Directors of the home decided to defer Brant's application a couple of weeks ago.

Await Report

Until Judge F. J. MacRae submits his report on the Brant Inquiry held April 17, Brant is remaining in Civic Hospital.

He is now fully recovered from the effects of frostbite which claimed part of both his feet and would have been discharged before this had he been an ordinary patient with a home to go to when he was released.

In reciting Brant's case history at the inquiry, Allan Blewitt, superintendent of the Lindsay Children's Aid Society, said Brant "would never be able to earn a living for himself."

Having this in mind, authorities are reluctant to discharge him and turn him loose on his own, because there is no place for him to go.

It may be that Judge MacRae's report will contain a recommendation as to what should be done with Brant. Until Judge MacRae's report is submitted to council, hospital authorities and city council which is still footing the bill from Brant's hospitalization, are taking no chances on getting into further complications in regard to Brant, who has been a thorn in the side of the city since he was taken out of the city and left on the highway on January 25.

May Use Money

If he can find no other accommodation for Brant when he is discharged, Major Everitt plans on using some of the money contributed to The Examiner's Fred Brant Fund to look after him for a while. However, the $302.50 contributed to the fund to date, plus The Examiner's $100 which will be added when the fund is closed, will not last long.

Three more contributions totalling $7 have been received since the last published total of $295.50 on April 15. Frank Wilson of Havelock sent in $5, and Mrs. W. G. Dainard 492 Bolivar St., and The Widow's Mite, each sent in $1.

Mrs. J. D. Cameron

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 — (ENS).— Funeral service for Mrs. Margaret Eleanor Cameron, Grand Road, Campbellford, was held on April 23 in Hastings, with the Rev. N. Cole officiating. Mrs. Cameron, who was 83, died in Rochester April 20, and was brought to Hastings for burial in Trent Valley Cemetery. She was the widow of James D. Cameron.

For the last while, Mrs. Cameron had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Leo J. Winter, in Rochester, and she had been in ill-health for several months.

Mrs. Cameron was born in Hastings, the youngest of 10 children of the late John Lennox and Elizabeth Foster. One son survives, Kenneth, and a daughter Mrs. Winter, both of Rochester. There are two brothers, John and James Lennox, who both live in Michigan.

Mrs. Robert McMillen

NORWOOD, April 29 (ENS) — The funeral of Mrs. Robert McMillen was held Monday afternoon from her late residence with the Rev. H. K. Wright officiating. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mrs. McMillen died Saturday following a lingering illness.

Pallbearers were all former neighbors: Samuel Buck, Andrew McGee, Harold Van Volkenburg, John Stark, Max Brown and Ed Scott.

Flower bearers: David Stark, Herbert McMillen, Frank Jenkins, Bert Lockhead, Wilfred Buck, Gideon Brown.

Ervin S. White Sr. of Lynn, Mass., said his son told him the ship broke down several times while on cruises and was in drydock last March and again in April.

"I intend to have my congressman ask the navy some questions to find out why it continues to operate ships in such poor shape," he declared. "A thing like this might happen again."

Report Clark

mander, not a diplomat, and I have some reservations about the Clark appointment."

However, Senator Ernest McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, said he does not look for any serious Senate attempt to block either Ridgway's or Clark's new assignments.

Gen. Bradley, chairman of the U.S. joint chiefs of staff, was understood to have favored Ridgway as N.A.T.O. chief. Eisenhower, who steps down about June 1 amid a boom for his nomination as Republican candidate for president, is known to have wanted his chief of staff, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, as his successor. Gruenther will stay on as Ridgway's chief of staff.

The idea that Truman was rewarding Ridgway and Clark was explained in military circles this way: Ridgway's handling of the Korean war helped quiet the storm, kicked up by the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as Far East chief, which threatened to drive the administration into serious political trouble. Clark's adroit withdrawal as Vatican ambassador - nominee did much to quiet the ruckus over proposed creation of that post.

City May Buy 25 Acres In Smith Twp.

Purchase of four properties in Smith township, comprising about 25 acres, was recommended by the board of works Monday night. Terms in the options total $21,455. One of them expires on May 1.

This block lies north of Wolsley St., the north boundary of the city, and Dumble St. It is east of the Hilliard farm and Hilliard St.

Present owners of the properties are: Schneider-Alexander Ltd., 16.90 acres; Thomas Medland 6.516 acres; Walter R. Lloyd 2.894 acres; and William and Henrietta Grubb some three lots.

For Playground

Purposes of the purchase are: to obtain five acres for the extension of Queen Elizabeth School and provide it with ample playground; to acquire approximately 120 building lots which will be available at cost this season; and also to secure a general right of way from the present services, such as water main and sewer, leading to the Land Assembly block of farms which will be annexed from Smith on January 1 next.

City Clerk Outram told the committee that one local builder was interested in obtaining 44 of the 120 lots for a housing development which he wishes to begin as soon as posisble.

The old Chemong Railway traverses the 25 acres from south to north. Noel Rishor is interested in the largest block of about 17 acres.

Take Up Options

A motion by Ald. T. D. Miller, seconded by Ald. H. T. Rehill, proposed that the options be taken up at once, and that lots be offered to the public as soon as the subdivision is laid out. They will be quoted at actual cost to the city and will include the providing of services which will be payable over 15 years, thereby becoming a rather small yearly charge.

A secondary purpose in buying this land is to provide at cost building lots which may be put to immediate occupation.

The delay of a year in offering the Land Assembly properties to the public has been tending to put a brake on housing that would be undertaken this year in that area. The new purchase lies between the city boundary and the Stalker farm of Land Assembly. Sentiment of the committee last night was that the sale of lots this season would probably cover the block's total cost to the city of $21,455.

Prices Drop Abruptly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Prices dropped abruptly today in early afternoon stock market dealings as sharp selling weakened key issues.

Industrial dealings spread slightly from selected leading issues and a scattered list of speculative oil, metals and golds attracted interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,615,000 shares.

Papers, banks, refining oils and retail stores led industrials lower with losses ranging to more than a point. Agricultures and liquors also slipped but constructions and textiles edged upward.

Western oils posted a broad list of declines. Canada Southern, Canadian Atlantic, Canadian Williston, Fargo, Selburn, Triad and Peace River dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders slipped. AV Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Noranda, and Mindamar traded lower.

Senior golds sagged. Dome, Giant Yellowknife and Hollinger lost fractions. Secondary issues declined.

Mother Sees Son Change To Bad Boy

ORILLIA, April 29 — (CP) — The mother of one of 14 boys rounded up as alleged members of a "Ku Klux Klan of Crime" club said today her son had changed from "a good boy at home" to a secretive lad who smoked so heavily "it ruined his nerves."

Police said the boys, facing charges ranging from housebreaking and car theft to gasoline siphoning and molesting, were arrested during an investigation into a wave of juvenile crime in this area.

Many parents here said it was difficult to understand why their sons became members of the black-hooded gang which carries knives and braided wire whips.

Police said their investigations were hampered by fear of "members" that they would be "knifed or tarred and feathered" if they talked about their escapades.

New Commander

The appointment of General Ridgway as supreme Allied commander in Europe in succession to General Eisenhower, will be greeted with approval in Canada. The appointment had to be given to an American, for that is the economic and political logic of the situation. Of the several outstanding generals qualified for the position, none can outrank General Ridgway in organizational and field ability. He has demonstrated in Japan and Korea that he is truly a commander, winning the loyalty and co-operation of his own and allied senior commanders, and the respect and confidence of the troops. He is brave, capable and forceful; a genuine officer.

* * *

General Ridgway will bring to his new post in Europe valuable recent field experience, as well as his own talents. He will have as his chief of staff General Gruenther—who was himself a favoured candidate for the post. General Gruenther is General Eisenhower's chief of staff. He is a man of remarkable executive genius and self-effacing modesty. He has a wide understanding of international affairs, particularly of European complexities in politics, military traditions and national characteristics. He has been a chief in the planning and organization which has gone on at SHAPE, the Supreme Headquarters of the fourteen allied forces in Europe. As chief of staff he has had detailed responsibility for the tactics, strategy and diplomacy at SHAPE. The combination of General Ridgway, commander of allied forces in the field in the Far East, and General Gruenther, tactical and administrative genius in Europe, will give the Supreme European Command the best American military talent it could have.

Lord Alexander As Defence Minister

The Earl Alexander has taken his seat in the House of Lords as Britain's Minister of Defence. His first speech there gave some assurance to the hopes that war has been averted, for the time being at least. In our Third Column today, the distinguished correspondent on European affairs analyses this statement and contrasts it with others, less reassuring. And certainly, Lord Alexander's own words do not give cause for complacency: "In spite of the present weakness of our defensive armour, I am not convinced that those who are our potential enemies themselves feel that they are sufficiently strong to challenge us and our allies in mortal combat."

The fact is that neither Russia and its satellites, nor the United States and its satellites, is prepared yet to enter "mortal combat" with the other. As 1939 showed, to arm for war is a long as well as costly job. It took Germany a year after the outbreak to get into full action. It took the Allies five years before they were able to hit back decisively. Now both the cost of armaments are greater and the processes of preparation much longer than in 1939. Both the United States and Canada have been unable to spend their defense appropriations fast enough. To get from blue-print to gun, bomb or plane is more than the twinkling of an eye.

Another deterrent to war, affecting Russia, is that the momentum which the U.S.A. and the Western World are gaining in defence preparations is potentially greater than any that Russia is likely to achieve. The more Russia alarms, the greater the western defence momentum. Is that the chief reason that Russia is now playing pacifier and emanating a specious new good-will? To lull the West to sleep. How goes the nursery rhyme?:

When the bough breaks, the cradle will fall
And down tumbles baby, cradle and all.

Good-bye To The Twenty-Fourth

Only by the accident of chance will the 24th of May be the 24th of May after this year, if the Senate approves the Bill which the Commons has passed. By it Queen Victoria's birthday—May 24th—will be celebrated hereafter on the Monday falling before the 24th. The reason given by the Bill's sponsor is quite flatly, to give a week-end holiday. Why bother any more, then, with the name Victoria Day, since the holiday is not to be celebrated in honour of the Queen, but just to have a holiday? In Britain, which gave up the pretence long ago, they merely call such a holiday "Bank Holiday."

Following the precedent set by her father, the Queen will celebrate her birthday officially on June 5th—it actually falls on April 21st. June 5th is a Thursday this year, and does not suit the convenience of Canadian week-enders. So Canada will celebrate the Queen's birthday on the following Monday, June 9th. The reasoning may be—with respect to the Queen of course—that since she has changed the observance from her actual birthday anyway, and did not have the foresight to choose a Monday, Canadians will set her right on this matter.

The only four holidays left in the Canadian calendar which do not fall by statute on a Monday are Christmas, New Year's' Good Friday and Dominion Day. We expect the long rear-guard action to move July 1st to July 4th, or some other near Monday will come to the front now that the 24th of May has been abolished for itself. Then the next, and final action, would be to move Christmas Day to the nearest Monday to the 25th of December. If we can tinker with Queen Victoria's birthday to suit our own convenience, why let a little thing like the traditional birthday of the Prince of Peace interfere with a regulated long-week-end? And, really, there is no historical proof that Christ was born on December 25th—so why stick to an inconvenient date if Monday holidays suit us better? New Year's Day would of course follow into the Monday groove.

Indeed, why not adopt the World Calendar, in which all these things are regularly arranged, and all holidays fall on Mondays, every day in every year is the same, and the calendar ticks monotonously along like clockwork? Then we should all be as happy as robots.

So Quickly Is Hardship Forgotten

Humans, being able to know feeling, can be unhappy, as dumb animals cannot—and feel pain, anguish and the distress which torments the soul and hardens the heart. But humans have also been endowed with the capacity to know pleasure, to perceive joy and to be lifted up in spirit. They can be happy as well as unhappy. This is their compensation for sorrow and pain. We have not noticed that the cows are any happier now than they were in the winter; but men are. These bright April days are a joy to them; and before the warmth and sun of the returning Spring the woes of winter fade; they are hardly remembered in the gladness of these days.

Once more in misted April
The world is growing green.
Along the winding river
The plumy willows lean

It is as though winter had never been:

In every wooded valley
The buds are breaking through,
As though the heart of all things
No langour ever knew.

Would we feel to our innermost fibres the full delight of Spring—would Bliss Carman have been able to sing as joyously of it—had we not had the steel of winter? Is not pleasure intensified by previous hardship, is not joy heightened by pain? The world consists of opposites; without knowledge of cold we cannot know heat, without death there would be no life. Would Spring have come without Winter going before it?

Disaster At Sea

The dreadful collision in mid-Atlantic last Saturday has shocked the western hemisphere. Not only is the number missing and dead large. Not only has one ship gone to the bottom; equally shocking is the fact that it could have happened to two warships, the American destroyer-minesweeper and the American aircraft carrier, engaged in peacetime cruising. Despite all the electronic devices which modern ships carry, despite wireless, despite the equipment and training, despite headquarter staff controls, and with no need to manouevre from charted routes out of an enemy's way, the 1,600-ton Hobson crashed into the aircraft carrier Wasp, and the ship and 176 seamen are lost.

Courts of enquiry may establish how and why the mishap occurred. It is a bruising thing to have happened to the American navy, in mid-Atlantic, which ocean has recently, for purposes of unified NATO command, come under the control and command of an American admiral.

Monumental Memory

After General MacArthur was dismissed from his post last spring as supreme commander in Japan and Korea, a group of Japanese started a fund to build a $1,400,000 monument. To date, and with the assistance of a professional fund-raising agency, a total of $225 has been collected. The Edmonton Journal remarks that this will be a terrible dissillusionment to his American admirers, though perhaps not to the General himself. "We doubt if any people ever voluntarily erected a monument to a foreign ruler imposed on them by conquest. After nearly 900 years, the English have still not got around to putting up a statue of William the Conqueror." Yes, but the Bayeux Tapestry has immortalized his image. Perhaps in time, when Mr. and Mrs. Truman get back to Independence, the world will have the General woven into a Missouri Tapestry.

When Is Zero Hour?

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE NEW British Defence Minister, Field-Marshal Lord Alexander of Tunis, made two aparently contradictory statements in the thoughtful and important speech with which he introduced himself to the House of Lords this week (April 23).

On the one hand, he guardedly associated himself with the new widespread belief that the danger of war has receded during the last twelve months, and attributed this to the increase in Western strength since the beginning of rearmament. On the other hand, he warned that before we could reach security through rearmament we must inevitably go through "an uncomfortable period of anxiety" and he repeated that "no-one could deny that we are facing a dangerous period".

◇ ◇ ◇

THE TWO statements can be reconciled by assuming that the beginnings of Western rearmament have made Russia pause and take thought, thus ensuring a temporary lessening of tension, as experienced in the last twelve months, but that before Russia definitely resigns herself to a swing of the balance of power against her, which would be the result of the successful completion of Western rearmament programmes, she might well be tempted to a final disturbing action which would increase the danger of war. This points to a period of heightened danger immediately ahead—say in the next twelve months. After that, with Western rearmament "over the hump", there should be a period of real and increasing security and possible chances of a genuine peace settlement.

On this reckoning, the present easing of tension is more deceptive than real. There may still be a period of crisis and anxiety ahead in the second half of this year, possibly prolonging itself into 1953. This period will last the longer the more the present delays and drawings-out of the Western rearmament measures put off the day on which the Elbe line in Central Europe can be regarded as invulnerable to Russian attack. After that point is reached—on present indications some time in the second half of 1952 or at the latest by the end of 1953—we should turn the corner and pass into a period of real security and stability, of which 1954 would be the first year.

A TOTALLY opposite estimate of our prospects was given a day earlier by General Spaatz, former U.C. Chief of Air Staff. Testifying before the U.S. Senate's War Preparedness Committee, he said that Russia would "definitely" have the hydrogen bomb as well as a large stockpile or uranium atom bombs by 1954. "That will be zero year," he added. "It will bring the greatest menace to world peace—the moment of supreme crisis and danger".

Which is the more convincing estimate of our prospects?

THE question obviously turns on the political and military grand strategy of the politburo, and this is not a matter of common knowledge. We can only make a guess at it. But this guess can be more or less intelligent, and more or less based on actual Russian practice, not only in foreign policy but in defence policy. If we take these into account, Lord Alexander's implied estimate of the time-table of danger and security seems more likely to be borne out by events than does General Spaatz's.

General Spaatz belongs to the strategic school of thought which believes that the Third World War will be strategically decided by air power, with land and sea forces playing only an auxiliary and subordinate role; that it will be patterned, not on the European part of the Second World War—in which, in spite of the important contribution of air power, the decisive events were great land battles, leading ultimately to the military conquest of Italy and Germany—but on the Asiatic part, in which Japanese war-making power was gradually paralysed at the source by destruction from the air alone, so that a fighting invasion of Japan itself and most of her conquered territories became superfluous and the Allied armies could in the end march in unresisted to receive the surrender.

TO THIS SCHOOL of thought, the decisive deterrent to Russian aggression from 1945 to 1950 was the American monoply of the atomic bomb, coupled with American air superiority. Now that the atomic monopoly has been broken and the air superiority is challenged, we have—according to this school—passed into a time of danger, and "supreme crisis" will come if Russia reached atomic equality.

It seems, however, even at first glance, inconclusive that mere atomic equality—and no more than this is thinkable—should be sufficient to encourage Russia to aggressive war on a global scale; for such equality would seem to hold out to the aggressor at best a prospect, not of victory, but only of stalemate accompanied by crippling mutual destruction. Aggressors have never staked their all on such a prospect; they have always expected, if not total victory, at least a stalemate accompanied by tangible territorial and other gains for themselves.

◇ ◇ ◇

BE THAT as it may, General Spaatz's assumption would be convincing only if there were any evidence that the Kremlin shares his underlying strategic conception; that it believes in the future supremacy and decisiveness of air power. There is no such evidence. Even more than in the West, defence policy in Russia is still, rightly or wrongly, based on a preponderance of land power to which air power is a mere adjunct; the whole balance of the Russian forces bears this out. It is true that Russia has now a more powerful air force than in the Second World War, but this is no more than the making good of former excessive neglect of the air. There is no indication at all that Stalin and his strategic advisers believe in victory through air power alone. And if they don't it is unlikely that a shift in air power alone will decide their major policy about war or peace.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT IS PROBABLE that the Kremlin thinks altogether in less technical military and more general economic and industrial terms. Stalin's utterances over three decades suggest that he believes, not in air power as such or land power as such, but in industrial power in the widest sense. He thinks (and quite possibly rightly) that in any war the larger and more modern industrial machine will win against the smaller and more antiquated one. He once put an annual steel production of sixty million tons as the minimum requirement for Russian security, and he would probably regard more than that as necessary for a Russian victory in an aggressive war against Britain and America. In the foreseeable future, Stalin could have sixty or more million tons of steel annually at his disposal only if he could add to his present resources those of Western Europe. And indeed the whole Russian policy since the war seems to have had this aim; to gain control of Western Europe prior to an open showdown with Britain and America—that is, by political rather than by military means.

IF WESTERN EUROPE is effectively on the side of Britain and America, a war between Russia and the West means a war of thirty million tons of steel against 170 million tons of steel; this, on a rule of thumb reckoning, is a hopeless proposition for Moscow. But if Russia were to dominate Western Europe, a war of Russia plus Europe against America—in which Britain might be virtually neutralised through her exposed geographical position—would be a war of eighty five millions tons of steel against one hundred million tons of steel; a far more open contest. Everything turns, therefore, from a Russian point of view, on gaining dominance of Western Europe.

It would obviously be highly preferable, perhaps even essential, for Russia, to gain control of Western Europe prior to the outbreak of a war against Britain and America, and to assimilate and digest Western Europe before having to fight. For, as the failure of Hitler's war-time New Order in Europe proved, it is very difficult, if not impossible, to convert conquered countries into functioning auxiliaries and quasi-allies while carrying on a major war which began with their conquest.

An American Opinion: EVERYBODY UNFAIR?

General Ridgway

(By our Special Correspondent in Tokyo)

UNTIL four months before he succeeded General Douglas MacArthur in the Far East in April 1951, General Matthew B. Ridgway had never commanded any formation larger than an army corps. It was from relative obscurity that within so short a time he rose to become not only Supreme Commander of Allied Powers in Japan and Commander-in-Chief of U. S. Forces, Far East Command, but Commander-in-Chief of the United Nations forces fighting the Communists in Korea.

Son of a Regular artillery colonel, Ridgway is a 57-year-old Southerner who has devoted his whole life to the military profession. He graduated from West Point—America's leading military academy—in 1917. In the Second World War he formed the first American airborne division and, at the age of forty eight, dropped with his men in Sicily and, later, into Normandy on D-Day. He commanded an airborne corps at Nijmegen in support of the British airborne operations at Arnhem, and was under General Montgomery's command in the Ardennes battle. He and Montgomery worked closely together from then onwards, and the British Sixth Airborne Division was placed under his command during the crossing of the Rhine.

It was on Christmas Eve, 1950 that General Ridgway assumed command of the hard-pressed Eighth Army in Korea in succession to General Walton H. Walker, who had been killed in a jeep accident. He was popularly credited with the change in United Nations fortunes that came soon after he took over—with permission, if necessary to organize a Korean Dunkirk. In fact, the Communist tide then sweeping the United Nations forces southward was ready to turn when Ridgway arrived; thanks largely to the planning of his predecesor. But though General Ridgway, during his term in the Far East, has never shown the MacArthur type of flamboyant brilliance, either in battle or in the wider range of his other activities, he has certainly shown himself to be a sound strategist and a strong leader. His leadership—and almost legendary personal courage—transformed discouraged troops into a vigorous fighting force which was soon able to halt the retreat and, eventually, turn it into a successful offensive.

General Ridgway, is also an excellent administrator; administration is probably his strongest point. In his rather limited contacts with the diplomats and soldiers of other nations in Japan and Korea, he always has conducted himself well, gaining the respect and admiration of most of those with whom he has dealt.

As far as can be learned, he is by no means an original thinker. But as a soldier he has a sound grasp of larger affairs. His political leanings, if he has any, he has kept to himself. There has been gossip around Tokyo that he would like to see Eisenhower—under whom he served in Europe—win the Presidency of the United States, but it may be no more than gossip.

Ridgway remains essentially the soldier, sound without being conservative, popular with his troops, hardworking, highly disciplined and possessed of considerable imagination. He is no Eisenhower, but it has been argued that now N.A.T.O. (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation) has been largely organised, Eisenhower's talents no longer are needed.

FROM 1945-48 Russian policy clearly hoped to conquer Western Europe by political means, without getting involved in war with Britain and America. Since 1948 this prospect has receded. And now, since Atlantic rearmament, the Russian choice has narrowed down to the dramatic alternative of seeing Western Europe consolidated with Britain and America in a firm political and military community—which Russia could not possibly hope to challenge with any prospects of success—or giving the signal for world war by opening military aggression against Western Europe.

Moreover, even that choice will be open to Russia only for a limited time—the time during which Western rearmament is still incomplete and Western Europe still insecure. Thereafter, when Western Europe is physically secure, Russia will find herself forced to accommodate herself for a long period to a secondary-power position. No atomic bomb stockpile can make a decisive difference to this.

This is the position which makes the next twelve or eighteen months, despite the diplomatic calm of the moment, a danger period. It is, historically speaking, the last moment in which Russia can freely choose between aggressive war and resignation to secondary-power status. The period will be the shorter the more Western rearmament is speeded up. If these twelve or eighteen months are successfully and peacefully negotiated, the international climate thereafter should change fundamentally, and 1954, so far from being "the year of supreme crisis and danger", might prove the year of settlement, and the beginning of a period of real peace

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord, Keep ye judgement, and do justice: for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed. (Isa. 56:1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Cry aloud, spare not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and shew my people their their sins . . . Behold, ye fast for strife and debate, and to smite with the fist of wickedness: ye shall not fast as ye do this day, to make your voice to be heard on high . . . Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke? . . . Then shall thy light break forth as the morning, and thine health shall spring forth speedily: and thy righteousness shall go before thee; the glory of the Lord shall be thy reward.

Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer; thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am. If thou take away from the midst of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and speaking vanity; and if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noon day. And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not.

And they that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in. (Isa. 58: 1, 4, 6, 8-12.)

Opening Play Brings Varied Criticism

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 29—(CP)—The Saint John Little Theatre Guild's presentation of the Noel Coward comedy "Hay Fever" was described Monday night as "a very genuine performance" by Adjudicator Michel St.-Denis.

The performance opened the annual Dominion Drama Festival here. The week-long festival continues tonight with Edward Percy's "Ladies in Retirement" produced by the St. John's Players Workshop of Newfoundland.

Mr. St.-Denis, director of the Old Vic Theatre of London, said the Saint John play was "extremely fresh and a good attempt to capture the fleeting mood of Noel Coward."

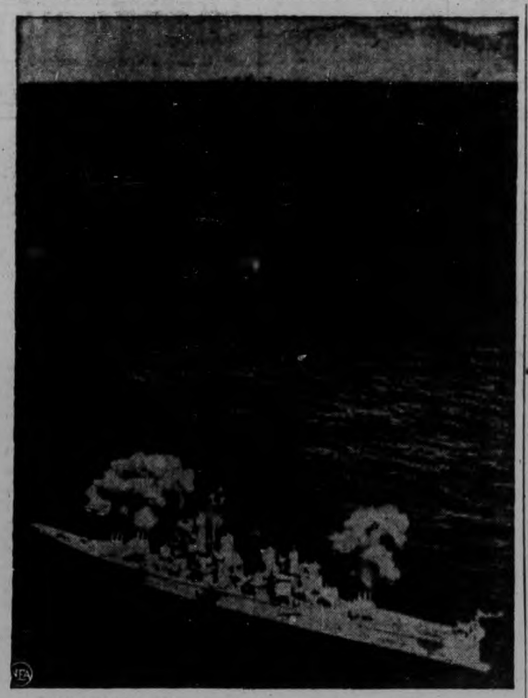
However, said the adjudicator, the acting was "too genuine" for the tongue-in-cheek type of cynicism called for by the play. The interpretation was lacking in sophistication and generally "too nice."

Too Girlish

Jene Wood, playing the leading role of Judith Bliss, had a "very good sense" and used her hands well, the adjudicator said. However, she was "too girlish" and dressed too beautifully for the part written for an older portrayal. She looked more like a sister of her daughter in the play.

The father, portrayed by Sandy Gregory, was "quite a good type" but a bit shorter in the character. the son and daughter roles, taken by Holly Fleming and Director William Stewart, were pushed too much, although "very alive."

Mr. St.-Denis complimented Dave Archibald on his performance of Sandy Tyrell, one of the four week-end guests. Vince Saunders, as the visiting diplomat, appeared more like a "civil servant." Terry Gregory, as Myra Arundel, was a "good type" but difficult to hear, while the maid, played by Joy Bailey, was "quite good."



SHIP OF DEATH—A gun turret explosion killed 30 crew members of the heavy cruiser USS St. Paul while the ship was firing on Communist positions along the Korean coast. Here, the St. Paul is shown hitting Red shore installations with a 9-gun salvo. The Navy said the explosion was not caused by enemy action.

Latin America Growing Market For Canadian-Made Products

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Latin-America is a bright spot for Canadian exporters, and promises to become brighter

In 1951 Canada sold to those countries $208,710,000 worth of goods, up 45 per cent from 1950's $143,500,000; and bought from them $273,690,000, compared with 1950's $213,300,000.

These figures are given in a country-by-country study of the Latin-America market by John C. McDerby, Montreal manager of the Canadian Exporters' Association, who comments:

"It is felt that the 20 countries in this area can be regarded as presenting the best field to Canadian exporters today in virtually every line of production."

In 1951, Brazil, at $53,500,000, was the biggest buyer from Canada, while Canadian purchases there were $40,500,000. Including $21,000,000 for coffee.

We also spent $12,500,000 for coffee in Columbia, out of total purchases there of $13,000,000; compared with sales to Colombia of $12,300,000.

Second Biggest

Mexico, at $30,000,000, was the second biggest buyer from Canada, against our purchases of $18,000,000. Our sales included $5,700,000 for automobiles and trucks, compared with virtually none in 1950.

Canada's biggest purchases were in oil-producing Venezuela, $137,000,000, against sales there of $27,000,000.

Here are Canada's 1951 sales to other Latin-American countries, with our purchases from them in brackets, and some of Mr. McDerby's comments:

Argentina $9,000,000 ($14,000,000). "Half our exports were farm machinery."

Bolivia $3,500,000 ($1,800,000). "General improvement right across the board."

Orders In Chile

Chile $13,750,000 ($2,150,000). "Jump (of $6,850,000) in wheat, wood pulp and pulp sulphate and machinery."

Cuba $20,500,000 ($8,300,000). "Business outlook favorable."

Dominican Republic $4,000,000 $1,100,000). "Taking a wide range of our goods."

(Canadian sugar purchases from both Cuba and Dominican Republic considerably down from what they formerly were).

Guatemala $2,400,000 ($4,000,000), "Good outlook for sales of some of world's best coffee from perhaps largest crop on record. Political situation not too promising."

Panama $6,000,000 ($3,500,000). "Export figures swollen by sales of ships to Panamanian Registry; but steady market in last four years for some 300 classifications of goods."

Peru $5,500,000 ($5,600,000). "Sales up in almost all of some 300 classifications. Virtually free of import controls."

Uruguay $6,900,000 ($3,800,000). "Big jump in sales of aluminum, automobiles, farm machinery. Very stable political conditions. One of world's strongholds of Democracy."

Baking Industry Slaps Dairy Plan

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Arthur May of Ottawa, managing director of the National Council of the Baking Industry, said Monday the dairy lobby is trying to have federal tariffs on competing products increased.

A proposal to wipe out the 30-cent difference between butter and margarine prices would be equal to a tax of upwards of 300 per cent on vegetable oils that go into margarine, Mr. May told the convention of Ontario Bakers' Association and the allied trades of the baking industry.

"In the end the tax will be paid by the consumer," he said. Subsidies would be cheaper in the end.

In a jettyside ceremony Wednesday, Capt. E. P. Tisdall will accept from the people of Ontario a mace to commemorate the embarkation November 9, 1951, of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The presentation will be made on behalf of the Province of Ontario and Premier Leslie Frost by Dr. A. F. Mahaffey, of Victoria, an old friend of the Premier.

The mace will not only serve as a reminder of the day when Canada's Queen sailed in the ship, but as a link with the province from which the cruiser took her name.

Lakefield Minister Speaks At Woodview

WOODVIEW, April 29 (ENS).—Special service at Eden United Church, Woodview, was held Sunday morning with the Rev. W. H. Tonge of Lakefield United Church as guest speaker. His theme was on the grip of Communism in China and their evil workings against the church and teachings of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Northey of Lakefield had their baby, Frederick John, baptized in the combined baptismal and communion services with Mr. Tonge officiating, assisted by Cleve Robb, minister of Eden.

Jury Finds Trench Not Properly Shored

WOODSTOCK, April 29 (CP) A coroner's jury here Monday night found that a sewer trench, which caved in two weeks ago, causing death of one man and injuries to three others, was not sufficiently shored with timber.

It recommended that the provincial government make more frequent inspections of this type of construction.

MY CLIENTS HAVE MADE MONEY

From time to time I write my clients about money-making opportunities in the stock market. Here are two examples of what I mean.

Had you received the letter I wrote about Silver Miller Mines and acted upon my advice, you would have bought 1,000 shares for $220.00—and you could sell out today on The Toronto Stock Exchange for more than $1,500.00 And in addition to this very nice tax-free profit, you would have received last year more in cash dividends than the 1,000 shares cost you originally.

Another letter I wrote was about Jupiter Oil shares. Had you received a copy, and again followed my advice, you would have sent me $180.00 for 1,000 shares—and you could sell out today on The Toronto Stock Exchange for more than $4,000.00 With the opportunities of these two stocks in mind, I believe I have another just as attractive. Neither Silver Miller or Jupiter Oil looked half as good when I first wrote about them.

Let Me Tell You About Baska Uranium Mines

If you missed the big money made last year in base metal shares, and you did not get in on the present boiling oil market, don't miss the coming uranium boom. Because I am convinced that a lot of money is going to be made mining uranium, I am sponsoring a company with three properties in the heart of the biggest uranium development on this continent. The company has more than $100,000.00 in itstreasury.

If you would like to know why I believe Baska Uranium Mines shares are as a good a buy at this early stage as Silver Miller and Jupiter were when I first recommended them, get in touch with me at once. Write me, phone, or use the coupon below and by return mail I will send you convincing information. I will also tell you what I think you ought to do. If you live in or near Toronto, come in and see me.

Buffalo Clips Montreal In 4-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Hank Borowy, winner of 108 games in the major leagues, is making a strong bid to return to the big time with some fine pitching for Buffalo Bisons of the International League.

Borowy, who will be 34 next month, signed as a free agent with the Bisons following his release by the parent Detroit Tigers last fall.

At the time, Borowy, who starred with New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs, said he would be back. There's a strong possibility that Borowy will.

Borowy turned in his third victory without a loss Monday as he pitched the Bisons to a 4-1 seven-hit triumph over the pace-setting Montreal Royals. He blanked the Royals until the eighth inning when Charley Thompson doubled home Montreal's only run.

Frank Carswell was the big gun in Buffalo's attack against three Montreal pitchers. Carswell batted in three runs on a homer and two doubles.

Down Senators

Toronto Maple Leafs pulled to within a half game of Montreal by downing the last-place Ottawa Senators 6-3 in 11 innings. Andy Anderson drove in the winning run and Jim Jennings the two insurance markers.

Paris-born Duke Markell went all the way for Toronto and limited Ottawa to five hits for his second victory.

Springfield's Vern Fear pitched the Cubs to a 2-0 seven-hit victory over Bob Keegan and Syracuse Chiefs. Errors by Fenton Mole and Loren Babe led to both Springfield runs.

Errors also figured prominently in Rochester Red Wings' 9-6 victory over Baltimore Orioles. The Wings committed four boots and the Orioles three.

The Wings wiped out a 6-4 deficit with five runs in the eighth inning. Dick Young's miscue and a wild pitch by Dixie Howell accounted for the last two runs of the rally.

DERBY DANDY—Myhelyn Stable's Master Fiddle, Dave Gorman up, came from 12th to win the Wood Memorial and $45,200 and become a contender in the Kentucky Derby, May 3.

Pick Powell All-Star Centre

NEW YORK, April 29 (AP).—Ray Powell, Providence centre who led the American Hockey League scorers with 97 points during the 1951-52 season, was named today as the unanimous choice for that position on the A.H.L. all-star team.

One of the smoothest playmakers seen in the league in years, Powell was the only one to top the ballots from all nine league cities.

The all-star selections were based on polls of the writers and sportscasters in each city.

John Bower, Cleveland goalie, and Frank Mathers, Pittsburgh defenceman, polled 41 points each. Completing the first team were Tim Horton, Pittsburgh defence (31); Steve Wochy, Cleveland right wing (40); and Enio Schlisizzi, Indianapolis left wing (20).

Members of the team receive a league bonus of $300 each and a gold souvenir hockey puck. Alternates receive $200 and a silver puck.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Tillsonburg Livingstons are out to make sure of their bid to become Canada's senior basketball representatives at this year's Olympic games in Hensinki.

They have added Winnipeg's great scorer King Carl Ridd to the line-up as a replacement for Tommy Gibbons, an American. Ridd averaged 27 points a game with Winnipeg's Varsity Grads. Gibbons is inlegibile for Olympic competition with a Canadian team because he is a United States citizen.

Livingstons will play several exhibition games before they meet the survivors of a University of Western Ontario University of Alberta series to decide the Canadian college finalists. The series is scheduled for Tillsonburg May 19 to 23.

The pitching arm of Curt Simmons, fresh out of army khaki, is due to get its first 1952 major league test against Chicago Cubs today. Rain forced postponement of his scheduled start Sunday. The game is in Chicago.

Patty Berg won the $3,000 Richmond open golf tournament Monday at Richmond, Calif., with a ladies P.G.A. tournament record-breaking score of 64-70-72—210 for 54 holes. Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., was second with 214.

St. Louis Browns have farmed out two baseball players to the Japanese Pacific League. It is the first time a U.S. ball club has lent players outside the country. Third baseman John Britton, Jr., and pitcher James Nebbery, will be the first Negroes in Japanese baseball.

Pittsburgh Pirates' owners are expected to give Branch Rickey a $300,000 vote of confidence. The money is to bolster the sagging treasury, caused by Rickey's big farm system program to build up the hapless Pirates. Bing Crosby is one of those who, an official source says, will be tapped for $100,000.

Comes an Olympic bulletin, announcing that about 130 officials and competitors will fly from Quebec early in July to the Summer Games in Hensinki July 19 to Aug. 3. The Winter Games in Oslo saw Canada tie for third in speed skating to win a bronze medal as the Canucks again captured the world's amateur hockey championship. Bulletin said: "In hockey, our team did well, winning the championship. Everyone in Canada and at the Olympic Games felt the Canadians should win, and our team came through. They played very good hockey with a minimum of penalties and no really rough games. European teams are consistently getting better and Canada will have to be on her toes to keep the Olympic championship where it belongs—in Canada."

Lanky Harry Wipper will be here next week from McGill to take over coaching duties again of the local minor lacrosse association. The all-star forward, of course, will also play again for the senior Petes' Timberman. There were 20 minor teams operating here last summer with some 300 boys seeing gutted-stick action. Playdown teams showed up well, and the bantam "B" title came to Peterborough. Annual P.M.L.A. meeting will be held next Monday at eight p.m. in the home of Ken Kingston, 21 Manning Ave. Managers, coaches and other men interested in this fine setup are urged to attend for the election of officers and to make plans for this season.

P. M. B. A. Makes Plans

Minor baseball also is getting set for a summer's activity in Peter Robinson's borough. Prexy Dit Clapper has called the annual meeting for tonight at seven in the "Y," everyone interested being invited. Ray Pammett, Gord Young, Alex Kay and other officials have high hopes of putting the P.M.B.A. in the diamond limelight this semester to keep pace with the junior team in the Lakeshore Loop and the senior Petes in the C.O.B.L. Lights at Riverside should provide more time in that park for all teams for daylight, twilight and floodlight frays from late May till the end of September. The boys will be out in force but they need adult guidance.

Some of the working officials of the past we recall fondly include: Lew LaBarr, Alex Kay, Charlie Curtis, Jack Sullivan, Bill Prindible, Jack Deannard, and others. Many fine ballsters came up through the minor ranks to star in higher company. Fellows like Frank Whitehouse, Stan Hensley, Fred Ash, the Hollingsworths, Chuck Bradley, the Halls, Tommy Foley, Les Burton, Bun Kingdon, Eddie Starr, Cy Whatley, Al Menzies and so on and so forth. There's some good material there today ready to go into junior and then senior ranks within a year or two. Older ball enthusiasts should come out and help coach these boys along. It is time well spent.

Scugog Squad Enters

Lindsay last night entered the men's City Softball League to make it at present a four-team circuit, though East City may come in if a sponsor can be located. Loop would prefer six teams in the setup this year. The four sure starters are Lakefield, Lindsay, U.E.W. and Revoy's. Plans are to open the schedule on May 22 with the league again running double-headers under the arcs in the Ashburnham Bowl, on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Umpires should make applications to Secretary John McPhee now. Another executive meeting Monday p.m. at seven in the Y.M.C.A., when all entries should be in.

Eastern Ontario Soccer League schedule opens this coming Saturday here when Batawa tackles the U.E.W. champs of last year at 3:15 p.m. in Morrow Park. Manager Bill Garbutt of U.E. has been putting his squad through some stiff workouts Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Ex. and is confident he'll come up with a good team. But he has been taking a bit of leg-pulling from certain hockey-playing workmates as he rounds up his club. The Peterborough footballers took a recent exhibition win o'er Batawa 5-2 in a tidy tussle, and the Batawa bunch are likely to extend them plenty in future fixtures. U.E.W. won Ontario intermediate honors last season.

Oil Fields Setting For Musical Comedy

HALIFAX — (CP)—A Canadian play set in western oil fields will have its premier here June 23-26.

The three-act show, written by Jim Richardson of Vancouver and C. L. Lambertson of Halifax is "Bonanza," a musical comedy.

It has been begging a backer for some months and the cast of 60 which includes this city's best singers, actors, dancers and musicians, in rehearsal and hoping for the best, had just about given up ever seeing it staged.

Finally, Radio Station CJCH here decided to underwrite the bouncy show.

E. Finlay MacDonald, CJCH station manager, said: "This is one of the most attractive musical comedies I've ever seen."

Safety For Birds

STOCKHOLM — (CP) — Floodlighting of a lighthouse has been tried in Sweden as a means of saving migrant birds. First lighthouse to adopt the system is Lange Jan on the Baltic island of Orland, favorite passage for thousands of migratory birds, which formerly were found dead there in large numbers after hitting the structure.

TRAIN FOR PLATE—Warm spring mornings help speed training for the Canadian-bred three-year-olds entered in Canada's richest and North America's oldest continuously-run horse race, the Queen's Plate. Two entries from the J. E. F. Seagram's stable of Waterloo, are cantering in preparation for more serious works. Game Warrior is on the rail and Hielan Laddie on the outside. The Seagram stable has won the famous spring classic 19 times in the race's 92 years. The purse this year is $21,000.

Queen's Plate, Canada's Oldest Race

By JOHN PATERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 29—(CP)—The 93rd annual running of Canada's richest and North America's oldest continuously-run horse-race will have a distinctive feminine touch this year.

For the first time in 51 years the race will be run as the Queen's Plate—not the King's Plate. Coincidentally, it is scheduled for May 24, Victoria Day. In 1860, Queen Victoria first lent Royal patronage to the race and donated 50 guineas. This year's 50 guineas will be given by her great-great-granddaughter, Queen Elizabeth, with $21,000 added by the Ontario Jockey Club.

Hunch bettors have added interest in that a handsome bay filly, Flareday, is one of the winter-book favorites at 6-1, in the spring stake for three-year-old Canadian-breds owned by Canadians.

Tom Bird, veteran Toronto clocker, a timer for 58 years at Canadian and United States tracks said that Flareday and stable-mates Hielan Laddie and Game Warrior are training well and coming up to the 1¼-mile plate distance in good shape.

"And if it comes up mud on the 24th," he said in an interview, "I don't think any starter can beat Flareday."

The three are owned by the J. E. F. Seagram Stable of Waterloo, Ont., whose black and yellow silks have been worn by 19 winners of the spring classic. Flareday's best race was the $10,000 Coronation Stakes at one mile and 70 yards last year, indicating she likes a route. Over a muddy track she won by six lengths. But trainer Johnny Thorpe says she can also run on a fast strip.

Western Canada has sent two strong contenders in Lord Strome and Our Omar. The latter has caught the fancy of shed-row dwellers and despite a poor record as a two-year-old—four starts without a win—he is touted as a dark horse "good thing." He is owned by A. G. (Scotty) Kennedy of Winnipeg and is doing well in training.

Longden To Ride

The Whittier Stock Farm of James Spears, Winnipeg, has Lord Strome. Trained by Dick Townrow of Toronto. Lord Strome will have Johnny Longden, internationally-known Alberta - born jockey in the saddle if he survives the gruelling training and goes to the post.

The large Toronto stable of E. P. Taylor has six on the list of 75 still eligible for the Plate. The stable won in 1949 with Epic, bred McGill, winning in 1950, but had lost him in a claiming race as a two-year-old. Last year Taylor came up with Major Factor which won with a mighty stretch run.

Trainer Pete McCann has brought in the horses from winter quarters at Oshawa, Ont. Rumors of sensational workouts by one of the six, Acadian, preceded their arrival. Acadian started twice as a two-year-old and was beaten both times. He had a world of speed but a bad habit of bolting to the outside fence. Winter-book odds on him have dropped from 20-1 to 4-1, on the strength of his training.

About 15 are expected to start in view of the comparatively open race. The horse which annually and almost automatically is considered the one to beat is not entered this year. It is the winner of the fall two-year-old classic, the cup and saucer. Won in 1951 by Fiery Red, the horse was taken to U.S. tracks and has raced in 1952, which disqualifies him.

Another horse which has aroused considerable interest is Bricker, a sturdy colt which won two races and had a second and a third last year in four starts. Owned by J. H. Stafford stable of Toronto the trainer is S. D. Birley who, as a jockey, rode Archworth to victory in 1939.

Expected pace setter is Caractacus, owned by Imperial Stable of Kitchener, Ont. Winner of sprint races last year, including the Clarendon Plate, trainer Jerry Meyer is doubtful Caractacus can go the distance so early in the spring.

Eric's Girl, owned by Eric Cradock of Toronto, is another filly which can go the distance. In the cup and saucer—a mile and 70 yards—she came from 18th place in the back stretch to finish third. The Rusana stable of Whitby, Ont., has Wool Chopper whose six furlong workout in 1.16 is one of the fastest to date.

YUKON ERIC, above, who clashes with Hans Hermann in the feature wrestling match at the Brock tonight. It promises to be a rugged encounter with plenty of action. Two giants meet in the semi-final when Wladyslaw Talun and Wee Willie Davis square off. Frank Fozo, a newcomer and Dave Simms are in the preliminary.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

There will be drama and there will be thrills in the renewal of the Kentucky Derby this year, because thrills, drama and the Derby go hand-in-hand, a triumvirate of tradition. It may be the thrill of a winning favorite. It may be the drama of a rank outsider roaring down the historic stretch at Churchill Downs, in the Run for the Roses.

But no matter what the thrills, I doubt if any result, any development will equal for sheer throat-catching drama what happened on May 17, 1924, the fiftieth running of the Derby which is not even a Derby. For that was the day when through the Derby crowd there walked to the judges' stand a woman in mourning, amid the wild cheers of the multitude, to receive the token of victory.

That was the day Black Gold won the Derby, and this is the story behind it:

Black Gold was owned by Mrs. R. M. Hoots, widow of an Oklahoma oil man who had gone broke in his search for that very thing for which he named his horse: black gold. Disappointed, discouraged, he failed in health and died.

In the waning days of his life, all Hoots and his family had was the horse—Black Gold. They campaigned it north and south, won some lesser races, termed "Derbies," with the black son of Black Toney, but racing against the brilliant performers who carried the colors of millionaire owners, of famous breeding farms of the Whitneys and Bradleys and Cochranes and Sinclairs, Black Gold was rated as having a scant chance for the Derby. Not, at least until a few days before when he won the Derby Trial impressively.

The legend is that when Hoots realized his days were numbered, he exacted a promise from his wife that Black Gold should have a chance for high stakes—a chance in the Kentucky Derby, if for no other reason than reward for his honest performances.

So, in 1924, the widow took the horse to Churchill Downs. There was no trumpet to herald his arrival. It was more like an outcast trying to break into high society.

After all, Black Gold was a campaigner from the small tracks—out in the sticks—so they thought, as the field went to the post.

But two minutes later when the field came under the wire, it was Black Gold which showed the way, beating out Chilhowee from the rich Gallaher Stable by half a length in a driving finish. And the men of millions had to make way for the widow of an oil man who died broke, when the path was opened to the platform for the presentation of the trophies and the roses, while the band played "My Old Kentucky Home."

Critical Period Arrives For Major League Rookies

By RALPH RODEN, Associated Press Sports Writer

The critical period was at hand today for Major League rookies as eastern and western teams clashed for the first time in the infant 1952 season. Within the next fortnight the strategists must decide on the players they will retain for the long haul. The axe will fall from now until May 15, the final day for trimming the rosters to the required 25 players. The battle for survival among the greenhorns, and the early season upstarts—the St. Louis Browns, Boston Red Sox, Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs—will command the fans' attention during the next ten days.

Whether the four teams are "morning glories" or pennant contenders should be determined during this first extended road trip of the campaign.

Hope Rain Over

American League teams invade the east, hoping that the rain which has kept the clubs on the Atlantic sea board in drydock for virtually a week, will subside. Meanwhile, the National League's eastern teams gladly left their water-logged parks for the west.

Manager Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Browns head the eastern invasion. St. Louis' first port of call is the Yankee Stadium. The Browns, boasting a 7-3 record, have what many believe will be the rookie of the year in Jim Rivera, 29-year-old outfielder up from Seattle.

Lefty Bob Cain (2-0 has been selected to pitch against the Yanks' Vic Raschi (2-0) today. Cain, a Yanke tamer of note, has allowed only one run in 18 innings.

In the only National League game played Monday the Chicago Cubs shaded the St. Louis Cards, 4-3, under the lights at St. Louis. Hank Sauer drove in all of Chicago's runs, two on a first inning homer. Harry Brecheen, former Cub tormentor, was the loser.

The only scheduled game in the American League, between New York and Washington, was rained out.

Fort Frances Subdues Stratford Indians 5 to 3

FORT FRANCES, Ont., April 29 (CP).—Fort Frances Canadians are a game away from the Allan Cup.

The Canadians came from behind in the third period Monday night to score four goals and defeat Stratford Indians 5-3. The victory gave Canadians a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior hockey title.

Stratford, as in previous games, was leading in the final frame. Some 3,000 roaring fans watched as Frank Eizensoph and Mike Hubchuk combined to turn the tables on the Indians, ahead 3-1.

Hubchuk started the attack to score at 1:52, assisted by Eizensoph and D. Sampson. Eizensoph tied the count 3-3 at 3:40, firing an angle shot past Bruce Dale in the Stratford net after a long pass from Ed Kliner. George Aitken of Stratford was off on a holding penalty at the time.

Canadians took the lead at 12:20 when Hubchuk poked the puck into a corner after Eizensoph laid it in front of the net. Eizensoph followed with the final maker—a successful penalty shot awarded after Aitken had tripped Hubchuk when the big winger was in the clear.

Had Little Trouble

Eizensoph had little trouble firing a fast shot past Dale.

In the first period he opened the scoring for Fort Frances while his team was one man short. Eizensoph picked up the puck at centre ice and breezed through the Stratford defence before beating Dale with a backhand shot.

At 8:21 of the first period, Billy Flick evened the count, drawing Bill Cleaveley from the Fort Frances net before depositing the rubber inside.

Bruce Burdett put Indians into a 2-1 lead at 13:14 of the second period on a double relay from Ducharme and Larry Lemenchick. Two minutes later Stratford took the 3-1 edge when Ducharme fired a screened shot in the corner of the net after a pass from Flick.

Injuries played a major role in the game.

Bill Walsh of Indians was sidelined with a bad leg gash and is not expected to return for the fifth game. Vern O'Donnell and Gord Gosselin of Canadians were sent off but their injuries are not believed serious.

A total of 17 penalties were called, 10 of them to Stratford, including two misconducts and the penalty shot.

Canadians Must Accept Responsibilities

The challenge for Canadians to accept the responsibilities that go along with their rights as free men in a free country was the theme of an address given at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

The guest speaker was A. Douglas Vaisey, county court reporter.

The speaker called Canadians the most reserved and modest people in the world. He explained that perhaps Canadians have been so busy growing that they weren't able to see their growth.

"Behind us there is a tradition of great purpose and tremendous dreams," Mr. Vaisey said. "Our whole history is based on vision. The men who built this country were men of imagination, who because they could conceive a free man's government, were able to create this government.

"This freedom that we have today was passed on to us from our forefathers and we should hold this freedom in trust for future generations."

The speaker said that men must accept the responsibilities as well as the rights of freedom in order to maintain it. These rights and responsibilities to vote; the right to voice opinions; the right to read and think; and the right to worship.

"We are free to shape our destiny," he said. "But this freedom must be fought for and thought for."

The speaker was introduced by V. J. McElderry, Q.C., and thanked by Jack Sackville.

The following guests were introduced by Frank Paterson: Joe Brown, San Carlos, California; Milburn Kelly, Fenelon Falls; Bill Doucett, Port Hope; Mac Macklin, Belleville; Ian McRea, Toronto; A. R. Brown, Picton; Jack Jupp, Montreal; Gerald Monkman, Peterborough.

THE HAGUE, April 29 (Reuters) —Queen Juliana returned home Monday and she said she had been particularly struck by the cordial reception she and her husband Prince Bernhard had received during their four-week tour of Canada and the United States.

As she stepped down from the plane ladder, three of her young daughters burst through the ropedoff area and ran to greet their parents. The Princesses Beatrix, Irene and Margriet had not been expected to come to the airport.

Prices Slide

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP) — Wholesale prices continued to slide for the eighth consecutive month, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. The wholesale index dropped 1.8 points to 230.8 from 232.6 in February, a decline of 12.9 points from the index peak of 243.7 in July last year.

BACK TO SCHOOL — Behind a classroom desk Queen Juliana of the Netherlands takes part in the daily lessons while visiting Alway Public School, 16 miles from St. Catharines, during her whirlwind tour of central and eastern Ontario. Of the 26 pupils in the one-room rural school, 60 per cent are children of Dutch immigrants. Queen Juliana left Ottawa Sunday to return home after a visit to the United States and Canada.

Charge Drew Opposed Family Allowance Plan

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP)—The third of a series of noisy, angry exchanges erupted in the Commons Monday after Liberal members charged that George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had opposed family allowances when he was Premier of Ontario.

Mr. Drew promptly denied the charge and said the Ontario government had opposed the allowances on constitutional grounds alone. It had opposed the way the Federal government planned to introduce the allowances. Later Ontario had made arrangements which made introduction of the allowances possible.

The charge against Mr. Drew first was made by James Sinclair (L—Coast Capilano), parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Abbott. He said Mr. Drew stated in 1944 that he would "fight this inquitous legislation in every court in the land."

Mr. Drew said the charge was so inaccurate he was not going to reply.

Reads Clipping

Mr. Sinclair then sent to his office for a press clipping reporting a radio speech which Mr. Drew had made in 1944. He passed the clipping to Health Minister Martin who then read from it.

The newspaper report quoted Mr. Drew as saying that former Prime Minister Mackenzie King knew that the family allowance bill was "not worth the paper it is written on." The Ontario government would do everything in its power to see that "this iniquitous legislation" did not go into effect. Mr. Drew had charged that the allowances bill was an "arrogant usurpation" of powers.

The Ontario Premier had added: "If the Ontario government submitted to this, then we would be handing over the rights of this province to a government which has shown only too clearly that it submits to the will of Quebec . . .

"Are we going to permit one isolationist province to dominate the destiny of a divided Canada? I hope that each one of you will answer that with a resounding no, which will be heard in every part of the Province of Quebec.

Hope Answer Same

"I hope that the people of every other province will give the same answer to this question which must be answered one way or the other very soon. And I go so far as to hope that the same answer will be given by many people in Quebec who must have felt heartsick and ashamed that their province has been made to appear before the world in such a shameful role."

Mr. Martin aid the "past is past" and now every political party supports family allowances.

The exchange occurred during a debate on a motion by Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia) urging that family allowances, first introduced in 1945, be increased to bring them into line with the cost of living. He asked that minimum allowances be increased to $8 from $5 a month and that maximum allowances be increased to $13 from $8. The allowances are paid from birth to 16 years.

Mr. Martin said the government could not accept the motion at this time because of the cost involved. Debate was adjourned by Mr. Drew, but there was no indication of when it will be resumed. Only a brief period each week now will be devoted to private members' business.

The first of the noisy exchanges came after Prime Minister St. Laurent introduced a motion to give government business precedence over the bills of private members every Monday until the end of the session.

Curtailing Rights

Mr. Drew again was the centre of the outburst. He charged the government was trying to curtail the rights of private members. He said the question of 'dictatorship' was raised whenever any one questioned the course followed by the government.

Prime Minister St. Laurent retorted that, with six federal by-elections in the offing, Mr. Drew was trying to lecture the government in a style reminiscent of his "outbursts before the election of 1949."

Mr. St. Laurent's motion was carried by a vote of 103 to 42.

In the exchange, Mr. Drew also criticized Finance Minister Abbott for going to the United States in the midst of a debate on the 1952-53 budget. This was an "affront" to parliament and the people of Canada. It meant that no matter what suggested changes in taxes were made they would not be listened to by the government.

Demands Documents

In the second of the outbursts, John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) threatened to bring Agriculture Minister Gardiner before the bar of the Commons if he doesn't produce certain documents.

Charging Mr. Gardiner with action bordering "on contempt of parliament." Mr. Diefenbaker suggested Speaker Ross Macdonald force Mr. Gardiner to produce the papers. The House voted last month that the papers, concerning the outbreak of foot-and-mouth diseases in Saskatchewan, should be produced.

Mr. Gardiner said some of the documents are "privileged"—they should not be publicly produced. He was trying to weed them out but one document Mr. Diefenbaker requested should not be produced without having the responsible official present to explain it. This could be done before the agriculture committee, scheduled to study the foot-and-mouth outbreak.

Speaker Macdonald said he had no power to force the minister to produce the documents. The Progressive Conservatives challenged the ruling, but it was upheld 101 to 41.

There were full choir choruses singing "The Bells of St. Mary's" and "Oklahoma" sung with lots of spirit; a medley of sacred hymns, and "Tramping Song."

A ladies' chorus of 16 voices sang "A Shepherd's Dance'.'

Wallace B. Baker took the solo part in the men's chorus "Cool Water." For their second number the men sang the new song just out, "From Sea to Sea in Canada."

A special solo number was given by Miss Claire Windover singing "Alice Blue Gown."

Mrs. Jim McCleary, dressed in very old-time costume with long full skirt and hoops, with old-time bonnet, gave a humorous solo, "Paddy McGinty's Goat."

Miss Eleanor Calder sang "The Bluebird of Happiness."

Clarinet soloist was Edward Thompson playing a medley of American songs

Mrs. Don Thompson sang "Lazy Bones," while her good-for-nothing husband lay asleep on the cot. This character was represented by Arthur McKee, as silent partner in this little drama.

The Misses Eleanor Calder and Clair Windover gave the vocal duet, "Smilin' Through."

"Barcarole" was the duet that Mrs. Jim McCleary and Mrs. Don Thompson sang.

Another duet, "Carem Carmella" was by Mrs. Howard Wilson and Mrs. Keith Thain.

A bass trio, Gordon Platt, Howard Mitchell and Edward Thompson, sang "The Bell in the Lighthouse."

All of these singers were accompanied by the musical director, Mrs. Douglas Knight, at the piano.

Mrs. A. E. Harwood in her monologue, "My Operation," portrayed a woman who wished to have an operation to attract attention to herself and not knowing just what kind to have, she had to be on guard at all times to get her money's worth and she finally revealed to the listeners that she had "her face lifted."

A stunt, directed by Glenn Hancock, followed the prelude of "I Was Working on the Railroad," piano played by Mrs. Hancock, and Mrs. D. H. Evans dressed in old-fashioned togs and loaded down with parcels was at the railroad station with her seven youngsters and had been having such a time getting them thus far.

In a one-act play entitled "Buddy Answers an Advertisement," the following took part: Gordon Platt, Glen Hancock, Lillian Thain, Mrs. Robert Edgar, Mrs. Harold Wilson, Bruce Birney, Howard Mitchell and Mrs. Jean Boyce.

Mrs. Norma McCleary thanked the audience and said the $120 would be used to buy new choir gowns.

The choir was entertained by the ladies and served lunch in the council chambers.

Cut Aid Program

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) —The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday voted to cut President Truman's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid program by $1,000,000,000.

SAYS ATTACK WOULD SUCCEED—Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead (centre), former head of the Air Defence Command, told the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee that a "well planned, well executed, surprise air attack on the U.S. would succeed beyond the fondest hopes of its commanders." He estimated more than 90 per cent. of the planes would get through to their targets, even in bad weather. With Whitehead are Sen. Lydon Johnson (D-Tex.), chairman of the subcommittee, and Lt. Gen. K. B. Wolfe (right).

Oliver Urges Ontario Quit Local Tax Fields

TORONTO, April 29 (CP) — Farquhar Oliver, Liberal house leader in the Ontario legislature, Monday night urged the province to get out of certain local tax fields as the only solution to the financial problems of municipalities.

"For years our municipalities have watched their expenditures rise while the tax basis remains static," Mr. Oliver said in a speech over a provincial CBC network.

"This problem is one that must be solved if the financial structure of our municipaliites is to remain unimpaired."

The right of local governments to direct local affairs was being constantly undermined.

Ever Narrower

"Their fields of action are ever narrowing; their ability to create and think is being stifled by the oppressive hand of a higher level of government, until those in municipal life are beset by a feeling of frustration and conviction that little worthwhile service remains to be rendered."

Mr. Oliver said Ontario would benefit from entering a taxation agreement with Ottawa under which the federal government would collect certain provincial taxes and pay Ontario annual subsidies.

Thieves Get Cash Two Breakins

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 (ENS).—Thieves struck twice at business establishments during the early hours of Sunday morning in this town, when entry was made to Edgewater Park Sales and Service and an implement shop operated by James Heathcote.

At the implement shop, thieves got away with a little cash but nothing else. At the service station they got away with a little more. An undetermined amount of cash and a number of cheques were taken. The thieves also took some packages of tobacco and a loaded .32 calibre automatic revolver. Entry was made through a side window. The catch holding the window closed was broken and a heavy wire screen on the inside was cut.

The men walked past a display of auto accessories and tires and batteries without bothering to take any of them, and also left a 1951 model car, with the keys in the ignition, untouched.

Chief constable George H. Hardy and Provincial police are investigating the break-ins. Constable W. E. Cargin, night constable, said he tried the door of the service station at about 1.45 a.m. and noticed nothing amiss.

Four Pay Fines

$600,000 PLANT

Bradford-Hoshal Ltd., Port Hope contractors, will begin this week construction of a manufacturing plant in Trenton for Pyrotenax of Canada Ltd. at an estimated cost of $600,000. It will be a one-story building, 540 ft. by 72 ft., brick and steel frame materials with laminated wood deck.

NOT SO EARLY

The spring of 1945 must have been exceptionally early. On April 12, the day of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's death, the arch of leaves over Water St., opposite Victoria Park was as green as it is today suggesting two weeks' advance over the present burgeoning.

NEARLY NEW

A story from Marmora early today told how a brand new shortwave transmitter had been fished out of the Moira River east of the village. Corporal Jack Hatch of the O.P.P. detachment in Madoc said that the "brand new tranmitter" was an ordinary radio chassis about 20 years old, and according to a radio repairman probably had not been used for about 10 years.

PLAN SEWAGE PLANT

Oshawa city council is calling for tenders next week for sewage treatment plant that will cost close to one million dollars as estimated by City Engineer W. Dempsey. When it was proposed in 1950 the cost was expected to be $850,000. Whether Oshawa goes ahead with this project is not yet decided. But, Peterborough completed its sewage disposal plant last year.

CORRECTED VERSION

The car of Ronald Mahood, 21, of RR 4, Peterborough, Sunday afternoon collided with the rear of another car in the same funeral procession on Highway 7, five miles east of Peterborough, George W. Kennedy was driving the car ahead. He had slowed down his car when the procession slowed to make the turn at the Keene Rd. Mahood was apparently unable to stop his car in time.

Check Shows $300 Stolen

A check by Provincial Police and officials of the Smith Transport Co. shows that thieves who broke into the trucking company office early Monday morning got away with $300 in cash and cheques.

The valuables were in a metal cash box in a secretarial desk. Sixty dollars was in cash, the rest in cheques.

After prying loose a north window of the storeroom the thieves entered the building and forced a partition between the storeroom and the office. They went straight to work, pried the lock off the desk, and escaped with the money box.

On Saturday night a tarpaulin was loosened on one of the tractor trailers, parked on the Smith Transport lot in North Monaghan township. A carton of cigarettes, valued at about $140, was taken.

O.P.P. Corporal Jack Munro of Peterborough H.Q. is investigating.

Woman, 79, Falls Fractures Wrist Dies In Hospital

An autopsy has been ordered to determine the cause of the death of Miss Martha Chambers of Havelock, who died at Civic Hospital today, after being admitted Monday night for treatment of a fractured wrist. The 79-year-old retired school teacher injured her wrist Monday morning, when she fell while gardening at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. A. McMaster., Dr. W. M. Judd of Havelock who attended Mrs. McMaster, said that no injuries were apparent when he examined Miss Chambers after she fell, other than her right wrist which was fractured.

Late Monday afternoon, she was taken to hospital in Peterborough by car. During the night she lapsed into a coma and died at 6:35 a.m.

Perform Autopsy

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton immediately ordered an autopsy which is being performed by Dr. C. B. Waite.

Until she retired 15 years ago, and came to live with her sister, Mrs. W. A. McMaster in Havelock, Miss Chambers was a school teacher in Western Canada.

She is survived by Mrs. McMaster of Havelock, and one other sister, Mrs. Margaret McGratton of Vancouver.

She was born in Madoc township, daughter of the late Joseph Chambers and Mary Fox. Miss Chambers was educated at Madoc High School and Ottawa University.

She was a member of the Holiness Movement and attended Havelock Pentecostal Church.

Burial will be in Eldorado cemetery in the family plot. No other funeral arrangements have been completed.

District Pupils Finish Term

A number of district boys and girls, attending Kemptville Agricultural school, have returned home. The term closed there April 9 to allow students to return to spring work on the farms.

J. N. Blodgett, R.R. 8, Peterborough, is the only Peterborough district boy, in the school's senior class. Out of a class of 25 Blodgett stood 12th with 67.4 per cent average for 23 subjects, including farm management, animal and field husbandry, feeds and feeding, weeds, entomology, plant pathology, and other subjects.

Graham Horton, R.R. 3, Peterborough and James Coones, R.R. 1, Lakefield were in the junior class, Horton averaging 73 per cent in the spring examinations and Coones 64.7 per cent.

Guelda Bolton, R.R. 9, Peterborough, attended the junior home economics class, averaging 69.5 in the recent examinations.

Special awards were won by a Newcastle student, Francis Jose. For ranking highest in general proficiency in the first year agricultural class, Jose won the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson memorial gold medal and for a worthy record of achievement in English and development of self-expression through literary society activities, he received the Kemptville Advance trophy.

C Of C Division May Replace Retailers' Group

A city retailers' organization, the Peterborough Business Men's Association, has come to stalemate and its activities may be taken over by a new group.

Earlier this year, Harry Green, who has been president of the association for the past two years, resigned and sent out letters to all members recommending that they join the new group.

This new group is a Retail Division of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, which has been set up to promote projects for city merchants and decide policy.

One hundred city retailers have been members of the chamber for some time and this group will form the nucleus of the new organization. A membership campaign started Monday with an objective of 250 members.

James B. Clark is acting chairman of the retail division and an acting committee of classification representatives has also been set up.

Separate Functions

The division will function in the chamber as the resort operators section and industrial division do now. It is hoped that the organization of this new division will bring closer co-operation between the resort operators, retailers and industries in the city and district.

The new division will draw up its own rules and regulations and will be represented on the Chamber's executive.

The proposed activities of the division will include protective activities such as, control of pedlars and itinerant merchants, solicitations control; promotional activities, educational activities such as films, forums and speakers and sales training for employees; community development activities.

Will Set Policies

The policies set up by this new organization will include decisions on store closing hours and observance of national holidays.

Just what is going to happen to the Business Men's Association is still in doubt. Mr. Green said today that he had had several calls from members asking that the association carry on.

"The association has become a dead head and can't get any action," Mr. Green said. "I have definitely resigned as president, but if the association continues to carry on and become at all active, I will be willing to assist the members in any way I can."

The association became officially recognized as an organization in 1941. Since that time it has set up such bylaws as the ones that brought about Wednesday afternoon and Saturday evening closing of city stores. It has also sponsored such events as Christmas parties in the city hall and Christmas parades.

City Sells Bonds At Premium

The second block of debentures to be issued by the city this year was sold by the council Monday night at fractionally more than par of $100.

"A very fine bid" was the remark of Mayor H. F. Waddell as the motion of Aldermen T. D. Miller and S. J. Black was carried unanimously, accepting the price of $101.077, slightly more than $101 on a total issue of $872,832.

The highest of nine bids was received from a syndicate of Dominion Securities Corporation Ltd., A. E. Ames & Co. Ltd., and Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Money Uses

Details of this borrowing were as follows: Sewers $63,600.77; pavements $163,772.39; and sidewalks $45,459.09, amounting to $272,832.25 to pay for local improvements completed by the city last year. Rate of interest on that parcel is 4¼%.

Council also sold for the Utilities Commission debentures totalling $600,000 bearing 4½%. They were requested by the Commission in two lots of $300,000 each, paying for new electric power substations, and improvements at the filtration plant of the waterworks.

City Turns Down Request Of N. Monaghan For Fire Aid

The city's policy of confining its fire-fighting within its own boundaries was confirmed by the committee of the whole council Monday night after a discussion with North Monaghan council of the possibilities of extending the service into that township. After the rural deputation had departed, Ald. T. D. Miller summarized the city's position briefly:

"We had to refuse Smith two years ago," Ald. Miller said, "and they went out and set up their own volunteer department. So, the question before us now is whether we should change that policy. Have we fire protection to sell? I don't think we have."

Asked for his opinion, Fire Chief George Smith said: "I know we haven't. It is hard to have people call you from the country, but what can you do?"

Monaghan council suggested that the city might be willing to consider extension of the service within a suburban belt approximately 1,600 feet wide across the western border of the city. Hydrants along the city's fringe suggested that some agreement might be acceptable to the city providing for a response to calls from that suburban strip. In the discussion of the proposal, it was also suggested that possibly the area might be broadened by the township buying a pump to boost pressure in the hose to a farther limit.

Still Some Beyond

To that idea, Ald. Miller said: "Wherever you set the boundary, there will always be some one just beyond it. It is one of those creeping things . . ."

Bruce Johnston, clerk of the township, reported that there were about 60 residences in the proposed zone, also three garages and one motel. Several recent fires west of the city, that burned themselves out, inspired the township council's present approach.

As to the alternative of organizing a volunteer brigade, equipped with a pumper and 500 gallon water tank, similar to the Smith equipment, Reeve Willard Waterman said the city had annexed a few years ago the largest part of the taxable Monaghan property.

"That meant you took the major part of our taxes, something we think the city should consider."

The proposed pumper would cost around $14,000 or $15,000 Chief Smith said. As a method of financing the purchase, it was mentioned that the cost could be spread over 15 years, thereby reducing annual payment to a comparatively small amount.

Reeve Waterman said that possibly the expenditure might be arranged, but most of the suburban residents worked in the city. In his estimate, a major problem of getting volunteers for the department could not be easily overcome.

Man Power

"The big trouble," the Reeve said, "would be manning it. "We would like to make some hook-up with the city department. I don't think our ratepayers would object to some financing."

Incidentally, it was computed that the city's department is annually costing Peterborough citizens five dollars per capita. The appropriation for the department this year is close to $160,000 plus $40,000 charge for water by the Utilities Commission. The total is $200,000 for a population of nearly 40,000.

Ald. S. J. Black remarked that the council had to draw the line somewhere, and had done so. If some people built homes for themselves in the townships for advantage in taxes, they could hardly expect Peterborough to pay for their fire protection.

Replying to Ald. Rehill, Chief Smith said three men were left on duty at the firehall Monday afternoon when the department responded to a call from the Exhibition Grounds.

"I counted nine men at the fire," Ald. Rehill said. "Suppose, while they were away, a call came from Monaghan, and we would have to take that call. In the meantime, the Exhibition fire got out of hand, Chief Smith would have needed these men. Let's try to do one thing well."

"That is the only answer we can give Monaghan," Ald Dewart said.

"That's enough of a headache now," Chief Smith said. "If we had a larger staff, it would be okay, and I don't like to see anyone burnt out."

Mayor Waddell as chairman said Peterborough did wish to co-operate with North Monaghan and in replying to the township council would make a full and courteous explanation of the circumstances which prevented any change of policy.

Believe Thieves Lived In Cabin

BETHANY, April 29—(ENS)—Thieves who broke into two Bethany stores Friday night have been living for some time in a skiers' cabin in the Bethany hills, provincial police believe.

Discovery of part of the loot in the cabin prompted this theory from the Bowmanville O.P.P. detachment today.

Friday night the thieves entered the grocery store of Ryley and Son and stole $12 in cash and a quantity of groceries. Seventy-five cents in coppers was taken from the Reynolds hardware store.

Most Of Food Intact

Found in the cabin were most of the groceries and police believe that all that is missing is the food eaten by the thieves.

Carl Duffus and several other Peterborough skiers were looking over the cabin Sunday, wondering if it might be for sale. They saw evidence of someone having been in it recently, and went to the nearby farm house of Harry O'Brien.

Mr. O'Brien telephoned police, who came out and discovered the groceries. The cabin is owned by Alan Cousins of Toronto.

Constable Jack McKendry of Bowmanville detachment is investigating.

William Ovens Heads PCs

Former mayor William Ovens was returned as president of the Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association at the association's annual meeting Monday night in the Legion Hall.

Other officers are: first vice president, Henry Batten; second vice president, Mrs. Maurice Holt; third vice president, Richard Sanderson, Havelock; fourth vice president, Bert Lockhead, Norwood; fifth vice president, Gale Elliott, Lakehurst and sixth vice president, Mrs. Mary Rogers.

D. J. Laurie was returned as treasurer. Mrs. Amy Curtis was re-elected corresponding secretary and James S. Lillico as recording secretary.

Hon. George Drew and Hon. Leslie Frost, are Honorary presidents of the association, with Senator Iva Fallis, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., and Hon. Harold Scott as honorary vice presidents.

The meeting approved the nominating committee's report as submitted by John C. Currelly.

Fire Races Through Barn Destroys 200 Boats, Rafters, $88,200 Lost

Fire Chief Smith Investigates Report Boys Seen Around Barn; G. A. Gillespie Checked Shortly Before

Fire that moved with almost explosive speed broke out at 4:40 p.m. Monday in the three-year-old cow barn in Morrow Park. Within three-quarters of an hour the flames had destroyed the wooden frame barn and its valuable contents—some 200 motor boats of the outboard type, and more than 1,000 prefabricated laminated wood rafters. The loss is tentatively set at $88,200, nearly all of it covered by insurance. Fire Chief George Smith said Monday night he had not determined the cause of the fire. But he is investigating one story of young boys seen playing about the barn, shortly before the alarm was sounded.

At this time of year there are no cattle in the barns. The inside had been rented to the Peterborough Canoe Co. for storage of their outboard motor boats during the winter and spring.

Along the eastern side of the 200-foot barn—in a lean-to-shed attachment built for cattle—Timber Structures of Canada had piled about 1050 rafters of laminated British Columbia fir.

Don Peirson, assistant superintendent of Timber Structures, estimated the company's loss at $32,000.

$50,000 In Boats

John Richardson, manager of the Peterborough Canoe Co., said only a tentative check had been made on the number of boats that were stored in the barn. His estimate is 200 to 225, all of the outboard motor type, valued in all at $50,000.

Each boat had been finished and covered with burlap sacking, ready for shipping. When the flames struck the varnished boats covered with sacking they flared up in almost explosive strength. In 45 minutes not even the flaming hull of a single boat was visible; they were all reduced to ashes.

G. A. Gillespie, secretary of the Peterborough Exhibition Board, said that the cost of the cow barn, erected three years ago, was $5,000. And the long lean-to shed outside cost another $1,200.

Though the highly-inflammable boats were destroyed quickly, the closely stacked piles of wooden rafters continued to flame for hours. They were still smouldering, with the odd sputter of fire, until 10 p.m.

Once the firemen had made sure the blaze wouldn't spread to other exhibition buildings they knew their main job was over. There was no hope of saving the contents of the new cow barn and it was a matter of letting the fire burn itself out, kept under control by three hose lines.

The fire was spectacular for a short time only. That was when the south end of the barn was shooting high with flames as boat after boat ignited. Shortly after 5 p.m. a tower of black smoke, 500 feet high, began to drift across the south end of the city.

Grass Singed

The sod west of the barn was singed for a distance of 100 feet or so, caused by the heat radiating from the burning barn.

Only the fact that an east wind was blowing prevented the fire from doing several hundred thous-

161 Students Interviewed, May Be Teachers

While Peterborough Normal School students are completing their year and are signing contracts for teaching next term, high school students are being interviewed as possible students for next year.

Leo W. Copp, normal school principal, along with three masters, John Londerville, C. E. Potts and Burritt Smitheram, interviewed students in the district high schools last week.

Mr. Copp said that 161 students were interviewed in the area, Kingston on the east, Orillia on the west and north to Haliburton. There are still students at P.C.V.S. and St. Peter's High School to be interviewed. Altogether the total this year wil be about 12 more than last year.

As fast as students are being interviewed as possible normal school students, school boards are contracting this year's students for jobs.

84 Signed Up

The large demand for teachers has resulted in 84 out of the 125 normal school students signing contracts for teaching next terms. Thirty-one students have been employed by urban schools in Ottawa, Oshawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Sudbury and other Ontario centres.

"School boards are coming in regularly this year for teachers," said Mr. Copp, adding that the teacher shortage is still acute.

Starting wages this year have jumped from $1,900 to $2,000, said Mr. Copp. There is no difference in the salaries offered by the urban and rural schools which in other years showed a slight difference, the rural schools paying less.

The students signed to contracts already will receive salaries ranging from $2,000 to $2,800. Several students are starting out in the teaching profession at $2,400 which last year was about the high salary.

Dutch Vessel Swept By Fire In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, April 29 (CP)—The third major waterfront fire here in nine days gouged at the vitals of the 10,942-ton Dutch freighter Dongodyk Monday, and was brought under control after a 2½-hour fight by 325 firemen.

Chief Engineer J. F. W. Emde, of the Holland-America line cargo-passenger ship, said the fire started when an air bubble forced fuel up an oil line and spattered it on a hot boiler.

Twelve firemen were overcome by smoke or received minor injuries. All crew members and the eight passengers aboard escaped safely.

Bad Luck

Last Wednesday, a multi-million-dollar fire — damage estimates range up to $5,000,000 — destroyed the United Grain Growers' pier and other installations. The scene was only a few blocks away from Monday's fire. A week ago Sunday, a $500,000 fire destroyed a waterfront warehouse.

Capt. Cornelius Visser of the Dongedyk said he could not immediately estimate the damage to his $4,000,000 ship.

Tons of water were poured into the engine room causing the ship to take a 14-degree list to port. Firemen had to pump water into empty starboard oil tanks to right her.

Travelogue Heard By Plainville Group

PLAINVILLE, April 29 (ENS) — Sunday evening twenty-four members of the Young Adult Group met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Buttars. Mr. and Mrs. Buttars with their co-partners for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dines, provided a worship service, "The Sabbath Day," as the theme.

Guest speaker of the evening, Will Henderson of Port Hope, was introduced by Mr. Dines. Mr. Henderson gave a travelogue and spoke of experiences during his lifetime. He was born in Port Hope and spent his earlier years in the Bewdley district. His father was the first teacher of the old Bewdley school, which was demolished last year when the new one was built, and his mother was a Bewdley girl, Mary Benson. The first city in the lecture was Chicago where he was employed with the Armour Packing Plant and with that company was sent to London, England, where he spent many years. He also spoke of trips to Scotland and the continent. Later in life, he was transferred to the Argentine where Buenos Aires became his home for 28 years.

He, with Mrs. Henderson, travelled back and forth from New York and Canada to South America many times, sometimes travelling by the Altantic, others by the Pacific. He described many of the ports at which they called, and the trip by train over the Andes Mountain, when going by the Pacific. His praise for the South American cities and people's was very high. Rio de Janeiro is one of the most beautiful of cities. Buenos Aires is very clean and modern and the homes on the surrounding ranches, as we would call them, are very wonderful. He spoke also of other countries, Chile, Paraguay, Brazil, and his talk proved enjoyable as well as instructive. Mr. Henderson is now retired.

The president, Wallace Buttars, thanked Mr. Henderson, and lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Buttars and Mr. and Mrs. Dines. The Rev. A. Y. Robertson pronounced the benediction.

Gregg Sees Pay, Living Costs Levelling Out

VANCOUVER, April 29 (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said Monday he believes that for the immediate future wages have reached their peak.

The minister said he feels that wages, like the cost of living, "are levelling out this year."

Indications were that the Canadian economy would "pretty well" absorb Canada's unemployed this summer. "The drop in unemployment is coming rapidly now. There will, however, be patches where there will be shortages of skilled labor and patches where there will be unemployment."

Serious Situation

Mr. Gregg said that the B.C. lumber industry faces "a serious situation" in dealing with possible losses of export markets. He added, however, that the situation was "not hopeless."

He said he hoped that woodworkers who might be displaced until the market rights itself would be able to find work in other industries.

Former Mountie Becomes Drew's Personal Aide

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Monday announced the appointment of Vernon Kemp, 57, a former assistant commissioner in the RCMP, as his personal assistant. The post is a new one.

"In addition to his duties in connection with Mr. Drew's activities as Leader of the Opposition, he will be responsible for the co-ordination of the activities of that office and the Conservative organization throughout Canada generally," said the announcement.

Mr. Kemp, a veteran of the First World War, retired from the RCMP in 1946 after serving in several posts, including that of director of criminal investigation. He organized security for the Royal tour in 1939 and for the Churchill-Roosevelt conferences in Quebec in 1943 and 1944.

In recognition of his work on the police force, he was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1946.

On his retirement, he was invited by Loblaw Groceterias to establish a personnel department. He remained as personnel manager until 1949 and then became commissioner of St. John Ambulance for Ontario. He resigned from that organization at Mr. Drew's request to take over his new duties.

$20,000 Tagged To Fight Algae

Algae, the green scourge of the Kawarthas is receiving the close attention of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, Hon. Harold Scott told the annual meeting of the Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association Monday night.

Twenty thousand dollars is included in the department's estimates for this year for algae research Mr. Scott said.

"We are selecting a competent biologist to take charge of a research party and find the cause and what to do to overcome it," he told the meeting.

Ban Outboards

Mr. Scott said that various solutions had been investigated and that one proposal was that all outboard motors be banned on the lakes, because they were stirring up the algae and making it grow faster.

Referring to the last session of the Legislature, Mr. Scott said that Prime Minister Frost had justified the confidence the people had placed in him at the last election, by setting up many committees and putting the members to work. With a top heavy majority, Mr. Scott said governments sometimes bring in poorly balanced legislation but that this tendency had been avoided by the passing of sound, well balanced legislation and Mr. Frost's insistence on government members acting as their own critics.

He mentioned in particular, the act granting assistance to the permanently disabled between 18 and 65 which will be in effect sometime in July.

Oshawa Youth Tried To Blow Safe After Reading About It In A Book

A 19-year-old Oshawa youth's explanation of how he entered Duffus Motors and tried twice to blow a safe in the office with a mixture he read about in a library book was heard in police court Monday afternoon.

Testifying under protection of the Dominion and Ontario Evidence Acts, William Rudyk, 406 Oliver St., Oshawa, denied that anyone went into the building with him, or helped him upend the 1,500 pound safe.

Rudyk, also charged with breaking and entering the garage, was called as a Crown witness at the preliminary hearing of Joseph Rzamy, 20, and John F. Meagher, 20, both of 106 Stacey St., Oshawa, who are charged with breaking and entering the garage on the morning of April 14.

Committed

Neither Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw or Russell D. Humphries, who defended Meagher and Rzamy, made any comments after the Crown's case was completed. Magistrate W. R. Philp then committed Rzamy and Meagher for trial at the next general sessions. Bail remains at $2,000 each, as fixed when they were released after being arraigned on the charges.

Former Ontario Premier and Attorney-General Gordon Conant appeared for Rudyk and asked for a further remand of one week. In view of the seriousness of the charge, Mr. Conant said he wanted more time to make a decision and Rudyk was remanded until May 5.

Identification Sergeant William Aggas said that no fingerprints were found at the scene of the break-in and attempted safe cracking.

Similar Heel Marks

Photos taken by Sgt. Aggas of the scene were introduced. One photo showed a heel print photographed from a print made on a paper at the scene, which Sgt. Aggas said showed similar characteristics to a heel print made by the right shoe Joseph Rzamy was wearing when arrested. Detective-Sergeant William A. Clarke admitted he was wearing heels practically identical with the type of rubber heel on Rzamy's shoes but insisted that he had not stepped on the papers littered around the safe. Both Sgt. Aggas and Constable Douglas Farthing said the piece of paper the photograph was taken from was under the safe when it was overturned on its back.

Constable Gerald Emmons said he saw three men inside the garage when he first flashed the flashlight on them in the basement. He arrested Rudyk as he tried to leave the building at the southwest corner on Water St., but did not see anyone else after that.

Meagher and Rzamy were stopped by O.P.P. constable Frank Clough, on patrol about a mile and a half west of Welcome, shortly after Rudyk was arrested. Rzamy was driving the car, owned by Rudyk's mother. Rudyk said he came to Peterborough that night "to break into some establishment to get some money," but that neither Rzamy or Meagher assisted him in the break-in or the two attempts to open the safe.

He said he loaned Rzamy the car as he had done on previous occasions and did not see either Rzamy or Meagher again until the next day when all three were in jail.

THE FORMER MISS BARBARA JOAN FOSTER, lovely bride of Mr. Melvin Marshall Brown of Windsor, following their marriage at All Saints' Anglican Church on Saturday.—(Garfield Studio Photo).

Couple To Live In Windsor

In All Saints' Anglican Church in a setting of lovely spring flowers the wedding took place Saturday afternoon of Barbara Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster of Peterborough, to Mr. Melvin Marshall Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brown of Ocean Falls, British Columbia.

The Rev. M. P. Poole, rector, performed the marriage and organist Miss Margaret Flowers played the wedding music. Mrs. Chester Carson was the soloist and sang The Lord's Prayer before the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" at the signing of the register.

The bride had chosen a gown of white satin and lace with nylon yoke and round neckline outlined in seed pearls. The graceful skirt fell into a full cathedral train. Her veil of illusion net was circular and was caught to a tiny headdress of satin and net embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book with streamers of baby orchids and sweet peas.

Mr. Foster gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by Mrs. W. A. Hutchison of Cowansville, Quebec as matron of honor, and Mrs. G. Ackford and Miss Norma Harrison as bridesmaids.

The attendants' frocks were in Queen Anne style fashioned of net and chantilly lace in pastel shades of green, mauve and pink. Each wore a picture hat of matching net and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. John Cavers attended the groom and the ushers were Don Foster and Dave McNaughton.

The reception was held at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club. Mrs. Foster received in a gown of dusty rose crepe and lace and wore a navy straw hat and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Brown, mother of the groom, wore blue sheer and lace and a white straw hat and her corsage was also pink carnations.

The bride and groom are honeymooning at Niagara Falls and will also go to points in United States. Travelling the bride is wearing a navy gabardine suit and matching hat and navy accessories and she has a winter white shortie coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in Windsor.

Public Generous To St. Jos. Aux. On "Violet Day"

Weather was ideal Saturday for the annual "violet day" of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital. This is the only appeal made to the citizens for funds to aid in extensive work at the hospital and residents and the generous response is appreciated. Total of the contributions will be made up and announced at the May meeting of the Auxiliary.

The Ladies' Auxiliary endeavours to assist the hospital staff by providing equipment of most modern design which in turn is beneficial to the patients. They have already aided in equipping the nursery with the latest in incubators, resuscitators and individual cubicles and the operating room with a systocopic table and X-ray equipment. Further donations have helped in completing the cafeteria which is available to friends of patients.

Cost of this work is enormous and through the monetary assistance given by the public on "violet day" it is hoped it may continue and increase.

Rotary Annes Stage Masquerade Party

Rotary Annes put on a classy show for their husbands at the second party they have given for them at the Kawartha Club. Last year the floor show was imported, but this year's entertainment was strictly within the club membership and exceeded the first in popularity.

It was also a masquerade party and the guests made rather an odd picture, at seven o'clock buffet supper in costumes copied from the comic strips or taken from grandmother's trunk in the attic.

When the judging took place Rotary president Sid Black and Mrs. Black were selected the best dressed couple but they would accept only the honor (?) Mr. and Mrs. Max Comstock dressed as Pappy and Mammy Yokum won prizes for the funniest costumes, and Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McNeil as Denny Dimwit and a Kentucky mountain gal got the awards for the most characteristic dress.

Most original was the bridal party which consisted of Jack Hewitt as the bride, Morton Knox the groom, Gordon Harrison and Dr. Les Calvert as the bridesmaids, Mrs. Knox and Mrs. Hewitt, flower girls, Mrs. Calvert the bride's mother and Mrs. Harrison, the minister.

Costuming was so good that "honorable mention" is made of four others: Mrs. J. K. Hughes wearing a costume with numerous garden vegetables attached, Mrs. Jim Archibald in her great grandmother's dress, Dr. Donald Aitken as a street cleaner and Gordon Harrison as a bridesmaid.

The French "can can" dance by nine Rotary Annes was the highlight of the evening. Costumes designed especially for this dance were hired for the occasion and added effectively to the talented display. The dancers were Mrs. Tom Lillico, Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mrs. Ellison Baker, Mrs. Ed Spurway, Mrs. Jim Archibald, Mrs. Max Comstock, Mrs. Bob Maybee, Mrs. Graham Ferguson, and Mrs. Peter LaBranche and their music was played by Mrs. M. McBride.

Next there was a "fashion show" of hats which, in some cases, symbolized the hobbies of the wearers. Each model sang a little song about her hat after Dr. Agnes Moffatt had commentated on the style points. Models were Mrs. Donald Aitken, Mrs. B. R. Smythe, Mrs. Harry Northrop, Mrs. J. A. McNeil, Mrs. Russell Morgan, Mrs. A. Ward Smith and Mrs. John McColl and Mrs. D. T. Diplock was pianist.

There was also a sing song before dancing and bridge games commenced. Prizes were given for novelty dances and to high score winners.

Freedom Of Her Women Impresses Newcomers

SASKATOON — (CP)—Canadian women go out a lot more without their husbands than do Netherlands women. That's one of the impressions gained by Mrs. A. A. Schryver since she emigrated here from Holland about a year ago.

Tall, dark and attractive mother of three boys, Mrs. Schryver thinks Canadian women have much more spare time than their counterparts in Holland. They go to more tea parties, belong to more clubs and spend more time shopping, she finds.

In contrast she describes Dutch women as home bodies, more inclined to limit their social activities to mixed functions. Mrs. Schryver thinks her countrywomen at home are more interested in knitting, sewing and embroidery than Canadian women. "They always have something on the needles," she said.

Mrs. Schryver believes this is the result of early training. Dutch children are instructed in handicrafts from the First Grade on. Sewing and knitting are as important in Dutch schools as spelling and arithmetic.

Her husband was a Netherlands Army officer and an official of the Dutch Trading Company in Indonesia before they came to Canada. They survived more than three years of internment in Japanese prison camps and they are deeply appreciative of life in Canada.

But they still note differences. They miss the relaxation, the leisurely life, that is found in some other countries. "You Canadians play as hard as you work," Mr. Schryver noted. "You don't take time to enjoy and appreciate your many comforts—your advantages and your blessings."

OLD CUSTOM

Imprisonment for debt was an ancient practice in England, abolished by the Debtors Act of 1868.

NO BRIDE WOULD MIND THIS SHOWER—Hamish Livingston, 27, and Dalice Lloyd, 21, think it's wonderful to be caught in a rain of money on their wedding day. Despite the fact that it's just stage money, the couple are still happy. They're dancing in a London stage show, and earning real "pennies from heaven."

$85,000 Fire Sweeps Cafe

Blinding smoke covered the entire waterfront district of this Vancouver Island city before firemen quelled the blaze in a two-hour flight.

Two firemen received minor injuries in fighting the fire.

The fire started in the kitchen of the Esquire Cafe, presumably following a grease explosion.

DOROTHY DIX

Women Love To Hear Them Man Hate To Say Them

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been engaged for two years and plan to be married this summer. When we began going together, my fiance told me he loved me, but since then he'll never say it. If I ask him, he just says, "You know I do!" He's in the Army now, coming home on week ends. In his letters he tells me he loves me, but never will he say it when he sees me.

If he doesn't tell me now, I'm sure he won't say it after we're married. He is a very shy and reserved person. He never shows any emotion, even anger. There's never a scene if something displeases him; he just doesn't talk. We're both ... our middle twenties, so I don't think I'm being childish about this.

CALAMITY JANE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Frequent declarations of affection are, I know, what a girl in love craves most. But alas, they are also what most men hate to make. A man feels that if he has once asserted his love, it can safely be taken for granted from that point on. And the one thing a woman never takes for granted is her beloved's devotion. It's just a case of a woman's sentimental nature contrasted with a man's practical one.

Devotion Good Substitute

You rightly assume that if you don't hear the three magical words now, you won't hear them after the wedding. As a substitute you will have day-by-day devotion, affection and consideration. You'll just have to learn to make them do. A husband who doesn't make constant verbal declarations of love, but shows his feelings with loyalty and fidelity, is surely to be preferred to the man who violently asserts his love, then stays out every night spending his salary on himself.

A reasonable man should realize how much importance women place on such seemingly small things, and make an effort to please them by saying the sweet nothings, making the affectionate gestures that spell romance. Why they are so dense is one of life's mysteries. Until a magic formula is devised to turn every man into a hard-working, domesticated husband with just the proper dash of Don Juan, wives of unromantic males will have to be satisfied with the crumbs of demonstrative love.

Your fiance is apparently one of those strong, silent men who can be a considerable problem. Learn early when its safe to ask questions, but don't overlook surliness or sulkiness. Diplomatic handling is called for in dealing with self-contained people. They are well worth the trouble, however, as they're greatly to be preferred to the nagging, haggling, overcurious type.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been accused of not having a sense of humor, but do you think it's funny of my mother-in-law to tell our little boy that I am not his mother and that he doesn't have to mind me? She is always saying things like that to him and the child is getting very confused. If I complain, she tells my husband she's only joking. Then he becomes angry with me and says I shouldn't take her so seriously.

B.E.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother-in-law's sense of humor verges on the macabre. Anyone with even a small knowledge of children knows that they are easily confused and, above all things, such desperately important items as family ties should never be the subjects of teasing. Someone should make your husband realize this or his son may easily become a nervous, bewildered little boy. Your doctor would be a good person to do the talking; perhaps the next time you have occasion to take the child for treatment or a check-up you could discuss the matter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it possible for older people really to fall in love? I know a woman who is apparently very much in love with a man she has known for years. She is a widow, he a widower. They are frequently in each other's company. Is friendship and companionship best for them, or would they be happier if they married?

A.L.J.

ANSWER: Who would be so presumptuous as to put an age limit on love? It may take different forms at different ages, or with different people, but folks are capable of loving all their lives.

The mutual devotion of older people is a perfect foundation for marriage; it will prove just a deeper manifestation and extension of their present friendship.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

There's A Method In Poaching An Egg

Profusely I apologize for exposing the following letter to any eyes but mine, but it does contain a question—a peach of a question "How to poach eggs?"—and it gives me such a perfect alibi for raving on about my two treasures.

"Dear Mrs. Moore: The writer is a fervent "Em-Em" fan! While listening to the vivid account of the fire I decided to jot down a few lines to you partly to get my mind off the fire and partly because I've promised myself the luxury of this epistle for some time, and this morning I decided this was the day! Now for some eulogizing. I like mine in life—not after death! The writer thinks your cookery column is simply "tops", in fact the most interesting I have ever poured over, and that is saying a lot. Collecting recipes is a real hobby with me, whether I ever use each clipped column or not, it's so precious in my eyes, that I simply couldn't destroy any of them. Just now I'm rescuing them (your columns) and quickly dabbing a bit of mucilage and anchoring them to a catalogue. The recipes which I try out on my family and which are pronounced "yum-yummy" I transfer to my card box, and after a considerable length of time, send the precious catalogues freighted with their load of goodies (recipes) to my daughter.

"This query isn't exactly relative to any beat'n bake process, but I would like to know how to poach eggs successfully, and is there a pan for same that does not turn them out stiff and solid, although they have been steamed? I have a grand new set of kitchen utensils and use a small skillet pan to poach in—but oh oh! the way eggs adhere to that pan is almost more than I can cope with—to get it scoured clean even with S.O.S. pads.

"I love Marianne and Peter. They make your column scintilate. God bless them. Your column is one of my daily bright spots. Thanking you sincerely, Mable F. B. C."

I'm so warmed by that letter that I am just oozing sweetness and light today. I read it to Pete and his comment was "I bet she has hundreds of friends—that letter makes me love her!" That, Mabel F. B. C., is an accomplishment, for he plays "hard-to-catch". Thank you.

Just as if I wanted to be business-like I'll answer the poached egg part, then I'll let my hair down for a paragraph or so and tell you what Pete and Marianne are up to at the present moment.

Poached Eggs

Butter or grease the bottom of a deep saucepan and fill to 3-inch depth with boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon lemon juice or vinegar. Drop in greased muffin rings (jar rings will do). Slip in new-laid eggs from a cup, when water is rapidly boiling. Reduce heat immediately so that water is just below boiling point. Three minutes for "soft" and about 6 minutes for "medium".

All during Easter holidays Pete was home and working on the perennial recreation room in the basement—perennial in the sense that it goes on forever. I've had to do my columns to the crash and rasp of him hammering and sawing, and coming up to consult me, and his buddies dropping in to advise him and to grab 3 or 4 oragnes and bananas to give them sustenance until lunch time. One day all that was going on plus Annie running the polisher right in my study. The next time that recreation room is touched will be summer, I'm betting. One thing I have to give the darling fellow credit for is the steel post he put in single-handed, to replace a conrete block one. Once I was in the basement and the concrete block one was in place. It did not seem more than one-half hour before he called us down for the first view of the steel post in place. Don't ask me how Pete did it or why the neighbours needed two men. I'm no builder—I'm strictly the typing cooking type.

Marianne? My treasured ray of sunshine? She is "on the wards" at the hospital. Her first stint was on the babies' ward for four weeks. That's where she fed the 2-year-old twins fresh from a cleft palate "op". Tricky business for a novice. Now she is on "women's" and was on duty from 7 to 7 Easter Sunday, and was asked to give a lady a back massage. When she was finished the patient spoke in an authoritative tone to a graduate nurse saying "There's a potential physio-therapist—that's the best massage I've ever had by an amateur," Marianne beamed, of course, and was astonished to hear she had been massaging a physio-therapist that everybody in the hospital but her knew by reputation as an assistant to a famous brain surgeon.

She is in the throes of buying a new coat and is torn between a turkey red water-proofed corduroy and something sensible. I'm staying out of it—if she wants a turkey red coat at 19 years of age she can have it. I'd like one myself and I'm—ye gods! it nearly slipped out!

There is a road we call remembrance.
Where thoughts and wishes meet,

People Bribed To Vote Liberal With Own Money

Voters will be bribed to vote Liberal in the next federal election with their own money, taken from them through overtaxation, George Hees, M.P., Toronto Broadview charged Monday night.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Peterborough Progressive Conservative Association Mr. Hees termed Finance Minister Douglas Abbott's latest budget "a political fraud."

"The government is overtaxing us this year, so they can bribe us with our own money next year to vote Liberal," declared Mr. Hees.

When opposition critics exposed the budget for what it is, "a bribe and a fraud," no Liberals rose to contradict the speakers, said Mr. Hees. The Liberals just sat there like a bunch of sheep, they know what it is and are ashamed of it, he said.

At the rate the surplus was piling up at the end of 1951, Mr. Hees said it would probably have amounted to a billion dollars at the end of the fiscal year, if Mr. Abbott had not found "all sorts of ways of getting rid of it." That is the amount we were overtaxed during 1951 and that is how much we are going to be overtaxed during the next 12 months, he said.

Preparing Election

The reason for this said Mr. Hess is that the government is budgeting for an election next year. The situation he said is identical with 1949, when a surplus was on hand, approximating that which the government "admitted," a few weeks ago. Then, just prior to the election, tax reductions were introduced amounting to $370,000,000.

Members of the Cabinet are infected with a "power virus in their blood that has gone to their head," said Mr. Hees. "The government has got itself into a frame of mind where it rules by Divine Right. Three weeks before the budget, Parliament voted unanimously in favor of eliminating the four per cent limitation on medical expenses for income tax. The Cabinet derives its authority from Parliament, but Abbott insulted Parliament by going alone against the unanimous voice of Parliament."

Earlier in the meeting, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., Peterborough West, charged that "The Cabinet at Ottawa is selling us down the river as fast as they can. They are selling us by taking money as fast as they can and giving us very little in return," he said.

Wasting Money

Both Mr. Fraser and Mr. Hees criticized the government and Defence Minister Brooke Claxton for "wasting" taxpayers' money and "laxity" in permitting the recent "scandals" at Petawawa and other defence establishments.

Mr. Fraser repeated the statements he made in the House of Commons recently that he had told Mr. Claxton a year ago that defence materials were being peddled right in Ottawa and that there were "too many fires in defence buildings."

Although he informed the Defence Miister he had evidence and knew men willing to testify that these fires were being set to cover up thefts and looting, "he did not even send one R.C.M.P. up to find out what evidence I had," said Mr. Fraser.

The men implicated in the Petawawa "scandals" are career army men, declared Mr. Hees, and the only thing that would prompt them to turn to crime would be a certainty that they could get away with it. This, he said, "showed the laxity that exists in the military set-up today."

This attitude of "arrogance" and "contempt" being shown by the Liberal government will soon infuriate the people enough that they will throw them out of power Mr. Hees predicted. This will present the Progressive Conservative party with a great opportunity which must be seized and made the most of, he continued.

Criticize Policy

Government housing policy also drew severe criticism from Mr. Hees. He branded as "stupid" the government's policy of bringing in more immigrants and at the same time following a policy on housing that has the effect of reducing the number of houses being built.

During 1950, he said, 92,000 new houses were started in Canada. In 1951, only 72,000 were started, a reduction of 24 per cent, and there has been an even greater reduction in the last three months, he added. Under the guise that materials were not available for houses, Mr. Hees said the government did away with the one sixth mortgage loan for home building under the National Housing Act. "This simply made it impossible for poor people to buy houses." According to figures released by the government, families earning less than $3,300 are excluded from the house purchasing market, he said, while the wealthy are unaffected by the tighter credit regulations, because they do not need credit.

Attack With Bugles, Raid Sorority Houses

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 29.—(CP)—About 500 Purdue University students, heralding their attack with bugle calls and firecrackers, raided sorority houses for souvenir undergarments on Monday night. Thirty police took 2½ hours to quell the disturbance but no one was arrested.

One student told police the idea sprang from a magazine article about similar forays in other universities.

The raid took place just after dinner. It resulted in minor damage to dormitories and the loss of a considerable number of brassieres and panties from the rooms of co-eds.

Police picked up identification papers from a number of students and turned them over to the director of student affairs who said the faculty-student council would decide what action to take.

Fire Races

and dollars worth of damage. The north end of the old cow barn—packed to the rafters with other Peterborough Canoe Co. boats — lies parallel to the new cow barn, just 40 feet to the east.

When firemen arrived the new building was blazing furiously and flames and sparks were beginning to jump the 40-foot gap to the east. A few bursts with the hose and this danger was eliminated—as long as the favorable wind kept up. And it did.

G. A. Gillespie, whose principal public interest for many years has been the promotion of the Peterborough Exhibition, shook his head with disappointment and apparent disbelief when he saw the flames.

"Why I just drove by here about 4 o'clock with Senator J. J. Duffus. I wanted to show him around. Everything was fine then . . . Now look at it."

Well Insured

Mr. Gillespie said the building is well covered by insurance.

Jack Ridyard, caretaker of the grounds, said he walked by the new corn barn around 4.30 p.m. and there was no indication of fire at that time.

"I was doing a bit of carpentry work in the hog pens. And as I wanted to get some small strips of wood for the job, I went up to the old cow barns where there are some shavings and odds and ends. After I came back I worked for about 10 minutes. Then the chap I was working with saw the smoke and hollered to me: "Hey the barn's on fire".

"The flames had got a hold then. I phoned in the alarm from the drill shed but somebody had already notified the fire department."

Mr. Ridyard said he had no idea how the fire started; but he pointed out that no matter how hard the groundsmen try to prevent them, young boys come in and play about the buildings.

Stores Object To Meters Out Charlotte

Proposed extension of parking meters on Charlotte St. from Bethune St. to Park St. was referred to the special traffic committee, Monday night, for reconsideration after hearing the protest of a deputation of business-men headed by ex-Mayor Grant Miller. With him were Ralph Hutchinson, Don Moore, T. J. Cavanagh, Reg. Moore and Fred Pitz.

"When parking meters were brought to Peterborough," Mr. Miller said, "the mayor at that time assured me the original intention of installing meters was to relieve congestion on the central streets of heavy traffic. The business men in our section of Charlotte St. are from four to six blocks from that kind of congestion. Why not put a time limit on parking out there, or some other satisfactory method.

"Space is being wasted along the Charlotte St. curb in our blocks. As a member of the council I recommended a set-back on both sides of the street to Park St., but nothing was done to widen the street for traffic."

Looking over the council, Mr. Miller said there were only two or three who had felt the sting of parking meter competition.

"We are all independent marchants in our district. If you put up meters, people will go elsewhere, and park in front of neighbours. I don't see any objection to controlled parking say of an hour limit.

"When the council is considering changes of this kind that will affect business, I think it is only courtesy to give merchants a chance to be heard beforehand instead of having it jammed on us. You could well afford to have some representative of your department call on the merchants and discuss the matter with them. Now, you have more or less a hostile attitude."

Mr. Miller, druggist at the corner of Charlotte and Downie Sts., said the deputation felt that controlled parking was all that was needed in those blocks for a considerable time to come. But, even that method would be of little use unless there was a reasonable attempt to see that it was carried out.

"The majority do not want parking meters. They want a modified form of parking control, but not meters."

The business men took "a dim view" of meters in that district. They had noticed that their business taxes were increased, "and we ask you to respect our wishes."

2 Stowaways To Pacific Island Can't Get Home

GUAM, April 29—(AP)—Two girl stowaways who were lured to this far Pacific Island by their "love of excitement and adventure" just want to go home. But that's 6,000 miles long!

As Jerie McDaniel, 26, and Maxine Allen, 23 toured Guam today, they gave considerable thought to their dilemna. Then, with tears in their eyes they told U.S. Attorney James Mackey they wanted to go home.

But Mackey said the only way he can send them back is to place charges and return them as prisoners—"and we don't want to do that."

The air force, which unsuspectingly furnished their transportation in a B-29 from California last week, is reluctant to give them return passage.

The navy, in charge of Guam's defence, says it's an air force matter.

Dave Daddy of San Francisco, immigration officer, says the girls didn't violate any immigration laws.

The government of Guam says they are welcome to stay.

There is no agency here with money to finance the return trip.

The girls haven't enough money to pay their own way. And they can't expect help from the two airmen they said smuggled them aboard the B-29.

Mackey said the girls may be given temporary employment here to help pay their own way home.

Civic Hospital Memorial To Enery Of John Marshall

St. Andrew's United Church was filled Monday afternoon with civic officials and friends and relatives who came to pay their last respects to the late John R. Marshall, chairman of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors for more than six years.

Mr. Marshall died Friday in Civic Hospital — which he had been instrumental in helping to build— the result of a heart condition that had bothered him for several years. He was in his 77th year.

The Rev. Henry A. Cotton of St. Andrew's said the new hospital will remain as a monument to Mr. Marshall's organizing ability and energy.

Like Mountains.

There are some men, who by their strength of character, steadfastness and "noble service" are comparable to mountains, said Mr. Cotton. They encourage their fellows in the struggle against evil. Such a man was John R Marshall.

"His influence was felt far beyond his circle of business acquaintances . . . We shall miss his counsel and his pleasant smile."

Mr. Cotton said that he had known Mr. Marshall personally for less than a year but it was one of the greatest experiences of his life.

"There seemed to strike up between us a bond of friendship unlike anything I've known in all my life."

"I will never forget Mr. Marshall's first words to me," said Mr. Cotton. "They were: 'Mr. Cotton, I don't know what you have been or what you have accomplished, but you never had a better chance than is offered you at St. Andrew's'.

"It was no trite saying; it was true. I'll ever be grateful for the inspiration he was able to give me . ."

The Rev. William McDonald, one time minister of St. Andrew's delivered the closing prayers at the funeral service and delivered the benediction.

Mr. Marshall had been on the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's. Other civic bodies of which he had at various times been a member were the Chamber of Commerce, Board of Education, Public Library Board, Peterborough Manufactures' Assoc., and the Board of Managers of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Cotton said he was sure he spoke on behalf of the Mayor and the citizens of Peterborough when he extended his condolence to the bereaved.

Retired This Year.

Mr. Marshall was chairman of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors from July 1945 to February this year. In 1950-51 he was president of the Ontario Hospital Association.

The funeral service in St. Andrew's was conducted by Mr. Cotton. The cortege, a quarter of a mile long, took Mr. Marshall to Little Lake Cemetery, where he was buried.

The active pallbearers were Charles Pilon, Ernest Howson, Dr. G. R. Langley, Ian McRae, Col. J. A. Dewart and Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman.

Japan Quiet As Freedom Again Theirs

TOKYO, April 29 (AP).—Quiet fell over the misty Japanese islands tonight.

No incident marred the night that officially ended history's bloodiest war in the Orient.

Japan again became independent at 10.30 p.m. (9.30 a.m. EDT)—the hour set arbitrarily by the United States and Japanese governments to mark the close of six years and eight months of Allied occupation. The peace treaty signed by Japan and 48 other countries—including Canada—became effective at the same time.

There was no dancing in the streets, but peace prayers were offered at shrines. Millions of Japanese flags—the rising sun on a white field—fluttered Monday for the first time since the occupation began.

Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida called it a "magnanimous peace unparalleled in history." He urged his people to "march joyfully, courageously and resolutely on the broad highway of peace and democracy."

Political leaders generally followed his lead. But the Communists were dour. They said today was one of "national humiliation . . . a blot on the nation's history that has never been seen before."

Full celebration of the conclusion of the peace agreement will be held Saturday.

For Japan, it was a great day on the diplomatic front.

Nationalist China and India made peace with the 84,000,000 Japanese just as had the U.S., the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and France.

Red China and Russia technically still were at war with Japan.

The Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs said arrangements had been made with Belgium, Brazil, Ceylon, The Netherlands and Norway for the resumption of diplomatic relations. Missions will be exchanged with the Philippines and Indonesia.

P.C. CANDIDATE—A young business woman will be the Progressive Conservative candidate in the May 26 federal by-election in Waterloo North. Elizabeth Jansen, 34, will seek the parliamentary seat left vacant by the resignation of Louis O. Breithaupt to become Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. Miss Janzen, shown in a typically familiar pose, is secretary of her father's real estate firm in Kitchener.

Accept Cottage As Property Bail

TORONTO, April 29 (CP). — A burned-out cottage at suburban Long Branch where a baby died last week has been accepted as property bail for Mrs. Adele Wall.

The structure was accepted as $500 bond under which Mrs. Wall, owner of the cottage, is out on bail as a material witness in the death of Michael Lafontaine, aged 11 months.

Albert Verreault has been charged with arson and manslaughter in connection with the fire.

The baby was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lafontaine who lost all their personal property in the fire.

Hardy People Of Remote Areas Of Labrador Get Grenfell Aid

From now until mid-June the Peterborough branch of the International Grenfell Association will be busy making their annual appeal for funds and used clothing.

The clothing request coincides with spring house-cleaning at a season when many women are wrestling with the problem of what to do with cast-offs that are still in good condition and innumerable household dry goods.

The Grenfell people are concerned with mission and hospital work on the Labrador Coast and remote settlements in Newfoundland and unlike most mission work theirs is undenominational and international in scope. Their only aim is to help people in that remote area of Canada.

Though the associatoin is financed by partial endowment and from provincial grants (Quebec and Newfoundland), the largest part of the required funds for their work of mercy among the fisher folk comes from voluntary contributions.

Hospitals, schooner drydocks, a small herd of registered cattle, launches, and all sorts of medical equipment are in constant need and must be kept going with money.

The movement was started 60 years ago by Wilfred Grenfell, who visited these remote areas and their people He was appalled at conditions and saw that medical services together with long-range educational program was a "must." The Grenfell Association has come a long way since then when "80 per cent of the people were illiterate" but the mending of minds and bodies is a constant program and a very expensive one.

Hard Life

The hard life and living conditions of these fishing people and their children makes them highly susceptible to tuberculosis and polio and their control is a constant battle for the Grenfell people. Part of the recuperative program has been the development of fine handicrafts by patients that has spread into homes of remote settlements. The natural artistic abilities of these people has been evident from the very beginning of the movement and now under Grenfell specialists, the work is a sizeable source of income and the products in wide demand in both Canada and the United States.

Eisenhower Scores Sweeping Victory, Even With Taft

BOSTON, April 30. (AP)—General Eisenhower's popular vote total passed the 229,000 mark in the Massachusetts primary today, and a near-sweep of the delegate elections virtually closed the gap between him and Sen. Robert Taft in their race for the Republican presidential nomination. It was almost a shut-out by Eisenhower, his most convincing primary victory to date. Along with his overwhelming count in the Republican election, Eisenhower also got a Democratic vote big enough to put him in second place behind Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the expected winner.

When reporters gave him the figures at an airport in Frankfurt, Germany, the general grinned and said: "Is that good?" Later, in Paris, he said the results were "an overpowering sort of thing. It has begun to look kind of serious."

Massachusetts has 38 grand old party convention votes, and Eisenhower today has 29 of them as a result of 27 victories and two previously allotted by agreement. Taft won one delegate and also got two by agreement. The other six presumably will be uncommitted at the nomination convention next July.

Total Moved Up

Eisenhower's country-wide delegate total moved up to 265 as a result of the added delegates. Three more for Taft put his tally at 268, although his managers are claiming 305.

The figures, compiled by The Associated Press, are based on delegates pledged, favorable, or publicly committed to the two leading Republican contenders for the nomination.

Tabulations from 1,674 precincts out of 1,739 showed:

Republicans
Eisenhower	229,900
Taft	99,469
Gen. Douglas MacArthur	2,120
Governor Earl Warren	1,396
Harold E. Stassen	1,161
Democrats
Kefauver	27,629
Eisenhower	15,102
President Truman	7,254
Taft	5,423
Senator Paul Dever	2,236
Governor Adlai Stevenson	1,230
Senator Richard Russell	645

Some scattered votes also were cast for Senator Robert Kerr of Oklahoma and W. Averell Harriman of New York, both avowed Democratic candidates.

The votes were all write-ins and are not binding on the delegates.

The result of the popular vote is not binding on the delegates at the convention.

He ran virtually neck and neck with Kefauver through early returns. Taft also was the choice of many Democrats. The total vote for the two Republicans exceeded Kefauver's tally in the early count and then Kefauver drew away.

Canada Tells U.S. It Fears Protectionism

WASHINGTON, April 30 (CP)—Canada today suggested to the United States that it fears the resurgence of high-walled tariff protectionism in the U.S.—a move that would cripple Canada's exports to its biggest foreign customer.

Hon. Douglas Abbott, Canada's Finance Minister, in a speech prepared for delivery to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, said such a development would be the "height of folly." The issue was of "crucial importance," not only to Canada but to other members of the North Atlantic community.

He added that Canada is "not unaware" of the "magnificent" role the U.S. has played in post-war years in removing trade barriers and in helping European countries to regain their feet through economic aid.

"Yet most European countries do not want to continue indefinitely as recipients of foreign aid," he said. "They want to be permitted to earn their own keep.

Can't Understand Policy

"They find it difficult to understand policies which encourage them to produce and export on the one hand, and on the other, impose restrictive measures which make it impossible for them to market their goods in the U.S. and in this way pay for their dollar imports."

Signs of a "resurgence of protectionism" were visible in such actions as the restrictions on imports of dairy products "in contravention of trade agreements," the "long delays" in revising restrictive customs procedures "as well as the growing number of applications to your tariff commission requesting increased protection against imports."

Serious Consequences

"Clearly, if these signs were to develop into a growing protectionism, it could have serious consequences for the commercial relations between our two countries.

"When you consider the immense volume of mutually-profitable trade between us, the largest between any two countries in the world, such a development would surely be the height of folly."

Canada was "undergoing huge industrial expansion, but she still depended on foreign trade for basic prosperity. A tremendous flow of foreign capital as investment in this expansion overcame the effects of a "considerable" deficit in current trade with the rest of the world last year, Abbott said.

Oil Workers Strike In U.S.

DENVER, April 30 (AP)—More than 90,000 unionized refinery and pipeline workers are on strike across the United States today as negotiations with the oil industry continue.

The Union demands a 25-cent hourly wage increase and higher night differential pay. The present average wage ranges from $2 to $2.10 an hour.

Government officials report they have no present intention of intervening.

Negotiations in some localities were reported progressing on a note of optimism especially in San Francisco where about 25,000 union-affiliated industry workers were represented in talks—none of them on strike.

$25,000 Fire Sweeps 11 Quinte Cottages

BELLEVILLE, April 30 (CP)—Damage of $25,000 was caused early today when fire swept through a group of 11 summer cottages at Twelve o'Clock Point, at the west end of the Bay of Quinte.

The fire, discovered shortly after 3 a.m., is believed to have started from a spark from a pile of rubbish which was burned on Tuesday. The cottages were being prepared for summer business.

Firemen from Trenton and the R.C.A.F. station there assisted in fighting the fire.

Fire Crosses Railway

SUDBURY, April 30. (CP)—A 25-acre bush fire today burned out of control and straddled the Toronto-Sudbury main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway at nearby Rutter. Fifty men fought to prevent it from reaching the small farming settlements in that area.

The fire is the only serious one still burning of eight reported on Tuesday afternoon to the Sudbury Lands Department office. It is believed to have been started by a spark from a passing locomotive.

25% Boost Proposed For Veterans

Government Bill In House Touches Allowances

OTTAWA, April 30. (CP)—A 25-per-cent increase in war veterans allowances, paid to 40,000 of Canada's aged and needy overseas veterans and their dependents, was reported on Tuesday in a series of government bills introduced in the Commons.

The bill, sponsored by Veterans Minister Lapointe, would boost to $50 a month from $40 the maximum allowance payable to a single veteran or widow; to $90 from $70 to the maximum for a married recipient.

The maximum monthly allowance for an orphan would be $40; for two orphans $70 and for three orphans $85.

The ceiling on allowable outside income would be made more flexible so that veterans would be able to earn more without having their allowance reduced.

The allowances are paid to needy veterans, prematurely aged as a result of war service, to veterans' widows or to their dependents.

Welcome Move

Spokesmen for the opposition parties, speaking before the amount of the increases were disclosed, welcomed the move to increase the allowances. They spoke on a resolution to the bill which contained the new amounts.

The bill, made public after the resolution was adopted, will be debated later.

Also introduced and given first reading were bills to:

1. Extend for one year the government's authority to grant veterans of the Korean forces benefits similar to those granted to veterans of the Second World War.

2. Amend the Veterans Insurance Act to make it clear that the entire amount of an insurance policy can be paid to a veteran's estate.

3. Increase the annual allowances to amputees for the wear and tear caused to clothing by artificial limbs.

Thunderhead Wins Classic

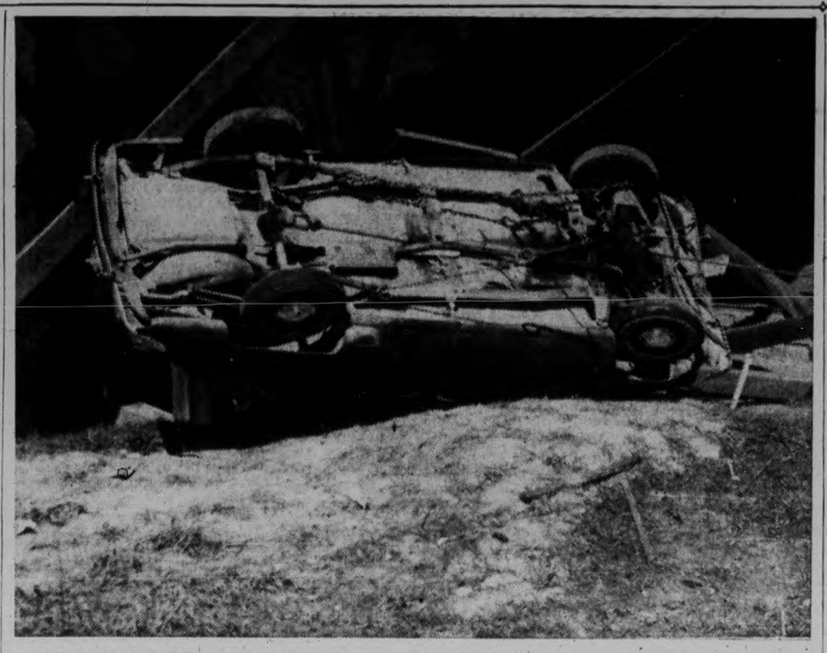
NEWMARKET, Cambridge, England, April 30 — (Reuters) — Thunderhead II, an unfashionably-bred French-owned three-year-old, today ran away with the two thousand guineas, the first of Britain's flat-racing classics.

King's Bench, which finished second five lengths behind, was the only English horse to get in the first three. Argur, another French-owned horse, was third — one-half length in the rear.

The highly-touted Agitator and Bob Major, whom English fans had counted on to make it a two-horse race, ran nowhere.

Odds against Thunderhead were 100 to 7. King's Bench was 22 to 1 and Argur 8 to 1. The victory was worth $40,000 to Thunderhead's owner, Eugene Constant. Second place was worth $4,710 and third $2,355. Twenty-six horses ran.

The race was run over the straight mile at this historic headquarters of English racing.



OCCUPANTS ESCAPED relatively unhurt when their 1951 model car crashed through guard rails at the east end of the Bowmanville railway bridge at 10 a.m. today and landed on its roof as shown here. Bridge Smashed, Queen Elizabeth Highway Cut

HAMILTON, April 30 —(CP)—The smashing of a lift bridge by a ship has temporarily cut the Queen Elizabeth Way, one of Ontario's busiest highways.

Traffic over the superhighway linking Toronto with the border town of Fort Erie across from Buffalo, N.Y., is being detoured through Hamilton streets. It is due to increase shortly as thousands of sightseers head into the fruit-growing sections of the rich Niagara peninsula at blossom time.

The big lift bridge spanning the entrance to Hamilton harbor was wrecked Tuesday. It could not be raised in time to let a Great Lakes sand carrier through.

The north half of the two section bridge collapsed into the channel when struck by the W. E. Fitzgerald, operated by the Gartland Steamship Company of Chicago. The ship was not seriously damaged but the bridge is believed a total loss.

Bert Hockridge, operator of the bridge, said the bridge over the north half of the two-channel entrance to the landlocked harbor could not be raised because of mechanical difficulties.

Capt. Albert La Branc of Green Bay, Wis., said he ordered the anchor out and his ship was almost stopped when it hit the bridge.

Destruction of the bridge, part of the Queen Elizabeth Way which crosses Burlington Beach to avoid the city of Hamilton, is expected to throw a heavy load of highway traffic on the city, on the south side of the harbor.

Cars were lined up on the highway for miles Tuesday before they could be re-routed.

Plane Attack Starts Jitters

BERLIN, April 30 — (AP). — Officials pondering reasons for Tuesday's Russian fighter-plane attack on a French airliner agree on one thing: It opened the 1952 season of spring jitters in Europe.

Four of the 17 persons aboard the Berlin-bound liner were wounded, one seriously. British, French and American high commissioners immediately protested the "unwarranted attack," demanding investigation and compensation.

The Russians ignored the protests and sent a counter-protest instead. They charged the plane was not flying in the corridor permitted over the Soviet zone of Germany. When the French plane failed to follow a signal to land, the Russians said, the Soviet jets fired across its bow.

Officials are considering two possible explanations:

1. That the Soviet deliberately staged the attack as a terror tactic, to spread fear and tension in Europe and thereby, perhaps, slow down the unification of western Europe.

2. That the whole thing was unplanned, perhaps the result of over-zealousness on the part of trigger-happy fighter pilots sent up to check on the airliner.

Car Plunges Through Rails At Railway Bridge, 4 Escape

BOWMANVILLE, April 30. (Special)—Four members of a St. Catharines family escaped with only minor injuries when their car crashed through guard rails of the wooden bridge at Bowmanville and landed upside down 20 feet below on a railway track embankment.

Police said Aime LePage, 45, was driving west from Montreal and failed to make the turn to the right. His wife, Clementine, 38, who was not injured, said they didn't know about the turn and crashed on through. They had been following a small truck.

One daughter Claudette 9, suffered shock and another daughter Lillian 13, had cuts about the face.

LePage complained that his arm was hurt, but at hospital it was found his injuries were not serious.

Could Have Been Worse

If the car had landed only a few feet farther to the west it would have fallen another 15 or 20 feet to the railroad tracks.

The family had been in Montreal for a week's holiday visiting Mrs. LePage's mother. It is presumed that on making the trip to Montreal they followed the same highway via the wooden bridge with its sharp turn at the eastern end.

Taggart Admits Delay In Notifying Gardiner

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP). — Dr. J. G. Taggart, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, said today he may have been "guilty" of a delay in informing Agriculture Minister Gardiner of an outbreak of an infectious animal disease in South Saskatchewan.

He made that statement as the 60-member Commons Agricultural Committee opened an investigation into the government's handling of foot-and-mouth disease in the Regina area.

Dr. Taggart told the committee that he was informed about February 2 or 3 by departmental officials of an outbreak of some unidentified disease which later turned out to be foot-and-mouth disease.

He did not inform Mr. Gardiner, who was absent from Ottawa, until February 18. He sent him a letter then, addressed to the west coast. At that time, Mr. Gardiner was somewhere in the Victoria-Vancouver-Seattle area.

Expect Communists To Call For Meeting

MUNSAN, Korea, April 30 — (CP)—The Communists are expected to call for an armistice meeting in the next few days which may make or break Korean truce talks.

The outcome will depend on Communist reaction to a secret United Nations package offer.

Dispatches from Washington quoted Allied diplomats as saying the proposal handed Communist negotiators Sunday is "about the last offer we can make."

The Washington view was that there is a 50-50 chance the offer would lead to an actual armistice or an ultimate breakdown of the prolonged talks. It all depends on the decision reached in Red capitals where the plan is being studied.

U.S. Federal Judge Rules Seizure By Truman Illegal

PITTSBURGH, April 30. (AP)—Steel workers who struck when a judge said the United States government could not be their boss throttled steel production today in the quickest steel plant shutdown in history. A halt in the defence-vital steel industry within hours seemed certain. About 650,000 workers are idle—or soon will be. Mill after mill went silent as companies and union maintenance crews banked furnaces following hours of confusion at the start of the walkout Tuesday night.

President Philip Murray of both the C.I.O. and the United Steelworkers' Union ordered the strike when a federal judge ruled that President Truman acted illegally in seizing the steel industry April 9, to avert a strike.

In Washingotn Judge David Pine signed formal orders today directing the return of seized steel mills to their owners, and then turned down a government plea to delay the effectiveness of the order.

These legal formalities cleared the way for the government to appeal to a higher court Pine's ruling that President Truman's seizure of the steel industry is illegal.

Holmes Baldridge, chief government lawyer, immediately filed notice of appeal.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government lawyers said today they will take to the supreme court within six days an appeal from Judge David Pine's ruling that the steel seizure was illegal.

Riot Leaders In New Jails

JACKSON, Mich., April 30 — (AP)—Riot leaders Earl Ward, Jack Hyatt of Leamingotn, Ont., and another mutineer were removed in secret today from the troubled state prison of Southern Michigan as a "precautionary measure".

Warden Julian Frisbie said the three were removed shortly after midnight and taken to separate county jails.

Frisbie said Ward and Hyatt had been trying to incite inmates of disciplinary cell block No. 15 to help in a new riot. Block No. 15 was the centre of the trouble last week.

The third convict was indentified as James W. Hudson, 44-year-old lifer senenced for murder in 1923 and said by authorities to have a "bad prison record".

Ward and Hyatt were leaders during the violent revolt causing one convict's death and $2,000,000 damage. Ward conducted most of the negotiations that led to the state's concessions to prisoners' 11 demanded changes in prison routine. Hyatt has a Canadian prison record.

Juryman Drunk On Job Jailed For 30 Days

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — A juryman who was drunk on the job was given 30 days in the county jail today.

Judge Gordon McDougall gave Morgan Reynolds, 44, of Ottawa a tongue-lashing and the sentence for being tipsy when he appeared for jury duty in a theft case Tuesday.

Judge McDougall said he kept Reynolds' sentence to a minimum because of a good record, including service in two wars.

He added:

"The case is one of the most serious to come to my attention."

"You reported in a condition where you were incapable of carrying out your very responsible duties as a juryman.

Comb Jungle For Trace Of Lost Plane

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 30 (CP)—Search planes today combed the dense, unexplored jungles of Brazil and its desert-like plateaux for a giant Pan-American stratocruiser, the last word in modern air travel, which disappeared with 50 persons aboard.

Among the 41 passengers were the sister of a Canadian government official and the president of the Willys-Overland Auto Export Company of Canada, Ltd. Another was a German citizen living in Montreal.

The passenger list included several United States and Latin American officials and business men. Ten passengers and the crew of nine were Americans.

One search plane droned through the night over the wilderness between Rio de Janeiro and Belem, hoping to spot a light or a fire if anyone survived in the thinly-populated wilds where the plane was believed down.

Many more searchers, after giving up the hunt at dark, returned to the air at dawn.

Among Missing

Mrs. Lucy Geils Wood, 37, formerly of Montreal, and her husband, John Vincent Wood, 47, a British engineer, were among the missing. Mrs. Wood is the sister of Edmond Joly de Lotbiniere of the Canadian external affairs department's information division.

Niagara Trees In Blossom

NIAGARA FALLS, April 30 (CP)—The colors of spring blossoms have appeared on district orchards in their earliest arrival in many years.

Cherry, plum, peach and pear trees are covered with white and pink blooms in the entire area north of Queenston, below the Niagara escarpment. The varicolored tulips on the giant floral clock at the Queenston power plant have opened.

THESE YOUTHFUL "ADVENTURERS" wandered around for six hours on Tuesday evening, while their parents looked everywhere and two police cruisers combed the city for them. Johnny Laplante, 4, 764 Brown St. (left); Don Hamblin, 7, 768 Brown St. (centre), and Jimmy Culpitt, 4, 752 Brown St. (right), are not certain of the route they took but they were a tired hungry trio when an unidentified man found them on King St., and brought them home at 10 o'clock. The two four-year-olds are not doing much talking about their expedition, but Don Hamblin says: "We were lost." He remembers being at the Exhibition Grounds "where the fire was," and also at the locks on the canal and being downtown. A woman on King St. is said to have spotted the boys on King St. after hearing a radio broadcast that they were missing. She drew them to the attention of a man who was just leaving his home and he brought them home. Earlier in the evening, two Howden Ave. youngsters, Clifford Barber, 7, and Bobbie Martin, 9, were missing for a couple of hours until police found them sucker fishing at the Lower Locks.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Sally Rand's Secret Out

Always Clothed In Act Dancer Reveals

COLUMBUS, O., April 30 (AP)—Sally Rand bared her trade secret to the Ohio Liquor Board and said sadly she might as well retire now that it's out.

I'm always clothed during my act, said Sally—really. It's that doggone mousseline de soie that does it.

Miss Rand—blonde and pert in a high-necked blue dress—appeared here Tuesday as a witness for a Canton tavern operator charged with staging a "lewd, indecent, and immoral" show.

"I might as well retire now that my secret is out," Sally said after the hearing.

Here's how it came out:

Tully V. Foster, owner of the Club Casablanca, said he paid Miss Rand $1,000 to dance with her fans.

In the audience one night were a state liquor agent, a reporter, and a radio reporter.

Seemed Naked

Except for the ostrich plumes and shoes, Miss Rand looked naked under the dance floor blue lights said inspector Richard Etoll. The reporter and the radio man agreed. Charges were filed.

Foster, acting as his own counsel, called Miss Rand to the stand today and asked her what she wore during her act.

'You wouldn't ask a magician to tell how he pulls a rabbit out of a hat?" said Sally.

The liquor board persevered.

"Well," said Miss Rand, "In all my years of fan dancing, I always wear a leotard"—a garment used by acrobats that covers the torso.

It's made of mousseline de soie, imported from Paris—a kind of lace that looks like skin. Sometimes, she added filmy panties and brassiere. These are taped on.

Gives Illusion

"It's not to hide what ought not to be seen, but to give an illusion," Miss Rand explained.

Then, attired in her mousseline de soie, imported from Paris, Sally does her act under special blue spot lights that partially shine in watchers' eyes and distort their view.

"You are leading people to believe you were stark naked and have only fans to cover you," said board chairman Frank M. Krebs.

The board took the case under advisement.

New F-M Outbreak Worst Yet, Pasture Checked

REGINA, April 30. (CP)—A community pasture northeast of Weyburn holding between 800 and 900 head of cattle has become a centre of investigation in Southern Saskatchewan's epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease. Spread of the livestock malady to the Weyburn district, 75 miles southeast of Regina, was disclosed Monday with an announcement that a herd of 41 head of cattle and eght hogs had become infected. A more serious aspect of the outbreak developed Tuesday when it was learned that 24 head of cattle from the infected farm had been sent to the community pasture in the area a week before the disease broke out.

The 24 animals now are under close observation and if they develop symptoms of the disease, cattle in the community pasture which had contact with them may have to be destroyed. It is not known how many of the 800 or 900 animals would be considered possible contacts since the pasture is divided into sections.

Community pasture on the prairies are areas where farmers can graze their animals on payment of a fee. They bring together cattle from many farms.

Worst Yet

It was perhaps with this situation in mind that Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons in Ottawa Tuesday that the Weyburn outbreak was "the worst epidemic of foot-and-mouth disease we have yet had."

Slaughter of the herd known to be infected again was delayed on Tuesday as excavating crews ran into new difficulties in preparing the burial pit. The ground is stony and frozen and special heavy equipment had to be called in.

The status of a herd of 74 head of dual-purpose cattle on an adjoining farm, previously reported on the slaughter list, remained in doubt. Federal officials have made no definite statement about contact herds in the area. Dual-purpose cattle are animals raised for both milk and beef.

Steel Strike Have Little Effect Now In City

Spokesmen for the two largest industrial users of steel in the city said today that unless the United States steel strike is prolonged, it will have no immediate effect on production.

Roy T. Bogle, C.G.E. Works Manager said, "It will not have any immediate effect because we are not that tight on stocks." Mr. Bogle explained that as yet, there had not been an opportunity to make an appreciation of the effect of the strike and it will depend on how long the strike lasts.

There is a two or three week time lag when steel is shipped from U.S. points until it arrives here and Mr. Bogle said the Peterborough works is "in a position to carry on for a time and until the situation can be looked into, we will just have to wait and see what develops."

If Prolonged

"If the strike is prolonged, it will be bound to affect us," said G. H. Cutmore, Factory Controller of the DeLaval Company. "We do buy some steel from the U.S., and while we have stocks on hand for some weeks, the shortage will probably hit us if it is prolonged." However, Mr. Cutmore emphasized that there was no immediate danger of production being curtailed, as a good deal of the company's steel supplies come from Canadian steel plants.

Today in Ottawa, Canadian steel administrator Kenneth Harris warned that the Canadian construction industry would be hardest hit if the strike is prolonged.

The nation wide U.S. steel strike began immediately after a court ruled that President Truman's seizure of the U.S. steel industry to forestall a threatened strike was illegal.

About one-third of Canada's steel supplies come from the U.S. and if steel production is halted for only a few days, steel controller Harris said it will not affect Canadian supplies.

However, if the strike lasts for several weeks, a "squeeze" will develop on Canadian industries using steel, he said.

Allocations would be trimmed to the construction industry, the country's biggest steel users. The flow of steel for such construction as office buildings and grocery stores now is restricted.

More essential construction, such as hospital, schools and manufacturing plants, which now is allowed some steel also would be hit. High-priority construction, such as armament and military establishments, would be the only type assured of adequate supplies.

Four Canadian Films Receive Top Awards

NEW YORK, April 30—(CP)—Four Canadian films today received top awards in the annual competition sponsored by a National magazine (Scholastic Teacher) for high school teachers and administrators.

Picked as outstanding in the 16-mm. educational film section were "Ages and Stages," produced by Crawley Films for the National Film Board of Canada, and "Breakdown," produced by the N.F.B. About 325 films were entered in this class.

Among the top 10 awards to filmstrips for high school studies and English were "Masks of North American Indians" and "Simplified Staging," both produced by the N.F.B. Some 175 films were eligible.

Harder Life Predicted For Ministers

A "far harder ministry" for the present and coming generation of ministers was predicted Tuesday night by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, speaking at St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook.

Archdeacon Robertson was addressing a group of 20 Anglican divinity students who are in Millbrook to take a 10-day rural sociology course.

The divinity students will be billeted with farmers in the Millbrook district and in their course will be given lectures to prepare them should they be given a rural charge after ordination.

Archdeacon Robertson told them that "the future challenges all your courage and understanding. You have a far harder ministry before you than the one of my generation."

Cannot Choose

He asked the students to remember that one of their first lessons will be that they cannot choose their path in life. Some will go to cities, others to villages, towns, and to the rural churches. As well, they should remember that "the message is the same; the preparation varies."

Archdeacon Robertson's talk included memories of the various churches he served in, from Dublin, Ireland, to Truro, N.S., Hamilton, and finally to Peterborough.

He was introduced by the Rev. Warren Turner of Bowmanville, formerly curate at St. John's, Peterborough, who is dean of the rural school for clergy.

The Hon. John W. Foote, V.C., Minister of Reform Institutions, was present, and said that from his experience the country parish offered a fuller life than one in a city. He congratulated the men who had conceived the idea of the rural school, and said it was a practical venture in religion.

G. A. Spicer, people's warden of St. Thomas', welcomed the students to the village and district, and the Rev. A. A. Chote, pastor of St. Thomas', added his welcome.

Teletypesetter Work Reviewed

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) — The most spectacular development in newspaper production in many years is the teletypesetter, Herve Major, president of The Canadian Press, told the annual meeting of members today.

Experimentation in the use of this device, which permits simultaneous automatic typesetting in many composing rooms through operation of a single machine at a remote point, was authorized by CP members a year ago.

Now, Mr. Major said nearly half the evening papers in Ontario are served by a CP wire which actually operated their type-setting machines. Others would be added to the Ontario circuit this summer, and the service would be available in other regions before long. The development at the moment was of particular value to smaller papers, its uses in larger publication was under study.

Mr. Major said the day-and-night service of CP news in French, inaugurated last year, has the support of all 10 members who publish in that language.

Gillis Purcell, general manager of the national news co-operative reported on details of the news service.

The financial position was reviewed, new members welcomed and directors elected.

Reject Proposal

In the veterans debate, Mr. Lapointe rejected the annual opposition bid for a permanent Commons committee on veterans affairs. The bid was made before members agreed to establishment of a committee to study the measures introduced by Mr. Lapointe.

A motion by Col. A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) to widen the committee's terms of reference to take in any veterans' problem was ruled out of order by the speaker. A number of members said Veterans Land Act changes should be considered and that a permanent committee annually should consider inevitable changes affecting veterans as a whole.

Have Chance In Debate

Mr. Lapointe replied that a House committee was by no means the only way to air complaints and problems. Members could bring up any veterans matter during the budget debate, on consideration of departmental estimates and on other occasions.

He hinted at possible changes in the Veterans Land Act—the statute under which veterans are settled on farms and small holdings — when he said he has officials "looking into the whole question" of V.L.A.

One of the amendments to the Pensions Act would increase the clothing allowance to veterans with artificial limbs. Amputees who lost all or part of a leg now get $54 a year as compensation for the wear and tear to clothing. The amount will be increased to $72.

Amputees who lost all or part of an arm now receive $22 a year. The amount will be increased to $30.

The bill also will increase to $100 from $90 the monthly amount two pensionable dependent parents of a deceased member of the forces may receive.

No Place To Eat Open Early

Early morning workers who skip breakfast at home and down town roomers turning out at 6.30 o' clock found the city without restaurant accommodation this morning.

Churchill had been opening as usual around 6 a.m. and closing at 11 a.m. Wednesdays until last week. John Mousmoulies explained that the midweek blank was caused by a problem of engaging sufficient chef help.

Foster's Grill was open shortly after 7 o' clock, but the earlier breakfast group may have gone hungry to work today.

Proprietors of the cafes remain open so late at night that custom has tended to skip the breakfast service. They say that the eight hour day imposes a financial loss if the restaurants try to open at 6 a.m. or earlier. Start from there and count the hours of work, and the difficulty clears itself.

Apparently there is no close co-operation along the local restaurants to provide a rotation of early opening that some customers have suggested. They mention the fact that the tourist season is approaching, and are hoping that transient business will help get them early breakfast.

Generally, proprietors say, the early volume of business is not consistently large enough to warrant the expense of 6 a.m. opening or earlier.

U.S. Federal Judge

The next step presumably will involve a government request to the U.S. Court of Appeals to overturn Pine's decision.

Fear Damage

Steel executives feared the unprecedented haste with which workers poured out of the plants would damage equipment. But their worries appeared largely groundless.

In many plants workers themselves made sure standby crews remained to cool off furnaces.

At Cleveland, Republic Steel Corp. reported its plants throughout the U.S. will be completely shut down within three hours. In the past, steel companies have taken two and three days to complete an orderly shut-down.

Picketing was orderly everywhere after one or two scuffles which marked the excitement at the strike's start Tuesday night.

The first unemployment in allied industry was reported by U.S. Steel, which said all its coal miners have been furloughed.

The steel work stoppage began in Gary and South Chicago, Ind., within an hour after a federal judge nullified government seizure of the steel industry.

Pickets On Job

Most of the workers waited until their local union offices received Murray's cease-work order. But many of them dropped their tools and picked up their lunch boxes as soon as they heard of the court decision.

The U.S.W.'s contract with practically all major steel producers expired Jan. 1. Union-industry negotiations produced no new pact. Federal mediators failed to break the deadlock on the union's demand for an 18½ cent hourly boost, union shop and other objectives.

Report Damage

Wheeling Steel Corp. was one of the few companies which reported damage to plant facilities as a result of the hasty leave-taking of workers.

Wheeling Steel issued a statement which said:

"Extent of the damage to coke ovens, furnaces and other equipment at the Steubenville, O., plant could not be ascertained."

At Gary, Ind., a union spokesman indicated no effort was being made to safeguard the expensive iron and steel-making furnaces which must be cooled slowly over a period of 24 to 48 hours to prevent damage.

Murray instructed his men to arrange for stand-by operation of steel plants and most of the workers were glad to obey. They knew that if the furnaces were damaged, they would not have jobs to come back to for a long time after the strike ends.

Seek Way Out

In Washington, the Truman administration urgently sought today to halt the strike set in motion by an historic court slapdown of the President's seizure of a private industry.

In a blistering opinion, Pine called the steel seizure "illegal" and denied what he termed a presidential claim of "unlimited and unrestrained" power.

With the president thus backed to the wall—for the moment, at least—in the constitutional struggle over his "inherent" powers to act in an emergency, government lawyers moved swiftly to:

1. Get Pine himself, or else the United States Court of Appeals, to postpone the effective date of a formal give-back-the-mills order which the judge planned to issued today; and

2. Bring the case as quickly as possible before the Supreme Court in the hope of getting Pine's decision reversed.

Invoke Embargo

With the vast steel industry shutting down overnight, the government slapped an embargo on shipments of steel from warehouses to producers of civilian goods and to foreign countries.

The National Production Authority issued the order within two hours of Pine's decision in a move to conserve the supplies on hand until it is determined whether they will have to be diverted from civilian to military use.

Outside the courts, one further course was open to Truman: To invoke the Taft-Hartley Law.

Philip Murray, President of the Steelworkers Union and the C.I.O., sought to nip such a move in advance, saying the union already has complied with Taft-Hartley provisions. Murray declared the strike would continue until the workers get a contract along the lines recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Pine issued a formal injunction — believed the first in American history restraining a presidential action—this morning. The 60-year-old judge, after weighing opposing arguments since last Friday, declared in his 14-page decision:

"There is no express grant of power in the constitution authorizing the president to direct this seizure. There is no grant of power from which it reasonably can be implied. There is no enactment of Congress authorizing it."

Otonabee Man Jailed 3 Months For Bootlegging

Earl Woodcock, Otonabee township was sentenced to two concurrent terms of three months each today for bootlegging and illegal possession of liquor.

On the charge of having liquor not obtained on his own permit, Magistrate W. R. Philp gave Woodcock the option of a fine of $100 and $2.50 costs or three months to run concurrent with the term for selling liquor illegally.

Two Toronto youths, Richard O'Brien and Ronald Smith, testified Woodcock sold them a 12 pint case of beer for $4.25 on the night of April 19. Two other companions of O'Brien and Smith, Harold Whitmore and Frank O'Brien were not called by the crown.

Too Dark To See

Woodcock conducted this own defence and admitted on the witness stand that he was called out to the car and said he was asked first for liquor then for beer. He said it was dark and claimed they could not see whether he or someone else delivered it.

Under cross examination, Woodcock agreed with crown attorney John A. Bradshaw that the occupants of the car did get a case of beer similar to the one produced in court and he also admitted he received a $5 bill that night.

OPP Constable Ralph Tremills said he and Constable William Louth had Woodcock's residence (which was declared a public place in February) under observation the night O'Brien's car drove into the yard. After the car left, he said they followed and found the beer in the car when they stopped it a short distance west of Woodcock's on Highway 7.

OPP Constable Aimey Gaudry said he found another case of 12 pints under the bed in Woodcock's home the next day. Since Woodcock's liquor permit and privileges were cancelled February 12 when his premises were declared a public place the crown alleged that Woodcock had the beer in his possession illegally.

Woodcock pleaded not guilty to both charges, but Magistrate W. R. Philp said there was no doubt in his mind about Woodcock's guilt on the bootlegging charge and that he was finding him guilty on the second charge as well and discounting Woodcock's defence that he bought the beer prior to February 12.

Western Oils Decline On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 30 (CP) — Western oils declined steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings. Industrials, golds and base metals made little headway.

Industrial dealings remained in selected leading issues while few oils, metals or golds attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,498,000 shares.

Papers continued to lead industrials downward with a scattered list of losses. Constructions, steels and refining oils also slipped but banks, liquors and retail stores showed strength.

Western oil losses ranged to about 50 cents. Bristol, Charter, Consolidated Allenbee, General Petroleum, Peace River and Calvan Consolidated traded lower.

In base metals, Coldstream Copper, East Sullivan, International Nickel, Noranda, Normetal, Opemiska Copper and Golden Manitou dipped.

Senior golds drifted downward. Secondary issues posted a majority of penny losses.

Says Militarism May Revive

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP) — Risk of a revival of militarism in Germany and Japan could not be completely eliminated, External Affairs Minister Pearson told a House committee Tuesday.

But he believed the safeguards in the pending defence agreements with western Germany went as far as possible. The same was true of the peace agreement with Japan.

"They are a vital and vigorous people and are bound to grow and develop," the minister said.

"It is better that their growth and development is on the side of peace than on the side of aggression and militarism." That was the objective of Allied negotiations with both western Germany and Japan.

Pearson Comments

Mr. Pearson was questioned by members of the External Affairs committee on a wide range of subjects. Some of his comments:

1. There has been some revival of Nazi strength in Germany and Fascist in Italy but "much less than might be expected."

2. Canada's position in N.A.T.O. has been that the value of Spain's help as a member of the organization was not sufficient to offset the possible cleavage among western powers that might result from Spain coming into N.A.T.O. over the objections of France and the United Kingdom.

3. There has been no change of attitude toward Canada's recognition of Communist China in the last 12 months. Canada stood by the policy that recognition of the Pekin government could not be "even considered" while Chinese Communists are fighting U.N. forces in Korea.

Veterinarians Disagreed On F-M Methods

OTTAWA, April 30—(CP)—Documents tabled Tuesday in the Commons indicated that Federal veterinarians did not agree on methods to diagnose the disease that later proved to be foot-and-mouth in southern Saskatchewan.

Agricultural Minister Gardiner said in tabling them that the new outbreak of the easily-spread disease near Weyburn, 75 miles southeast of Regina, was the "worst" yet.

The documents showed that Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general, countermanded an order by other Federal veterinarians for collection of animal specimens for shipment to nearby Hull, Que., for diagnosis. That was before the outbreak was confirmed Feb. 25.

Dr. Childs, returning from statutory leave, sent a telegram to Dr. N. D. Christie, district veterinarian at Regina, Feb. 15 ordering that the collection be stopped and diagnosis be made instead on the spot.

The collection and shipment was ordered by Dr. Orlan Hall, assistant veterinary director-general, and Dr. C. A. Mitchell, head of the Hull Animal Research Laboratories.

To Make Position Clear

Dr. Childs, asked to comment on the reasons for the countermand, said he will make his position clear before the Commons Agricultural Committee today.

Opposition members criticize the government for alleged delay in diagnosing the disease. They also said Mr. Gardiner delayed tabling documents concerning the outbreak although the Commons ordered them produced early in the two-month-old session.

The documents also showed the first report of a disease similar to foot-and-mouth was made Dec. 28, 1951, from an outbreak in the Burns and Company feed lot in Regina. They were climaxed by a telegram from Dr. Childs in Regina to Dr. Hall in Ottawa that "movement to the United States and eastern Canada should be prohibited. Move quickly."

Meanwhile, the quarantine zone around Regina was extended to include three municipalities in the area of Ormiston, 100 miles southwest of Regina, where foot-and-mouth was found last week. Another six municipalities likely will be added in the Weyburn area to bring the total of quarantined municipalities to 26.

TV For Toronto By Summer Says Bell Expert

CAMPBELLFORD, April 30 — (ENS)—H. G. Young, general manager of the electronics division of the Bell Telephone Company told Rotarians here Monday that the Buffalo-Toronto section of the Bell Telephone's projected Buffalo-Toronto-Montreal microwave radio system will be in operation by the time television is inaugurated in Toronto this year, about mid-summer.

The Buffalo-Toronto link in the system will comprise a transmitting station at Buffalo, a relay station at Fonthill, and a receiving station in Toronto. The Toronto-Montreal section, comprising 11 relay points and terminal stations at Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal will be complete in 1953, said Mr. Young.

The new system would provide additional telephone circuits between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal as well as two channels for television transmission between Toronto and Montreal.

Describing some problems involved in testing possible routes for the micro-wave system, Mr. Young mentioned that it had been found while testing between Fonthill and Toronto that Lake Ontario, over which the signals must pass, tended to act as a reflector, and this reflection increased interference resulting in fading of the television image.

This problem has been solved by a fortunate quirk of the microwave transmission," said Mr. Young said. "Signals transmitted at different frequencies do not fade at the same time from this cause, and therefore the television signals will be carried on two frequencies. Special equipment in Toronto will automatically switch from one frequency to the other as the reception changes, thus keeping the signals at the highest quality.

"Towers in the system will range from 50 to 200 feet in height. Land has already been purchased for the erection of these towers and work on them has begun," Mr. Young said. A steel tower of such sturdy construction that it will not sway in the strongest wind will be built at each relay point. In addition buildings to house the equipment will have to be erected and in many cases, roads will have to be built and power lines put into the stations. Emergency power equipment will be provided to insure operation of the system despite power failure. The stations will be about 27 miles apart.

The speaker was introduced by E. G. Baker of Peterborough and thanked by H. N. Carr of Campbellford.

Mr. Young is well known in the field of electronics both in Canada and in the United States, and is an amateur radio operator. He demonstrated his talk with radio receivers set up on the stage and illustrated his points with the aid of slides.

After addressing the Rotary Club, Mr. Young spoke at the Campbellford High School, where his talk was well received by the student body.

Merchants Favor Present Hours

CAMPBELLFORD, April 30 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Chamber of Commerce met here this week with president E. C. McKeel in the chair. Reports from committees were heard and R. D. MacDonald reported on the activities of the industrial committee, saying that progress had been made in the preparation of a booklet outlining the advantages of the town and setting forth conditions attractive to industry. His committee had made visits to the industrial department of the C.N.R., the Royal Bank and the Department of Planning and Development of the Ontario government.

Austin Putnam reported a membership of 30 so far for 1952.

H. A. MacArthur, chairman of the retail committee said that 30 of 46 merchants interviewed wanted to leave store hours in the town as they were. Sixteen of the merchants wanted to close on Mondays. No action was taken on this question at present.

W. R. Nicholas reported progress on the clean-up campaign the chamber is sponsoring and said he was getting excellent co-operation.

H. J. Taylor reported on the regional conference held in Peterborough recently.

A discussion on the discount on American funds brought forth many suggestions, but no decision was reached regarding what merchants of the town will do regarding the question. The matter will be looked into further at a later date.

Ava Gardner Suspended

HONOLULU, April 30 (AP) — Film star Ava Gardner says Metro Goldwyn Mayer has suspended her because she came to Hawaii for a holiday with Frank Sinatra, her crooner husband. She said Tuesday another factor in her suspension was that she had turned down two scripts as "not good enough for me."

Try Seven Czechs

VIENNA, Austria, April 30 — The Czech newspaper Nova Svoboda said Tuesday seven Czechs are being tried in Krnov, northern Moravia, on charges ranging from theft of ration coupons to "planning to support western armies after a putsch."

LABOR DELEGATE—Claude Jodoin, president of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council and vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, was recently appointed official Canadian delegate to the forthcoming annual conference of the International Labor Organization in Geneva.

Seek Protection For Cobourg Residential Area

COBOURG, April 30 (ENS). — Measures to protect two residential areas of the town from invasion by commercial establishments, were proposed by Mayor Jack Burnet at the meeting of town council in tabling a motion, unsigned, so that it could be given full consideration before being dealt with. This would serve as a temporary means of protecting the residential areas in question until the town's zoning bylaw was enacted.

"In order that there cannot be any suspicion of any attempt to railroad a motion through council, I have the following motion, with signatures blank, which I hope will be tabled at the next council meeting. This will give everyone concerned ample time to study the motion and offer suggestions or register disapproval," said the Mayor.

The area designated by the mayor on the east was all land bounded by King St. and on the east by Hamilton township, including the land abutting on the east side of D'Arcy St., the south side of King St. and the easterly boundary of the town of Cobourg in the area described therein. Also all land bounded on the west by Burnham St., the south by Elgin St., the east by Ontario St., and the north by the town limits, including the land abutting on the east side of Burnham St., the north side of Elgin St., both sides of Ontario St., and the north limits of the town of Cobourg, present business establishments excepted.

Also in connection with the residential areas, Councillor H. Richardson gave notice that he would bring in a motion which would stipulate that henceforth all permits for business establishments in residential areas, would have to come before the council.

Commenting on the fire this week at the collegiate institute in which the fire department conquered a stubborn blaze in the roof, Mayor Burnet complimented the fire chief and his men, pointing out that the new fire pumper had proved its worth and that if the old truck had still been the only equipment, the results of the fire would have been much different.

A letter from the Department of Lands and Forests asked council what it thought concerning the continuance of the Pratt's Pond area as a protected preserve. Council decided to ask the Department to continue as before. A communication from Mrs. C. Parsons said that cars were driving at too high a rate of speed on King St., endangering children and elderly people. The mayor said that the police department was proceeding quietly in checking up on the speeders, not on a wholesale scale which might create a furore, but nevertheless effectively coping with the situation.

Aso, 550 miles southwest of Tokyo this morning, killing all four crew members. A C119 cargo-transport hit a ridge last night on an instrument approach to Ashiya air base on Kyushu Island. F.E.A.F. said four airmen were killed.

Hastings-Peterborough To Go?

Ontario is to get the number of parliamentary seats its proportion of the population of Canada entitles it to, this Province will gain two, from 83 to 85. That should be one effect of the redistribution presently being undertaken by a committee of the House of Commons. Another effect should be to increase largely the urban representation. The population of Ontario has grown from 3,787,655 to 4,597,542 in the last decade. This growth has been entirely urban; in fact, rural constituencies have hardly been holding their own.

* * *

The riding of Hastings-Peterborough is an example of this; its population actually declined from 26,894 in 1941 to 26,324. Such a decrease is not important in itself; but set against the great increases in urban districts, it is very important, electorally. York North, for instance, grew during the decade from 57,269 to 122,538. Under the present arrangement of ridings, Hastings-Peterborough and York North have both the same representation, one member. Even Peterborough West, which cannot be considered a thoroughly urban riding has now 53,123 people. Thus Mr. G. K. Fraser represents twice as many people as Mr. G. S. White of Hastings-Peterborough. This sort of situation is far from being fair representation by population. The need for re-distribution is apparent; and so is the direction it must take. More seats must be given to urban areas, and these must be got by reducing the representation of rural areas.

* * *

The average population of a constituency after the redistribution should be 55,000. Let us take a look at the populations of the constituencies in this district:

Victoria	42,654
Peterborough West	53,123
Hastings-Peterborough	26,324
Durham	30,115
Northumberland	33,482
Frontenac-Addington	27,496
Kingston City	35,870
Prince Edward-Lennox	31,111

The total population of these adjoining constituencies, 285,175, is not double the population of York East; yet York East has one member, these have eight. The average population of the eight constituencies is 35,500. On the basis that an average Ontario constituency should have 55,000 people after the redistribution, these eight constituencies should be amalgamated into five or six.

* * *

No matter how uneven the redistribution is, it seems obvious that at least one riding will disappear from this district. Which will go is a matter of guesswork; these things are decided in political councils. The weakest on the list is Hastings-Peterborough. Frontenac-Addington is another possible candidate for extinction. Both ridings could be quite easily divided up among adjoining ones. We suggest as a topical parlour-game for this evening that our readers might have fun making their own redistribution of these ridings. It would be amusing, and perhaps instructive, to see how one's own fair guess tallies with the political decisions made in Ottawa.

Appeal By Ballot In South Africa

The Malan Government has begun to carry out its proposal to deprive the courts of the power to review acts of Parliament. Thus a constitutional crises has been precipitated. The South African Nationalist government will brook no opposition to its apartheid policy—to segregate people politically and socially according to their race and colour. When the highest courts in the land ruled that the legislation incorporating this policy was unconstitutional, Dr. Malan's Government decided to take away the Court's right to criticize or overrule any Government action. If the Bill which it has now introduced into the South African Parliament passes, Parliament will be the sole judge of its own acts.

This is an interesting situation, and in our view, a gross retrogression in both parliamentary and legal history in any democratic country. It may be argued that in a pure democracy Parliament must always be supreme, Parliament which supposedly expresses the will of the people and is responsible to the people. But an entrenched Government like the Malan Government can do a lot in the name of Parliament against the interests and wishes of the majority of the people in the country. It is a special instance in South Africa, since the Parliament by no means represents the majority of the people of the Union who are black and "Cape coloured."

The Montreal Star remarks that:

It is a situation for which there is no precedent in either law or practice in any country with a written constitution. The bill introduced a few days ago by Dr. Donges, the Minister of the Interior, has not yet reached here. Correspondents say, however, that it does not set up a committee of Parliament to review Parliament's acts, or establish a Parliamentary court having higher jurisdiction than the Supreme Court (comparable to the House of Lords as the final court of appeal in Britain). In the words of the New York Times correspondent, it merely establishes as the new higher court the whole of Parliament itself.

In any democratic country it is part of the tradition established by centuries of practice and pleading and assertion of liberties, that a citizen who feels himself aggrieved can go to a court of law for redress. The right to do this—for instance, if a person feels himself unjustly deprived of his vote—will be virtually denied by the new Bill. How can a private citizen appeal to a whole Parliament, especially when there is no procedure set up, nor any committee of it, to hear such appeals? It seems, of course, the South African Government does not intend that any appeals shall be possible from its legislation.

By setting up Parliament as the supreme court there is the assumption that the next Parliament is not necessarily bound by its predecessor. If one Parliament can undo the Constitution, another can repair it. So next year, when the Malan Government must go to the people, in theory at least the people will have their right of appeal from the Malan Government—they can turn it out. But perhaps the Malan Government may change the constitution in other ways too—it might bring in a Bill extending its own life, without recourse to voters. And of course, by the time an election is called, most of the people who might have voted against the Government will be disfranchised.

It will be interesting to see, however, if elections are held next year, as constitutionally provided, how many of the qualified voters will reject the Malan Government, if not for its policy of racial segregation, then for its flouting of the constitutional and legal processes of democracies.

To Build The New Jerusalem

Today is the fourth anniversary of the founding of the independent State of Israel. The new republic, born in travail, faced tremendous problems and still has arduous tasks ahead of it before it can be the new Jerusalem of which its people and adherents have dreamed for centuries. Near the end of his autobiography—which is also the story of Israel's struggles to achieve national independence—their President, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, wrote:

"An enormous amount will have to be left to trial and error, and we shall have to learn the hard way—by experience . . . This goal is the building of a high civilization based on the austere standards of Jewish ethics. From these standards we must not swerve, as some elements have done during the short period of the National Home, by bending the knee to strange gods. The Prophets have always chastized the Jewish people with the utmost severity for this tendency; and whenever it slipped back into paganism, whenever it reverted, it was punished by the stern God of Israel. Whether prophets will once more arise among the Jews in the near future it is difficult to say. But if they choose the way of honest and hard and clean living, on the land and in the settlements built on the old principles, and in cities cleansed of the dross which has been sometimes mistaken for civilization; if they centre their activities on genuine values, whether in industry, agriculture, science, literature or art; then God will look down benignly on His children who after a long wandering have come home to serve Him with a psalm on their lips and a spade in their hands, reviving their old country and making it a centre of human civilization."

This is wise and spiritual advice; followed it will lay a sure foundation for a great nation and a great people.

Oshawa Gives Itself A New Coat (Of Arms)

Oshawa has remade its "coat of arms" and taken a revised motto. The motto is changed from "Industry and Prosper" to "Labour and Prosper," a subtle distinction in keeping, we presume, with Oshawa's day and age. The city's bearings, formerly represented by an automobile, a piano and other things on a shield, has become "on a fessy waves gules, between three geared wheels sable (crank-shafts?) and three maple leaves with stems conjoined at base vert; a ship of three masts, sails unfurled and streamers flying, a winged sheel and an eagle descendent argent." It is explained that ships and eagles never go out of date. We presume that to put a 1952 car in the midst would hardly be heraldic, despite the argent of the chromium. The winged sheel is symbolic of Oshawa's airport.

From its black-and-white reproduction, the new shield of Oshawa looks quite respectable. We allow ourself to assume a rather patronizing air about it, since Peterborough set the example two years ago in revising its armorial bearings; and in fact, took pains to get really authentic ones designed and registered by the College of Heralds. Oshawa took a short cut; its "coat of arms" was designed by an Oshawa Q.C. and a Pickering lady. We have therefore refrained from calling them "armorial bearings," despite the stately heraldic terms in which they are described.

ISRAEL FOUR YEARS OLD TODAY

Miracles, Yes, But More Needed

By FRANCIS OFNER (in Tel Aviv)

IF ISRAEL is to survive as an oasis of the Western way of life in this part of Asia, miracles will have to work again, as in the days of the nation's birth-struggle four years ago. The imponderables of faith and human creation will once more have to weigh more heavily than the ponderables of economics and paper and pencil calculations.

Almost everything has been doubled in Israel during the last four years—the number of trees planted, the number of villages, of kilometres of roads, of houses and apartments, and, above all, the number of inhabitants. The area under irrigation has been doubled to half a million dunams (one dunam equals .22 acres) the area planted with vegetables and fodder has trebled; traffic in Haifa Port has increased five times; the number of farm tractors has multiplied six times.

* * *

DURING this period the national income grew from 150 million to 440 million Israeli pounds; the Jewish State's merchant fleet jumped from nil before 1948 to 34 ships with a tonnage of 120,000 today; the number of housing units newly built for immigrants reached 75,000. And nearly three quarters of a million new immigrants joined the 650,000 old settlers in the gigantic experiment of grafting twentieth century civilisation on to this area of age-old neglect.

The over-rapid growth, however, disrupted Israel's already weak economic foundations. The attempt to compress into a single generation's life-span all the developments which in other countries took centuries, is taking heavy casualties, in economics, social standards, public morale, efficiency and social integration.

* * *

ECONOMICALLY, this expansion has meant importing into Israel during the last three years equipment, foodstuffs, and raw materials worth more than 800 million dollars. To pay for this, Israel sold abroad during the same period produce to a value of only one hundred million dollars. The difference was met by World Jewry's gifts, private investments, foreign government loans and grant-in-aid—topped by the U.S. Export-Import Bank loan of 135 million dollars and U.S. grant of 65 million dollars.

This has meant severe shortages in almost everything. Insufficient space, lack of transport, telephone lines, typewriters, paper, tools, machinery, working clothes and raw materials are all causing hardships. Inadequate diets, little meat, eggs, cheese, milk, rice, potatoes, butter and oil, periodic shortages of green vegetables and fish and occasionally even of bread make these difficulties even harder to bear.

* * *

EFFICIENCY, too, is adversely affected. Experts here claim that while output per worker in the U.S.A. increased during the last four years by 52 per cent, in Israel it was lowered during the same period by 16 per cent. Among railway workers it fell to its lowest ebb—about one-tenth of that in the U.S.A. In government administration, procrastination and red tape are taken for granted; nepotism and corruption are widespread. Old settlers and new immigrants share equally the responsibility for the deterioration of public morals.

Speaking sixty different languages and educated in as many cultures, Israeli have problems of social integration too. Cars are a novelty for Jews from the Yemen who must learn to keep on the pavement, whereas Polish immigrant housewives are appalled at the low hygiene standards of their oriented cousins. Physical work is considered shameful by North African newcomers, while intellectual occupations are looked down on by roughened East European farmers.

* * *

MOST returning sons of Israel, however, do not shun the difficulties or hardships. Urged by biblical visions, and often by the bitter facts of life, many have gone to work on the land, in mines, railways and factories, on the sea and in the armed forces. Elected representation, freedom from political intimidation, government responsibility to Parliament, conclusions reached by free discussion, and a number of other elements inherent in Western democracy are the novelties introduced by Israelis into this part of the world.

The New Economic Policy of the Government, launched last February is trying to correct some of Israel's economic evils and lay the foundations for a sounder future. Food supply from Israel's own soil is to be increased so as to produce half the country's needs. This month, about 20,000 workers, who for the last few months were engaged in orange picking, and who in previous years were employed on public works, are expected to be diverted to work on the land.

* * *

PLANS are in hand for the development of Israel's natural resources, particularly through exploiting the Negev desert, in the south, and the Galilean mountains in the north. Last year, 5,500 tons of local silicate sands were used in glass manufacture, and this year production should cover the total needs of the industry. One million dollars in foreign currency is expected to be saved this year in ball clay alone.

Newly discovered rich phosphate deposits in the Negev have begun supplying a chemical fertiliser factory in Haifa. One million tons of phosphates are expected to be exported next year. Sulphur deposits, manganese, and iron ore have also been found. A combination of American, Canadian, Swiss and local financiers is negotiating for petroleum prospecting rights. Potash from the Dead Sea, the southern half of which belongs to Israel, is expected to be extracted in the near future.

* * *

IN INDUSTRY, besides the enlargement of existing plants, such important concerns as Kaiser-Frazer Automobiles, the U.S. General Tyres Company and the Sugarman Shoe Factory have opened plants here, saving foreign currency for Israel and infusing new energy and potential into its economy.

But in assessing her prospects, one should remember that they depend on a number of incalculable human elements, including her idealistic youth, who for the country's future are at least as substantial as all her carefully-planned development projects. As in Israel's birth-struggle four years ago, the country's basic article of faith remains: "The only realists are those who believe in miracles".

THERE JUST ISN'T ROOM FOR BOTH OF THEM

The Press Conference Again

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

Back in 1950 President Truman at one of his press conferences told reporters in his offhand way that "use of the atomic bomb in Korea is under consideration." What Mr. Truman meant to say, it developed later, was that use of the atomic bomb in Korea or in any other war necessarily was a matter that would always be under consideration. Unfortunately, the reporters did not ask Mr. Truman to explain or amplify, but rushed off to flash around the world that the U.S. was getting ready to drop a bomb on Korea, after which not even a quick "clarification" from the White House stopped Mr. Attlee flying across the Atlantic to see what the alarm was about.

This week in Washington came another press conference mixup—and scare. Mr. Truman, for some reason not clear, was telling the reporters some things he had omitted from his recently-published diaries, said to them that in 1946 he personally sent a "stinging ultimatum" to Stalin that ran the Soviets out of Iran. Later it developed that no such ultimatum ever had been sent, but before the White House could get out its "clarification" —Mr. Truman was "speaking in non-technical terms and did not mean the word ultimatum in its usual diplomatic sense"—the harm was done. In all the world's capitals—including Moscow—they were reading how Mr. Truman, according to Mr. Truman, had all by himself sacked the Soviets from Iran (actually this feat was achieved by UN).

The moral? Apart from Mr. Truman's strange ways, their strangeness probably increased by an election campaign, the moral would seem to be that the press conference can be a menace.

Anyone who has ever attended one of Mr. Truman's press conferences must realize what a menace such gatherings can be. Popping up from their seats like peas from a hot frying pan, reporters shoot questions at the President, who, without notice or preparation, replies to them at once. Questions of national, international and world moment are answered "off-the-cuff," with the inevitable result of inaccuracies charged with grave harm. Things that should be left unsaid, or said in a different way, are flashed around the world, with consequences of confusion, and sometimes of alarm.

Press conferences have made headway in Canada, and it is said in their behalf that they give reporters material for "background." The claim may be right, but The Journal would hate to see the press conference become here what it has become in the U.S., namely, almost an arm of government, with "background" too often merged into pure propaganda, and with danger always of confusion, irresponsibility, and alarm.

Well that our ministers and other public men should try to keep the publi informed. But under our British system the place for public men to make their statements is in Parliament—or in the press under the authority of their own names, and between quotation marks.

The Things We Miss

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

Admittedly, one may miss something by failing to pick up a hitch-hiker. One may miss the experience of having a purse carelessly left in the back seat cleaned out; we didn't. One may miss stupid and salacious conversation; one may miss the inspiring tang of a garlic-and-beer breath; one may miss being bothered by further importunities after complying with the first begging gesture.

And certainly one may miss high adventure, like being clouted over the head, being robbed of money, valuables and car, being held under a gun—or miss encountering the last great adventure of all, as a few have after picking up hitch-hikers.

It may be conceded that there are hitch-hikers who deserve help and would never think of abusing it. It can be proved that there are hitch-hikers who are nuisances and bores. It can be proved that there are hitch-hikers who are thieves and worse. And the motorist who picks up a hitch-hiker does not know which kind he is going to draw. The motorist takes a chance on not getting the wrong kind—but he loses often enough to keep such losses prominently in the news.

We agree heartily with The Ottawa Journal's attitude. There is nothing selfish about elementary self-protection. That is all that refusal to pick up a hitch-hiker amounts to, under most circumstances.

Ivan The Inventor

(Ottawa Journal)

A patent society in the United States has taken the trouble to tabulate Russian claims to the possession of inventive genius, and specifically the contention that Russians invented practically everything of consequence in modern industry.

The Communists contend, among other things, that the German Count Zeppelin stole the plans for the first dirigible from Russia; that Rudolph Diesel stole from the Russians the plans for the engine which bears his name; that a Russian named Mozhaisky patented a motor-driven airplane as far back as 1875; that a Russian, and not James Watt, invented the steam engine; that a Russian named Popov discovered the principle of radio (Popov also invented motion pictures, sound films, technicolor, and the automatic telephone exchange).

The Russians, it appears, developed naval tactics and they taught Nelson what he knew about sea warfare. Also they invented the trolley car, the rocket; they founded the city of San Francisco, flew the first human being in an aircraft, and incidentally invented statistics to keep a record of all these doings.

The Russians are claiming the rights of inventors to almost everything except fire and the wheel, and perhaps those will come. Actually the Russians (or at least their current leaders) are not smart or they would not invite the world's ridicule of their outrageous claims.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The former treatise have I made, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus began both to do and teach, until the day in which he was taken up, after that he through the Holy Ghost had given commandments unto the apostles whom he had chosen: to whom also he shewed himself alive after his passion by many infallible proofs, being seen of them forty days, and speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God: and, being assembled together with them, commanded them that they should not depart from Jerusalem, but wait for the promise of the Father, which, saith he, ye have heard of me. For John truly baptized with water; but ye shall be baptized with the Holy Ghost not many days hence.

When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time restore again the kingdom to Israel? And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power. But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth:

And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. (Acts 1: 1-9).

Wherefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heavenly calling, consider the Apostle and High Priest of our profession, Christ Jesus . . . For we are made partakers of Christ, if we hold the beginning of our confidence stedfast unto the end. (Heb. 3: 1, 14.)

Risk Capital

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

Mr. Tucker's speech accepting the Liberal nomination in Rosthern is, we think, of importance outside the constituency in which he will seek re-election. For Mr. Tucker is the provincial leader of his party. And his forthright address and expressions of confidence may well set the pattern for the Liberal campaign on the hustings.

Certainly, he touched on most of the issues which are likely to be of major importance in the political climate of the next month or two—including one which we judge to be basic to the future of the province. That is whether the development of our resources, and consequently our ability to achieve a more stable economy and a basis for expanded social services and other programs will be furthered by the defeat of the C.C.F. Mr. Tucker obviously believes that it will, and we have no doubt that he is right. Recently the C.C.F. government has done its best to induce outside risk capital to enter the province. But, we think it has not been able to dispel entirely the suspicions which its background and its own policies in earlier years aroused. Maybe development capital is prepared to take a political risk on top of the economic risks which it has to accept in any province or country. Nevertheless, the Liberals can argue with some force that their election would remove the added hazard and make Saskatchewan more attractive as a field for investment.

Limestone In the Syrup?

(Fort William Times-Journal)

At Sault Ste. Marie, district farmers are reported expressing the belief that the "distinctive flavor" to maple syrup made in that area is due to the limestone in the soil.

The only real surprise in the claim is that they are not content with the explanation that everything is better in Algoma.

Dr. Kenner Piloted Collegiate Through 2 Expansions

To mark Dr. H. R. Kenner's long and intimate secondary school education in this city, the Board of Education decided to call the new school now rising rapidly on Monaghan Road South, "Kenner Collegiate."

It will open its doors next fall, the public letter to Dr. Kenner's former students reminds them, without traditions and without endowment. The link with the parent Collegiate will be perpetual through its name. The Kenner Memorial Fund hopes to adorn the entrance hall of the new school with a portrait in oil of the distinguished teacher whose name it bears. The fund is also to establish scholarships for promising pupils of the new school.

Dr. Kenner was classics master at P.C.I. from 1893 to 1908. In that year he was appointed principal in succession to Principal Cortez Fessenden, and continued as principal until June, 1945, when he retired, after 50 years continuously on the staff.

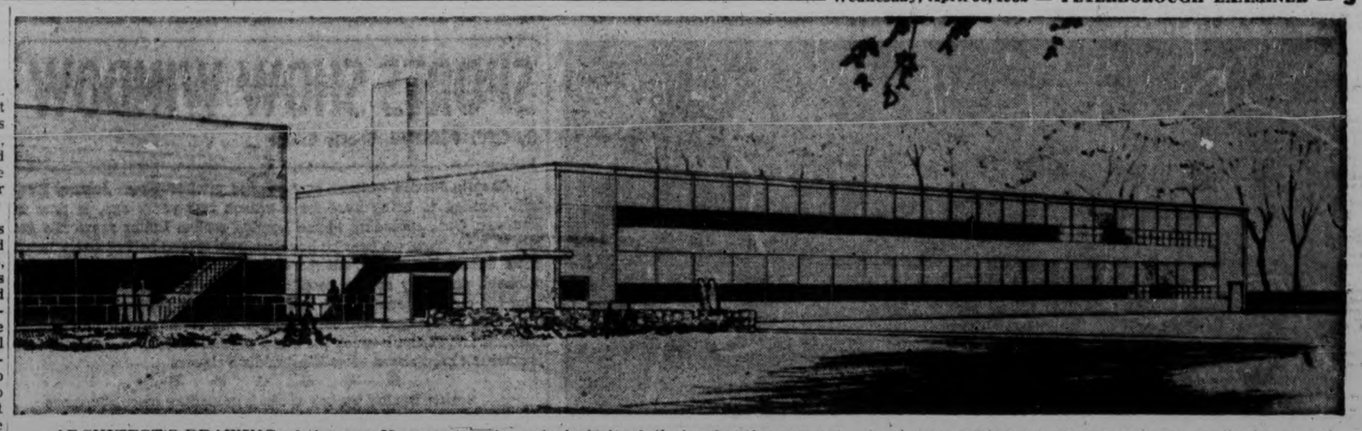
H. R. H. Kenner was born in Cornwall, England, and came to this country when four years old. He went to public schools in Hamilton and London, and secondary schools at Oakwood and Port Perry. He attended the teacher training college at Hamilton—a short course—and obtained there a High School assistant's certificate. For the next four years he taught at Listowel, Fergus, Caledonia and Orillia Collegiate. In 1895 he completed his university studies at Toronto, graduating with honors in classics. In September of that year he joined the Peterborough Collegiate staff, when the school was the present upper block of the Central School.

The new school—the present old wing of the Collegiate—was opened in 1908 and it was then, to deal with the expansion and reorganization necessary in the new school, that Mr. Kenner assumed the principalship.

He piloted P.C.I. through this major change in its history, and through another great one in 1928, when the present large annex was added, with its workshops and commercial school and auditorium. The school then became the Collegiate and Vocational School—P.C.V.S. Its administration allowed Principal Kenner no time for teaching, and he had to give up classroom work, except for occasional periods when he substituted for a teacher.

In 1936 the University of Toronto conferred on its graduate of 1895 the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa. Dr. Kenner retired in June, 1943, and was given a civic reception by the Board of Education and the council.

His health was by then suffering the pangs of age and a strenuous career. He did not live long to enjoy his retirement, dying on October 30, 1944. He was buried in Little Lake cemetery, survived by his widow, who now lives in Toronto, and one son, Dr. Hugh, an English scholar in the United States.



ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of the new Kenner Collegiate whose outer structure is now nearing completion on Monaghan Road south. The gymnasium at the south end of the building is to be only half its full size for the present. An auditorium will be added to its front in some later year. The 15-room building is so designed that additional classrooms can easily be added to the rear as necessity demands. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy by October.

Eskimos Say Thanks

CALGARY —(CP)—Thanksgiving Day in Aklavik is in June, and when the collection plate is passed around in Church it is piled high with furs.

The Eskimo Thanksgiving at the end of the fur season is to give thanks for the harvest, Miss Beth Riddoch of Calgary reported after a trip through the Northwest Territories.

Miss Riddoch, Field Secretary of the Alberta council of the Canadian Girl Guides Association, said the third Sunday in June is set aside in Aklavik as "rat Sunday."

The Calgary girl who covered some 4,000 miles in a two-week tour by plane of the Northwest Territories said one little Brownie trapped six animals and was offered top price for the furs. But she sold only four and put the other two on the collection plate on "rat Sunday."

Prominent People Endorse Kenner Fund; Send Cheques

Prominent former pupils of Dr. Kenner, and men in public life have writen commending the Kenner Memorial Fund and giving it their support. The Minister for External Affairs wrote from Ottawa; his letter is printed elsewhere in today's paper.

Another prominent former pupil, R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association has written from Montreal: "I am glad to endorse this campaign. Dr. Kenner was an outstanding educationalist and exercised a great influence for good on the students at the Peterborough Collegiate and over the whole community. It seems to me that his long career of public service deserves the kind of recognition that your committee is planning."

Writes From Vancouver

The Director of International Studies at the University of British Columbia Professor F. H. Soward has written from Vancouver: "I am delighted to give my recommendation to such a campaign. It is over 35 years since I graduated from the Collegiate, but I still remember the inspiration and sound training which I received from Mr. Kenner in classics. I realize, also, that it was due to Mr. Kenner that P.C.I. has such an excellent staff and built up so splendid a record of achievement".

Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West, writes from the House of Commons: "I personally feel that it is a very fine gesture on the part of your committee to establish the Dr. Kenner Scholarship Fund, and I am honored that you have put my name down as one of the patrons."

The Hon. H. R. Scott, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, and M.L.A. for Peterborough, has written from Toronto: "I appreciate the honor you have bestowed upon me in including my name as a patron. I think it is a splendid idea to commemorate the memory of Dr. Kenner."

Each of these prominent Canadians has either enclosed a cheque with his letter, or promised to give to the Fund when it is officially opened.

INFLATION HITS PENNY-A-PITCH — It's now three-balls-for-a-shilling, instead of a penny-a-pitch, if you want to try a game of chance at Hampstead, London, England. Jacqueline Woolgar, 5, adorned with a Bobbie's helmet, makes an enticing "pitchman" when she visits the concession.

'Welcome News' Says Pearson

The Hon. L. B. Pearson, Secretary of State for External Affairs, has written from Ottawa of the "welcome news that Dr. Kenner's ex-students are working to institute a permanent memorial to him."

"It is a long time now since I was one of Dr. Kenner's pupils", Mr. Pearson says in his letter to Arthur Pitchford, secretary-treasurer of the Kenner Memorial Fund, "but I still have vivid recollections of the school and, more particularly, of the impact of his personality on all of us. He richly deserves any tribute we can pay him for the long years of service which he has given to the most important calling in the world, that of education."

How does a young man like me provide the life insurance his family needs?

"I'm not earning a great deal of money as yet—but I want to make sure that my wife and youngsters will be O.K. financially if anything should happen to me.

"How much insurance should I provide, as a minimum? What kind of policy should I buy—both for today, and as a foundation for the larger insurance program I hope to have in the future?

"This is such an important money matter, I want the advice of an expert!"

THOMAS J. ALLEN
LEO W. COPP
C. S. BROWNE (ex officio)

Dear former P.C.I.—P.C.V.S. Student:

1. This letter is addressed to you as a onetime pupil of Dr. Kenner, teacher and principal. It is to tell you respectfully how your dollar or ten dollars can be made everlasting, and at the same time everlastingly helpful.

2. A new Collegiate is being built at the south end of the city. The Board of Education has decided to honour the work and memory of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, B.A., LL.D.—member of P.C.I. staff for 50 years (1893—1943), principal for the last 35 of them—by naming the school "Kenner Collegiate."

3. The Kenner Collegiate will open its doors next fall with no tradition and no benefactions behind it. A committee of local former students of Dr. Kenner has been formed to attempt to right this situation, to give the new school continuity with the past and material links with its honoured name.

4. It is proposed, first, that a portrait of Dr. Kenner be commissioned to a well-known Canadian artist, to hang in the entrance hall of the new Kenner Collegiate; and secondly, that Kenner Memorial Scholarships be established to recognize outstanding scholastic attainment by pupils of the new Collegiate, somewhat similar to the Nicholls scholarships.

5. To provide the portrait and establish scholarships, requires money. The committee estimates that a minimum of $3,500 is needed. This letter is sent to solicit your support and money.

6. Any donations, however small, will be welcomed. Contributions of two dollars or more will be acknowledged by the Committee, in order that the receipts may be used by contributors for income tax deductions.

7. In 1890 Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls established the Nicholls Scholarships at P.C.I. with $2,000. Since that time $5,800 have been paid out in scholarships, and the $2,000 is still intact. That is what we meant by making your dollar everlasting and useful, when paid into the Kenner Memorial Fund. Your money will provide a portrait which all will see as long as the new school lasts, and also a scholarship fund for as long as time endures. There is no surer way of perpetuating yourself, your beneficence and your fine concern for youth in a good new school than through a contribution to the Kenner Memorial Fund.

8. The Fund is to establish a memorial. Whether or not Dr. Kenner taught you, you came under his influential principalship. His was a great and long service to education in Peterborough and this Province. It is gracious and good that society should remember the men who shaped it. As Canada hustles into the future it should with gratitude keep its past in mind. The Committee believes that when the opportunity to endow the new Peterborough School in the name of Dr. Kenner is known, thousands of former students at home and abroad will gratefully associate their names with the memorial. If the interest is sufficiently intense, a P.C.I.—P.C.V.S. alumni association will be formed.

9. The Committee hopes to close the subscription list at an early date. Please send your donation now, while yo remember it. No personal canvass will be made.

★

A copy of this letter is being mailed to as many former students of Dr. Kenner as the Kenner Memorial Fund committee has names for. But only a small proportion of the thousands of ex-students can be reached. Please take this as your personal invitation to contribute. Tell others about it.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Charlie Justice, veteran star colored pitcher whom Johnny Russelle wanted to bring here for a season two years ago, is now in Hanover, Ont., according to the London scribe. Latter says: "To get him to play there, we hear he has been guaranteed half of every home game during the season. All the clubs in that league import hot shot pitchers, and they are so good that the seven other ordinary guys who fill out the teams don't have to be classy fielders. We wonder how long the league will last." That's the trend down that way in baseball and fastball—pack the clubs regardless of cost. It's a wonder if someone hasn't been after King Eddie Feigner.

Boston Bruins' hockey chain is spreading more and more up this way, the home of Dit Clapper of Bruins. The N.H.L. club—who has Red Sullivan of Peterborough in its lineup now—sponsors the local Oddfellows and junior "B" Vics of Kingston. And the other day, the energetic Hal Cotton completed arrangements whereby the junior "A" Generals of Oshawa come in under the Bruins' sponsorship. Detroit Red Wings left the Motor City field open by deciding to stick to Windsor, and the Toronto Maple Leafs waived territorial rights so the Boston team could take over the Gens. Bruins will forego the Barrie junior setup next winter.

A Nearby Puck Target

It will give Peterborough youngsters something to shoot at—a possible step up from junior "B" to "A" ranks with a good chance then at pro play in Hershey and possibly the N.H.L. Bruins eventually. Bill Stewart of the Oddfellows is definitely interested, for one, in moving into "A" company next autumn, and he should make the grade. Did well all last season in junior play and held his own when moved up to the senior "B" Petes in the late season. He is 17. Red Robinson did, too. Oshawa is nice and handy to Peterborough if any of our lads catch on next semester with the hockey-playing Generals.

Ran into D. A. McGillis the other day and the sponsor and president of Eagles appears quite unperturbed over the O.H.A. suspension. Said he was making no plans yet for next puck season since the Eagles' season wouldn't be over for a few weeks yet when he is throwing the club a dinner at the Peterborough Golf Club. Mr. McGillis is also buying them all windbreakers. It's no wonder his players stick by him—you don't find that kind of sponsor in many sports. We suggested that one senior "B" club here next winter, called the McGillis Petes, might be an ideal setup, but he repeated: "I haven't given any thought yet to next winter's hockey." So, there the matter rests.

Knocking Eric's Noggin

Yukon Eric, at 271 muscular pounds, is no weakling but he was getting a bit of a headache along the Rue Brock last eve in his mat match with Hans Hermann. Holman and Voiman kept banging Eric's head into the metal turnbuckles of the ring and Eric finally got exasperated and flipped him back for the deciding fall. There was a lot of beef in there with the matadors dividing; almost evenly, 541 pounds—and Ref. Bert Maxwell nigh onto 250, though much of it was around his middle. Bigger still were the semi-finalists, Wee Willie Davis going 274 and Iron Talun a more 301 pounds! He's just back from a movie tour in Europe and how they ever fed him over there we'll never know. Their bout drew with both out of the ring at the finish. Fozo and Simms went the limit to a prelim draw.

Plans are going ahead for the re-organization of the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association. A nominating committee of Alex Sinclair, Gord Young, Fraser Wade and Arnold Olmstead is out now checking on a slate of officers for the season, as well as going after coaches and umps. Association is in the black and has some equipment available. Lots of boys ready to play but the usual shortage of capable coaches to direct them. While midget and juvenile teams are welcome, the emphasis this summer will be on the peewee and bantam branches in order to build up solidly from the bottom for future years. Make entry applications to Dit Clapper or have a representative at the annual meeting next Monday eve at seven in the "Y."

Young Sections Of P.M.B.A. To Be Stressed

The younger sections of the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association may be stressed more in reorganization this season, according to the opinion of some of the officals of last night's meeting in the "Y". It was felt that there were good prospects for the peewee and bantam sections, and the players would be built up gradually over the next few years to bridge the gap now existing between midget and junior. However, no midget or juvenile entries will be turned down.

President Dit Clapper, aided by Ray Pammett, vice-president, handled the meeting, with Treasurer Gord Young reporting a balance of $84 on hand, plus some equipment. Mr. Pammett reported having a trophy, put up by the Jaycees, for bantam competition.

A nominating committee of Fraser Wade, Alex Sinclair, Arnold Olmstead and Gord Young will bring in a suggested slate of officers for a meeting Monday night next at seven in the "Y". Entries will be taken then, or managers may apply before then in writing to Dit Clapper. Peewees are under 13 by May 1, bantams 15, midgets 17 and juveniles 19. The juniors will operate their own team this year in the Lakeshore League. Mr. Olmstead is checking into a number of prospective managers, coaches and umpires.

HAS BIG SEASON

The Pacific Coast Hockey League played to more than 1,000,000 customers this season for the first time in its four years as a professional circuit. The league office reported attendance at 1,094,359 paid admissions.

Yukon Eric Defeats Hans With Quick Back Flip In Main Pro Mat Match

Yukon Eric pulled a back flip to pin a surprised Hans Hermann in the final fall of the main bout of the pro mat show at the Brock last night. Hans had survived an earlier hard attack by the powerful Eric and was roughing Yukon up plenty by trying his squeeze hold and throwing him head first into the ring turnbuckles.

Then Eric caught a rope strand with his feet on a thrust into the corner and came back hard on Hans to pin him for the three-count. The unpopular German was furious and tried to mix it after the bell but a couple of clomps from Eric with a lumberjack boot in his hand took the fight out of Hermann. The crowd cheered the fall heartily.

Uses Bear-hug

The final fall came in six minutes, and Eric took the second one in 11 minutes to the plaudits of the rather slim crowd. He withstood several smacks into the corner to come back and stiffen the proud German with his "Kodiak Krusher" bear-hug, the ref stopping it. Eric was rougher in this round and punished Hermann plenty with a tight armlock, finally shoving him out of the ring, and Referee Bert Maxwell reached an eight-count before Hans got back. The latter had tried his rough tactics early as he bored in with cropped blond hair and green trunks but he couldn't match the power of the northerner with the big chest and blue jeans. Yukon weighed 271, one pound more than Hermann.

Hans took the opening fall in 16 minutes with his unconscious "Prussian Squeeze" grip, after Eric had broken it once with sheer strength. He softened Eric up with a series of head bangs into the ring buckles and some blows to the jaw, the referee being slow in breaking him in illegal holds. Earlier, Hans tried to match strength with Eric but soon gave it up as a hopeless task, and resorted to rough stuff. He gouged Eric's eyes and the latter came right back to apply the same illegal treatment to end that business in a hurry as the fans cheered. Eric also rammed Hans into the corner with his huge chest, but the latter finally got him with full-nelsons and banged his head repeatedly into the buckles to set him up for the fall.

Giants Mix It

Two ring Goliaths, Wee Willie Davis, going 274, and the 301-pound Iron Talun, clashed in the semi-final and it wound up in a draw in 14 minutes when both were counted out of the ring. The pair of Hollywood villains—both being "bit" players in the movies—were big and clumsy at the start, but dished up some fair mat work for a space. Willie started to rough it up later with fists, rasps and chokes along the ropes, as well as using the hemp for leverage. Talun climbed his frame then and rode him piggy-back around the ring till the desperate Willie lunged for the ropes. Like Sinbad the sailor he was tired toting such a load around and he went overboard. They both tumbled out of the ring. Willie got back first but not in time to beat the count, and it was a draw.

Dave Simms, 230, and newcomer Frank Fozo, 241, went to a prelim draw in 30 minutes. Fozo was unpopular as he played it in mean fashion throughout. Simms showed a variety of holds and he broke a leg grip repeatedly. Fozo rode the fans plenty, too. The pair mixed it hot and heavy halfway through, with fists used, and then Simms tossed his opponent out of the ring. They exchanged drop kicks in open style to draw applause and Fozo went out of the ring again. Simms looked away ahead toward the finish but Fozo lasted it out, and the ref ruled it a time-limit draw.

Boston Honors Williams In Last Game

BOSTON, April 30 (AP).—For the second time in 10 years Ted Williams, latest of the major league's 400-hitters, today doffs his Boston Red Sox uniform for that of a United States Marines flyer.

But before so doing, Williams will be honored by 35,000 admirers who will jam Fenway Park for his farewell appearance against Detroit Tigers. They will shower him with modest gifts.

Among them are a large stack of "memory books" that include the signatures of about 500,000 well-wishers, a collection made by The Boston Herald-Traveler.

Other gifts are a wrist watch, flowers for his wife, toys for his small daughter, a film projector from his Red Sox teammates and a silver bowl from Mayor John B. Hynes of Boston, who suggested the demonstration.

17-Months Tour

Now 33, Williams reports for a 17-months tour of duty as a captain at Willow Grove, Pa., on Friday. He will be out of baseball until the 1954 season but has hopes of resuming the career that has earned him about $500,000 in Red Sox wages.

"I don't know whether or not I will be able to return to baseball but I hope so," Williams said. "I had only one ambition when I joined the Red Sox back in 1939. It was when I'm through I want them to say, 'Gee, that guy was one hell of a hitter."

Baseball statistics insure Williams his fondest wish. They show his lifetime average, through the 1951 season, as .346. So far this year, due to a leg injury, he has started only one game, the opener against Washington. But he is fit enough to return to left field today to sing another baseball swan song.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Jean Beliveau's resistance to tempting National Hockey League contracts may be lowering now that he has no more fields to conquer in amateur hockey. But the big, high-scoring centre who led Quebec Aces to the Alexander trophy and the Canadian major hockey championship is not saying anything definite.

At the start of the last hockey campaign, Beliveau—who will be 21 Aug. 31—turned down a Montreal Canadiens' bid for "personal reasons" and signed with Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Beliveau said in an interview that the same reasons "might not apply" when a new offer is almost certain to be made by Montreal, with whom he has signed a B-Form, giving the N.H.L. club first call on his professional services. He won the Q.S.H.L. scoring championship with 45 goals and 38 asists for 83 points, was selected the league's all-star centre, best rookie and best professional prospect.

Ron Northey, a major league outfielder since 1942, was sold on Tuesday by Chicago Cubs to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

Joey Stelmach, shortstop from Chicago, and Bill Skodis, first baseman from Brooklyn, arrived Tuesday for their first workout with the Elgins, St. Thomas' senior entry in the Intercounty Baseball Association. Both played with the Central Ontario champion Brockville Memos last year.

The Calumet Farm's Hill Gail cracked the Churchill Downs track record to capture the 15th running of the Derby trial with a brilliant exhibition that probably will make him the betting choice for the $100,000 Kentucky Derby Saturday. Hill Gail finished six lengths ahead of Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Arroz and 10 lengths in front of Shag Tails, in third place. The latter, owned by Milton Shagrin, was a 70-1 shot.

The Brooklyn Dodgers-St. Louis Cardinals game Tuesday night was delayed an hour when A.F.L. bartenders threw a picket line around Sportsman's Park in St. Louis and electricians refused to enter the park. Some 20,000 impatient fans waited in the dark until a conference cleared up the matter and the lights went on. The bartenders, seeking to bring park concessions under union jurisdiction, finally agreed to remove the picket line.

Allan McFater, 21-year-old lightweight Toronto pro boxer, pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision Tuesday night over Young Junior of Albany, N. Y., in the main event of the first pro fight card held at London, Ont., in nearly two years.

Reports that Branch Rickey has asked the three Pittsburgh Pirate owners for $300,000 to bolster the club's finances brought a strong denial from Rickey Tuesday. Published reports had the Pirates' general manager planning to ask John Galbreath, Tom Johnson and Bing Crosby for $100,000 each in anticipation of another losing financial year.

Curt Simmons Hits Stride Clubs Chicago In 8-2 Win

By Will Grimsley, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cold and rain continued to paralyze baseball in the east and a strike threatened to black out a park in the west but followers of Philadelphia Phillies could find no gloom anywhere today—Curt Simmons is back and he's in the groove. The hard-throwing, 22-year-old lefthander, three weeks out of the army, made his first Major League start in 19 months Tuesday and proceeded to tame Chicago Cubs with a smooth seven-hit performance, 8-2.

He didn't look any different from the trim, young southpaw whose blazing fast ball won 17 games for the Phillies and helped lead them to the National League pennant before Uncle Sam snatched him up in September, 1950.

Simmons' effectiveness was emphasized by the job he did on Frankie Baumholtz, the Cubs' rightfielder who had hit in 11 straight games and had carried a .422 percentage, the National League's highest, into the game.

Baumholtz didn't get a smell of the ball in four times at bat. "He had plenty of swift, for my money," said the hard-hitting Chicago flychaser.

Dodgers Triumph

In the season's first head-on collision of east and west, the favored Brooklyn Dodgers strengthened their grip on the National League lead by turning back St. Louis Cardinals on the masterful clutch pitching of Preacher Roe, 4-1.

The game was delayed 65 minutes by a strike of A.F.L. bartenders who threw a picket line around St. Louis' Sportsman's Park. Union electricians refused to cross the line to go in and turn on the lights.

The Dodgers thus increased their lead to a game and a half over both Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds, who fell victim to the New York Giants at Cincinnati, 2-1.

Sal Maglie, a 23-game winner for the senior league champions in 1951, limited the Reds to three hits edging Cincinnati's gangling Ewell Blackwell and he also accounted for the winning run when he singled Alvin Dark home in the ninth. Blackwell pitched a four-hitter.

Nail Pittsburgh

In the other National League game Warren Spahn, the Boston Braves' crack lefty, nailed Pittsburgh tighter to the cellar by humbling the Pirates, 5-1, on five hits. It was the tenth loss in a row for the hapless Bucs.

Only one game was played in the American League as unseasonable cold and wet grounds, which have already cost eastern clubs more than a quarter of a million dollars, forced three more postponements.

Postponed were the St. Louis Browns' debut against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium, Chicago's game at Washington and Detroit's opening appearance at Boston. They'll try again today.

The single American League conflict was at Philadelphia and the Athletics and Cleveland Indians must have felt obligated to put in a few licks for their idle contemporaries.

Indians Win

The Indians won 21-9, in a wild slugfest that saw the two teams pound out a total of 43 hits, 25 of them by the Indians. The American League record for two teams is 45 set by Philadelphia and Boston in 1902.

Rookie Cleveland outfielder Jim Fridley came close to making baseball history when he pounded out six hits in six times at bat, all singles. While many players have collected six straight hits in a game, only one man—Wilbert Robinson, the old Brooklyn boss—has made seven in a row. He did it with Baltimore June 10, 1892.

Al Rosen, Indian third baseman, also had a banner evening at the plate, hitting three home runs and a single and knocking in seven runs. The veteran Bob Feller, who lost a double one-hitter on his last outing to St. Louis' Bob Cain, won this one although he gave up 18 safeties.

Syracuse Blanks Springfield 1-0, In Third Place

By The Associated Press

Lee (Bobo) Holloman seems to be getting further and further ahead of the hitters as the International League season progresses.

The ace hurler of Syracuse Chiefs tossed a one-hitter Tuesday to give his team a 1-0 triumph over Springfield Cubs and in the process advanced it all the way up to third place in the race.

Chris Hitsos was the "spoiler," banging out a fifth-inning single off Holloman. Bobo was given errorless support by his mates but he was in hot water several times because of his own wildness. He gave five walks.

The league-leading Montreal Royals and the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs each scored victories. The Royals remain a half game in front.

Not Fooling

Montreal slapped the offerings of three Buffalo pitchers for 14 hits and a 9-5 victory over the Bisons. Carmen Mauro led the victors' attack with two doubles and his fourth home run of the campaign.

Bob Alexander went all the way for Montreal, and it was fortunate that the Royals were in a hitting mood. He yielded nine hits and handed out five free tickets.

The Maple Leafs had no trouble whipping the last-place Ottawa Athletics, 4-1, behind Red Fahr. Andy Anderson knocked in two of the winners' runs, while Stan Jok broke up Fahr's bid for a shutout when he doubled home John Metkovich in the eighth.

Hope And Crosby Hitting Road Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 30—(AP)—Bob Hope and Bing Crosby have hit the "road" again, and it's an operation as complex as building the Alaska Highway.

This time the boys are headed on the "Road to Bali", and the road-builder is a patient producer named Harry Tugend.

"It's pretty hard getting Bing and Bob together for a picture at the same time," he remarked. "It's not only a matter of adjusting their schedules. There has been opposition to putting them into another picture together. There is a theory, 'Why waste them together in one picture, when they can be making two pictures separately?'

Great Market

"But I think that theory is short-sighted. There is a tremendous market for 'road' pictures. It is the one kind of film that our foreign staff has no trouble selling."

This marks the sixth time Bing and Bob have gone along the familiar road to meet up with Dorothy Lamour and other adventures. Previous destinations have been Singapore (1940), Zanzibar (1941), Morocco (1942), Utopia (1945) and Rio (1947). The latter two racked up tremendous grosses of $4,500,000 apiece in the U.S. alone.

In this film, Hope and Crosby are always 'on the road' to Bali, but Bali itself won't be shown. "The reason is that our political relations with Indonesia are too touchy. We don't want the picture to do anything that would make them worse," Tugend said.

HOWDY PAL — That could well be what these two said to each other when they met at the annual Ladies' Kennel Club Dog Show in Montreal. The little guy, who's named Clarewoods Ramoa, probably had no intentions either of tackling Charlemagne de Quebec, the St. Bernard. The former, smallest in the show, a Chihuahua, is owned by Mrs. L. E. Hooden, of Gormley, Ont; Charlemagne, the largest, by C. C. Ronalds of the Town of Mount Royal, Que.

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—A new R.C.A.F. station will be opened at Moose Jaw, Sask., early next June, Air Force headquarters announced Tuesday. It will be under the command of Group Capt. B. D. Richer, 41, of Montreal.

Moose Jaw will be the seventh Air Force school opened since the R.C.A.F.'s accelerated flying training program began in 1950. The new station will absorb No. 2 Flying Training School which will be moved to Moose Jaw from Gimli, Man. An advanced flying school will take over the existing facilities at Gimli.

Drop Charges Porter Directs

WINDSOR, April 30 (CP). — Attorney-General Porter has directed the dropping of charges laid against four union committeemen in connection with the forced shutdown last December 3 of the Ford of Canada powerhouse, it was announced Tuesday.

Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald said charges against Connie Steers, Clayton Wood and Norman Brookes, committeemen of Local 200, the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), of conspiring to obstruct the transmission of electric power will not be pressed as the result of Mr. Porter's action.

A county court jury early this month acquitted the three on charges of obstructing power transmission.

Also dropped would be a further charge against Steers of besetting the Ford powerhouse and charges against Anthony Drouillard, another Local 200 committeeman, of besetting the powerhouse and of obstructing a plant protection officer.

George Burt, U.A.W. Canadian director, hailed the decision as "a matter of considerable gratification to Ford workers, their families, and their Local and International Union."

Seven Transfers Of CP Members

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP) — Seven transfers of membership in The Canadian Press, national news - gathering co-operative, were reported to C.P.'s board of directors which concluded a two-day meeting Thursday.

One new application was approved, bringing total membership to 91, and to 99 the number of Canadian newspapers served with C.P. news.

The new membership, effective September 1, goes to the Corner Brook, Nfld., Western Star, Member for The Western Star will be Kenneth S. Pritchard.

Directors Tuesday paid tribute to the late James W. Curran, publisher of the Sault Ste. Marie Star, a charter member of C.P., who died February 20, and to D. E. Burritt, C.P. general news editor, who died December 5 after 28 years in C.P. service.

CONSERVATORY HEAD RETIRES — A proposed reorganization of Toronto's Royal Conservatory of Music has caused the retirement of Sir Ernest MacMillan, 58, as dean of the Faculty of Music at the University of Toronto. In addition, Ettore Mazzoleni, principal of the Conservatory, has resigned. Several other staff changes in the wake of the proposed shakeup are reported in prospect. The plan would abolish the university faculty and create a Faculty of Music at the Conservatory, which has operated under direction of the University since 1921.

Canucks Coming Back Home Given Advice On Conduct

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA—(CP)—(By Mail)—Blunt-spoken Brig. John M. Rockingham these days is saying goodbye to his troops.

Every day at least one unit of his 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group, which he looks as a collection of recruits and fashioned into one of the smoothest fighting machines in Korea, is being visited.

Before going to Tokyo to meet his successor, Brig. M. P. Bogert, he called on units which would be having soldiers leave before his return.

His words, as usual, were straight from the shoulder.

"When you go home," he says, "if you are staying in the Army let me give you the advice of a veteran who has returned from wars before.

"Don't shoot a line of bull—particularly to soldiers who've not been here.

"You never know. Some day they may serve in a theatre which you won't see, and you'll be the irritated one."

To those taking their discharge: "Remember you've earned yourselves a very high reputation. Generally speaking it is one of not only good fighting but good behavior.

"When we're back home, let's keep it up.

"Some people think that just because they've been in a campaign they can kick the cat around when they get back. Let's continue to be at home the same people we've tried to be over here."

Says Future Uncertain

And the professional soldier in him distrusts the ability of diplomats and politicians to resolve the world's problems.

"When I fight again," he concludes, "and I think I will—I don't think there's anything else for it the way things are in the world right now—I hope we'll serve together again."

The Brigadier also has been on the receiving end of the talking.

Lt.-Col. Norman Wilson-Smith, officer commanding the 1st battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, presided over a luncheon for Rockingham attended by officers representing every unit in the brigade.

After hearing himself eulogized the commander was presented with two gifts, one for his home and the other for his headquarters, wherever in future they may be.

Both have as their theme the song "Rocky's Army," which now is famous in the theatre.

A silver tray, accompanied by coasters engraved with the badge of each unit, has engraved on it the music and words of one line: "Why don't you join old Rocky's Army?"

The other, for the headquarters wall, is a velvet plaque inset, in which in silver, are a map of Korea showing the brigade's course since landing in May of last year, plaques recording its activities, and one with the existing song.

BLASTING THE "MO" — With this blast, which resembles a forest of fir trees, the reluctant Missouri River is forced back into its channel at Omaha. A mass of water and mud shot over 100 feet into the air in the explosion which made a 500-foot ditch, four feet deep and four feet wide.

Great Hunt For Uranium To Bolster U.S. Supply

By GORDON G. GAUSS

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., April 30 (AP)—An atomic-inspired boom is sweeping the vast canyon-cut desert of the "Four Corner" states—Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico and Utah.

The setting is one of snow-capped mountains, searing sun and blowing sand. There are prehistoric Indian ruins and Dinosaur bones. Helicopters, Geiger counters and Gamma ray machines play a part.

At stake is the ability of the United States to produce the stuff which goes into atom bombs and which someday may power an age of easier living.

In importance, the boom promises to dwarf the gold rushes of the last century, but the number of persons involved is small compared to the bonanza stampedes of other days. There probably aren't many more than 1,000 men actually digging.

The goal is discovery and production of more uranium, the radio-active element which makes atomic fission possible.

The boom is government-born. It has been building up since 1948 when the Atomic Energy Commission decided to stimulate domestic uranium production to relieve dependence on imports—mainly from Canada and the Belgian Congo. The government promised to buy all the ore; it set up incentive payments and put A.E.C. and U.S. geological survey scientists to work hunting ore deposits.

The incentives sent a strange group into the rimrocks of desolate mesas. There are cowboys, cattlemen, indians, sheepherders, engineers and adventurers.

Living Hardships

The hunt centred from the start in the wild, almost-unknown Colorado plateau region, which lies only partly in Colorado and is a plateau only in the broadest definition of the term. There have been reports of "finds" in other areas but the most intense hunt is along the south 200 miles of the Utah-Colorado boarder and in the Indian country of Northeast Arizona and northwest New Mexico. It is in this region where actual production centres.

Grand Junction, a city of some 15,000 located 250 miles west of Denver, is the capital of the uranium country. The A.E.C. has regional offices here. So do most of the larger mining companies and Allied industries such as equipments firms and truckers.

The new boom deals solely with the basic ingredient of the atom bomb. The uranium-bearing ore is refined at eight scattered mills to uranium oxide. Then it is shipped to the A.E.C. at Grand Junction. Where it goes then is a defence secret.

Men, and a few women, endure incredible hardships and loneliness to dig the ore. Some live in crude one-room shacks. A few are in tents. Some haul their drinking water 80 miles.

STOCKHOLM—(CP) —Sudden emergency halt of an express train on the main Gothenburg line startled passengers and crew alike. Officials traced the cause to an elephant in a baggage room. The bored pachyderm had pulled the emergency brake cord with his trunk.

Won't Be Freed

An official of the Attorney-General's Department said Tuesday: "There is no doubt he will be kept in custody."

Sold Chickens At Fair Price Not Defrauded

A case which may have set a time record for being dealt with was finally disposed of Tuesday when Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a charge of false pretences against Toronto poultry dealer Emil Koninek.

Evidence on the charge has been heard on several occasions, between intervals of frequent adjournments since October when Koninek was first arraigned on the charge and elected summary trial.

Said Diseased

Koninek was charged with obtaining 107 chickens, the property of Mrs. Marion Clark, Belmont township widow, by false pretences. The charge alleged that Koninek obtained the chickens from Mrs. Clark's daughter, Mrs. Violet Shepherd by telling her they were suffering from Newcastle's disease, which is comparable to foot and mouth disease in cattle, because the chickens would soon die.

John C. Currelly defended Koninek and last fall, Mr. Currelly asked for adjournments of the case, because he argued that a conviction against Koninek before he could clear himself with the immigration department would be the same as passing a death sentence on him. Koninek escaped from behind the Iron Curtain through an anti-Communist underground in Czechoslovakia and might have been deported had he been convicted.

Prefacing his decision with the comment that he reserved the right to amplify his judgment in case of an appeal, Magistrate Philp said he was finding that Koninek had made an assertion that the chickens were suffering from Newcastle disease.

Denies Statement

Koninek admitted he had felt some blisters on some of the chickens breasts but claimed he had merely asked if it was Newcastle disease and denied he mentioned it first. Mrs. Shepherd insisted Koninek mentioned the disease first and had said he would be helping her out by buying them because they would die anyway in two or three days.

Magistrate Philp said "there is no question about the false statement having been made nor that the girl acted on the false statement in selling the chickens, because she believed they were suffering from Newcastle disease.

"Nevertheless," the Magistrate continued, "It must also be shown that the person was defrauded and in this regard, my conclusions are: that there was no intent to defraud (two defence witnesses who were buying poultry from dealers at the time stated the price of 80 cents per chicken Koninek paid was in line with current market prices) nor, was the owner in fact defrauded. Consequently, the accused is discharged," said Magistrate Philp.

Won't Change Signs

TORONTO, April 30—(CP)—Those black-and-white signs denoting the "King's Highway" in Ontario probably won't be changed to read the 'Queen's Highway,' the Highways Department said Tuesday. The shortage of steel and the cost of the changeover—an estimated $1,000,000—rule out such a move.

Says High Water Damage Serious

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—J. W. Murphy (P.C., Lambton West) said Tuesday night the damage done by high water levels in the Great Lakes is becoming so serious that it warrants "top-level consideration by the federal governments of this country and the United States."

He said millions of dollars worth of damage already had been done on Ontario lakeshores.

He would recommend, he said, the blasting of a channel at Galops, with a control system at Iroquois, Ont., to lower the level of Lake Ontario some three or four feet. This could be done as part of the St. Lawrence waterway system.

He also proposed that the locks from Lake Superior could be used to control the flow into Lake Huron, permitting increased flow at periods to low-water level.

The Welland Canal should be deepened to increase diversion of water from Lake Erie into Lake Ontario or another canal with locks constructed to take off this surplus water and supply hydro power.

Mr. McLagan reported settlement of claims in the Noronic disaster. "The settlement was $2,150,000 of which $2,100,000 was covered by insurance."

Fish In Pumper Foil Firemen

ALMA, Ont., April 30 (CP) — Volunteer firemen from nearby Elora Tuesday night were faced with the double problem of not enough water and too many fish as they battled a blaze that destroyed the Canadian National Railways station here.

The water shortage was made worse when fish from a nearby creek got into the pumping apparatus. The blaze got out of control.

The family of Mel Kerr, living in the upper storey of the wooden building were left homeless.

Alma is 20 miles north of Kitchener.

APRIL DAFFODILS — The daffodils, which follow the crocuses in the Federal District Commission's spring floral display are set off by the first of the tulips, brilliant Red Emperors, in the foreground. In the background is the National War Memorial.

Wildlife Important In Conservation Scheme

Wildlife is an important natural resource, and well worth saving, though the farmer whose crops are damaged by deer or meadow mice probably wouldn't think so. There must be some control of pests, of course, but the real objects in saving wildlife are to give everyone who wants it the opportunity to fish and hunt, to let everyone see and enjoy the varied forms of wildlife, and finally to make sure idle land is adapted to support wildlife.

What does wildlife mean to you? Fish, birds, animals? It means all these to the conservationist, who usually believes in letting natural balance control pests. Hawks, for example, destroy hundreds of mice.

Try for Balance

Closed seasons, reserved gamelands, releasing wildlife raised specially for restocking, and bringing in new species have all been tried in an effort to maintain wildlife. None have been fully successful.

The best way to save wildlife is to make sure the right kind of food and shelter is available. Rattlesnakes, cougars, beavers, martens, passenger pigeons, wild turkeys and quail have all disappeared from many areas. Why? Simple because there's no shelter for them. A cougar cannot hide from men in an open feild, and a beaver is useless in a stream that floods every spring.

Little Changes.

Little changes on a farm or a city lot can do a great deal to help save wildlife. A feeding station will attract many species of birds. Hedges on a farm give travel lanes and cover for birds and small animals, permitting them to move safely from one field to another in search of food.

If cattle are kept out of woodlots, small saplings have an opportunity to grow, and small animals can shelter under their green leaves. Even the corner of a fenced field, where crops are not grown, can have a bush or two which will attract wildlife.

Winters Hard

Pheasants will not survie an Ontario winter without feeding, and a few short rows of standing corn will help this and many other species through a hard winter.

All these are things which anyone with a piece of land can do to help save wildlife. Another, and at times more difficult help is to build a dam across a low spot, providing a pond where marsh birds and water animals may shelter and thrive.

Preservation of wildlife, long neglected, is becoming an important factor in preserving the natural balance in nature and helping men to make the most of the land.

Harold R. Scott To Open 3-Day Sportsmen's Show

The fourth annual Sportsmen's Show, sponsored by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, will be opened on Thursday evening at 8 p.m. by Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests.

A parade will start from Inverlea Park at 7 p.m. Thursday evening, and will consist of a mammoth trailer, the Sea Cadet bugle band and a large number of decorated bicycles for which prizes will be awarded later that evening for the best boy's or girl's.

Fifteen pseudo-Westerners on ranch horses will liven the parade with colorful costumes and more than half a dozen decorated truck floats will complete the spectacle The route will be down George St., west along Charlotte and south along Park St., to the auditorium.

More than half as much space again than any show heretofore has been sold this year, officials say. It will overflow into six large tents and the ground at both front and rear of the auditorium will be used as demonstration space for many sports such as horseshoe pitching, archery and so forth.

50 Exhibitors

The 50 exhibitors will display a wide variety of merchandise, especially for sport in the outdoors. There will be boats and motors galore, all sorts of sporting equipment and sports wear. There will also be new cars and electrical and building equipment.

Besides exhibitors there will be three displays from the Department of Lands and Forests—forest fire prevention, reforestation, and live sporting fish in tanKs. Bait casting, archery and horseshoe pitching with national experts of each in attendance will attract many show patrons as will an unusual and complete rock-sample collection, the flying of model aircraft and a mammoth dog show each night and on Saturday matinee.

For stage entertainment there will be singers, magicians, old-time fiddlers, step-dancers and square dancing sets.

Street sales for boat and motor, bicycle and spinning reel have been going well for the past several weeks, according to show officials, and the winning ticket will be drawn for one each night of the show. Last Friday and this Monday evening and again on Wednesday, a cruising aircratt will drop hundreds of numbered tickets which will be redeemable at the show, if the lucky number is presented.

Money made from the show will be spent on conservation and the two main projects that the city club has in view this year will be the planting of trees and assistance in the development of the Cedar Lake Park project.

Officers responsible for this year's show are joint chairmen Jack O'Neil and Norman Bradley; maintenance chairman Harry Callberry; business end handled jointly by Stan Purser, Frank Adams and Glen Daniels. Jim Weir will be master of ceremonies and entertainment; Bert Carter on Publicity; George Waldon, Cam Rowatt on educational features, and George Hutchison on sports.

COLLIDES AND SINKS—The destroyer minesweeper U.S.S. Hobson (above) collided with the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Wasp while on Atlantic manoeuvres and sank soon after. No casualty figures were released immediately, but loss of life on the Hobson was indicated. The Wasp bow was damaged, but no injuries reported aboard that vessel.

Liner Makes First Trip

QUEBEC, April 30 (CP). — The 22,000-ton liner S.S. Atlantic docked here Tuesday on her first trip to Quebec. She carried 1,066 passengers, most of them British and European immigrants.

Fernand Dostie, deputy - minister of youth and social welfare, was a passenger. He returned from a visit to Great Britain where he studied home and civilian defence.

The Atlantic left Havre, April 21, and was 24 hours late arriving owing to heavy seas. She leaves Quebec tomorrow and will return May 17.

The Greek liner Columbia also tied up today, completing her first trip this season to Quebec. She remained only long enough for some passengers to land and then continued en route to Montreal.

Two Editors Held In Contempt Of Court

ROME, Ga., April 30 (AP) — Editor Ralph McGill and managing editor W. H. Fields of The Atlanta Constitution were held in contempt of court Tuesday. Each was sentenced to 20 days in jail and fined $200.

Superior Court Judge H. E. Nichols, who ruled the editors in contempt, released them without bond after an apeal was filed.

The contempt citation grew out of a story on traffic law violations printed in The Constitution April 21. The story said "motorists who know the ropes have an easy time beating traffic charges in some Georgia counties."

Toronto Man Pleads Guilty To Theft

John Wainwright, 35, 64 Charles St., Toronto, was remanded one week for sentence, after pleading guilty to two theft charges in police court Tuesday.

Charles Gould and William Hogan testified that they each gave Wainwright a watch to fix and had never seen the watches since. Both watches were valued at more than $25. Wainwright elected summary trial before Magistrate W. R. Philp then pleaded guilty to both offences.

He was arrested in Toronto and held for Peterborough police on a warrant.

Panel Discusses Choice Of Plays

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 30—(CP)—A panel discussion Tuesday on choice of plays by Drama groups opened the theatre conference being held in conjunction with the Dominion Drama Festival.

Robertson Davies, playwright and editor of The Peterborough Examiner, said Canadian groups insisted on producing dull plays over and over again. Good actors often were found playing unimportant roles.

Robert Gill, director of Hart House Theatre, Toronto, said "we are all in show business and we should suit the play to the audience."

Because not enough good plays were being written, it was often necessary to produce plays which had been successes, and it was important that plays be suited to the available casts.

Lister Sinclair, Toronto, playwright and critic, felt that plays should be selected to give the audience a spiritual uplift. In his own case, he did not go to the theatre for amusement of entertainment because there were many things he found more amusing.

Robertson Hoping To Speed Legislation

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, said Tuesday night in the Senate that he will redouble efforts to induce cabinet ministers to introduce legislation in the Upper Chamber and speed work of parliament.

Traditionally government legislation is introduced in the Commons and is often delayed there by long debates, leaving the Senate with little or nothing to do.

900 Ford Workers To Take Strike Vote

WINDSOR, April 30 (CP). — Some 900 Ford of Canada office workers will take a strike vote May 6, Joseph B. Kenney, president of local 200, United Auto Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), announced Tuesday.

He said the union received "no firm offer" in a contract dispute dating from Aug. 1, 1951. The office workers were asking a $43:30 salary increase retroactive to Aug. 1—on a monthly basic of $191.56.

Given Remand

WINDSOR, April 30—(CP)—Gordon Addyman, 36, charged with murder in connection with the April 15 shooting of his wife, was remanded Tuesday to May 6. Mildred Addyman, 33, was killed when a bullet from a gun her husband was holding pierced her heart.

He asked the Japanese to re-arm speedily so that U.S. troops could be withdrawn from the country.

Law Wrangle Slows Court Case

Judge Tells Counsel He Is Boss In Court Proceedings

So much legal wrangling broke out in County Court today that Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay had to remind rival counsel that he was "boss" in the courtroom and would run proceedings the way he wanted.

Even the witnesses got into the act. Walter Cyril Deacon indicated he had a wide range of professional aptitudes. He testified as an engineer, said that he was now studying law at Osgoode Hall, and for good measure revealed that his sister is a qualified psychiatrist.

On the strength of these qualifications he described soil test operations on the Tommy Hughes property in March, 1951, criticized a question by Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., as "foolish," and described Tommy Hughes, the colorful Welsh wrecker, as a "maniac."

These legal shenanigans took place early today in the first phase of a civil action brought against Tommy Hughes by the Franki Compresed Pile Co., whose Ontario office is in Toronto.

In Fit of Rage

The Franki Co. claim that Hughes in a fit of rage backed a towtruck into their soil test machinery on the afternoon of March 9, 1951. They were checking on the soil structure as a preliminary to the architect laying the foundation for Kenner Collegiate.

The two lots on Monaghan Road South, south of Gillespie Street, were expropriated by the city so the Board of Education could put up the new Collegiate. The land was owned by Mr. Hughes, who took the matter to arbitration.

Under the direction of the late Judge S. L. Smoke the city has already paid $28,600 into court as an indication of both their ability and willingness to pay the correct amount, once the arbitration case is decided.

Two witnesses for the company —Mr. Deacon and another employee, John Sherbourne—said Mr. Hughes came up to them twice that afternoon. The first time he was in a car and told them to "get off my property". The second time, they said, there was no conversation. Mr. Hughes wheeled up in a big tow truck, swung around in front of their drilling machine, opened the cab door to look out, and then reversed his truck into the machine, heavily damaging it.

Operations Suspended

Drilling operations were thus suspended for a couple of week and the company is asking the county court for $525 damages.

It was a turbulent morning sitting.

First of all Mr. Fair, counsel for Mr. Hughes, the defendant, asked that all witnesses be excluded from the courtroom. (The courtroom today was a makeshift one. County Council chambers were used as the main courtroom is being prepared for redecoration.)

As the witnesses filed out Mr. Fair noticed that they were going into the temporary barristers' room and he raised a protest. After several comments about this he was silenced by Sheriff John Harstone. Sheriff Harstone raised a cautionary finger and said "I'll attend to that, Mr. Fair." And he did.

Lawyers Fall Out

Then Mr. Fair and Alex Elliott, Q.C., counsel for the Franki Co., fell out over how much of an examination for discovery could be read into the court record.

There was a crossfire of "Now if my learned friend wouldn't interrupt", "Now just a minute, I'm addressing the court", "My learned friend is only getting the records even more mixed up", and so on.

Finally Judge McGibbon, presid-

Education

Probably inspired by the recent arrest of a junior Ku Klux Klan in Orillia, two youngsters approached a local radio announcer Tuesday and asked him: "Why don't they get some educational programs on the radio? Like telling us how to form a Ku Klux Klan crime club, huh?"

3,000 Letters Sent Out For Kenner Fund

The Kenner Memorial Fund campaign was given is send-off Tuesday evening when the first batch of 3,000 letters was sent out through the mails to former students of Dr. Kenner in Peterborough and all parts of Canada. The letters invite all students of the Peterborough Collegiate during Dr. H. R. H. Kenner's fifty years on its staff to contribute to the memorial projects for the new Kenner Collegiate Monaghan road south.

When the new school was planned and given its name to honor the late Principal Kenner, many local citizens thought that the school should have some fitting memorial to Dr. Kenner which would also be an inspiration and aid to pupils in the new school.

At a general meeting more than a month ago, it was decided to raise funds by voluntary subscription, for a portrait of Dr. Kenner to hang in the entrance hall of the new school, and to establish scholarships in Dr. Kenner's name for students of the new school.

Committee and Patrons.

The committee formed consists of W. Howard Macdonald, chairman; Arthur Pitchford, a member of the Board of Education who is acting as secretary-treasurer to the fund; Mrs. G. W. (Gwen) Craw; Miss Genevieve Fowler; Max. J. Swanston, former mayor; Leo W. Copp, principal of the Normal school; T. J. Allen, and Principal C. S. Browne of P. C. V. S., ex-officio member.

Patrons of the Kenner Memorial Fund are Mayor H. F. Waddell, Gordon K. Fraser, M. P.; Hon. H. R. Scott, M. L. A.; Monsignor P. P. Butler, and W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Board of Education.

Mr. Browne says: "We may be able to reach three or four thousand former students by letter, but that is only scratching the surface. And we can't be sure of the addresses of even these." Classroom lists go back to 1908 when Mr. Kenner became principal, but many of the names and addresses of these are long outdated. Mr. Browne estimates that there are more than 10,000 living former pupils of Dr. Kenner.

The committee is interested in getting small as well as substantial donations. "It's very fine to receive cheques for $25 and $50, but the big way that the fund will reach its objective is through the dollar bills and two dollar bills which will come in. We hope that everybody, no matter what his financial circumstances, will take this opportunity to pay tribute to Dr. Kenner and to help worthy students at the new school through the scholarship fund."

The committee estimates that a minimum of $3,500 is needed.

Haemorrhage Caused Death AutopsyFinds

Fell In Garden Retired Teacher Died In Hospital

Results of an autopsy Tuesday afternoon revealed that Miss Martha Chambers of Havelock, died of a severe brain haemorrhage, coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton said today.

The 79-year-old retired school teacher fell and broke her wrist while working in a flower garden Monday morning. She was taken to Civic Hospital Monday evening for treatment of the fractured wrist and died Tuesday evening.

Dr. Carleton said the autopsy showed that a brain haemorrhage took place after Miss Chambers injured her wrist and that she died as a result. No inquest will be held.

Smokers Blamed In 8 Forest Fires

Careless smokers are chiefly to blame for eight forest fires in the Trent district during the past week, according to Department of Lands and Forests officials in Lindsay.

Spring is the most hazardous time of the year in the woods for fires when trash is tinder dry and there is no green underbrush to help check the spread of fire. The Department of Lands and Forests warns that severe penalties will be served out to anyone lighting or letting fires loose in the district.

A special appeal is being made to trout fishermen who will crowd streams from opening date, May 1, for the next few weeks.

Some Spearing

Although splendid co-operation is being received from the public to protect game fish while spawning, conservation officers have caught several law breakers who are prowling the breeding streams with spears. Four Fenelon Falls men were charged with spearing while three other parties in the eastern section were caught and had valuable outboard motor and boat seized.

Three Marmora men were nabbed while robbing muskie spawning nest in Crowe Lake and a resident of Essonville was fined $100 and $18 costs for letting his dogs run deer; his three dogs were shot.

Small tree planting in the Northumberland Forest, about 100,000 trees, has been completed within the last few days and 300,000 are being planted in the Ganaraska and Victoria County forests.

Opening Day Promises Fine Fishing

Fishermen in the city and the counties around are muttering prayers into newly-varnished creels today. Trout season opens at midnight.

With sunny and warm weather forecast for opening day, the odds favor one of the best opening days in several years.

The recent warm weather has hastened the drop in stream levels and as far north as Bancroft the streams are down to normal spring conditions. In the immediate district, the same holds true.

The Ouse—both east and west branches—is still fairly high, but Cavan and Millbrook streams are both low. Extra stop logs in the dams will probably be taken out either tonight or Wednesday sometime to raise levels.

Below Rice Lake, in the many streams there, everything looks favorable for the angler. The Ganaraska River is in good shape after its usual riotous spring floods.

In short, opening day will likely have everything in favor of the fisherman. Early hatches of flies hastened by the unseasonable weather, should give the fly fisherman a chance at his favorite game, but the worm fishermen and spinning enthusiasts will probably get the cream of the fishing.

Brd. Of Education Rejects Suggestions For Settlement

The Board of Education, meeting in committe of the whole turned down two suggestions put forward by I. M. Robb, secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Association, to settle the collegiate teachers' and the board's inability to reach agreement over salaries.

Mr. Robb, who had met earlier in the day with teachers at the collegiate, suggested that the teachers be given a raise of $100 as of September and raise the maximum salary for teachers $200, or if this be refused, that the Board of Education meet with the collegiate staff as a whole to explain their position to them.

He said teachers of the collegiate were dissatisfied, first because they felt that at one time, as teachers in Peterborough, they were receiving salaries that were leading the province, except for those in one or two large cities, and that now their salaries were no better than average; secondly because they felt that the board had not given them adequate consideration in discussion with them in the past.

Charge Ignored.

Mr. Robb added that teachers have reported to him that while the board went through the motions of listening and considering their briefs, they ignored them and made up their minds without really considering the teachers' proposals.

The board members passed a motion made by Stanley Adamson to take no action and gave as their reasons that " no new facts have been presented" and "it is not in the best interests of the board to meet with the staff at this time.

Mrs. Anne Rowell proposed an amendment to the motion suggesting that the board meet with the members of the staff before the end of school closing in June to explain to the staff the board's position and why they cannot give any more increases.

It was decided Mrs. Rowell's amendment was really a separate motion and on a vote of Mr. Adamson's motion, six put up their hands as in favor and four were against it.

Mr. Adamson said he was not ducking a meeting with the staff, but he suggested a cooling off period. He said "I still don't think we know all the facts."

Need Hydrants In Park Says Fire Chief

As a result of Monday afternoon's $86,000 fire at Morrow Park, Fire Chief George Smith is pressing harder than ever for more adequate fire protection in the exhibition grounds.

"Luck was with us Monday afternoon," said the Chief today. "If the wind had been from from the west the old cow barn would have caught as well."

(The old cow barn runs parallel to Lock St. and lies about 40 feet east of the new cow barn razed by the fire. Hundreds of other boats belonging to the Peterborough Canoe Co. were stored in the old barn. They, too, would have been destroyed but for the direction of the wind.)

(The other half of the "L"-shaped old cow barn, this half running parallel to McGill St., was also packed with material—some of it the property of the Peterborough Canoe Co. and the rest of it belonging to Timber Structures.)

Chief Smith said he was appresensive about sparks igniting the cedar shingle roof of the poultry barn, located 150 feet southwest of the burning building. Timber Structures are reported to have several hundred thousand dollars worth of material — most of it for the R.C.A.F.—stored away in the wooden frame poultry barn.

$500,000 Stored

Altogether the value of the property stored by the two companies on the exhibition grounds is estimated at well over $500,000.

"The present fire protection is quite inadequate," said Chief Smith. He said he had to use nearly all his available hose to bring in two lines from McGill and George Sts., and a third line from Lock and Lansdowne Sts. He also sent for two of his four pumpers.

"What is needed — and what I've suggested before — is two hydrants be built in the exhibition grounds; one near the north end of the extension of George St. and the other near the south end."

One Hydrant

At present there is one hydrant in the grounds and it is at the southeast end of the racetarck — too far away for the firemen to have used it satisfactorily.

Chief Smith did not suggest that the cow barn with its highly-inflammable contents could have been saved, even if there had been two hydrants nearby. But he did say they were needed for adequate fire protection.

G. A. Gillespie, secretary of the Exhibition Board, said the Chief and he had talked over the problem of fire protection a number of times. But no action had been taken.

"It's a lesson for us," said Mr. Gillespie.

Lakefield Names Leslie Foster New Police Chief

Wilgress Lived On Radishes During Siberian 'Exile'

LONDON, April 30—(CP)—L. Dana Wilgress, retiring Canadian High Commissioner in London, Monday told jocularly how he was "exiled" to Siberia—and subsisted on radishes.

Wilgress said at a Canada Club dinner it all came about when the Canadian government—not some Soviet judge—sent him to open a trade mission in Omsk, Siberia, in 1916.

The Canadian diplomat said the English - speaking persons in Omsk were away when he arrived so he sat down disconsolately in a restaurant before a menu printed in Russian.

"I pointed to something that looked promising because it was in the middle of the menu and was fairly high in price," the high commissioner said. "Imagine my chagrin when the waiter brought me a dish of radishes!"

"It is time we were getting back and becoming familiar at first hand with the wonderful developments that are taking place at home," said the high commissioner, who has spent more time outside Canada than in it.

Reviewing the three years he has spent in Britain as high commissioner, Wilgree said he can certify that Canada is "very much in the minds" of the British people.

FASCISM MAKES it strongest showing since the days of Benito Mussolini as some 50,000 Romans jam the city's Piazza del Popolo for a weekend election rally of the openly pro-Fascist Italian Social Movement. It was the largest turnout since the war and the huge crowd cheered loud and long when their white-haired leader, Augusto de Marsanish, appeared on the scene. The leader ,who participated in Mussolini's march on Rome, called upon Romans to "repel the vandals on Capitoline Hill," site of Rome's city hall.

Guilty Of Driving While Drunk

Women can do anything men can do these days—even to driving a car while they are intoxicated. Men are the usual offenders in drunk driving charges heard in police court but Tuesday, Miss Echo Rogers of Norwood was convicted by Magistrate W. R. Philp of driving while she was intoxicated and was sentenced to seven days in county jail.

Three provincial police officers, Constables George Rose, Aimy Gaudry and Clive Naismith who arrested Miss Rogers on April 12, testified she staggered while walking and swayed back and forth on her feet.

In finding Miss Rogers guilty, Magistrate Philp said he was basing his finding primarily on the evidence of the three offices, rather than on a blood test taken by Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood, a short time after Miss Rogers was arrested.

Alcohol Report

A sample of Miss Rogers' blood showed an alcoholic content of 1.6 parts per thousand, according to a letter signed by Dr. H. Ward Smith, Director of the Crime Detection Laboratory of the Ontario General's Department.

Trevor Clarke who defended Miss Rogers did not object to the letter being entered as an exhibit and Mr. Clarke and crown attorney John A. Bradshaw agreed that "as a general rule, 1.5 parts of alcohol per 1,000 in the blood may, although not conclusively, indicate intoxication."

Miss Rogers admitted she had three pints of beer in the Hastings Hotel before starting to drive toward Norwood. She said she was travelling about 25 miles and hour and the weaving from one side of the road to the other, as claimed by the three constables was due to the fact she was driving an old car and was trying to avoid the many bumps in the road Miss Rogers said.

All three officers testified the car driven by Miss Rogers went from one side of the road to the other several times while they were following it for about a mile and a half.

In Plain Clothes

Constable Rose said Miss Rogers told him he was not a police officer, but a pig and Miss Rogers admitted she "was very rude," but she added, "I didn't believe they were police officers. The three constables were in plain clothes and were not driving a police cruiser when they stopped the car Miss Rogers was driving and later arrested her.

Lucien Therrien, of Toronto, who owned the car explained that Miss Rogers was very upset and the staggering described by the officers was because she was trying to back away from them and the road was rough. Therrien pleaded guilty to letting Miss Rogers drive his car when she did not have a chauffeur's or operator's licence and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Denied Staggering

Miss Rogers denied staggering and Therrien maintained he would not have let her drive the car if she had been drunk.

Mr. Clarke argued for an acquittal on the grounds that there was no evidence Miss Rogers was so intoxicated she did not have control of the car to such an extent as to be a danger to the public.

He said the manner of driving had been satisfactorily explained and that the evidence was of "the sort where the accused is sometimes convicted of driving while impaired." Mr. Clarke emphasized that while he agreed to the evidence of the blood test being admitted, he was submitting that it was not conclusive proof.

Mr. Bradshaw termed the case, "the most thoroughly threshed out" in his experience, and pointed out the doctor had warned her it would probably be better for her if she did not submit to a test.

Dumping Of Goods Threatening Jobs

MONTREAL, April 30—(CP)—The federal government was told Tuesday night that its failure to halt "dumping of imported goods" on the Canadian market was threatening the needle trade industries and "the jobs of thousands of workers."

Maurice Silcoff, international vice-president of the United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers (T.L.C.-A.F.L.), said in a telegram to Labor Minister Gregg that it was "our understanding that the government shared the view of organized labor that dumping presents a serious problem to Canadian workers, threatening thousands with unemployment."

Dickens' Illustrator Mrs. B. Brewer Dies

NEW YORK, April 30—(CP)—Mrs. Bessie Marsh Brewer, etcher and lithographer who illustrated the works of Charles Dickens, died here Tuesday after a lengthy illness. She was 68.

A Canadian who lived in New York for many years, Mrs. Brewer was noted for illustrations and theatrical posters including some advertising the appearance of Sarah Bernhardt and Anna Held. Exhibitions of her work have been held here. She was proficient in water-colors and oils as well as etching and lithography.

She was the widow of Sam S. Brewer, a reporter for the old New York Sun.

Survivors include a son, Sam Pope Brewer, chief correspondent in South America for The New York Times, a daughter, Mrs. Arthur W. Clift of New York, and three sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Hamilton of Hamilton and the Misses Marion and Jessie Marsh of Toronto.

Legislature Prorogues

Rainbow Trout Give Spawning Exhibition Within Shadow Of City Hall Tower

TORONTO, April 30—(CP)—If the window of a department store, within the shadow of City Hall tower, four rainbow trout have responded to the urge of reproduction.

The window display, advertising fishing equipment, centres around an artificial trout pool. In the pool are 28 speckeled or brook trout and four Kamloops or rainbow trout —one male and three females.

Despite crowds at the window and traffic noises only partly muffled by the plate glass, the rites of spring have happened in the artificial pool.

The drama began when the male rainbow drove the smaller brook trout to a far corner of the triangular pool. Then he rubbed his nose raw pushing bottom gravel to form a spawning depression.

He swam through dance-like manoeuvres calculated to induce a female to spawn. Finally one female spawned in the depression made for her. Then the male fertilized the eggs.

Afterward, he hovered above the spawn as if he were 1,000 miles away instead of a block from City Hall.

Consulate Out of Date

MONTREAL, April 30—(CP)—Probably the only place in town where the Canadian dollar isn't at a premium or at par with the United States dollar is at the U.S. Consulate. FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"It's my husband—he refuses to pay any more federal tarnsportation tax!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

De Luxe Waffles Offered On Special-Purpose Menu

Clam Chowder
Spring Celery and Egg Salad
De Luxe Waffles with
New Crop Maple Syrup Coffee

As you can see with one half-blind eye this is an unorthodox meal, and may not entice the meat-and-potato addicts in this audience. But take it from me, brothers and sisters, this is a rib-sticking, soul-satisfying, eye-catching little repast that was dreamed up so I could work in that new (to me) waffle recipe, and help you put to use that new maple syrup you bought so enthusiastically (and expensively), and are now stuck with.

Analyze this meal and you will see that it is well-balanced. All of the proteins and vegetables required for a well-balanced meal are included, plus a dessert to bring a gleam into the eyes of your teen-agers and sweet-loving menfolk. BUT reducers should avoid the waffles and maple syrup for they are loaded with calories.

Clam Chowder

(Using canned clams).

Saute together in a large, heavy frying-pan 2 medium sized, finely chopped or sliced onions and ¼ lb. diced salt pork or side bacon, until they are limp and very slightly browned. Add 3 cups ¼ inch cubed raw potatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 2 cups boiling water, and simmer covered until potatoes are tender. Add liquor drained from 1 16-oz. can whole clams. Chop the whole clams into quarters, or smaller if you like. Add the clams and 1 quart whole milk and 1 tablespoon butter. Heat through. Serve in large bowls with 2 or 4 oyster crackers floating on top. (If you can avoid it do not serve any breadstuff with this for it will be too filling—by the time you are finished this meal.)

Spring Celery And Egg Salad

Hard cook 1 egg for each person to be served. Separate the whites and yolks. Chop the whites coarsely and mix them with double the quantity of celery cut into tiny sticks. Moisten this mixture with mayonnaise. On individual salad plates put bed of lettuce, place mound of mixture in centre. Garnish each one with 4 2-inch sticks celery filled with yellow or white process cheese. Very carefully push the yolks through the sieve, and lifting them with a fork, to avoid packing them, sprinkle some over salad mixture on each plate. Stuffed olives are a good additional garnish. Pass extra mayonnaise sharpened up with a little lemon juice.

De Luxe Waffles

Two cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon each salt and baking soda, 2 cups sour or buttermilk, 4 well-beaten eggs, ¾ cup melted margarine or salad oil. (We use salad oil.) Sift the dry ingredients together. Add the sour milk to the beaten eggs. Add to dry ingredients and beat with rotary beater or electric beater at "low" speed until smooth. Add melted margarine or oil. Have the waffle iron heated to the exact degree, and then settle down for a good time.

If you do not have a waffle iron but do have the maple syrup maybe you would like to make

Maple Charlotte

Soak 1 tablespoon gelatine in ¼ cup cold water. Heat ¾ cup maple syrup and pour it over the soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Add 2/3 cup milk. Chill, stirring occasionally. When partially set fold into it 1 cup cream which has been whipped until stiff. Turn into individual moulds or one large mould, which have been lined with lady fingers or strips of plain or sponge cake. Chill until set.

Foreign Mission WMS Secretary At St. Paul's Aux.

Spring thankoffering meeting of St. Paul's Evening Auxiliary W.M.S. Monday evening was addressed by Miss Lucetta McClelland of Toronto, W.M.S. secretary for foreign missions. She spoke first, with enthusiasm, of the Presbyterian mission work across Canada and outlined the work of the missionary vans which travel in Western Canada where people are living in isolated regions and do not have a permanent church in their communities.

Miss McClelland followed with an account of mission posts, hospitals, and schools in India, Japan and Formosa and showed slides taken by Miss Laura Pelton of Toronto on a recent round-the-world mission-visiting trip. She spoke also of the disheartening situation in China for missionaries who have been forced to relinquish their stations and work by the Communists. It is believed the Christian Chinese will "hold the fort" until the missionaries are allowed back in the country. Doors are open wide in Formosa, however, and more workers are going there this year than for many past.

The speaker was introduced by Miss Marjory Nesbitt. Assisting her with the slides was Miss Olive Grant of Toronto, personal secretary to Miss Pelton, who gave further comment upon them during the evening.

Mrs. Harry Northrop was guest soloist and sang most pleasingly with accompaniment by Mrs. Vern Read. Opening exercises were in charge of President Miss Verna Johnston and the devotional portion was taken by Miss Margaret Reid, the theme being "Brotherly Love and Duty."

Miss Isabel Sutherland extended a vote of thanks to the guests after which a cup of tea and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

H. A. Tate Marries

The marriage of Mr. Harold Alvin Tate of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tate of Millbrook, to Barbara Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Miller of Belleville, took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville. The Rev. J. G. Hornsby officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white floral motif lace over satin, fashioned on princess lines with jacket of matching lace and short lace mitts. Her Juliet cap headdress of lace over satin was caught to her fingertip veil of nylon net and she carried a circular bouquet of white gardenias, hyacinth bell and stocks outlined with lace.

She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Mrs. Stanley Wiggins of Belleville, as matron of honor and Miss Mary Grace McClocklin of Toronto as bridesmaid. The attendants wore periwinkle blue taffeta dresses and matching caps with complexion veils, and they carried bouquets of purple violets and pansies and mauve sweetpeas outlined in ruffled blue taffeta.

Groomsman was Mr. John Wilkinson of Kingston and the ushers were Alan Dawson of Bailieboro, brother-in-law of the groom, and John Miller, Belleville, brother of the bride.

After a reception at Golden Acres Inn, Kingston Road, the bridal couple travelled to Montreal and Quebec City, the bride leaving in a petal grey tailored suit with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Fashion Flashes

ENTRANCING is a clothes collection made in Italy for a famous house here. And no wonder, when there were such items as a hand-knitted short evening skirt of white wool—in an open, lacy pattern—worn over a petticoat of buttercup yellow silk taffeta. Worn with the skirt is a top that is really a black velvet camisole, or a blouse of the matching yellow.

Girls Cancer Scientists

There are young women in this province playing a very important part in the fight to control and conquer cancer. They work quietly, silently behind closed doors of research laboratories poring over test tube, microscope, doing scientific or perhaps just technical work on all forms of life in which cancer preys.

Youthful scientist Esther Wong is working in the department of Biochemistry, under Dr. Roger J. Rossiter, whose cancer research project is supported by the National Cancer Institute. Dr. Wong graduated at Western last spring a Ph.D. She is one of the younger daughters of a notably clever Chinese family in London and was granted a research fellowship for 1951-52 by the institute. She is making a special study of blood cancer, investigating the enzymes of normal blood cells and the enzymes of white cells in leukemia. Experiments are being made on rabbits. Dr. Rossiter and Dr. Wong have collaborated on a number of scientific papers on the progress of their work. These were published in technical journals.

Tumor Host Research

Alberta White, B.A., B.Sc., of Sussex, N.B., has been assisting R. W. Begg, D.Phil., M.D., research associate of the National Cancer Institute of Canada for nearly four years, the last two at the University of Western Ontario. This has involved research on rats which are host to cancer growths. In Dr. Begg's opinion a cancer cell does more than grow abnormally, it invades into surrounding tissue and destroys it, and if not controlled goes on to kill the host. Miss White is determining the enzymes in the livers of tumor-bearing rats. Working on this same project is technician Luise Schmidt of Darmstadt, Germany. Miss Schmidt trained for chemistry and got her degree from the Technical University in Munich. She has been but six months in Canada and speaks English fluently.

Funds contributed to the Canadian Cancer Societ are used in part to support this work, together with over 80 other research projects in universities and hospitals throughout Canada.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

Mrs. J. R. Henderson, librarian at the South End library, was guest speaker at the meeting of Prince of Wales Home and School Association Tuesday evening. After a showing of the film "Not by books alone" the theme of her talk was a study of the successful mobile lending library held at the school in co-operation with principal Mr. R. J. Bolton.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Henderson and Miss Lillian Wesley, librarian in the children's section of the Public Library, 650 books were specially selected to suit children of all ages from Grade 3 up. The purpose of this selective library was, she said "A means of bringing books within easy reach of the children and to stimulate an appreciation of good books throughout life."

"All activities in the boys and girls department of the main library are planned to awaken an interest in reading and widen the children's horizon" Mrs. Henderson emphasized.

Mabel McLaren delighted with two solos "Cherry ripe" and "The lilac tree." A devotional period was led by Mrs. J. D. Sharpe.

Concise report of the Home and School Convention in Toronto was given by Mrs. C. Murkar who was delegate with Mrs. P. Johnston, Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. C. Stone and Mrs. V. Ridley.

President Mrs. W. E. Baggs drew attention to the arts and crafts exhibit for public schools to be at the Public Library next week with Thursday, May 8th, being Prince of Wales day

Mrs. C. H. Spearin expressed appreciation to the speaker and guest soloist.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Leggitt's grade 3 class.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Smith and committee.

HASTINGS SCHOOL

The Home and School Association met with fathers in charge. It was "Open House" and the rooms were open at 7:30 to allow the parents to inspect the children's books and visit with the teachers.

Clifford Scriver presided.

It was announced that the Hastings Association had been admitted to district 10. Mrs. S. Whitred gave a most enlightening account of her attendance at the convention.

Roll call showed Grade 8 as the winner with 16 points. The radio committee—W. Johnston, Douglas Thurston and Mrs. F. Crate had purchased a radio and Mr. Johnston made the presentation to the principal.

F. S. Crate was in charge of the program which consisted of several highly entertaining numbers by the fathers. A vote of thanks was moved to the fathers by Mrs. D. Whitred. The fathers were also in charge of the social evening which followed.

✧ ✧ ✧

NORWOOD

NORWOOD, April 30 (ENS).—The regular meeting of the Norwood Home and School Association was held Monday evening in the Grade 8 Room of the Public School. The president, Mrs. Gerald La Brash, opened the meeting with a sing-song under the leadership of the Rev. R D. Duncanson, with Mrs. Jack Cronin at the piano.

Kenneth Trumpour's Room won the attendance shield. In the moneymaking project, the school children were asked to bring to school good clothes hangers to be sold to the cleaners. Volunteers were asked to drive the girls' chorus to Peterborough on May 20.

Miss B. Borland and Mrs. Reta Pakenham were appointed as auditors for the year's books. Next meeting will be nomination meeting at which the film "Family Circle" will be shown.

Members of Hastings and Havelock H. and S. executive were welcomed by Mrs. La Brash.

The program convener, Mrs. J. J. Stewart read a poem "Spring." Mrs. William Garden, Jr., and Mrs. Max Scott then sang two duets, "Lonely Little Robin" and "An Apple Blosom Wedding," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. J. H. Caskey.

Mrs. Stewart then introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Vernon Rout of Campbellford, formerly of New Zealand, now teaching in Campbellford. Mr. Rout gave a talk on New Zealand, saying its government was the first to give women the right to vote and to give an old-age pension at the age of 60 He stated they lacked the manufactured products that we have, such as cars and refrigerators, having no iron or steel in their country. He also told of their sanitation on the farms and of their education and social securities. He remarked Canada had the highest standard of living in the world.

Miss B. Borland voiced the Norwood Home and School's thanks to Mr. Rout for his talk.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Stewart Whitred, presidents of Havelock and Hastings H. and S., thanked Norwood for their invitation to attend this meeting.

Lunch was provided by the following hosts and hostesses: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Warner, Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Atkinson, Mrs. Donald Paxton, Mrs. Harold Eason, Miss B. Borland, Mrs. Russel Thompson, Mrs. Gordon Stackhouse, Mrs. Harry Wilford, Mrs. Everett Waters, Mrs. Jack Cronin, Mrs. Gerald Baker, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. James Dallman, Mrs. Archie Aldred, and Mrs. Burtt.

City Assessor Addresses Club

Mr. Ed Davis, assessment commissioner of Peterborough, spoke to the Trinity Mr. and Mrs. Club meeting and enlightened members regarding the duties of an assessor. He stated "Tact and diplomacy are two essential requisites for the job."

Mr. Davis advised that assessment records are on file from about 1870 and he has been able to obtain pensions for various aged people by procuring a certified record of age from these records.

One of the difficulties encountered is in evaluating new buildings, he stated. This must be done on a "1940 basis" and many of the modern materials were unheard of or in experimental stages at that time. Another problem is the relationship existing between rental controls and assessment values.

A lively question period followed this address. Mr. Davis was afterward thanked by Mr. Ernest Horton, who also conducted the devotional period. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kearns read the scripture selection and offered prayer. President Reuben Macdonald introduced the speaker and presided for business. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Horton and their group.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD VYSE are shown after their marriage Friday. Mrs. Vyse is the former Nancy Patricia Shewell.—(Garfield Studio Photo)

Training For Divorce Court In Too Many Boy Friends

DEAR MISS DIX: When our marital advisors continually urge girls to look around, encourage them to meet many young men, and vice versa, I am a little disgusted. For what can be more confusing than to get on the date merry-go-round? Certainly adolescence is a period of change, but is this eternal jumping very good training for a right marriage? Rather, isn't it perfect training for the divorce court—the eternal triangle played up in every play and movie?

The advice to make every date think you are interested in him alone seems to me to place everyone in an insincere light. True, one should be polite and friendly, but no more.

If parents, schools and churches would see to it that more opportunity is given for group entertainment and there was less emphasis on dating, it seems to me our young people would have a better chance to make marriage successful. There should be more stress on character development, and less on being an interesting "date".

A. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Young people begin to show interest in the opposite sex at about the age of 14. It would be most unfortunate if, at that age, they felt impelled to pick out, once and forever, a future mate. "Dating" is an inescapable step in the process of growing up, and whether we oldsters approve of it or not, it's here to stay! For the better interests of all concerned, it's best that dating in the tender years should be as varied as possible. This does not make for a "merry-go-round," as you call it, but for a well-balanced social life, during which a girl can learn to evaluate the good and bad qualities of her friends.

Girl Learns Much

You might raise the objection that marriage is not fundamentally a question of evaluation; it is usually purely and simply the result of "falling in love." True, but if a girl has learned to appreciate and expect courtesy, consideration and reliability in a boy, that's the kind of man she will in all probability fall in love with. That's the kind of man she will marry!

Much more likely to be divorced court material is the girl who, lacking all appreciation of finer masculine qualities or any basis of comparison, marries the first man who proposes simply because he's male! These are the women who become dissatisfied with their hasty choices and are prey for every roving Romeo.

I am certainly not suggesting that a girl's dating should be indiscriminate, but neither should it be numerically restricted. Quality, not quantity, should be the first object always.

There is no insincerity involved in a girl making her "date" feel important. In the vast majority of cases, he is important to her, and for the moment, at least, very much the "only one." Learning to make the other half of a two-way conversation feel important is one of the social graces we all have to learn. Whether it's a first date, a business associate or a fellow club-woman, at the moment of contact he or she is entitled to our entire attention and interest.

Group activity should, as you suggest, be given more promotion by schools and churches. In this instance, I think the church has an even greater part to play and one that is often neglected. However, "dating" will ultimately be an outgrowth of such activity anyway, at least until the realm of human emotion changes considerably.

If you are a parent, A. F., learn to guide your children wisely through the dating years. Dates are, I might add, a delight to the youngsters but an awful headache to parents!

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been separated for nearly a year — six months legally. Our two children are in my custody. How long should I wait before going out again? An old friend has asked me out but I don't know what to do.

DORIS H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is no reason why you shouldn't accept a date now. Be careful, however, that loneliness doesn't lure you into another unwise entanglement. As a divorcee you are bound to be the object of easy gossip, and you must exercise every precaution to safeguard your reputation — for your own sake and that of your children.

What became of the man I married?

Wise provider, faithful husband, good father—yet many a husband deprives his wife of the one thing she wants most: love.

In May Reader's Digest, Marjorie Holmes tells why a woman needs love; why not getting it is often the reason she nags, wastes money, loses her looks; and why many a husband may mistakenly believe his wife is "cold."

Newfie Players Win Praise

By JOHN MOSHER.

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 30 — (CP). — Newfoundland made its debut in the Dominion Drama Festival Tuesday night.

Adjudicator Michel St.-Denis said the performance by the St. John's Players Workshop group was much better than the play, Edward Percy's "Ladies' in Retirement."

He complimented the players on originality in acting. Their actions were "full of grace," and the style reminded him of Irish actors. The exciting acting made him think of plays, such as Celtic primitives, they could do better.

On the adverse side, he found the play too long, dragging at times, with the wrong tempo in final scenes. There was a tendency to monotony as well as vocal weakness.

The voices were not good enough for the kind of acting the group could do, the adjudicator said, but the production had been fascinating to watch.

Carmel Kemp received high praise. "It was real acting."

The director, Sylvia Wigh, who played Leonora Fiske, had a "nice manner," but was a little weak vocally and "acted to herself too much."

Joan Collins, in a leading role of Ellen Creed, had a monotonous tendency and failed to emphasize sufficiently some dramatic points. Nevertheless she was "very impressive." Edgar Squires was "good," but also a little monotonous.

Mr. St.-Denis also termed Jean Neery's performance good but weak vocally. Margaret Buckingham showed a "good, nice style." Her diction was weak, "but she acts."

Phyllis O'Neill had "good presence, voice and diction."

The adjudicator praised the elaborate set. He considered the lighting "almost too good." At times it appeared designed more for effect than for revealing the players' faces.

The first matinee of Festival Week will be this afternoon when the Halifax Theatre Arts Guild presents Philly Barry's "Second Threshold." It will be followed tonight by the Regina Little Theatre Society with "Tomorrow the World," by James Gow and Arnaud D'Usseau.

Board Of Education

Letter of Explanation.

G. Wilson Craw presented a motion that a letter of explanation be sent to the secretary of the Secondary School Teachers' Association outlining the reasons for the board's action and inviting proposals as to the method of procedure in future salary negotiations. The letter was also to contain an explanation that a schedule of maximum salaries set earlier was not to be regarded as final.

It was mentioned that in earlier discussions with the teachers the board had neglected to follow a promise it had made to the teachers to confer with them again before a maximum salary was fixed. It was a sheer case of forgetfulness, members of the board said, and that was one reason that they were anxious to set up strict rules of procedure to formalize negotiations with the teachers in an attempt to overcome any misunderstandings or slips.

Mr. Robb in speaking for the teachers said that after conferring with Mr. Adamson about comparative figures of salaries listing Peterborough with 30 other Ontario cities the city was not as black as the statistics painted. In that list Peterborough was rated 26 but said Mr. Robb, Mr. Adamson convinced him that Peterborough was average.

He charged, however, that Peterborough had slipped from a position of leadership in salaries over the last 10 years to its present average position.

He said if Peterborough continued to want to have a better than average staff, it would have to pay better than average salaries.

Feel Dissatisfaction.

He said there was a strong feeling among members of the collegiate staff that the board had stalled salary discussions and added that he felt that it was up to the board to prove to the teachers that they had no grounds for dissatisfaction, either about their salaries, nor their treatment at the hands of the board.

He said he thought it was up to the board to demonstrate that they were acting in good faith in their negotiations. The way for the board to do that, he said, was to follow his suggestions of salary increases or meet with the teachers.

Alex Londry, one of the teachers said that at a meeting earlier Tuesday, 38 of 40 present stood up to say they were dissatisfied.

In a meeting of the committee of the whole which was the second half of the meeting, Dr. Ralph Honey said he had previously been skeptical that there had been any widespread, strong dissatisfaction among the teachers but after hearing them and Mr. Robb he was inclined to think the dissatisfaction was "more real than we had anticipated."

Improve Relations.

Mrs. Rowell said she believed much of the difficulty between the teachers and the board arose from lack of good public relations with the staff. She said she sat on a committee over a year ago in which a brief brought in by the committee received no more than a cursory glance, but she said "I honestly believe the board has done a fair job in 1952."

Mr. Adamson said Mr. Robb "is a smart man who is trying to pass the ball back into our hands." He said the board would have to go to a meeting with the school teachers with a whole new set of facts or some concessions.

"Personally, I am not prepared to make any concessions," he said.

Charles Huffman said he thought it would be an act of good faith" to meet the staff. Mr. Craw said "we have nothing to be afraid of." He was for going to present the board's case to the teachers.

Mr. Adamson said such a move would be playing directly into Mr. Robb's hands by accepting the onus in the difficulty.

Return "No Bill" Against A.H.L. Player

TIFFIN, O., April 30 (AP) — The Seneca county grand jury returned a "no bill" on a charge of second degree manslaughter filed against Arthur Michaluk, 28, of Canmore, Alta.

This amounted to a refusal to indict him.

Michaluk plays hockey with Providence of the American Hockey League.

State highway patrolmen filed the charge last Saturday after the death of John W. Tewalt, 27, a milk truck driver. Tewalt was hurt in a collision with Michaluk's car on Friday, eight miles east of here. Shortly after the accident Michaulk was fined $40 and costs in mayor's court for driving over a centre line on the roadway.

Allege Man Attacks Wife With Hatchet

POWELL RIVER, B.C., April 30 — (CP). — Guarded by police, a man is in hospital today accused of a hatchet-and-razor attack on his estranged wife. Their young daughter was an eye-witness.

Police said millworker Charles Martin attacked his wife, Alma, Tuesday, and then ripped at his own throat with the razor while their 12-year-old daughter Sandra looked on.

The woman was near death. Powell River is 73 miles up-coast from Vancouver.

Sandra, unharmed but almost speechless from shock, told officers she tried in vain to stop the attack.

The couple, both about 40, came here a few years ago with their two daughters from Drumheller, Alta.

Police said they will lay charges after learning more about the woman's chances of survival.

Although separated, Mr. and Mrs. Martin lived in the same house, Martin upstairs and his wife downstairs with their children and two other persons.

Police said that the attack occured after Sandra and her mother went up to her father's rooms.

Police found the couple sprawled in the blood-spattered room.

Note Describes Torturing Of Youngster

TORONTO, April 30—(CP)—A note found near the battered body of three-year-old Susan Kellough was introduced as evidence Tuesday afternoon in the trial of Diane Bound, 22-year-old baby sitter charged with murdering the child.

Diane's older sister, Mrs. Muriel Smith, testified the note was written by Dianne, whom she described as "a bit unbalanced."

"Here I am torturing Susan," the note said. "... Now I have got her tied. She thinks we are playing cops and robbers. Big laugh ..."

The note also said: "No one understands me," and added: "Why can they have kids and a home but not me."

A few months before the slaying, Diane had an operation which left her incapable of bearing children.

Not Quite Normal

Mrs. Smith said her younger sister was considered by friends as not quite normal mentally. She said that when Diane drank even small amounts of spirits she did "ridiculous" things.

Mrs. Eileen Frechette, a neighbor of Mrs. Smith, testified that Diane arrived at her home following the slaying and forced her to have a couple of drinks from a bottle she brought laong.

Mrs. Frechette said Diane told her she had taken Susan into the kitchen, made her drink some beer, then tied her hands and feet to the corners of her crib and battered the child with a chamber pot and a beer bottle.

Oil Co. Allowed To Open Depot

Shell Oil Co. received permission from the city planning committee last night to operate a farmers' dealership depot on Armour Road south, near No. 7 Highway. Howard Jeffries of Belleville represented the company.

The big Shell tanks that have been in use on that location are being dismantled for removal where they are needed elsewhere. The company will carry on their distribution from the new Dale storage centre, as recently reported. Several other companies will operate wholesale supply from that point.

At least three companies will gradually remove their storage tanks from Peterborough by this new system of delivery to their retail outlets in the city and district.

Stand For Dump, But Paving Co.? TownshipObjects

When Warren Paving Co. decided to move out of the Auburn district to the vicinity of the city dump in Monaghan they probably rated their prospective new location as being beyond question.

If the dump fires and smoke were getting by, why shouldn't theirs? It looked like a natural, but people living down the wind don't think so, as reported by the township council Monday night, in their discussion with the board of works. They say it is smoke and smell compounded, in their anticipation of what the city's paving spending is likely to bring to residents along the Port Hope highway and elsewhere.

Board of works asked city engineer Chalmers for a report, and J. Pierce of the santitation department is being asked "what about the dump?"

New Policy

Reeve Willard Waterman told the council there appeared to be a new policy of salvaging cardboard and various other materials. Instead of spreading such debris about and getting rid of it, the man in charge of the place, who is paid by Levack salvage company, was piling material higher, and when it was burned it carried farther in smoke and nuisance.

If there was financial improvement to the city, the deputation said, there was no gain for the township and its residents. The system now was evidently a means of scraping money out of the refuse instead of spreading it around and burning it at its former low level.

LouieLetourneau "Musketeer" Dies In Montreal

MONTREAL, April 30 (CP) — H. A. (Louie) Letourneau, one of the "Three Musketeers" of Montreal sport, died Tuesday at his home here. He was 84.

Under the [illegible]e of Letourneau, Leo Dandurand and the late Joe Cattarinich, the two other "musketeers", Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, bought for $11,000, became one of the most colorful teams in history.

Howie Morenz, Aurel Joliat, Sylvio Mantha, George Hainsworth, Sprague Cleghorn, Pit Lepine, George Vezina and Billy Boucher were among the outstanding names that dotted the rosters of the the Canadiens under the dircetion of the Big Three.

Letourneau came to Montreal from St. Roch, Que., and entered the fish market business, later joining Dandurand and Cattarinich in race-track promotion early in the 20s.

Business Man

He was the business man of the partnership, leaving showmanship and club operation to his partners. Seft-effacing, he referred to himself as the "least of the three musketeers."

The partners worked in close accord. Cattarinich was the chance taker, Dandurand the tactful diplomat and Letourneau the sage counsellor. Cattarinich died 15 years ago.

Letourneau retired from sports promotion 20 years ago when he sold his share in the Canadiens and his racing interests in Dorval, Connaught Park and United States tracks to his partners.

He then entered the real estate field, handling property in Rigaud, Que., where he had a summer home. He was in constant attendance at Canadiens games until two years ago when ill health forced him to retire.

He is survived by his widow and a son, Romeo.

Advise Visitors Book Early For Coronation

LONDON, April 30 (Reuters)—The government-sponsored hotel information service Tuesday issued the watchword: Book early for the coronation. The organization offers free help to any one wanting to visit Britain for the big event—June 2, 1953.

A spokesman said those who book early have the best chance, as it is impossible to estimate how many people will visit Britain for coronation week—which includes the main events of the London social season as well as the crowning.

The Queen's coronations is seen here as the biggest lure for dollar customers Britain has had since the coronation of her father in 1937. A hotels organization then handled 250,000 inquiries, and overseas visitors spent £27,000,000 here.

The Queen and her husband are expected to return to the centre of preparations May 5, when they leave Windsor Castle to take up residence for the first time in Buckingham Palace. It is the official London residence of reigning monarchs, and tradition demands the young Queen give up the bright, ultra-modern residence she created near by at Clarence House and live at the palace.

Before the coronation, the Queen is expected to go through the palace, weeding out the more obsolete furniture and renovating its dull interior to make a gayer and warmer home for her husband and two children.

Traffic Deaths Up

CHICAGO, April 30— (AP)—Traffic deaths in the United States showed a slight increase in the first three months if 1952. The National Safety Council said today the toll for the first quarter of this year was 7,930, a gain of two per cent over the first quarter of last year.

Socialists Hope For Gains In Council Votes

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON, April 30 (Reuters)—Conservative and Labor vote-getters are out in force this week whipping up supporters for the second round of the local election battle throughout the country next week.

The Labor Party, bolstered by huge successes in the first-round election of county councils, expects to make still more gains in next week's municipal polls. The Conservatives are on the defensive, saying they hold so many seats already they can't expect to make gains.

The elections, May 5 to May 13, will involve a turnover of 20,000 seats on borough, district, rural and parish councils.

At present, the anti-Socialists—Labelled Conservatives, Independents, Ratepayers' Association candidates, and others—outnumber the Socialists by between three and four to one.

Position Exposed

But the Conservatives feel their position is exposed. They claim this is due to Socialist electioneering exploiting the country's dissatisfaction with Prime Minister Churchill's six-month-old government.

The Labor Party gained 400 seats in these county elections and now hold 12 of the 62 councils against a former eight. Chief Socialist victories included a record 55 majority on London's giant county council—where the main parties had been on level terms—and capture of the council in Lancashire, key textile area with a growing unemployment problem.

Local government has seen two political swings since the end of the war. After the 1945 national election, the Socialists capped their return to power by capturing many of the municipal councils.

To Eliminate Pledge

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30 —(AP)—Elimination of the "No Smoking" pledge by ministerial candidates will be recommended to the Methodist general conference, leaders of the committee on the ministry reported today. Candidates now are required to promise not to use tobacco. The committee's majority report will recommend that the candidate be asked instead to promise to lead "an exemplary life free from all harmful practices."

70 Years Service

CHICAGO, April 30 —(AP)—John P. O'Connor, Chicago and North Western Railway agent, today was presented with a pin for 70 years of continuous service with the line. Now 85, O'Connor was a boy of 15 when he went to work April 30, 1882, as a caller. His job was to arouse engineers and firemen to notify them to report for duty.

DESERVED KISS— Patty Berg of Minneapolis plants a kiss on the putter she used to set a new world record for women golfers in the $3,000 Richmond, Calif., Open. She shot a 30, 34—64 for the first 18-hole round of the tourney, scoring ten birdies and two bogies.

15 Horses Expected To Form Field In 78th Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30 (AP)—The 78th Kentucky Derby looked very much like some derbies of other years today with the combination of a Calumet-owned horse, trained Ben Jones and jockey Eddie Arcaro playing the familiar favorite's role.

The combine looked like the best bet in the $100,000 added run around Churchill Downs at 5:30 p.m. EDT Saturday when Hill Gail took wings Tuesday and fairly flew over a mile to smash the track record in the derby trial.

With Arcaro merely flicking his whip in Hill Gail's face, the big son of Bull Lea reeled off the mile in 1:36 3/5 to clip one-fifth of a second off the track standard and leave eight other derby eligibles far up the track.

The closest, Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's California-owned Arroz was five lengths back. And some 42 lengths back came Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Temperamental Cousin—blowing his last chance to prove his right to be in the derby post parade.

As a result of the prep, the odds on Hill Gail dropped to 8-5 today and he may go to the post at even shorter odds.

Excellent Record

Four times in the last 11 years the devil-red silks of Calumet Farm have been carried home first in America's most famous horse race. They were Whirlaway (1941), Pensive (1944), Citation (1948) and Ponder (1949).

And each time the winner was saddled by Jones, who also chalked up his fifth with Lawrin in 1938, that's a record for trainers.

Twice Arcaro has been up on a Calumet winner (Citation and Whirlaway) and to these two he adds Lawrin and Hoop, Jr. (1945) for a mark never matched by a jockey. The combination of Jones and Arcaro has never been beaten in a Kentucky Derby.

Despite all this preponderance of facts that makes Hill Gail the apparent standout there was no indication today the other owners plan to fold their tents and steal away.

15 To Enter

As many as 15 are expected to answer the call before the usual Downs crowd, which in recent years has reached an estimated 100,000. But it was difficult to find a trainer who would say he would send out his horse to try and run with the Calumet flyer.

Woody Stephens, trainer of A. W. Abbot's Blue Man, best described Hill Gail's speed when he said:

"I got a cold from the wind he created."

And that came from a trainer whose horse is rated the second choice at 3 to 1 to take down the major share of the purse.

Mrs. Marion Du Pont Scott's Pintor is considered one of the speed horses of the field but his trainer, Dion Kerr, said he wasn't going to instruct jockey Henri Mora to try and run with the Calumet flash.

Young Father Dies

LINCOLN, NEB., April 30 —(AP)—Roland Dean Sundhal, 21-year-old father of two, died in the electric chair at the Nebraska penitentiary here early today for the Sept. 2, 1950, hatchet slaying of 16-year-old Bonnie Lou Merrill, a high school girl.

Scouts Booth To Feature Orienteering

Something new will be added to the Boy Scouts' booth at the Peterborough Sportsmen's Show this year.

The new feature will be in the Rover Scouts' section of the booth and will be based on the outdoor sport of orienteering. The display will include literature explaining the sport and demonstrations of the use of maps and compasses in orienteering.

This sport is becoming popular with scout groups and boys' organizations all over Canada and the United States. It is a national sport of Sweden and was started there in 1918 by a Boy Scout leader.

The Rover Scouts are hoping to develop this sport among their own group and it is believed that they are the first group in Peterborough and district to participate in it. Their display at the Sportsmen's Show will introduce it to the sportsmen of the city.

Orienteering is a competitive and recreational sport which may involve anything from cross-country running races or leisurely strolls through suburban countrysides or city parks. It is based on the participant's ability to use a map and compass correctly under varying weather and topographical conditions.

The city's Wolf Cubs and Boy Scouts will be represented in the other two sections of the booth. The Cubs' display will include literature and handbooks on their activities and a chart showing badges and how they are earned.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Charlie Robertson, rookie pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, hurled the perfect game to blank the Tigers 2-0 at Detroit, 30 years ago today. Many major league hurlers have since pitched no-hit games, but Robertson did not allow any Detroit player to reach even first base.

8,000 Homeless

HONG KONG, April 30 (AP)—Two children died today in a fire that destroyed 2,000 squatters' huts in Kowloon, mainland section of the Hong Kong colony. Authorities said 8,000 Chinese were left homeless.

British Liberals Suggest Changing Name Of Party

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 30—(CP)—A proposal that Britain's Liberals should call themselves the "Radical Party" will be discussed at the annual Liberal assembly May 15-17.

The re[illegible] which comes from Libe[illegible]alisbury, is not likely to receive much support, although the same word crops up in the "radical program" which the party leadership says it has prepared for the assembly.

If a radical Liberal is a left-wing Liberal, the Salisbury proposal would perhaps run counter to present trends within the parliamentary Liberal party. Of the three members who met defeat at the polls in last October's general election, all were to the left of the party, leaving only six "moderates" headed by Clement Davies to carry on the fight.

The result has been a greater show of Liberal unity in parliamentary divisions, in contrast to the split which developed in the previous parliament as the left-wingers led by Lady Megan Lloyd George, went their own way.

The Liberals still are an extremely weak force numerically in British politics, and they know it. The party machine now is in process of reconditioning. Teams from London headquarters are out in the provinces, working with local officials on a three-point reorganization campaign.

Under supervision of Philip Fothergill, party president, and Frank Byers, chairman of the executive, the reorganization teams are checking up on membership and finances in "grass-roots" areas and setting targets for increasing the number of active supporters. Efforts are also being made to improve co-ordination between headquarters and the local parties.

One of the local officials helping in the campaign in the south of England is Mrs. Agnes Scott of Toronto and Hamilton, Ont., chairman and acting agent in Esher, Surrey. Mrs. Scott came to Britain from Canada in 1947.

The Liberal assembly is to be at Hastings, Sussex. Apart from the suggestion that the party should be rechristened, the chief resolution will probably be one on international affairs. This in general supports the cold war against Communism, but says that when aggression has ceased in Asia "all the non-Communist powers should be willing to recognize the Chinese people's republic as the effective government of China, and to give proper weight to its views on the settlement of the grave political problems of Eastern Asia."

Israel Reaches Fourth Milestone

As Israel celebrates her fourth anniversary as an independent and sovereign state on April 30, her citizens look back upon a record of trial and achievement in many fields. Her experience during this period encourages her people to believe in the fulfillment of the prophesy—"They who sow in tears shall reap in joy."

During her first four years Israel has doubled her population. Some 600,000 immigrants from 60 countries, mainly from Europe, have swelled her total to 1,600,000 people.

To protect herself from external aggression a defence force was created in 1948. Two years' military service is compulsory for all men 18-29, and single women 18-26 years of age.

Principal crops of this agritural country are citrus fruits, wheat, olives and figs. The area under cultivation during 1951 was 950,000 acres—a rise of 700,000 acres in four years.

Industry has outstripped all other endeavors since 1947. Across the country more than 3,000 new plants have been set up. Workers engaged in industry have doubled in this period.

The growing of citrus fruits is the most lucrative business. This item is used chiefly in foreign commerce to bring needed capital into the country to bolster a weak economy.

A democratic nation, Israel has been recognized by 61 nations and was elected to the UN in 1949. Her foreign policy is based on mutual aid with every peace-loving state.

Asks Conference Regarding Loans

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — Jack Garland (L., Nipissing) urged Tuesday night that the federal government call an immediate conference with Canada's lending institutions to reach an agreement with them regarding loans under the National Housing Act.

Canada's lending institutions and insurance companies, Mr. Garland said in a budget address, are reluctant to make loans under the N.H.A. because they could get better interest terms elsewhere.

As a result, he said, Canada's housing program is slowly coming to a halt.

These lending institutions were giving Northern Ontario a "raw deal." In the last five months there had been only four loans made in the north of the province.

Paints Pictures On Pin Head

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP). — Egidio Boschi, a painter, can carry seven of his pictures in his vest pocket.

His "canvas" is the head of a pin; his brush, a hair from the back of his left hand fastened to a match stick and his palette a two-inch gadget which fits on his index finger.

He arrived in Toronto Monday with seven of his "piniatures"—six landscapes and one portrait—representing four years' work. He is hoping for some arrangement to show his pictures here.

"To complete a piniature I needed about 250 strokes of my one-haired brush. If just one stroke of the brush was wrong, the whole picture was ruined.

"A breath of a pulse-beat at the wrong time was all it needed to ruin the picture after perhaps months of work had been done."

To maintain a steady hand he learned the Yoga art of breath control and was able to hold his breath for as long as 100 seconds.

"I painted only when my breath was controlled and my pulse was slowed. Even then I ruined 1,000 pins to paint the seven.

Mr. Boschi, who was born in Italy but now lives in Chile, has shown his piniatures in Europe, South America and Canada.

SHIFT FROM FARMS

About 37 per cent of Finland's population was listed as agricultural at the end of 1951, compared with 50 per cent in 1950.

C.N.R. Expects Same Traffic Volume As '51

OTTAWA, April 30 (CP)—The Canadian National Railways looks for about the same traffic volume in 1952 as its record 1951 figure, president Donald Gordon Tuesday told the Commons' special railway committee.

Mr. Gordon was given evidence as the committee concluded a two-day annual study of the system's 1951 operations and its budget for the current year. The committee approved the reports of the C.N.R. and the Canadian National West Indies Steamships, Ltd.

The 1951 budget, showing all-time peak operating revenues of $663,000,000 and operating expenses of $613,000,000, forecast an over-all deficit of $18,025,000 after interest charges.
